DEDICATION

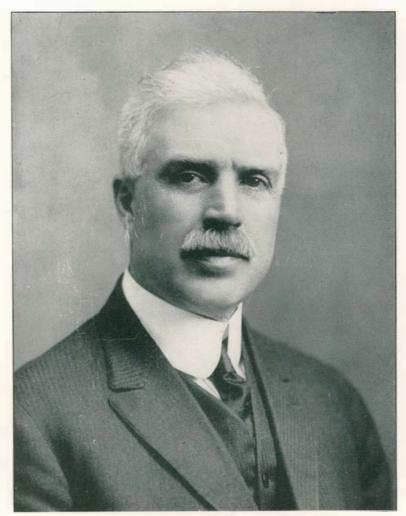

TO PROF. CARL E. PRAY, who has given freely and gladly of his time and strength to make M.S.N.C. a greater school, who will ever be remembered for his cheery word of encouragement, who will ever remain enshrined as a friend in the hearts of his students, the Senior Class dedicates this Aurora of 1917.

a hook that will be a happy reminder of a year of play and work well. done. If we have failed in this, pray he lenient and forgive our shortcomings. With this prayer in our the learty, we lay our pens aside and await the verdict. Has it been worth while? What say you?

PRESIDENT CHARLES MCKENNY

REAT is the work of the Normal College! Great must be the man at the helm! In 1911, President McKenny came to this school as its president. Since that time the college has grown much in service. President McKenny's ability to cope with trying situations, his success in solving difficult problems, his interest in the student body, his sympathy with their trials and with their joys, have proved him a man worthy to be at the head of this great Normal College.

MARION B. WHITE Dean of Women

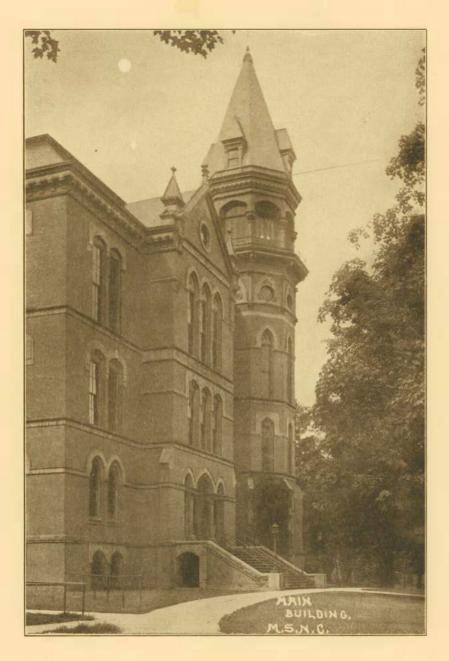

ISS WHITE has to deal with the greatest problem in the school, that of the welfare of its girls. Her clear insight, her patience, and her unswerving adherence to the right, render her decisions just and impartial. To her much credit is due for the measure of success being achieved by the college in dealing justly and wisely with its twelve hundred young women.

TRUE greatness is measured not in terms of gold, not in terms of intellectual power, but in terms of service. Measured by this standard—a standard difficult to meet—Prof. Strong stands forth as a great man; indeed he seems to find joy in expending the richness of his soul for the good of another. His example will ever be a source of strength to those who know him, aiding them in their attempt to achieve true greatness.

Edwin A. Strong, A.M.

Professor Emeritus of Physical Science

It IS a great privilege to influence the lives of many people. This is the privilege of Dr. Hoyt, and this is what he does. Many know him and know him to love him. Moreover, all who have known him carry away with them a new and a more beautiful vision of life. We may soon forget what he has taught us but we can never forget that for which he has stood.

CHARLES O. HOYT, Ph.D.

Department of Philosophy and Education

R. HARVEY'S class room is always filled with students desiring to have revealed to them the secrets by which they may unlock the door to successful teaching. The class periods pass altogether too quickly, being often brightened by witty and interesting stories, many of which are found to illustrate principles important to the would-be teacher.

NATHAN A. HARVEY, Ph.D. Department of Education

I T IS the good fortune of the majority of the Normal students to be associated with Prof. Laird at some time during their life here. No man on the faculty is more popular, more respected, more beloved than he. To him teaching is a divine calling, for it offers him an opportunity to formulate the ideals of those who are to go out and mould the characters of future men and women.

Samuel B. Laird, A.M. Department of Education

Aurora

OCTOR GORTON'S genial manner and unfailing good nature have endeared him to all of the student body with whom he has come in contact, as well as his faculty friends. His versatility and technical skill have made him successful in several lines other than in his chosen life work—the teaching of physics. His handling of this usually difficult subject has made it a very interesting and practical one for his students.

Frederick R. Gorton, Ph.D. Professor of Physics

A MAN of high ideals, courage and good, common sense, in Professor B. W. Peet, now head of the chemistry department. His unique but efficient teaching methods have won many friend. His profession is food chemistry and his hobby is food production. We love him for both and under his guidance prophesy a wonderful future for the department.

Bert W. Peet, M.S. Professor of Chemistry

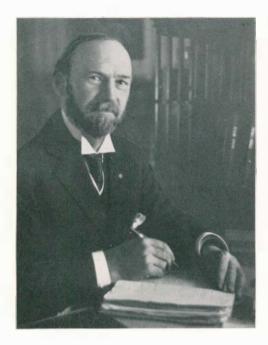

THROUGH the publication of his text-books Dr. D'Ooge has become well known all over the country, and is now recognized as an authority in ancient languages. His students never tire of singing his praises, for in him they find a teacher greatly admired; a scholar many times a man; a friend sympathetic and kind. For twenty-eight years he has given of his best to the Normal College and the Normal College is rich thru his influence.

BENJAMIN L. D'OOGE, Ph.D.

Department of Ancient Languages

THE Normal is fortunate to number among its faculty one of the foremost geographers in the country. Professor Jefferson is affiliated with the leading geographical associations in the country and has been honored by the Michigan Academy of Science and the American Geographical Society in being elected appresident of those associations. Happy are those who call him teacher; happier those who call him friend.

Mark Jefferson, A.M. Department of Geography

Aurora

PRIENDS of the department recognize in Miss Blackman an efficient and capable woman; students recognize in her an instructor of merit, and all enjoy her constant and genial personality and friendly spirit.

EDITH BLACKMAN, B.S.

Department of Domestic Science

MRS. FRENCH'S keen understanding of all that pertains to the true ideals of womanhood and her sincere interet in her girls, assure the Normal College of graduates who will go forth to maintain its highest tandards.

Martha H. French Department of Domestic Art

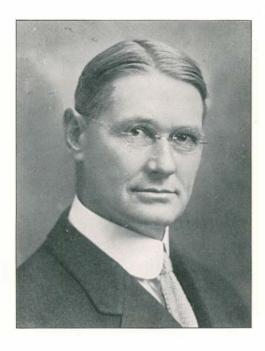

"Math. is the glory of the human mind"

STUDENTS who have been fortunate enough to come under the influence of Prof. Lyman can but admire his brilliant mind. But mingled with his intellectual ability is a keen sense of humor, a wholesome friendliness of manner, and enthusiasm for the welfare of his students which endear him to the hearts of all.

Elmer A. Lyman, A.B.

Department of Mathematics

COLLEGE life has many bright spots and some of the sun-shiniest, as any of the modern language students will tell you, are spent in Dr. Ford's room. However, it is not for the sunny hours that he is most loved but for his warm sympathy, his quick understanding, and ready helpfulness; these make him every student's friend.

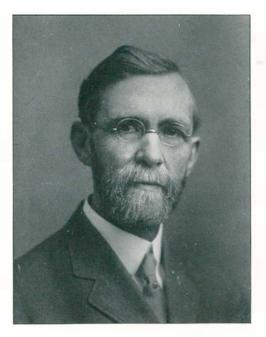

R. Clyde Ford, Ph.D.

Department of Modern

Languages

PROFESSOR BARBOUR will long be remembered by his students for his deep and stimulating thought and his wonderful appreciation of great literature. Greater still is his marvelous interpretation of the drama of life, his fervid belief in the triumph of righteousness and his tenacity in the pursuit of right.

FLORUS A. BARBOUR, A. M. Department of English

than Profes or Sherzer. To all who come in contact with him he bring a greater knowledge and a finer appreciation of the world about them, for he not only gives, but shares with them the everchanging joy of the great out-of-doors.

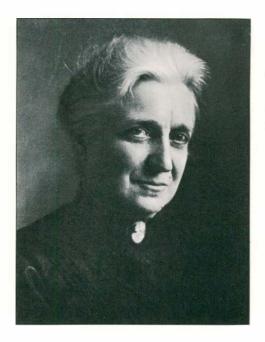

W. H. Sherzer, M.S., Ph.D. Department of Natural Science

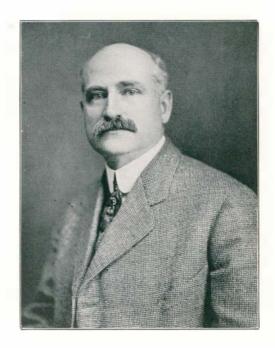

MANY of the influences which shape our lives are silent ones—those with which we seldom come directly in contact, and therefore we do not always realize their value. Such an influence is Miss Walton, for to her we owe the progressive, efficient, capable library system which is so invaluable to us as students.

G. M. Walton Librarian

N OUR campus, there is probably no one who is better known or more worthy of appreciation than Professor Roberts, Superintendent of the Training School. No matter how pressing his duties are or how late in the day it is, he is always kind, cheerful and much interested in the problems and the welfare of the college students.

Dimon H. Roberts, A.M.
Superintendent of Training School

O SECURE the greatest good for the greatest number" is the aim of Prof. Bowen. Ranked among the greatest educators in physical training, broad-minded, progressive, fair and enthusiastic, both at work and play, Mr. Bowen stands before those who enter his department as an ideal of all that mean success in the great opening field of physical education.

WILBUR P. BOWEN, M.S., B.Pd. Department of Physical Education

OR twenty-three years Mrs. Fannie Cheever Burton has been at the head of the women's gymnasium. During that time she has come into contact, either directly thru classes or in social affairs, with practically all the girls of the college. Her wonderful ability to manage great numbers and organize big things has been shown in the exhibitions which have been given at the gymnasium. Mrs. Burton has added much to college life in this institution by her readiness to promote social activities which give pleasure to all.

FANNIE CHEEVER BURTON Professor of Physical Education

THE students of music find in Miss Foster a friend and adviser. Her cheerful disposition and her justice in her dealings with her students command their respect and admiration. Her interest in them inspires them to climb upward to greater heights of achievement.

Clyde E. Foster Supervisor of Music

T IS needless to say that Prof. Alexander is a vital force among us, one who e very contact impresses us with his knowledge, his magnetic power, and his depth of feeling. To him we owe our opportunities to hear fine music, not the least of which is our own choir. Standing for the best, he is an inspiration to all who know him.

Frederick Alexander, A.B.

Director of Conservatory

DAY after day Mr. Walker spends many hours in teaching penmanship to students often not interested in the subject and dreading to take it. Yet he is ever cheerful and enthusiastic. The Normal College would be a greater chool if the students would but follow Prof. Walker in striving day after day in the face of difficulties. And then, like him. they too, will achieve success.

LLOYD WALKER, A.B. Instructor in Penmanship

"A friend in need is a friend indeed"

Is IT not true, fellow students? Those who have had occasion to seek the help and advice of Clemens P. Steimle can truthfully reiterate the above statement. Ready to help us solve the mysteries of the why, the when, and the where, Mr. Steimle has come to be the "Father of the Question Mark."

CLEMENS P. STEIMLE, A.B. Secretary-Registrar

M ISS GOODISON is a friend worth knowing, for everyone with whom she comes in touch is strengthened by her strong personality. Her charming manner and sincere sympathy win for her a secure place in her students' hearts. She has rare ability both as an instructor and as an artist, and her appreciation of the old masters enriches her artistic talent.

Bertha Goodison

Department of Art

M ISS ALICE BOARDMAN has been with the manual training department of the college since its establishment in 1901. Thru her love for her work, her broad-mindedness and fine sense of justice, she has sent forth many hundreds of students to their future life work better equipped from having come in contact with her. She is one of those instructors who will be remembered in the years to come.

Alice I. Boardman

WHEN classifying, students are always glad to be able to enter Professor Pearce's classes, for they know that in them they will not only be taught mathematics, but that they will also learn the secret of living so that each day shall be well spent. Professor Pearce has been called the "live wire" on the campus, and well deserves that name. His students will remember with gratitude the man who was always ready to help in every worth-while campus activity.

Webster H. Pearce, A.M. Associate Professor of Mathematics

N O MATTER how busy, never rushed; no matter how tired, never cross; ready to advise the troubled, to speak a cheering word to the disheartened, anxious in every way possible to add his share of joy to his students' lives: this is Professor Pray. Thru his introduction, lasting friends are made of the men who have made history. But his students will remember Professor Pray long after what he taught them has been forgotten.

CARL E. PRAY, A.M. Department of History

N HIS class room, a helpful instructor; on the campus, a true gentleman; quiet, yet forceful, Professor Lathers is to be found behind every worthy movement on the campus. For many years the lecture course conducted at his instigation has been a source of inspiration to the students of the school. We are happy to count him as a friend and fellow worker.

J. STUART LATHERS, A.B. Department of Reading and Oratory

I N MISS ADAMS we find a true lover of little children. She not only understands and sympathizes with them, but leads all those who work with her to do the same. Her sincere enthusiasm in everything she undertakes has won for her many friends among the girls of the kindergarten department.

In the Future

F AREWELL, Degrees, and a Tiny Tim would say: "God bless you every one." After only one short year in school, the second year class is hardly ready to assume the burden of a Senior Class, to carry on the activities of the Campus. Often we have been discouraged. Then indeed it has been good to have your advice (as our superiors you were always very willing to give it) and your help.

This year the Degree Class has been larger than ever before; consequently it has been able to work more effectively than former classes. But we predict greater things for the next Degree Class, for after many years of untiring effort Profe sors Lyman and Barbour have finally secured from the University of Michigan recognition of our degrees so that students of the Normal will be able to take up graduate work in Ann Arbor without the loss of any credits. In his letter to the Normal Committee Dean Lloyd of the Graduate School in the University writes:

"Hereafter graduates of the Normal College with the degree of A.B. will be admitted to the Graduate School under the usual conditions. This means that if such graduates show satisfactory high school preparation and a satisfactory four-year collegiate course and bring with them personal recommendations of their fitness for graduate study they will be admitted to our Graduate School."

This will mean a greater number of Degree students for the Normal; it will make this school in reality what before it has been in nam, a Normal College.

Then here's to our Degrees who leave us, and here's to the Degrees who come! And here's to our old Alma Mater, may she ever achieve success!

Concerning '18

THE Normal campus was this year invaded by a horde of juniors which, for numbers, has had no equal in the history of the M. S. N. C. At the first assembly President McKenny made the striking announcement that the number of students enrolled was 1,750. This number is greater by almost 300 than the number enrolled during any previous year; and of course the junior were decidedly in the majority. This enrollment reflects very favorably the growing reputation of our college, with its excellent faculty and efficient president.

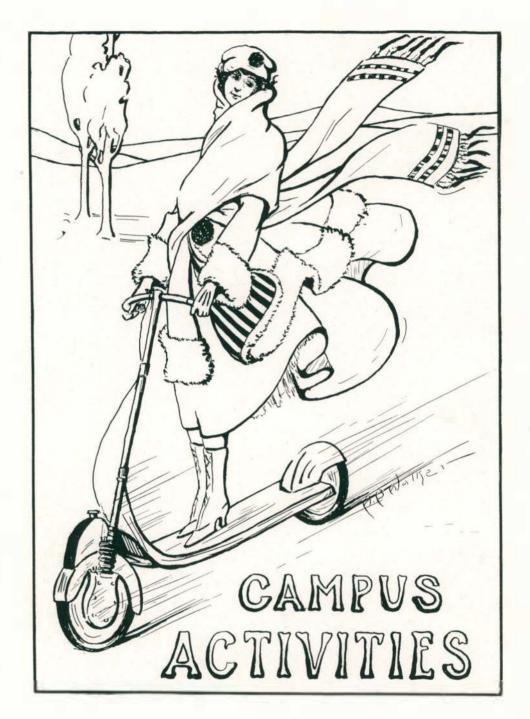

Our juniors showed a fine spirit from the beginning. Our first meetings were held in the training school chapel. Here, with Mr. Grettenberger as chairman, we elected our class officers and representatives to the various organizations for the year. The results were as follows: Clarence Ponton, presdent; Irene Johnson, vice-president; John Hubbard, secretary; Archie Humphrey, treasurer. When Roy McMurray and Lillian Erick on were elected to lead in the cheering, the class had an opportunity to give a physical demonstration of their "pep;" and we know that no other class ever yelled as did that class of '18. This spirit was again evinced at the junior-senior indoor meet.

But, for many reason, the system of voluntary attendance at class meeting did not gain sufficient attendance to secure the best strength and unity. As a result, Pre ident McKenny initiated the compulsory attendance class meeting, to be held every two weeks, alternating with the seniors. Professor Lott was appointed our class patron. A more favorable and fortunate choice for us, we feel, could not have been made. In the two short talks he has given us, we have been made to feel his sympathy, kindness, and sincere interest. Under the new system a regular program is arranged for each meeting. In this way, the regular business of the class is dispensed, and the ability of the class in music and public speaking is revealed.

However, not all of our activities have been confined to class meetings. In the girls' junior-senior meet fine spirit was shown by the juniors both on the side lines and in the thick of the fray.

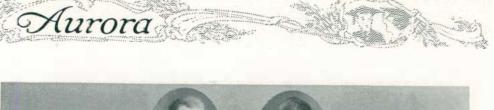

These activities make us a class, but as individuals we are here primarily to get an education. Many experiences of our college life will be held dear in our memories; that greater something, which we can get only by hard work and as ociation with our whole-hearted instructors, will enrich our hearts and minds through all the days to come. Let us earnestly strive to attain a high grade of efficiency in the business of life, that we may be an honor to the class of '18, and the pride of the Michigan State Normal College, because we have contributed something worth while to the world.

Women's Self-Government Association

THE members of the Self-GovernmentAssociation, in co-operation with the House Representatives appointed from all large rooming houses, have tried this year to carry on the work begun last year by the first league of the kind to be organized in the College.

In the fall the cabinet, ably and kindly assisted by many young women who had volunteered their services, met the junior girls at both trains and cars, helped them classify, kept a checkroom for them, supplied any needed information, and went with them in hunting rooming and boarding houses. On the first Saturday evening this body and the Student Christian Association held an informal reception for them at the gymnasium.

During the year classes in social form were organized to meet a need which has long been felt among the prospective teachers of this school. Social hours preceding the business meetings of the league have given to many who take no part in the social activities of the College an opportunity to become more generally acquainted.

Civic League

ONLY mark the hours that shine" runs the motto of an ancient sun dial; on our campus the Civic League is endeavoring not only to mark the hours that shine but to make them shine.

The organization includes both men and women who are trying to make the Normal College a better, happier, more beautiful place, to add to the welfare of its students, and to fit them, in a degree, to take part in civic work in the communities to which they may go. More and more the league is linking itself with the various Ypsilanti organizations which are working for social good.

It is divided into small groups working under the direction of different student and teacher leaders, and the work of such groups as the Daily Calendar and Bulletin Board are well known to the student body. This year the society has sent financial aid to Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth for her prison work and has contributed to the Belgium Relief Fund. The proceeds from the Bazaar given by the suffrage group will be used to help in the work of the Michigan Equal Suffrage Society. Socially, moreover, the league has attempted to add its quota to college life. The annual May Bird walk and the Bird lecture on the evening preceding it have been among the delightful events of the year; as was also the Washington's Birthday Party on the evening of February 17th at the gymnasium.

These are some of the things the Civic League is doing and fairly representative of them. It stands for cleanliness, strength, beauty and service, and feels that it has in a small measure succeeded in making the hours shine.

The Young Women's Christian Association

Article 11. Student Constitution

"THE purpose of the Association shall be to unite the women of the institution in loyalty to Jesus Christ, to lead them to accept Him as their personal Saviour, to build them up in the knowledge of Christ, especially through Bible study and Christian service, that their character and conduct may be consonant with their belief. It shall thus associate them with the students of the world for the advancement of the Kingdom of God. It shall further eek to enlist their devotion to the Christian Church and to the religious work of the institution."

Young Men's Christian Association

THE Y. M. C. A. is not a "sissy" organization; it is an organization permeated with the ideals of virile manhood. The weekly Sunday meetings in Starkweather at 2:30 have become a part of every man's weekly program. Thru these meetings, the men have been brought in touch with the members of the faculty and have been helped and strengthened by this contact. The Y. M. C. A. has also endeavored to promote a friendly spirit among the men through its social affairs. It may truly be said that the "Y" will long be remembered by the men of the school as a cheering, helpful, stimulating influence.

FOR several years the need for some organization for bringing the men of the College together had been felt, so in October, 1914, the Men's Union was established, in order "to promote a spirit of unity among the men of the institution, and the welfare of the Michigan State Normal College, by all means possible."

At the opening of school last fall, a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Men's Union was held and plans were made for the distribution of the pins. The men responded so eagerly that it was only a matter of three or four days before all of the men had paid their fee and were recognized as members.

The custom of giving several informal partie was made almost impossible by the epidemic of smallpox which swept this section of the state. However, one party was given earlier in the season with such success that a student-directory was put out under the auspices of the Union. It was thru this organization that the High School basket ball tournament was brought to Ypsilanti. The visiting teams were so well treated and the tournament was such a success that this year not enough rooms could be found to provide for the teams and so the offices of the Gym. were turned into a veritable dormitory. The big event of the year was the banquet given to the visiting high school teams. Entertainment was given by the College band, Glee Club, quartet, several fine toasts and a solo by Mr. Lindegren.

With the great increase in the number of men this year over that of last year, we have no reason to doubt that it will be the greate t year of the Union next year.

Dramatic Club

THE Normal Dramatic Club was organized January 29, 1917, with Mi's Ida Hintz as patroness. The object of this organization is to study the great modern dramas and dramatists, and to give from time to time some of the tandard plays. March 7th the Club, under the auspices of the Ladie. Literary Society presented Yeat. "The Hour Glass," and altho this was the first production, the result was very gratifying. Considerable time has been given to the study of Lord Dunsany and his very popular plays.

It is one of the aims of the society to encourage attendance at the Detroit theaters when stars are playing in some high class production, and everal interesting accounts have been given of such plays by members of the Club.

It is hoped that next year more local productions may be effected since the Club will be prepared to take up its work early in the fall.

The Oratorical Association

THE Oratorical Association for 1916-1917 has been under the guidance of the following elective officers: Louis Grettenberger, president; Orlo Robinson, vice-president; Rose Reynolds, ecretary; Leonard Juhl, treasurer; Claude L. Benner, state delegate, and Myraum Burket, reporter.

The events of the spring term of 1915-1916 are important. The annual Interpretative Reading Contest held in April, wa won by Clarissa E. Felt '16, who was awarded a tendollar gold piece. The third annual Junior Public Speaking Contest, which occurred in June, was won by J. Palmer Lindow '17, econd place going to Edwin Smith '17. The prizes were ten dollars and five dollars. The junior team, con iting of James W. Williamson, Denis J. Gleason and Claude L. Benner, which debated Adrian College on May 12th, brought back a 3-0 decision in their favor, thus closing the year with four victories out of a possible six. The fourth awarding of college honors, which has come to be an annual college event, wa held before general assembly on June 14th. Here with enthusiasm and speeche, gold medals were presented to the honor orators and debaters, and N's and certificates to the honor athlete.

The outstanding event of the spring term, however, was the brilliant work of Harry D. Hubbard '16, who, in March, won the state peace contest. On May 8th he spoke in the interstate contest at the Jame Millikin University of Decatur, Illinois, and in contest with the chosen representative of the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, was accorded first place by the judges and the testimonial of sixty dollars in money. This signal honor made him the chosen representative of the central group of states, in the national contest held before the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration. On his return the student body turned out en masse and, placing him and Professor McKay in a carriage gaily decorated for the occasion, and drawn by a bunch of loyal rooters, proceeded to Pease Auditorium for speeches, and then forming in line, paraded the principal streets of the city shouting and singing their praises of the Normal victor. It was an event long to be remembered. In a splendid contest at Lake Mohonk, New York, on May 18th, he was awarded third place and eighty dollars in money.

The present year's activities have been marked by the usual interest and growth. The Lincoln and Webster clubs for the men, and the Wodeso club for women, held their customary programs of work. The return women's debate with Albion College, held on January 12th, drew out a large audience and though closely contested, resulted in a victory for Albion. The third annual debate with Ferris Institute occurred on February 9th and resulted in unanimous decisions for the Normal College in both contests. For the first time an out-of-the-state debate was held this year with the Indiana State Normal School on April 13th. The contests in both cities were close and keen, but resulted in 2-1 decisions for Indiana. We look forward with pleasure to meeting them next year.

In oratory the Normal representatives made a creditable record. They won no first places and yet ranked well, considering that their competitors all came from four-year colleges. Oakley C. Johnson '17, with his oration, "The Myth of Democracy," and Ivaleen F. Hough '17, who spoke upon "The Pioneer Spirit," participated in the state contest at Hope College, March 2nd. Among eight contestants, Mr. Johnson received fifth place and Miss Hough third place. The Normal College entertained the state peace contest March 16th, when our orator, J. Clarence Ponton, with a strong speech upon "A Militant Peace," made an excellent showing and received fourth place.

A youthful Dramatic Club under the guidance of Miss Hintz of the Expression Department, made its appearance in February and has given a number of artistic presentations. The fifth annual Interpretative Reading Conte t held this year in March, and also under her guidance, was eminently successful. There were thirty- ix entrants in the preliminaries and the annual contest far excelled its predecessors. He ter E. McKim '17, received first place and ten dollars in gold, second place and five dollars in gold going to Sharlot I. MacDonald '17.

The as ociation activities hold a large place in the life of the College and bid fair to keep pace with the growing demands in the field of public speaking.

THERE are two kinds of steam, that which makes the whistle blow and that which makes the wheels go round. This has become a commonplace, yet in the case of Profe sor McKay it is particularly apt, for his enthusiasm is always expended in the energy that makes the wholes go round.

As professor of public speaking, he is continually aiding the would-be orator to the achievement of success. He it is who patiently drills the youthful College orators, who untiringly coaches our logical and convincing debators. Under his direction the Junior Public Sp aking Contest has become an annual event, and public speaking has been made an important phase of College life. The whole school joins with our debators and orators in expressing to Professor McKay our deep appreciation of the effective work that he has been constantly doing in his chosen department.

The Pioneer Spirit

Extract from Oration Given at Hope College by Ivaleen F. Hough

THE hope of the world reposes in its men of vision. Abraham, obeying the command of Jehovah, left his kindred in Ur of Chaldees and journeyed westward. Columbus sailed with frail barks, out of the night of ignorance into the light of a new world. It is ever the men and women with visions of a greater future who make better things possible for their age.

And what of the pioneers in our own history? The broader outlook has been exemplified not by the few, but by the many. America was founded by strong men and women, whose education, though not the culture of the schools, was manifest in cool elf-reliance, iron courage, and indomitable perseverance. Whether they battled with the giant oaks of the forest, wooed the virgin soil into fertility, or drafted a constitution, it was done with direct and virile earnestness. Life meant difficulties to be overcome, new levels to be attained. In their toil, their conflicts, and their decisions, they exhibited the pioneer spirit. But are our battles all fought? Is the pioneering done? *

Oh, that we could awaken to the stern realization that vast uncultivated area of human endeavor lie still before us! As the settler harnessed the untamed forces of nature, so must we conquer the crude passions of man. Indifference, selfishness and hate—these are the triple enemies with which we must cope today; these, the uncleared fields which challenge the courage of the modern pioneer.

What better illustration of selfishness than the giant industrial democracy under which we live! From the humble toiler who wields the shovel to the mammoth corporation owning the coal mine, all make profit first and service to society second. In the face of this fact, the system of minute division of labor has made every individual dependent on every other for the necessities and comforts of life. "No man liveth unto himself alone." Such a system demands that the principle of industrial selfishness be subordinated to the principle of industrial ervice.

Who among us but thought that hate among nations had all but died year ago? today the peoples of the world are grappling in an awful death struggle. The nations of the earth look to America to supply the motive for ending the contest. In her present crucial position, American public opinion is influencing the conduct of the war and must in no less a measure help to determine its outcome. * * * Instead of meeting this national crisis with unbalanced impulse, let us depart from the beaten path of custom and confront it with the coolness of reason.

But indifference is the arch enemy to be overcome. We stand today as did the Israelites of old when, after forty years of wandering, they were about to cross the Jordan into the promised land.

Prosperity has brought with it elf-satisfaction and complacency. It is just this indifference which must be changed in America. The nation depends on the individual. If the individual loses his love for humanity and his intere t in a greater future, what must become of the nation?

The pioneers have been the world' leader, those who in every generation have conceived new ideas and made possible new undertakings. Today we are reaping the barvest sown long ago by tho e who went forth with weeping, bearing precious seed. Honor and glory, their jut due, belong to these noble men and women. But the future of America depends, not upon the e who have already served their day, but upon the energies, the ambitions, and the hopes of the men and women of the present.

Awaken then, America! Imbibe the spirit of the pioneer! With a like vision of a better country and a like unflinching courage in our hearts, we must push forward into a new era of moral achievement. Though the awful sounds of war and the rising clamor of social classes may fill our hearts with alarm, yet down through it all our vision sees the star of hope shed it sure light upon our pathway. Forward, then, young America, and in the moral realm which we must conquer, let us repeat the epoch-making work of him who, with confident heart, sailed out upon an unknown sea,

With the rugged Ulysses of the antique time, "Come, my friends, 'tis not too late to seek a newer world. Push off, and sitting well in order smite the sounding furrows." Let our a newer world. Push off, and sitting well in order smite the sounding furrows." Let our purpose hold "To sail beyond the sumet, and the baths of all the western stars, until we die." In the strength of the days of old, let us go forth "strong in will, to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

The Myth of Democracy

Extract from Oration Given by Oakley Calvin Johnson in State Peace Contest

THE men who founded our republic had in their mind's eye a beautiful vision—the vision of democracy. They saw in the future a land unsullied by caste or class, where all had equal power and no man was oppressed. * * * Men and women of America, has the dream come true?

During the last few months the workers in the Mesaba iron mine of northern Minnesota have been on strike, striving to gain a little larger share of their own product, a few more of the good things of life. Their employer, the United States Steel Corporation, backed by the police power of the state, has refused all demands, and has imported a private army of a thousand gunmen to intimidate the strikers and force them back to work at the old intolerable terms. There is no time to enter into details, to explain how many of these miners wade in water up to their knees all day long, how they buy their own powder for blasting the rock, how they work sometimes for as low as eight cents a day because they have to clear away the rock on their own time before coming to the veins of ore. Suffice it to say that the demands because they have to clear away the rock on their own time before coming to the veins of ore. uffice it to say that the demands made by them are so small, so pitifully small, that it would seem cheaper for the Steel Corporation to grant them at once, rather than have the bother of a strike. Why, then, has the corporation refused? The reason is this: To grant anything to a union would be to acknowledge a principle—the principle of organization; the right of laboring men to unite for mutual protection and betterment. And that principle the Steel Trust will never willingly admit.

These labor wars are not due to the transient whims of ignorant working men, nor to the rabid demagogery of labor agitator. They are due to the fundamental injustice inherent in our industrial system. * * *

All down the line we see mankind divided into two classes. First we had the master on the one hand and the slave on the other; then we had feudal lords for the ruling class, and serfs ruled by them. Now on one ide we have the wage workers who have nothing but their laboring power, and on the other the capitalists who own the machines and the factories that the workers must use to get a living. * * * Government statistics prove that the average factory worker produces a value of ten dollars a day. He receives on the average less than two dollars a day in wages. The surplus eight dollars is distributed among the members of the owning class. Capitalists own the mills and factories, and workers must use these tools of production on terms dictated by the owners. There lies the true cause of the class struggle, for the workers strive always to get more of their own product, while the owners are equally determined to appropriate an ever greater portion of all that is produced by their wage-slaves. The result is unionism on the one hand, and monopoly on the other.

For this there must be a remedy. Face the logic of the issue squarely. A small class should not own those things that working men must use in order to live. Should not the people them elves own the mines and the factories, the gifts of nature and the inventions of genius? Only by socializing the tools of production can real democracy be possible. * * * So long as there exists a tarved and oppressed working class, just so long will ignorance and crime increase in our midst. So long as one-half of humanity is submerged, just so long will civilization itself be held backward. In that wonderful painting, "The Man with the Hoe," Miller has shown us a picture of labor, deprived of his birthright. There stands the toiler, his bent and weary frame, formed in the image of his Maker, leaning on the hoe; backward slants his brow, dull and expressionless his eye. A mere clod, brother to the earth at his feet, is he. Is this the image of the Creator?

"O master, lords, and rulers in all lands, How will the Future reckon with this Man? How answer his brute question in that hour When whirlwinds of rebellion shake the world? How will it be with kingdoms and with kings— With those who shaped him to the thing he is— When this dumb Terror shall reply to God, After the silence of the centuries?"

But the destiny of labor is to be neither blind submission nor blind rebellion. Bowed by toil, fettered by oppresssion, staggering under burdens of a thousand year, the workweary yet aspiring masses of the world are grappling with the problem of their own enslavement, and grappling successfully. * * * A new society is forming out of the chaos of present, and even now there rises before us a new vision, clear and definite—the Industrial Commonwealth of the Future, the Universal Brotherhood of Man.

A Militant Peace

Extract from Oration Given at Hope College by J. Clarence Ponton

T IS twilight on the Aisne. In the distance stretch the barbed wire entrenchments of the enemy. At intervals between the tree can be seen the long, sleek backs and cavernous mouths of monster howitzers. The clear morning air brings the sharp report of a rifle. Over the soldier steals uncanny premonitions, forebodings that with the dawn may come the end. Rifle reports grow faster; shrapnel breaks overhead; aeroplane soar high. Earth trembles with the boom of mortars; the crack, crack, crack of machine guns; and the pom, pom, pom of 75's. Bursting shells take as their toll one or a hundred lives. Behind inexorable gas clouds, twenty miles of soldiers rush forward—the death struggle is on. * * * Twelve hours of such carnage and the smoke clears away. The evening shadows reveal a gruesome spectacle. The once level ground torn and rent-each hillock piled high with the quivering forms of human beings, beaten, mangled, eyeles, jawless, limbless, lifeless. Night fall. The pale moon sheds its sickening beams o'er all. Out of the impending darkness come the groans of the wounded, punctuated by the dismal shrieks that mark the death struggle. Then silence-silence. Such is a picture of No-Man's-Land after the French advance on the Aisne. Such is modern war. Such is twentieth century uncontrolled force.

War has in like manner, but in less marked degree, perturbed society since the dawn of history. The modern war of nations is an evolution of individual combat. The cause of this social chaos has been uncontrolled force a struggle between individuals, clans, tribes, or states, over which there was no human authority.

Still, the crude civilization of the past was undoubtedly promoted by the iron band of war. Force invaded Gaul and Briton and gave to Celt and Teuton the rich culture of Rome; Force united the German states and gave birth to the most versatile nation of the ages.

* * But other more constructive forces are rendering war no longer necessary. Missionaries carry their evangel of good will to earth's darkest places. Education is within reach of practically every individual of the civilized world. Steam, electricity, and the press, are welding modern nations into a great interdependent commonwealth. Democracy is teaching the common man his responsibility toward the problems that affect his own destiny and demanding that he root up the evils that menace the general welfare. These new and higher forces are pregnant with the same character-building elements formerly thought to inhere only in the strife of the battlefield. * * * As the world moves forward the logic that consigns war to oblivion must grow ever stronger.

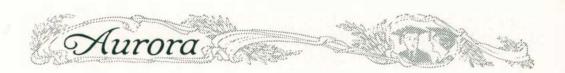

The problem of today is the elimination of war and the adoption of more progresive Recognized by each and supreme over all must reign a higher law, a law powerful to curb the recalcitrant nation and quench the parks of war; yet auspiciou and benign, under whose governance the forces of peace shall accomplish their mighty tasks.

What shall this higher law be? The logic of events points unmistakably to an over-whelming league of force, subject to the orders of an international tribunal, and supported by the public conscience of the world. It is the logical next step in the social progres of the world. The tage of self-asserted justice evolved into the city police, the county sheriff, and the state militia. The era of state sovereignty merged into the broader and more altruistic national control. Today the supreme court of a nation renders its verdict. It is but a word, yet that word is law. It is the voice of a nation. * * * If "through the ages one eternal purpose runs," if history is to unfold consistently with the past, the cogent example of thirteen heterogeneous colonies welded into one common mass is a forerunner of the United Nations of the World. True, destiny decreed that the integrity of our nation should be tested in the fires of civil war; and, though dreadful the thought, humanity too may be compelled to sacrifice herself once again before the last flag of rebellion dips to salute the authority of universal law. * * * Out of the darkness and turnoil of the to salute the authority of universal law. Out of the darkness and turmoil of the present will emerge the human control, the peace of the world, the ubmission of the minority to the will of the majority—a militant peace.

Then the screech of shrapnel and the roar of cannon shall be drowned in the hum of progress and the noise of industry; for the ruthless slaughter of war, the noble sacrifice of science; for the menacing armaments of militarism, the vigilant armies and navies of co-operation; and with England's poet:

> "-the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe, And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law.

The Portia Literary Society

Organized 1901

THE Portia Literary Society chose for study during 1916-1917 the Greek drama. First an old Greek theatre was constructed in miniature. Then the drama itself was studied, the tragedies of Sophocles, Aeschylus, and Euripides being the object of special study.

ART CLUB

Art Club

THE purpose of the Art Club of the Michigan State Normal College is; to promote scholarship, to create a social spirit among the member, to act as an advisory body for junior specializing students, and to further an interest in all branches of Art study.

The Club is organized on an honorary basis, those who are specializing in the Art Course and have a scholarship of C in general subjects and B in art subject, being eligible.

The Normal Art Club has been one of the most active organizations on the campus during the past year. It is our earnest de ire that the future members will carry on the work to a still higher plane of activity.

HI-TORY CLUB

The History Club

THE History Club was organized in the fall of 1913, under the leadership of Professor Pray. The Club is composed of the e who are majoring in history. Its purpose is to take up matters of historical interest, to develop enthusiasm for the work, and to bring the students and faculty of the department into closer relationship with each other. During the past year a dramatization was given, several talks by members of the Club who have traveled, but the majority of the meetings have been concerned with the study of the lives of some of our famous Southern statesmen.

Pre-Medic Club

I N 1916, under the patronage of Dr. Smith, an enthusiastic group of fellows organized the Pre-Medic Club that those men who come to the Normal intending to take up the study of medicine might be given broad information concerning medical work.

This year the Club has been keenly alive; monthly meetings have been held at which present day medical problems have been discussed. The Club has made a special study of the causes of diseases and the advancement being made in their cure. A very interesting and profitable trip was made to the Medical Building in the University of Michigan.

To Dr. Smith, the Club owes much for his interest, enthusiasm, and hard work to make the Club a success. The members this year feel that they have gained much from the Pre-Medic Club to aid them when they shall go forth as "full-fledged Medics."

Chemistry Club

THE Chemistry Club was organized in 1910 under the auspices of Professor Peet, and was the first of the departmental clubs to be recognized by the Normal College. There were eighteen members the first year with Clarke Davis as President and Professor Peet as Patron.

The purpose of the Club is to arouse the interest of its members by bringing the problems of industrial and experimental chemistry before the students to a greater extent than can be done in the classroom.

The annual trip to Detroit or Toledo is both interesting and profitable. The monthly meetings with short talks by the members make the Club alive.

More enthusiasm is being shown this year than ever before, and the Club bids fair to be a potent factor in campus activities.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

Physical Education Club

SINCE its origin a few years ago, the Physical Education Club has become an active and worth-while organization. Each month an interesting and helpful meeting has been held; reports on the different physical education convention have been given by members of the faculty and students who have attended them; and helpful talks on the different phases of physical education have been given by former students.

The purpose of the club is to promote the best intere ts of the department and with a steadily growing membership this purpose is continually being more nearly approached. The club has also enjoyed several "hikes" and "steak roasts" along the banks of the Huron, and informal social meetings at Starkweather Hall.

FERRIS INSTITUTE CLUB

Ferris Institute Club

TO THE lonesome and rather homesick F. I.'s who enrolled at the M. S. N. C. last September, the faces of former classmates among the throng of strangers awakened a feeling of cheer and good fellowship. Out of this feeling grew a desire to organize a club to strengthen and increase the F. I. spirit as our predecessors had done before us.

Accordingly, we met on the evening of September 30, 1916, to elect officers and renew friend hips. A few weeks later the members gathered at Starkweather Hall for a social evening. The event proved a happy one, and all departed feeling that they were no longer strangers in the Normal.

On February 23, 1917, the F. I. Club of Ann Arbor delightfully entertained the local club with games, music and a delicious lunch. Jut a month later we again joined forces for the annual banquet held at Ann Arbor. The death of Mrs. Ferris that morning, however, cast a shadow over the gay spirit of the evening. But later as the peakers paid such beautiful tribute to the woman whose noble life has been the guiding star of the F. I. for many years, all present were inspired with loftier ideals and a stronger devotion to duty.

The year has brought us many cherished memories. May all who follow in years to come from "The Old F. I." to M. S. N. C. find as bright a future.

Student Volunteer Band

THE Student Volunteer Band of the Michigan State Normal College was organized with six members, March 14, 1917. This is the first organization of its kind in the College, and is part of the International Student Volunteer Movement. We feel very fortunate in having Miss Harriet McKenzie as our faculty advisor, because of her interest in the work.

The Catholic Students' Club

IN THE years past the Catholic students attending the Michigan State Normal College and Cleary Business College have attempted to meet in a social way. About five years ago a permanent organization was established, and today it is a flourishing Club with a membership of one hundred seventy-five.

The meetings are informal gatherings held twice a month in The Catholic Club House. Besides the social functions and business meetings, the members are privileged to enjoy short talks on vital and interesting subjects by men and women of standing who have a message worth while.

The Club is governed by a simple constitution and is maintained by moderate dues. The organization was established to promote social intercourse, social betterment, and a deeper appreciation of responsibilities and possibilities.

Athletics

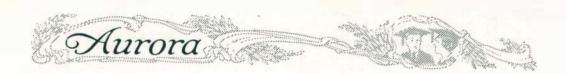

PROFESSOR WILBER P. BOWEN, M.S.

Head of the Department of Physical Education and Chairman of the Athletic Council

TO THIS man must be given credit for the high standard of athletics in the Michigan State Normal College. That he may long continue to direct them is the wish of every student and alumnum of the school.

Coach Elmer Mitchell, A.B.

WITH the completion of the present term Coach Mitchell leaves M. S. N. C. to take up a position as coach in the University of Michigan. He will have direct charge of basket ball and the All-Fresh football team, a position of considerable importance. In addition he will be on the coaching staff for baseball and track. The duties of this position will not be new to Mr. Mitchell as he is a graduate of the University, and while there he played on the Football Reserves and the baseball team, being captain of the latter in his senior year.

Mr. Mitchell has made many friends during the two years he has been connected with this institution and his loss will be keenly felt.

Our new coach has not as yet been appointed, but we only desire that he shall assume his duties as well as did Coach Mitchell. For Coach Mitchell we wish the best of luck and success.

W HEN Coach Mitchell called for football practice last fall, but five men of last year's first team and a few of the second team men responded. However, a large number of new candidates gave promise of a good team for 1916; in fact, the outlook for a successful football season seemed very bright, and an unusually strong schedule was faced with optimism.

The unfortunate injuries of some of the men weakened the team much and caused the loss of some of the first games of the season. But hard work and careful training soon enabled the team to hold the University All-Fresh to a scoreless tie and to defeat the University of Detroit, claimed to have one of the strongest teams in the state.

This game with the University of Detroit was the last game of the season, for the epidemic of small-pox which broke out in the school compelled Coach Mitchell to cancel the better part of the schedule.

The men on the team are to be commended not because of their brilliant playing but becau e of their team work. Each man seemed to give his best to be willing to play, not for his own glory but for the team, for the school. This factor and the unusual pirit manifested on the side lines make us believe that had it not been for smallpox, we should have had a very successful football season.

Basket Ball

WHAT promised to be the most unsatisfactory season in the history of basket ball for the Normal, owing to the fact that all of last year's men were doing duty at the Mexican border, turned out to be more than successful.

The hopes for a winning quintet were almost completely lost, when at the start of the season it was found that Langton, Irwin, and Hartman were still on duty with the troops. However, when the call for candidates were issued, Coach Mitchell found the most promising bunch of players that ever turned out for a Normal team.

New York contributed a center in Dunn and a perfect guard in Lawler. We robbed Michigan of two men—Edwards, guard, and Shadford, forward. Ypsilanti's gift to the team was a forward, Rynearson, who was captain of the 1915 basket ball team.

With regard to our standing, a look at our record will show that we are rated among the fastest teams in the middle West. Neither Kalamazoo College nor the Normal having lost a College game, the state title is held jointly by both. Out of eighteen games, fifteen of which were with Colleges, we won seventeen. Our one loss was at the hands of the fast state title contenders, Grand Rapids Y, at Grand Rapids. A week later, however, we wiped out this defeat by doubling their score here.

In looking over the past winter, we say that one of the most remarkable things was the popularity of the sport, as shown by the fact that our new gym. could not accommodate the crowds. With a continuation of the brand of basket ball that was played and the spirit that the students showed, the game will undoubtedly retain its present prestige.

Baseball

With only three of last year's regulars back for baseball this spring, Coach Mitchell was confronted with a difficult problem to pick a winning team from the new men. But through diligent work he had his team pretty well lined up by the time baseball had reached the out-of-door stage. Glenn Barnes was elected Captain and under the leadership six games have been played without a defeat. This is indeed a remarkable record considering the strong teams with which they have played.

The season was opened on the 13th of April by the game with Olivet. In spite of the fact that the weather was more appropriate to football than to ba eball, a great many baseball fans were on hand to cheer the Normal men on to victory. The men did good work throughout, the game being featured by the hits of the Normal which gave us the victory on a score of 7 to 1.

The next game with Alma was sensational, lasting through eleven innings. Both teams played an almost errorless game; the balls going out to the field were never lost; the pitchers allowed few hits and team play was brought into prominence through sacrifice hits. Finally in the last inning the Normal walked away with the honors, with a score of 3-1.

The game on the next day was played with Mt. Pleasant. The game was marked by heavy hitting and loose fielding. The game was "cinched" for the Normals in the seventh inning when with one down, Barnes walked, pilfered second, and scored on Lake's hit, while Lake stole second and scored on Lawler's hit to center. At the end of the eighth the score was 8-5 for the Normal.

The most tragic game of the season for Normal opponents was the Adrian game of which we shall say nothing but that the Adrian men had not a ghost of a chance and the Normal won by a score of 20-1.

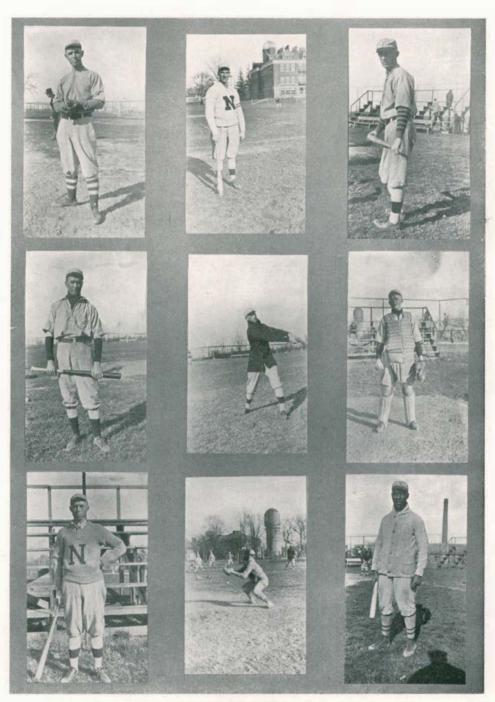

With such a record thus far, we have no fears for a winning baseball team. The Reserves have been doing good work this spring. Under Assistant Coach Elton Rynear on they have been organized and have played several games. The Reserves usually receive little publicity but they are of considerable importance in determining the quality of the first team. From the style of ball they have been playing it is safe to predict a strong team next spring.

In PAST years Yp ilanti ha been noted for her strong track teams, for each year the Normal strives to put her best team in the field. Two years ago the State Champion-hip, both indoor and outdoor, was won, but those who are acquainted with athletics, especially track, know that a champion hip team cannot be developed in one or even two years. We may not have a claim to the championship this year, but we have a team that is striving to retain the track reputation that already has been established.

The annual inter-class meet was won by the Seniors by a wide margin, although the Juniors put up a good fight and made the upper class men go the limit. As a result, several College records were equaled and one broken. This meet is an annual indoor meet; it not only assures class spirit, but it also brings out material for the College team. This year meet "uncovered" a number of men that are likely to land places on the Varsity track team this spring.

Among the activities for the outdoor season will be found an all-school meet, which will aid in getting ready for our regular College schedule. War conditions caused Albion College to cancel her dual meet which was scheduled for May 5. May 12, a team will represent the Normal at the M. A. C. Inter-Collegiate Track and Feld Meet; May 19 will see us at Alma; Hillsdale will compete against the Green and White on May 26, and May 30 will find us at Grand Rapids for the Champion-ship Meet.

The Inter-Scholastic Basket Ball Tournament

THE second annual Inter-Scholastic Basket Ball Tournament was held in the Normal Gymnasium during the latter part of the week of March 16. Of the twenty teams entered, only sixteen reported for entrance. The games were run off on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the finals being held Saturday afternoon. The Grayling team defeated Chelsea 49 to 9 in the final contest, thus winning first place. Chelsea and Milan took second and third places respectively.

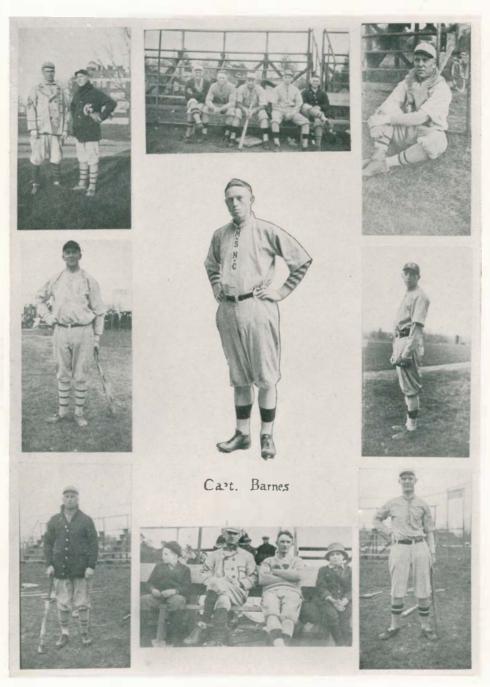

The entire series was marked by good sportsmanship and clean playing. Mr. Samson, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Rynearson and Mr. Steimle from the Normal, and Mr. Rowe and Mr. Rand from the U. of M., acted as officials. Their work is to be commended, for the businesslike way in which the meet was run was one of the big factors making it a success.

At the conclusion of the tournament a banquet was given the visitors by the men of the faculty and the student body, Professor Roberts being the toastmaster, and Professor Ford, Professor D'Ooge and Supt. Maginn of Mt. Morris responding to toasts. A delightful feature of the program was the singing, Mr. Lindegren, the Glee Club and the Quartette being the songsters. After the program the men attended the State Peace Oratorical Contest in a body.

These Inter-Scholastic contests held by the Normal have already assumed an important place in the athletic of the state, for they give a chance to the high school athletes from all over the state to become acquainted with each other. This is desirable both from an athletic and from a scholastic standpoint. Our with for the high schools of the state is that these contests may grow until they include all the schools of the state. And let us hope that the Normal may continue to stage these contests and to further their growth, that old Ypsi may do the best possible for the high schools of the state, that she may be a big factor in the unification of state athletics.

Tennis

 $igcup_{n}^{N}A$ warm pring day tennis rackets are very much in evidence on the campus. At the close of the hour the tudents begin to caress them when the first bell ring , and at the tap of the last bell they grab them, spring to their feet and dash off to the courts. The courts are always crowded, experts and beginners playing side by side. Classes in tennis are offered both fall and spring terms and consequently every student has the opportunity to learn how to play the game and play it well. Tennis tournaments are held and tennis team chosen from among the best player. This year the teams were exceptionally strong. Captains Hutchinson and the property of the player is the strong to the control of the control and Lampkin are among the best tennis players in the state.

In the match with Alma College, May 12, Captain Lampkin was easily the best tennis player on the courts, while Hutchinson outplayed his opponent in every set.

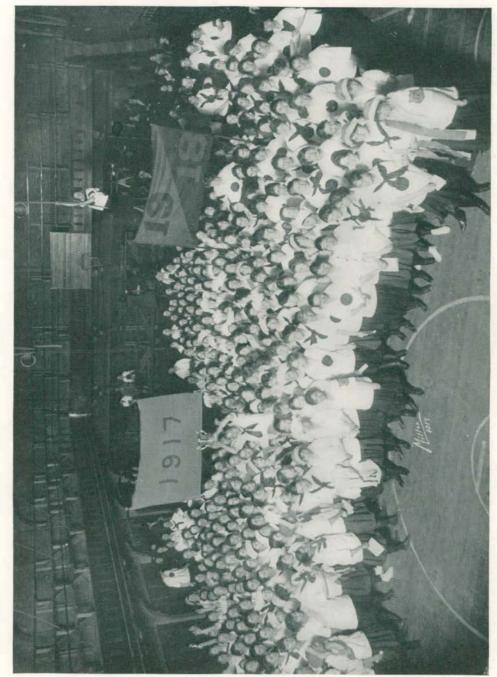

GIRLS' INDOOR MEET

Junior-Senior Indoor Meet

FOR fourteen consecutive years the Junior-Senior Indoor Meet has had first place on the program of the interesting events of the College. Each year has added to the previous year's work until for the past few winters two nights have been necessary to handle all of the events which were to take place. This year it was purposed that part of the competitive events, which have always been held inside, be postponed and held out-of-doors as part of a girls' track meet, a new spring affair. As the plan seemed a good one, only one night, March 10th, was given to indoor work.

The enrollment was the largest in the history of the meet and reached the five-hundred mark in each class. As a result the new we t gymnasium had to be used in order to give floor space for the large number of participants. The program consisted of the following: Figure marching, folk dancing, twenty-yard dash, volley ball, basket ball, rope climbing, a mass dumb bell drill, and a Swedish lesson.

The class of '17 won each event until the volley ball game was played. At this time the trained team of the Seniors took places on the floor thoroughly confident of winning against people who had never seen a volley ball until a few weeks before. But the amateur Junior team fairly crushed the unconquerable Senior team by a score of nineteen to eleven. This placed them ahead one point in the total number of scores. Then their enthusiasm and hope—ran high.

The basket ball game was begun amid great excitement. It proved to be an exciting and well played game, the teams being equally strong. The final score was sixteen to fourteen, again favoring the class of '18. Excepting these two games, all the events were won by the Senior class, and they walked away with the cup, winners by nearly one hundred points.

Girls Who Wear the "N"

PUNTIL last year the only way the girls had of winning a letter was by representing the College in tennis. Feeling that this was hardly fair to the girls the department of Physical Education under the direction of Mrs. Burton outlined a new point system whereby the girls who could meet certain requirements in physical efficiency were to be given the coveted letter. The following girls are now proudly wearing the "N":

Chloe Todd Irene Lampkin Winnifred Hopkin Marguerite Watkins Bly Quigley Frances Seeley

Prelude

Before cracking the multitude of jokes that have been begged, borrowed or stolen from contribs, contemps, and predecessors, we propose to explain something of the nature of the so-called joke, a close study of which explanation will enable anyone but the average Normal student to understand what follows and to distinguish the jokes from the otherwise.

There are several kinds of jokes beside those which, like the mushroom commonly called toad-tool, are not at all. Any joke which causes the victim to lose an eye or his life is called a practical joke. This is because it is calculated to terminate his practical utility. We have excluded all such although there are several which will cause the victim to lose his temper and the reader to lose his grouch. "There is nothing new under the sun" in the line of jokes. (Since this was written the Ru sians have established a republic, the United States has finally solved the U-boat problem—details unpublished, and President Mc-Kenny has declared that he has high hopes of perfect conduct at general assembly.) An old joke is called a chestnut. This is because we like to bite when it is cracked.

The history of the joke is long and eventful—this is true of most any joke. The first joke was found in the book of Genesis: When the Lord asked Cain, "Why do you not better care for your brother?" Cain replied, "Because I am not able (Abel)." Jokes came into great prominence in Egypt about the time that the pyramids were small enough to be used as hurdles in intercollegiate track meets. It was during a dry season and so they were called dry joks. Josephus Daniels' navy is the latest dry joke to be uncarthed although we expect to be present at the unveiling of another next May.

There are today an even dozen real jokes. The editor of this section is one and the section itself is the other eleven.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

(Any Fool Questions Answered in a Fool Way)

1. We are twin sister. We plan to go to the seashore this summer. Would a blue serge bathing suit with red trimmings be suitable?—Van Auken Twins.

By no means. Take at least two such suits.

2. Can you tell me the best possible speculative investment?—Ambitious.

Buy a faculty assistant at his real value and sell him at his own assessed value. You will multiply your capital.

3. Why does Bink Barnes eat grass while playing baseball?—Curious.

The donkey eats thistles—because he is a donkey.

4. Do you intend to use the novel "Normal Boys on the Mexican Border," which I submitted?—Doc Clyne.

We regret that your novel is too much in the nature of the "dime novel" to be placed in the hand, of the juniors. It is a very clever touch where "Big" John Hartman escapes through the loopholes in Villa's conversation.

5. How can I stop my gas meter? It runs around continually.—Ed Bremer.

Chain it to the water pipes. If this fail-, turn off the gas.

6. What is the cause of the break of day?—Scientific Mind.

The fall of night is accepted as the direct cause of the break of day.

7. How can I double my present salary as a school teacher?—Alumnus.

Get married to a school teacher with a good position.

8. Can you give me the recipe for a good tonic? I am all run down and my work is falling behind. — Dunbrook.

Try ketchup.

- 9. I have heard that in Australia there is a kind of sheep that have no noses. How do they smell?—Gleason. Awful.
- 10. What is the difference between a hand ome man about to kiss you and a haunted house?—Dorothy Willis.
 You can't let a haunted house.

INNOCENCE

"Ernie" Rynearson was a soldier at Grayling for a while last summer. One morning he came ru-hing up late for parade and stepped hastily into line.

"What are you late for?" snapped the erg ant.

"Parade, sir," was the innocent response.

Locke: I heard a good story in Detroit yesterday and when I got out to Ypsi I couldn't remember it.

Bailey: That was carrying a joke

Russell Rolland: Gee! it looks like rain.

George Rowan: What looks like rain? Ha, Ha! I have you there.

R. R.: Water, you fool.

DEFINITIONS OF LIFE

Lewis Lash: Life is a very serious proposition.

C. Benner: Life is just one darned thing after another.

T. Quick: Life is a struggle that ain't worth living.

Prof. Lyman: Have you proved this proposition?

Ed Smith: Well, proved is rather a strong word, but I can say that I have rendered it highly probable.

Tommy Ander on: Dear, I have a ked your mother and she ha given her consent.

Bertha Postal: Oh! I am so glad, but won't it be funny to call you papa.

Clarence Reid: Did you kick on the board at the Triangle?

Carpenter: Yes.
Reid: What result?

Carp: They awed it up and are serving awdust for breakfast.

Nettie: I n't it funny how colored people have uch an affinity for chicken?

Hettie: Not at all. One is descended from Ham and the other from eggs.

Marie Gallagher: We had three bachelors for dinner today.

Maxine Odell: What queer appetites we develop away from home.

While in Scotland some years ago, Dr. Gorton had need of legal advice. Approaching an intelligent looking old gentleman he asked, "Have you a criminal lawyer in town?" "Thot we hiv," came the confidentially whispered response, "but we hinna been able to prove it again him yit. He's ower sharp."

WHO'S WHO? (Latest Edition)

The whoest who of all the who is the one who has the ordinary common ens and foresight to ettle up for his Aurora.

Teacher: Every creature is here for a purpose. Now what do we learn from the mosquito?

Small Boy: We learn how easy it is to get stung.

Prof. Pearce: Do you think that a girl graduate from this college should go out and get the wages of a man?

Prospective June Bride: It depends on whether she is married to him or not.

Dunny: How can we ever combat the constantly soaring cost of living?

Edwards: We might buy plain (biplane) food.

Tedrow: This school certainly takes an interest in a fellow, doesn't it?

Dey: How's that?

Ted: Why, I was reading in the Normal News that the editor would be very glad to be informed of the deaths of any alumni.

Prof. Downing: They say that Tenny on frequently worked a whole afternoon on one line.

Carter: That's nothing. I know a man that has been working for eight years on a single sentence.

Mr. Ericson: What is the matter? Every time you see a six you call it a two.

Hazen Wilmot: It is a matter of habit. I am used to working in a ladies' hoe tore.

POOR DOGGIE

The Super-Six bunch had a little bull pup;

It ate all the rugs and the furniture up.
The landlady decreed the poor brute should die,

And the gang with each other for methods did vie.

The plan Hodge suggested was plainly a cinch,

It was, "Feed him on rulers—he'll die by the inch."

Bink Barnes had a cheme that surely was cute,

It was, "Kick his head off—he'll die by the foot."

Dana Wilbee prote ted, with heart calloused hard,

"Throw him out in the alley—he'll die by the yard."

"Dewey" Doyle for the junior three of the six,

Said, "Make him die by the rod—we'll pound him with sticks."

Prof. Bowen: Did you take a shower?

Junior: No, sir, is one missing?

OUCH!

It was in the game between the Normal second team and Milan high school. A fast one struck Culver on the head and bounded into the catcher's mitt. The umpire was not attending closely and woke up in time to see the catch. "You're out!" he shouted. "But that ball hit me in the head," shouted the angry Culver. "I didn't see where it hit," said the ump, "but I know the sound of wood."

Office Boy: No, the doctor has gone out to lunch.

Patient: Will he be in after lunch? Office Boy: Why, no; that is what he went out after.

Lawler: What's the matter? You look worried.

Dunn: I can't decide whether that doll told me I danced like a heifer or a zephyr last night.

Reader: Did you see "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea?"

Parsons: Ye, but it was too deep for me.

THE HISTORY CHARTS AND FOLDING -TOP DESKS IN ROOM 49 LEND THEMSELVES ADMIRABLY TO PURPOSES OF SAFETY FIRST DRILLS NECESSITATED BY BLASTYING OPERATIONS ON THE SITE OF THE NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

SLEEPY?

Maten Ben Rathbun— May his head decrease—

Awoke in class from a deep dream of

And lo! pok out to wise Profesor Peet

And said, "If one should ask me had I taken Chem.

What an wer should I have to make to them?"

Professor Peet made answer, not a little vexed.

"Answer you took it last term, this term, and the next."

"I may stick around now," said the tree, "but I leave in the pring."

First Student: Horrors! It happened twice in six weeks.

Second Student: What? A railroad wreck?

First Student: No! Herbert Dunbrook walked the whole width of Crosstreet alone.

Second Student: What did you do? First Student: Called up the Dean and she said, "The lady in question was out of town by permission."

D. S. Girl: The paper says that nitrates are higher.

Practical Mind: What do I care— I never telegraph anywhere.

While boating on the Huron's stream I saw the river's arm

Steal gently 'round a neck of land To keep its shoulder warm.

This made me jealous as could be— It really made me sore,

And so I paddled toward the land And closely hugged the hore.

Cavanaugh: I don't believe the Chine e Republic will ever be a success.

Davis: No. Their last president was poisoned and their new president is Hung.

A CLEVER TOUCH

Dear Father, once you said, "My son, To manhood you have grown; Make others trust you, tru t yourself, And learn to stand alone."

Now, Father, soon I graduate, And those who long have shown How well they trust me want their pay, And I can stand a loan.

Dana Wilbee (sadly): When I was a small boy I was left an orphan.

Ruth Pro ser: Oh! and what did you do with it?

Daale Jones: What made the tower of Pisa lean?

Jerry Sherzer: If I knew, I'd try it.

He: She has such an air of refinement.

She: Ye Her father i an oil salesman.

McMurray: I have a friend that suffers terribly from the heat.

McClear: Where does he live? McMurray: He isn't living.

Aurora Editor: Yes, we have decided to use your poem.

Student Poet: Then I suppose you will remunerate me according to your regular tariff.

Aurora Editor: Yes, poetry is on the free list.

Ponton: The audience was very enthusiastic about my oration. When I got thru they yelled, "Fine! fine!"

Hubbard: It is a good thing you stopped when you did. If you had kept on any longer they would have shouted, "Imprisonment!"

Dunk Lawler: Yes, I have played ball a great deal. I am really quite adept at both batting and fielding.

Landlady (in the wings): Let's see you make a home run.

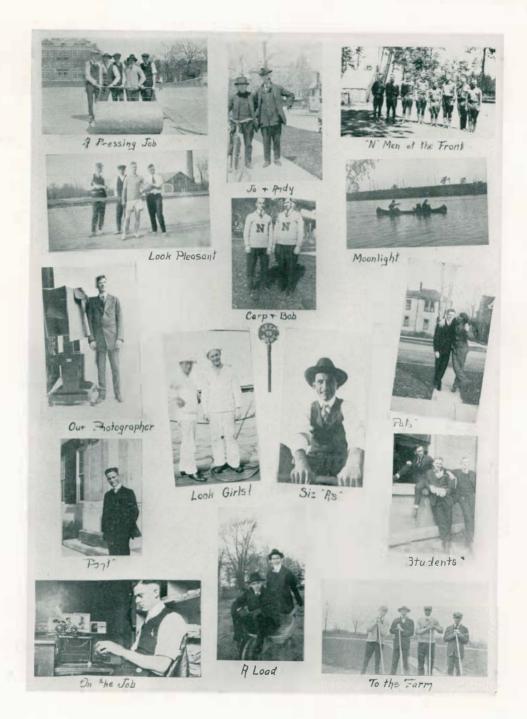

OUR BAND

When we hear our new band play, We wonder how they dare. But then you see they have the right Because they rent the air.

John Hubbard: I should think— Prof. McKay: Very true, you should.

The Dean: You were out after ten last night.

Guilty One: You are mi taken. I was out after only one.

Spen Smith: Say, what'll you take to shave?

"Tim" Crowe: A razor—what do you take?

Clif Crane: Good morning, have you used Pear's soap?

Jim Spencer: No, I am not rooming with Pear any more.

Jimmie Hole was reading a new magazine in the library when he came upon ome uncut pages. He regarded the phenomenon for a moment, then turned to Fred Bates: "Say, Fred, how did they ever get the printing in there, anyway?

Rus Reader is experimenting down in the home cellar. He expects to produce a new motor car with parts interchangeable with those of his watch.

Janet Purser: Do you like bowlegged men?

Ruth Prosser: I think it gives them such an arch look.

"A I was coming across the bridge the other night," said "Tim" Crowe, "I met Bob Engleman, 'Hello, Bob! I called. 'Hello, Jack,' he answered. 'Jack,' I repeated, 'That isn't my name. 'And mine's not Bob,' he answered. With that both took another look and sure enough it was neither of u."

AFTER THE ART CLUB PARTY

Helene Janes (on the telephone): Have you any idea where I could have left my party bag?

Russ Paisley: No—oh say, did you look under the chair on the front porch?

"Podge" Hollway: Prof. Pray has been teaching here a long time, hasn't he?

Gilson: Yes, when he came he called his course "Lectures Upon Current Events." Now he calls it "Studies in Medieval History."

Prof. Peet: If you crush a lump of sugar between your teeth an electric spark may be seen.

Junior: But how can you see it if the mouth is closed?

Prof. Peet: With the eye teeth, per-

Latin Student: Caesar sic decat in de curne gesse lictum. (Translating) Caesar sicked the cat on the cur and I guess he licked him.

Miss Carey: Time is never wanted list'ning to the trees.

Notoriou Fusser: I haven't my composition ready.

Miss Carey: Out last night?

N. F.: Just up the river—list'ning to the trees.

Professor: How dare you swear before me?

Student: How was I to know that you wanted to swear first?

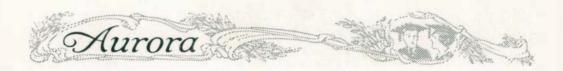

Jesse Watson: Why is Boyle's Law like love?

Ed Smith: Because the lower the gas the higher the pressure.

Lah: Is this hotel run on the European plan?

Waiter: What do you mean?

Lash: Furious charges, trouble over boarders, and censored communication.

APPLIED CHEMISTRY

Given: A sheet of paper. To prove: That it is a lazy dog.

- 1. A sheet of paper is an ink-lined plane.
 - 2. An inclined plane is a slope up.
 - 3. A slow pup is a lazy dog.

Therefore a sheet of paper is a lazy dog.—Q. E. D.

Dr. Gorton: It does not hurt one to fall, it is the sudden stop.

Dr. Strong: Give me an example of stable equilibrium.

Louis Lash: A horse standing while asleep.

Junior: With all the fighting in Europe, I wonder when the soldiers get any sleep.

Senior: Oh, they steal a little now and then from their knapsack.

Doc Clyne: Who taught you to two-step?

Clarence Umphrey: My two tepsister.

"Zeek" Kent was having a minister one day when the razor slipped and inflicted a gash upon the reverend one chin. Thinking the tonsorial artist intoxicated, he aid: "You see, my good man, what drink will do?" "Yes," replied "Zeek," "it does make the skin tender."

Mother: What is a football coach, father?

Father: The ambulance, I suppose.

News from the front: General Haig will Arras the Germans until they Argonne.

Student Teacher: Who was born in Bethlehem?

Training School Product: Charles M. Schwab.

DO YOU KNOW?

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee,

Or a key for the lock of his hair? Can his eyes be called an academy Because there are pupil there?

What gems are set in the crown of his head?

Who travels the bridge of his nose?

Can be use in shingling the roof of his mouth

The nail on the tips of his toes?

Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail,

And if so what did it do?

Where does he sharpen his shoulder blades?

I am sure I don't know-do you?

Prof. Lyman: Mr. Sherzer, how would you work problem 48?

Jerry (who has been boning on chemistry): If I were to work it, I would have to do it by chemistry.

Prof. Lyman: That might be all right, Mr. Sherzer, but your re-ult would be very likely to explode.

Agent: Can't I take your order for one of our encyclopedias?

Mr. Lawson: No, I gues not. I might be able to use it a few times, but my son, George, will be home from college in June.

Mr. Scriber: Claude, my son, are you first in anything at school?

"Ducky": Yes, father! First out of the class room when the bell rings.

Hotel Clerk: Just sign your name, please. The other guests would like to register.

Homer Carter: Don't you try to hurry me, young man. I don't ever ign anything that I haven't read carefully.

Pat: An phwat is a chafing dish?
Mike: Whist! It's a frying pan
that's got into society.

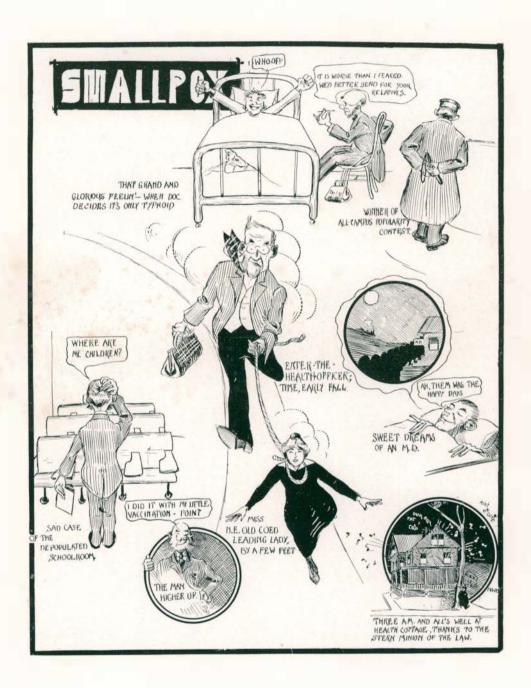

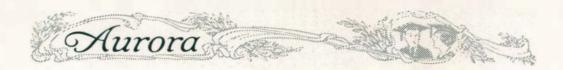

SYLLOGISTIC REASONING

(According to Henry Seinen)

A poor recitation is better than nothing.

Nothing is better than a good recitation.

Therefore a poor recitation is better than a good one.

C. Benner (on telephone): You'll have to come and get me. I've turned turtle.

Wiedman' Garage (an wering): You want the aquarium. This is a garage.

Bill Dunn: I can never go to war. I'm too big.

Jimmie Hole: Why they want big men in the army.

Bill Dunn: Get out, I've just been reading where a soldier went to sleep on his watch.

"Bob" to E ther Thompson: You could marry me without changing your name, couldn't you, Esther?

Esther: Yes, "Bob," but I'd have to change my mind fir t.

Recruiting Officer: Sorry I must reject you on account of your teeth.

Dr. Smith: Man, you're making a grave mistake. I'm not wanting to bite the Germans, I'm wanting to shoot 'em.

As the celebrated oprano began to sing Lindow became greatly excited over the gesticulation of the orchestra conductor.

Grace, what's that man shaking his stick at her for? he demanded indignantly.

Sh-h! He's not shaking his stick at her.

Lindow: Then what in thunder is she hollering for?

Lawson: Why do you work so hard?
J. Palmer: I'm too nervous to steal.
