AURORA

NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY SIX

PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS OF
THE MICHIGAN STATE
NORMAL COLLEGE,
YPSILANTI, MICHIGAN

TO BERTHA G. BUELL, IN APPRECIATION
OF HER LEADERSHIP, [WITH GRATITUDE
FOR HER HIGH IDEALS OF SCHOLARSHIP,
AND WITH ADMIRATION AND RESPECT
FOR FOSTERING THE CAUSE OF PEACE,
WE DEDICATE THIS AURORA.

FOREWORD

In these times of turmoil and of stress, it seemed fitting that we, the Senior Class of 1936, in this Aurora attempt to show through the symbolism of art, the position of education in obtaining and maintaining peace for all mankind.

FANNIE CHEEVER
BURTON

Mrs. Fannie Cheever Burton, as head of the Women's Gymnasium for twenty-five years, was recognized for her rare ability as an administrator and her superior training of women in physical education.

As Mrs. Burton had made the gymnasium a delightful social center, she was prepared to direct in later years the social activities of the College. To every problem she gave deliberate consideration and, having arrived at a consistent solution, she executed with dispatch.

In her relation with students Mrs. Burton won their respect because she was direct and straight-forward. She won their affection because she was generous in her understanding of their desires and reactions. To changing social conditions she adapted herself without loss of that unerring good taste which had characterized her for years, and without sacrifice of the real and permanent values of college social life. Altogether Mrs. Burton was a compelling power in establishing the finest social standards for students.

Faculty members always held Mrs. Burton in profound esteem. Her loyalty to the institution and to her co-workers was active and constructive. Her code was such that it gave dignity and significance to teaching as one of the professions. Her ready sociability and kindness made association with her a pleasure. She will be remembered as a devoted educator, a great gentlewoman, a gallant and an intrepid soul.

LYDIA I. JONES

ABIGAIL PEARCE

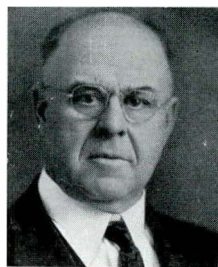

In the passing of Miss Abigail Pearce the people of Ypsilanti lost a well-loved friend and neighbor, and the Normal College one of its most highly regarded, loyal, and individual teachers. Miss Pearce spent the best years of a reasonably long life as a citizen of the community and a member of the English faculty of the College, and she has left the impression of her interesting personality upon students, friends, and fellow teachers.

In the classroom she was admired for her intellectual integrity, her impartiality, her straight-forward frankness, and her delightful Scotch humor. She never fawned nor flattered, but was uniformly and sincerely honest in all her human relationships. Her teaching was earnest and thorough; it stimulated love of industry and pride in excellence, and developed in those taught something of her own sturdy strength, her sanity, and deep human kindness.

She will be missed by thousands who have sat in her classroom and by a wide circle of friends who enjoyed her hospitality and were refreshed by her unflinching courage and good cheer. We shall not forget her buoyance of spirit nor her lively wit; but most of all we shall treasure her memory because she was a woman of character. "One who never turned her back but marched breast forward . . ."

For more than fourteen years Thomas L. Hankinson conducted work in Animal Biology in the Michigan State Normal College. Many Michigan teachers have received their training in Zoology under his skilled and careful guidance, and numbers have been inspired by him to follow in other lines of Natural Science when he found their aptitudes leading in that direction. As a teacher, he was recognized as one who came anew each day from a field of broad experience and his class lectures were richly filled with pages directly from the book of nature.

THOMAS L.
HANKINSON

Outside his college, Mr. Hankinson had a wide reputation as a naturalist well acquainted with wild life, for whose welfare and protection he earnestly labored. His deep concern for the preservation of our native animals led him to take a prominent part in the conservation activities in Michigan, where his zeal and practical ideas made him a valuable worker.

Others as well as students, found Mr. Hankinson generous of time and effort, ready to help wherever he could and always more than willing to cheerfully share his fund of knowledge. He will be remembered on the campus for his quiet, unassuming manner, his kindly attitude toward all and his untiring zeal in his chosen line of work. In his passing, the college has lost a helpful friend, a fine scientist, and an enthusiastic teacher. As was said in a memorial to him published in a recent scientific magazine, "His life has been one of continuous service to his science and to his fellow scientists."

HELEN DOLMAN

Professor Henry C. Lott graduated from the Michigan State Normal College in 1890 and, following a period spent as a school superintendent in various parts of Michigan, he returned here as an assistant professor of Psychology. Since 1920 he served as a professor of Education specializing in the fields of ethics, sociology, and school administration.

HENRY C. LOTT

Professor Lott was also very active in social life, serving as an elder in the Presbyterian Church and belonging to several national and local educational societies.

Always popular with those members of the student body who were fortunate enough to have contacts with him, Professor Lott conducted his classes with an air of informality and culture. Mr. Lott was greatly interested in literature and was very widely read. One of the things which endeared Mr. Lott to his many students was his habit of reading a short poem or literary selection each day which in some way emphasized the problem under consideration.

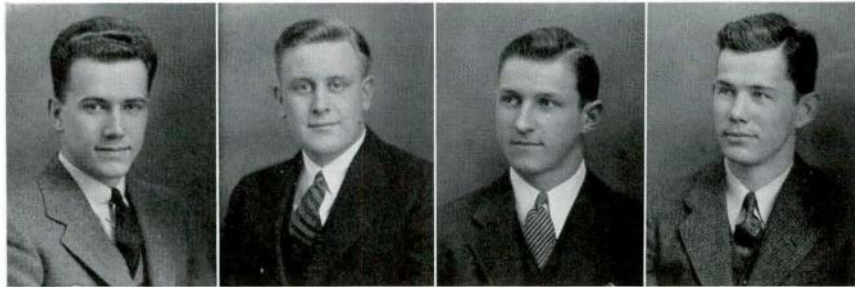

In the death of Henry C. Lott the Michigan State Normal College lost a long-faithful and highly valued member of its faculty; the State of Michigan an eminent and loyal citizen; and the entire educational profession a worthy member, supporter, and contributor.

Men's Union Officers

WALTER WHITEHOUSE President

CLARK SCHWADERER Vice-President

JAMES MATTHEWS Secretary

WALTER GOOD Treasurer

Providing the campus guidance for the college events that demanded spirit, enthusiasm, hard work and efficient leadership, the Men's Union during the year 1935-36 again demonstrated its position as the outstanding campus organization. It not only fulfilled its place on the campus, but with the University of Michigan was one of the two Union organizations from Michigan represented at the national convention of student union managers and officers held at the University of North Carolina, thus revealing its breadth of interest and its recognized position among other schools.

Men's Union

After properly welcoming the freshman men and giving them an understanding as to the observance of campus tradition, the leadership of the Men's Union turned to the planning of Homecoming. With Walter Breed and Arthur Hughes assisting the president of the Men's Union in perfecting plans, the men on the campus cooperated to put the program over in such a way that it goes down in campus history as one of the best organized Homecomings ever staged. Assembly, class games, pep meetings, parade, house judging, the football game with Central State, the banquet, the dances, and the concert all blended together in a week-end of spirited Homecoming fun.

After the few weeks necessary to recover from Homecoming, the men began to lay plans for the annual Yule Log Drag, for which they chose the date of Friday, December 13. With the distinctive music of Lew Douglas and his orchestra, and presenting for the first time on the campus a dance arrangement of the Huron Fight Song, the party pleased its patrons in the midst of candelabra, Christmas trees, fireplaces, stars, silvered letters, and soft lights, and also inaugurated later party hours than had been previously allowed.

Leaving the Winter Term social season for others to fill, the Union climaxed the spring social season with the 1936 Spring Breeze. The delightful music of Ray Williams and his orchestra was presented for the first time on this campus, with the stage, a shell of starry blue sky, as a fitting background. The committee also designed garden scenes for the ballroom, mezzanine, balcony, and lobby. With the full cooperation of the weatherman, the musicians, and the students, the 1936 Spring Breeze went down in campus history as a perfect spring mate to the Yule Log Drag.

Men's Union Executive Board

With an atmosphere of friendly informality and yet seriously considering the best interests of the men on the campus, the 1936 Executive Board combined the men's leadership of the various classes on the campus. With President Whitehouse inaugurating the policy of having all the Union officers meet with the Executive Board and with the genuine interest that the elected representatives of the men displayed, the work of the Executive Board did much toward carrying through the program for the year.

When the Winter Term saw two vacancies on the Board, and the lack of a vice-president, the men chose Robert Champe to replace Eugene Oswald as Sophomore representative, and Edwin Neill as Junior representative. Robert Arnold was chosen by the Board as vice-president to fill the place left by Homer Parker. Further balloting proved necessary to fill the position for Spring Term, and Clark Schwaderer was chosen to finish the year.

The success of Homecoming, the Yule Log Drag, the ticket sale for the all-college play, the student council committee, the all-campus election, and the Spring Breeze were due in a large part to the fine degree of cooperation of the Executive Board.

Men's Union Activities

Besides sponsoring the traditional Homecoming, the Yule Log Drag, and the Spring Breeze, the Men's Union provided the leadership for several other campus projects and staged several outstanding assemblies for the men on the campus. The outstanding assembly of the Fall Term presented the Dixie Eight as musical entertainers, and Umpire George Moriarity of the American League as the speaker.

Winter Term, the Speech Department requested the Union to handle the ticket sale for the All-College Play, and the efficient handling of the tickets contributed to the success of the play.

The project of determining the student sentiment on the student council question concerned the men during Winter Term as they co-operated with the women in a committee to investigate the proposed student council and to recommend a plan. The committee was appointed after an open forum discussion on the question was held in a Union assembly. Other assemblies were devoted to the discussion of routine business until spring election rolled around, when nominations were made, and speeches given by the presidential candidates.

The final assembly of the year was held at the Martha Washington Theatre, and the Union recognized those members of the Normal Band completing one or two years of service, the Executive Board, the officers of the Union, and graduates outstanding in Speech during the year, with charms and gavels.

The year for the Men's Union closed with the planning of an extensive fall program for Freshmen men by the Executive Board, as they offered their best wishes to the incoming president, James Matthews.

Women's League

What has the Women's League done this year? To every woman student it has offered greater participation in democratic control and increased social and cultural opportunities.

The women will long remember the social affairs sponsored by the Women's League: the mad dash for Harvest Hop tickets, the fortune-telling and the unique costumes at the Hallowe'en Jolly-up and the Lassies' Leap Year Party, the friendly atmosphere of the teas, and the enchanting music at the League Lark.

This year has been one of interest and achievement for the four class clubs. In Viventes the freshmen women learned how to be "proper". The sophomore women discovered their latent dramatic talent in the Goldfeather skits and plays. Euthalia guided the junior women toward intelligent theatre-going—and they actually did go. Through Book-a-Month, the seniors enjoyed discussions of the best recent books.

When the president and the president-elect of the League returned from the annual convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students at Denison University, they reported that the League's Campus Sister program is exceptionally well organized in comparison to the other colleges.

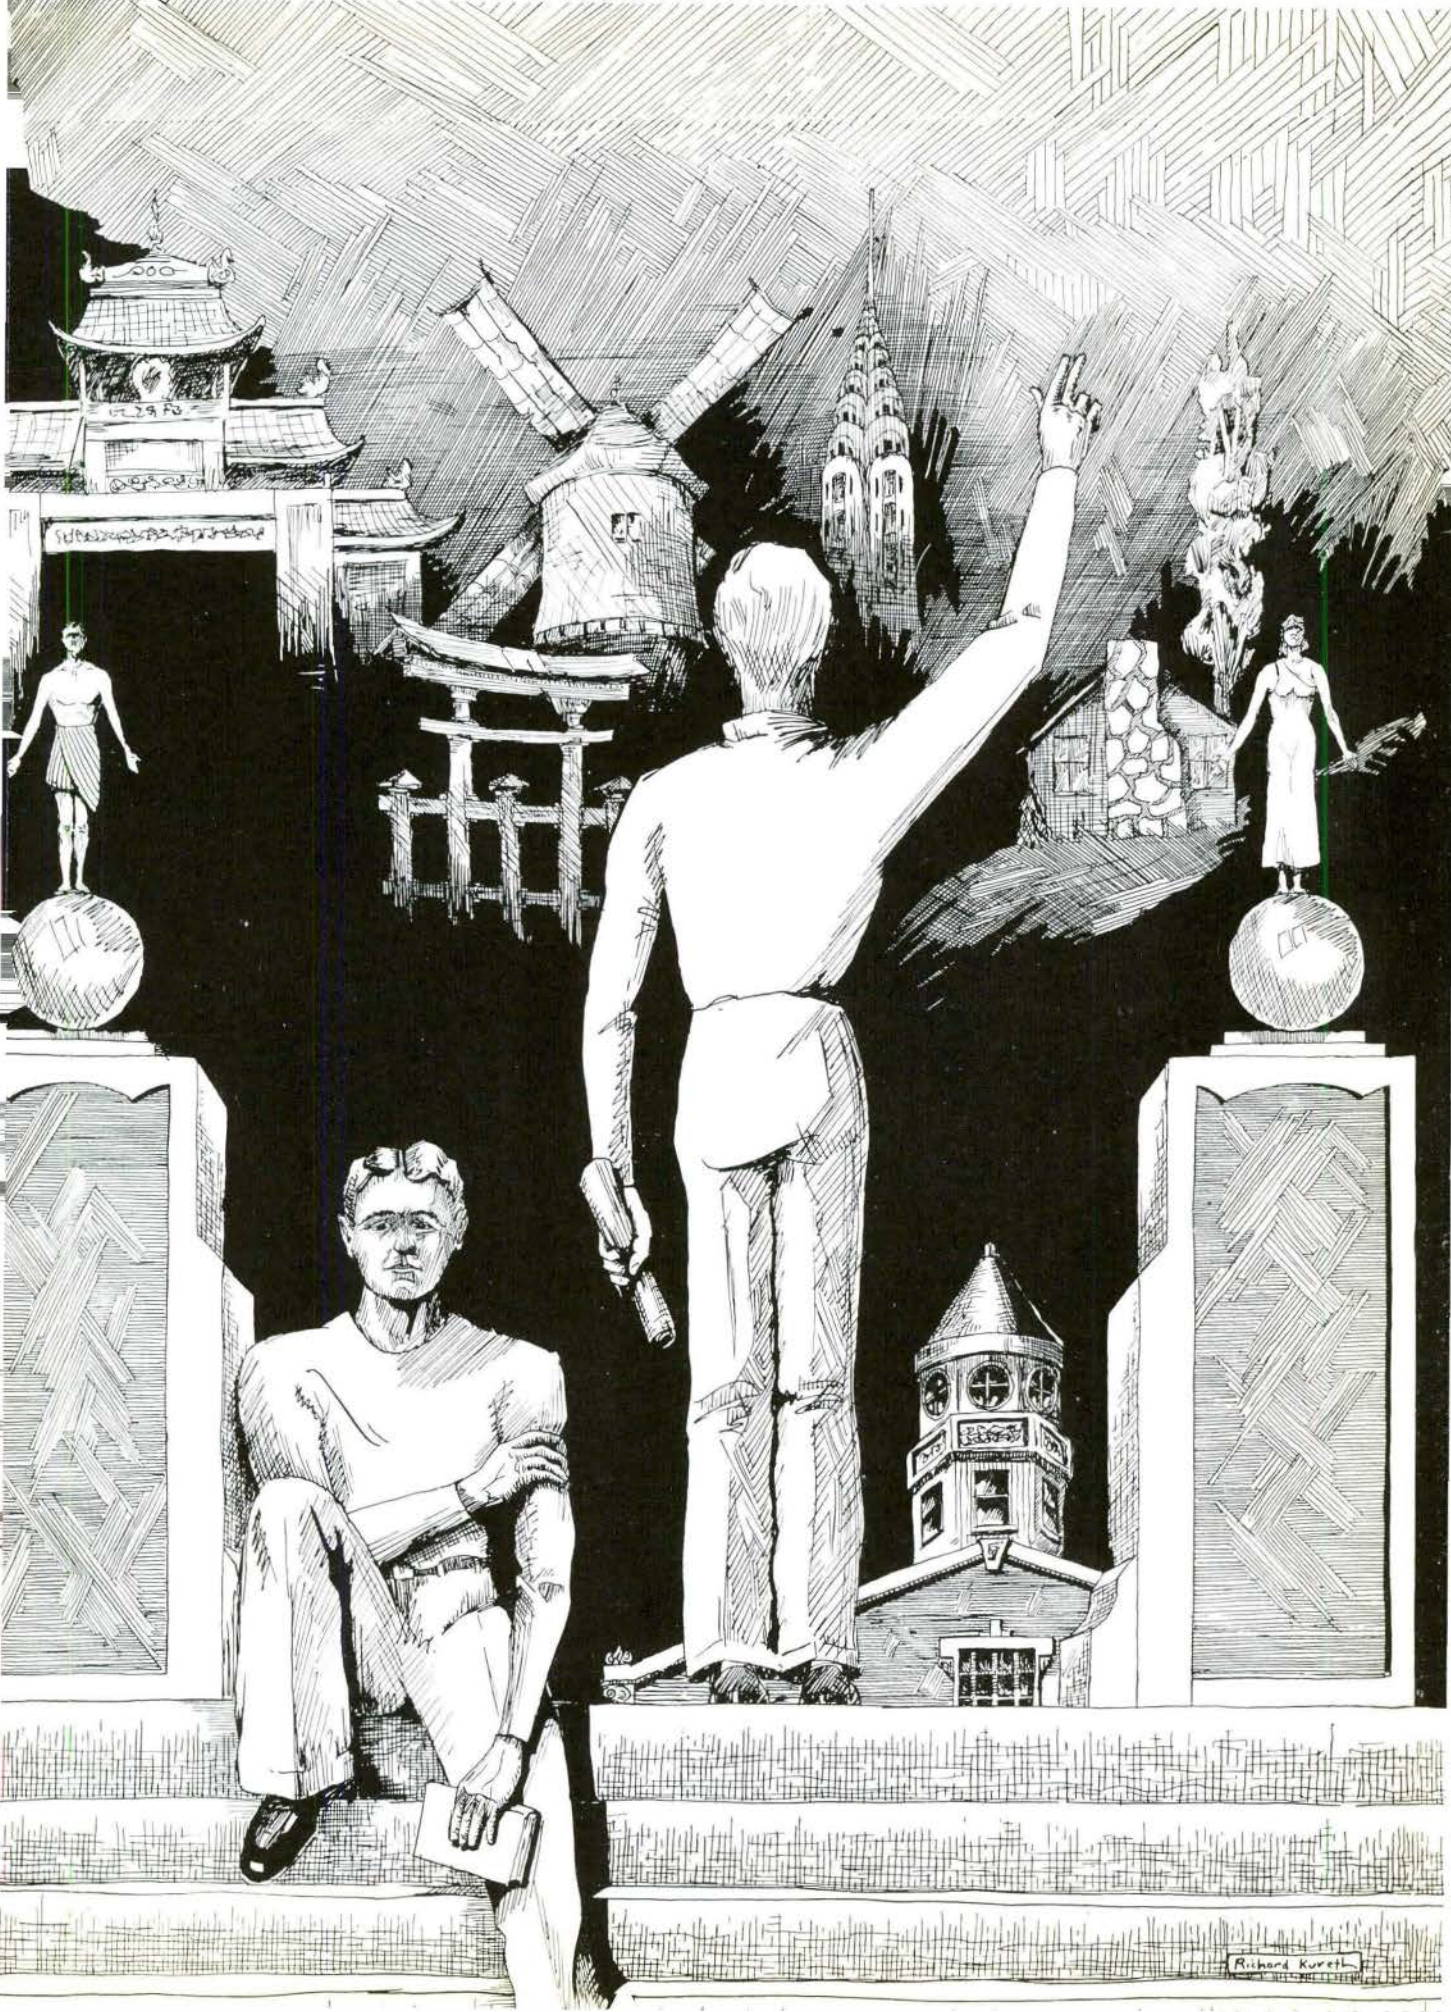

Innovations of the past year have included the enlargement of the Advisory Counselors committee, a second Co-ed Prom, and a more formal installation with a banquet. The past year has shown an increasing attainment of the organization's goal: "A Women's League for every woman, and every woman for the League!"

Senior History

There were five hundred and eighty of us when we enrolled in M.S.N.C. in September, 1932. We fought with the Sophomores, won three out of four class games, had our Freshman Mixer, and yet some of us survived. Worden Geer, Dorothy Ellen Cook, Jane Saunders, and William Bell were the ones who guided our footsteps until the time we threw our "pots" in the bonfire at Sleepy Hollow and declared that we were sophomores.

A few less in numbers, we came back for more in 1933. This year saw us winning the class games again, and also participating in a great variety of college activities. Our class mixer excluded no one. The class was lead by Betty Mitchell, Cornelius Scott, Walter Whitehouse, and Robert McKenny during our Sophomore year.

1934, and we, as Juniors, came back. We had learned; we now not only acted, but sometimes acted to the best effect. Members of our class represented the college in the state oratorical contest, debating, and the state interpretative reading contest. Our class president, Walter Whitehouse, edited the Normal College News. Our J-Hop, under the direction of Clark Schwaderer, was the outstanding social event of the year, providing a maid for the ladies, a doorman, and comfortable lounges on the second floor for those tired of dancing. The class officers that year were Walter Whitehouse, Natalie Herrick, Frances Atwell, and Walter Breed.

Only about one-half of the five hundred and eighty who started here in 1932 came back in 1935 to strut about the campus as Seniors. Fearing that the undergraduates did not fully realize that we were Seniors, the class wanted some emblem to make the campus "Senior Conscious." A committee with Marinus Van Ameyde as chairman, Catherine Woodward, and Frank Borovsky, secured inexpensive walking sticks for us to carry during the last two weeks of school.

Because, in the past, the Aurora has not had the support of the entire student-body, we appointed a committee to investigate and, if possible, find some way to re-finance our yearbook so that every student might have a copy as a record of his college days. This committee had as its co-chairmen Walter Whitehouse and Joseph Worzniak, and its members, Dorothy Anderson, Yates Kennedy, and Theodore Jackimowicz, wrote to numerous engravers and printing firms before reporting to President Munson. The aim of the committee was to plan a book low enough in price to be placed on the Activities Fee, yet maintaining high standards.

April 25, we danced at the Senior Party, which replaced the time-honored Skip Day. The committee in charge was composed of Arthur Hughes and Clarence Rukamp, co-chairmen; Ferris Newman, tickets; Catherine Woodward, decorations; and Clark Schwaderer, music. The Seniors and their guests divided their time between dancing in the ballroom, gaming in the recreation room downstairs, and choosing something refreshing to eat at the fountain.

Deciding to cast aside the out-worn traditional Class Day exercises, we searched for something entertaining, yet appropriate, to substitute for the valedictory, the history, the prophecy, and the class poem. A committee, headed by co-chairmen Sidney Fishman and Arthur Hughes, presented several suggestions to the class and it was voted to "put the Graduate of 1936 on trial" to determine whether or not his education fitted him to face the problems of life. Helen Harding, Walter Whitehouse, Dorothy Anderson, Theodore Jackimowicz, Natalie Herrick, Frances Atwell, William Bronson, and Clark Schwaderer were selected to convert this idea into a concrete form in the shape of a play. After much labor this was done, and the play was presented by the Seniors themselves before the assembled student-body.

As a class we feel we have been successful. As individuals? Well, perhaps we will have the opportunity to tell each other about that in the years to come.

THE REFORMING COMMITTEES OF '36

Back Row—WHITEHOUSE, SCHWADERER, BRONSON, NEWMAN, HUGHES, RASBURY.
Second Row—VAN AMEYDE, KENNEDY, FISHMAN, JACKIMOWICZ, WORZNIAK, G. ANDERSON.

Second Row—FISHMAN, ROCK, D. ANDERSON, HOWLAND, SECORD, POWIERSKI, DASZKIEWICZ.
Front Row—BITZER, HARDING, CLARK, HERRICK, CONLIN, GOLDMAN.

Class Day

Presiding at the trial of the Graduate of '36, was Ferris Newman. Gordon Anderson, as attorney for the defendant, presented evidence to prove that the Graduate was able to face the problems of teaching, while Prosecuting Attorney Arthur Hughes endeavored to prove that the Graduate's education had not fitted him for his profession. Sidney Fishman, as clerk, recorded all the evidence, while Eileen Bitzer, John Bocjun, Frances Atwell, Clark Schwaderer, Helen Harding, Olivia Secord, and Walter Whitehouse were subpoenaed as witnesses. The jury, selected after careful examination of their character and integrity, "twelve good men and true," was composed of Yates Kennedy, Don Rock, Natalie Herrick, Hildreth Clark, Eleanor Conlin, Anna Marie Ingles, John Padgett, Joseph Powierski, Zygfred Daszkiewicz, Mary Frances Goldman, Beverly Howland, and Dorothy Anderson.

*Back Row—W. WHITEHOUSE, VAN AMEYDE, HUGHES, ZEPP.
Second Row—SCHWADERER, YARGER, ANDERSON, ECCELSTONE.
Front Row—MITCHELL, E. WHITEHOUSE, BITZER, FINK.*

Lantern Walk

In academic garb, and carrying lighted lanterns, the Seniors marched around the campus in solemn procession, bidding it the traditional farewell on Friday evening, June nineteenth.

Led by the co-chairmen, James Rasbury and James Yarger, the column stopped at each building in turn, and a respectful tribute was paid to each by a member of the class: Charles McKenny Hall, Eileen Bitzer; Science Building, Walter Whitehouse; Science Gardens, John Ecclestone; Welch Hall, Clark Schwaderer; Administration Building, Jessie Kerschner; Pierce Hall, Arthur Hughes; Pease Auditorium, Arlene Jennings; Roosevelt School, Gordon Anderson; Men's Gymnasium, William Zepp; Women's Gymnasium, Elizabeth Mitchell; Library, Barbara Fink; Starkweather Hall, Elizabeth Whitehouse; Health Cottage, Marinus Van Ameyde.

Junior History

In the fall of 1933, with the advent of a new president for our college, the present Junior Class began its career. Handicapped from the beginning by fewer members than the other classes, they determined to overcome this inequality by active participation in all campus activities. At their first election William Smith was chosen as president; Julia Evans, vice-president; Betty Von Eberstein, secretary; and Dan Caton, treasurer. The class began their college conquests by roundly whipping the larger representation of Sophomores at the class games.

As Sophomores, the class moved into the full swing of college activities, being represented among the leaders in every department and general campus enterprise. James Matthews was elected president; George Wendt, vice-president; Carl Newman, secretary; and Christy Wilson, treasurer. Four members of the class participated in last year's college play, "Paris Bound," and nearly every athletic team had one or more Sophomore Varsity men on its roster. Men and women from the Sophomore Class were active in debate, and the Union and League Executive Boards numbered the alert Sophomores among their members.

This year the Juniors, almost completely oriented to college life, and being upperclassmen, stepped into place as leaders in major campus activities. Socially, they climaxed the season with an outstanding J-Hop. In athletics, the Juniors led in both active participation and faithful support of the teams. In dramatics, Dorothy Bernard took the leading role in the college play for the second consecutive year, this year's play being "The Swan." Julia Evans represented the college as Women's Orator, and Wendell Lichtenfelt as Peace Orator in the intercollegiate speaking contests.

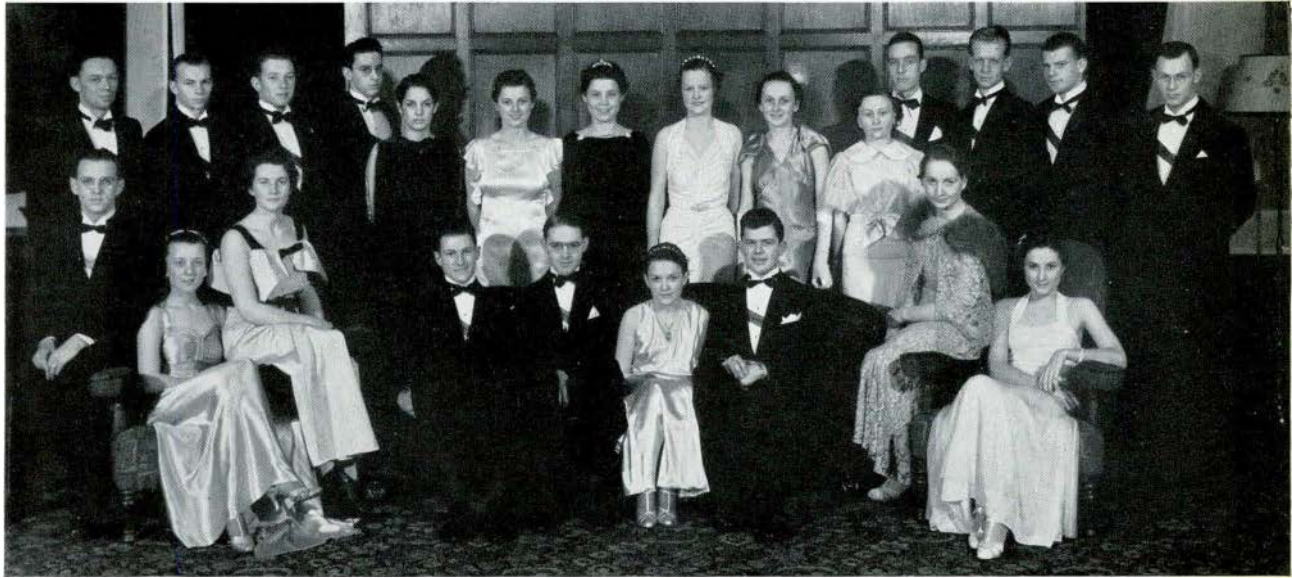

The successful 1935-36 college year was directed by James Matthews, president; Julia Evans, vice-president; Kathleen Drumm, secretary; and Walter Good, treasurer. Thus, the class closes its third year, confident in its past experience, and expectant of its future as graduates of 1937.

J-Hop

February fourteenth, Pinky Hunter and his nationally famous orchestra delighted the partygoers who attended the J-Hop. The simple but modernistic decorative theme for this event followed the spirit of Valentine's Day. Harmonizing with the theme were the red, heart-shaped entrance, and a revolving spotlight focused on a red cellophane "J-37." Soft rose and midnight blue floodlights, secreted in the white, modernistic, cylinder-shaped chandeliers, painted a color design of delicate tints on the vaulted ceiling of the ballroom. The stage provided a sophisticated setting with a brilliant, cerise cellophane curtain as a background, with white pillars bearing the insignia "J-Hop '37", on either side.

A new and attractively different favor was provided in a combination program and red leather cardcase, embossed with the school seal, and containing a distinctive deck of playing cards.

Sophomore History

In the fall of 1934, the Freshman Class fell into the traditional scheme of college life by first organizing under Abram Hodge, who won his place as president by his forensic ability. Mary Jane Coe was elected vice-president, Ruth Mary Holleran, secretary, and William Lyons, treasurer.

This high-spirited class effectively took away the tug-of-war cable in the sensational Freshman-Sophomore games during Homecoming, and made that Sophomore class realize the Freshmen were not content with docility in spite of their super-imposed greenness.

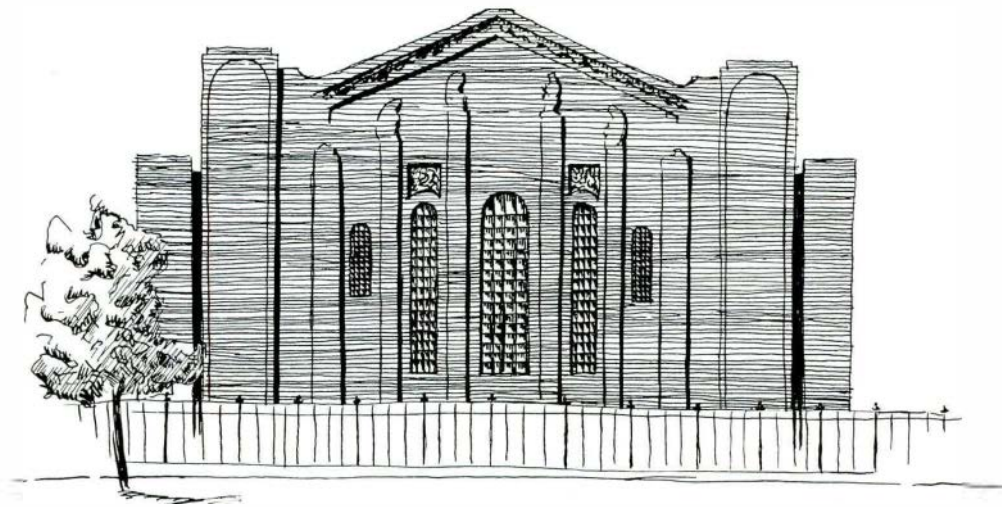

The class moved into its second year's activities under the leadership of genial Don Wille, aided by Jean Hart, Gertrude Deal, and James Beardsley, holding the positions of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

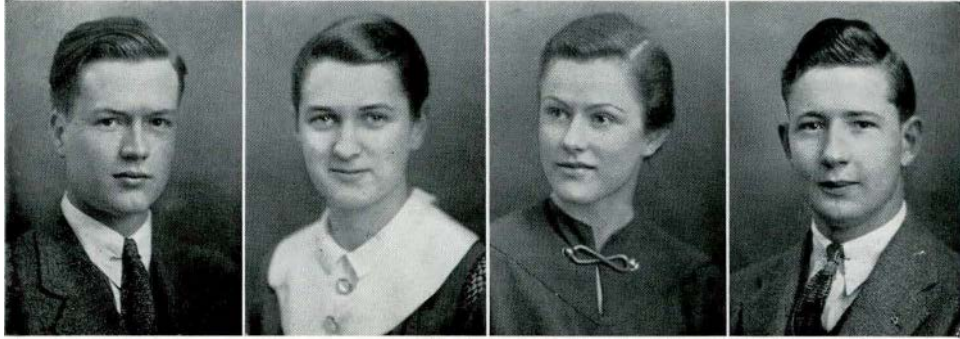

This class is typical in that it is represented in all fields of athletics, claiming members on the baseball, track, basketball, football, tennis, golf, and cross-country teams. In speech work, its members are found on both women's and men's debate squads, and Oliver Crager represented the college as Men's Extemporaneous Speaker. There is also able representation in both Women's League and Men's Union enterprises.

A capable class with worthy possibilities, it points toward a successful graduating class in 1938.

Freshman Class History

During "Freshman Days," the girls of our class were placed in the care of kindly upperclasswomen who acted as "Campus Sisters." Freshman women were required to wear green buttons as identification, and also to fasten around the button a tag bearing the name and address of their "Campus Sister." The Women's League enlivened the first week with a "get-acquainted" party where many girls were introduced to each other, only to forget all the names before the evening was over. While the girls were receiving their first impressions of college life under the wings of the "Campus Sisters," the boys were having experiences of their own. Unable to wait until the day set aside for the traditional games between Freshmen and Sophomores, the upperclassmen persisted in preying upon the poor "fresh" men, even to the point of ducking them into the cold water of the fountain. The class games terminated in the defeat of the Freshmen, to their great chagrin.

Early in the fall the Freshman Class gathered in Welch Hall to organize for the coming year. Due to the large enrollment, there was some difficulty in electing officers. At last, the class chose James Soule, Sue Matthews, Jean Jolliffe, and Bryant Limpert for their officers.

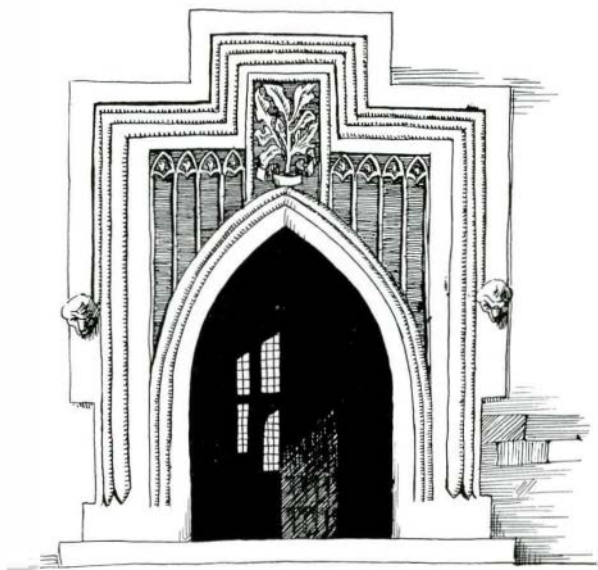

The Freshman Mixers, open only to the Freshman Class, were held in McKenny Hall ballroom. The parties offered a pleasant opportunity to meet practically every upperclassman on the campus. Especially noteworthy, is the fact that the Freshmen women were permitted to stay out late—until ten o'clock—on the nights of the mixers.

Like the mountain climber, we too need organization, cooperation, strength, to reach the heights of Peace.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honorary education fraternity for Juniors and Seniors. Its purpose is to maintain the highest educational ideals and to foster fellowship, scholarship, and achievement in educational work. New members are selected during Winter term on the basis of initiative, scholarship, social fellowship, and character, by a majority vote of the old members. This year, Frances Atwell, Eileen Bitzer, Zygfred Daszkiewicz, Lucille Farrier, Recording Secretary; Natalie Herrick, President; Carleton Jolly, Laura Joyner, Jessie Kerschner, Marian Martini, Elizabeth Mitchell, George Perry, Karl Place, Norbert Radtke, Lempi Ritola, Stanley Shultz, Ethel Waffen, Josephine Waffen, Corresponding Secretary, and Elizabeth Whitehouse, Treasurer, as active members, invited these Juniors and Seniors to become members of Kappa Delta Pi: Gordon Anderson, Clara Burnette, Hildreth Clark, Ida Dettloff, Robert Frantz, Eleanor Hart, Lyle Higgs, Helen Houvener, Arthur Hughes, Elizabeth Huntley, Gertrude Johnson, Marjorie Leidlein, Virginia Olmsted, Margaret Owen, Kirk Riddering, Ethel Roberts, David Selden, Dorothy Spike, Ella Mae Sturdevant, Walter Whitehouse, and James Yarger.

Back Row—DASZKIEWICZ, GAERTNER, KENNEDY, MCKIMMIE, GALLEY, COOPER, BITZER, NELSON, FARRIER, SIBELA, SPIKE, WAFFEN, POWIERSKI.
Second Row—HODGE, BALLANTINE, KURETH, CRUICKSHANK, EDWARDS, TREGONNING, HART, GREEN-STREET, CHASE, MISS BEST, CRAGER, WORZNIAK, CHURCHILL, STONE.

Stoics

The Stoics, an honorary society to which the majority of the members are elected from the Sophomore class, was first organized in 1909. Since then Stoic members have enjoyed social and intellectual fellowship with Professor J. Stuart Lathers. During the year 1935-36 the Stoics have participated in several events. These were the annual May Morning Breakfast, the reception of new members, a White Elephant Sale, and the annual Stoic Banquet at Charles McKenny Hall.

Student members not pictured above are: Frances Atwell, Josephine Waffan, Barbara Fink, Kirk Riddering, Walter Whitehouse, Frances Skinner, Betty Mitchell, Mary Joan Purcell, Edmund Goings, Mary Jane Coe, Carleton Jolly, and Karl Place.

Officers during the past year were Thyra Kinghorn, President, and Jula Evans, Secretary. Faculty members are: Professor J. Stuart Lathers, Professor C. M. Elliott, Miss Martha Best, Mr. Floyd Leib, Mr. Gerald Osborn, Miss Lillian Ashby, Professor J. Milton Hover, Dr. Carl Erikson, Mr. Floyd Smith and Dr. Harry Smith. President John M. Munson, Dr. Benjamin D'Ooge, Dr. Nathan A. Harvey, and Professor Carl Pray are honorary members.

Back Row—R. GOOLD, J. YARGER, G. ANDERSON.
Middle Row—J. HUTCHINSON, A. NEMETH, M. J. PURCELL, W. LICHTENFELT.

Pi Kappa Delta

Membership in Pi Kappa Delta is elective, the minimum qualifications being participation in at least three intercollegiate debates. This year's new members are: Oliver Crager, Jula Evans, Howard Kapling, Ruth Holleran, James Liebermann, Charles Sayre, Kathleen Rourke, Ann Stromar, Dorothy Finkell, Grady McKay, John Lane and Clovis Legault.

Pi Kappa Delta is a national honorary forensic fraternity. The local chapter sponsors all campus speech activities. In the provincial debate tournament held at Baldwin Wallace College, Beria, Ohio, Hughes and Crager tied for the championship with Bowling Green's team, winning six out of seven of their debates. Yarger and Lichtenfelt won three and lost four decisions. The national Pi Kappa Delta convention was held in Houston, Texas. Professor H. T. Wood attended as governor of the province of the Lakes. Next year Western State Teachers College will act as host to the provincial Pi Kappa Delta tournament.

Interpretative Reading

The Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League for the past four years sponsored an interpretative reading contest-festival. M. S. N. C. entertained the first one in 1933. Each year Normal's entrants, directed by Miss Marion Franklin Stowe, have participated in the annual evening festival by virtue of the fact that they placed among the three highest in the afternoon contest. This year Margaret Lamkin and Duane Nelson were selected to represent M. S. N. C. in the 1936 contest-festival held at Albion May 8. Margaret Lamkin tied for second place in the women's division with the reader from the University of Detroit, and Duane Nelson placed third in the men's division. Miss Lamkin and Mr. Nelson were honor guests at the Fifteenth Annual Pi Kappa Delta banquet June 6.

Peace Oratory

Wendell Lichtenfelt won the annual all-college Peace Contest in December, 1935. His oration was entitled "Are We Fooling Ourselves?" and in accordance with the requirements dealt with the problem of peace and war. He represented Michigan State Normal College in the State Contest at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, on April 17th.

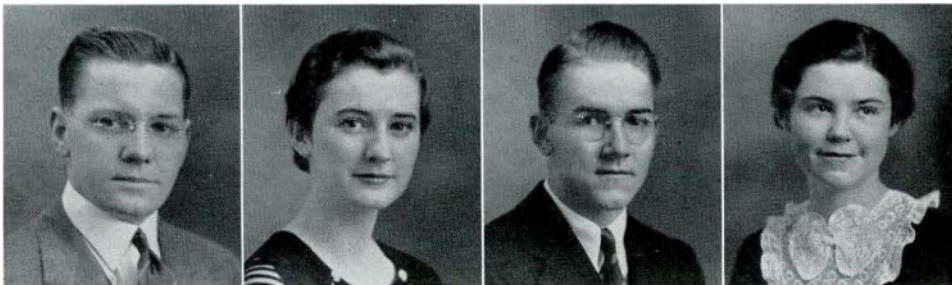

General Oratory

The forty seventh annual general oratorical contest was held in the ballroom of Charles McKenny Hall on December third. Out of the six speakers, the judges selected Julia Evans, a junior, and Gordon Anderson, a senior, to represent the college in the state oratorical contest. Miss Evans' "Political indifference and the College Student" and Mr. Anderson's "Political Pacifism" were stirring appeals to promote the scientific attitude in politics. Both speakers participated in the state contest held at Western State Teachers' College in Kalamazoo on March fourteenth. Julia Evans placed fourth in the women's division and Gordon Anderson placed second in the men's division. Gordon Anderson also placed second in the state peace contest two years ago.

Extemporaneous Speaking

Oliver Crager, speaking on "Planks I Would Propose to Restore Prosperity," won the Men's Extemporaneous Speaking Contest, and Mary Joan Purcell, speaking on "Old Age Pensions" won the women's division. These speakers represented Michigan State Normal College at Lansing, November 26, 1935. Both participated in the finals after defeating candidates in the afternoon preliminaries in which fourteen schools in the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League had representatives.

This is the second consecutive time Miss Purcell has represented the college as Extemporaneous speaker; Oliver Crager entered this contest for the first time, having been Freshman Orator the previous year.

Michigan State Normal College Choir

“Bringing a great choir like that from the Ypsilanti Normal College which sang in Birmingham recently, is a treat that few communities enjoy. That local people do appreciate such an offering is shown by the fact that they filled, to capacity, the First Baptist Church here, and manifested their employment by frequent applause . . . ”

Editorial, Birmingham Eccentric, Dec. 23.

The outstanding events of the year on the local calendar of the Normal College Choir were the Christmas Concert and the Bach Festival, presented under the inspiring leadership of Professor Frederick L. Alexander.

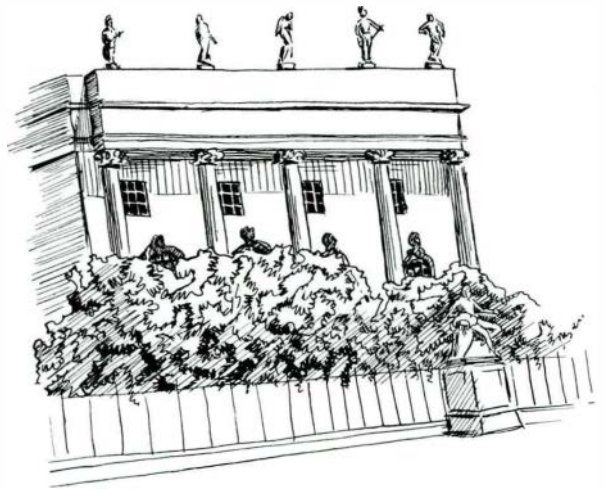

First row—F. Wiest, drum major; G. N. BURGESS, H. H. GOODSMAN, M. E. ROTH, D. D. PALOSKY, C. W. SCOTT, M. N. HILL, D. W. FRYMAN, G. W. BLANKS, T. A. BEEDHAM, C. A. ODMARK, D. C. RYAN, Director.
Second Row—L. L. CURRY, T. R. CARRINGTON; P. L. TOWNSEND, B. E. FARBER, J. J. WORZNIAK, R. RUSSELL, H. C. SAYLOR, P. H. HADRILL, M. E. FRITCH, M. SCHULTZ, R. J. OWEN.
 R. A. LABOUNTY, J. H. RIGHI, N. A. ROLLER, A. J. SIMPSON, C. F. REHBERG, O. W. SHOUGH, W. HAUMANN.

The Band

The Michigan State Normal College Band, under the capable leadership of D. Chester Ryan, again proved its ever-important usefulness to the college in the years 1935-36. Under the military thoroughness of Drum Major Fred Wiest, it presented a picture of machine-like marching precision both on the football field and on the street. Participating in all college functions, it served a purpose of which an organization of this kind is capable. Although not as large as some of the bands in the past, it has treated this condition as an incentive to increase its efficiency and exactness. Enrollment is open to all students; awards being given at yearly intervals during membership. The Band sweater is presented to graduating bandmen.

Starkweather Hall means to many of us a "Campus Home", to others it means a place to rest, to study, to play the piano, to typewrite, to meet our friends, the hundred and one things that make up our daily lives. To some of us it means the one place on the campus where we can get away from everyone and everything—in the Meditation Room.

Whether we think of it as a place for fun or for meditation, for meetings or for work, through its entire program runs the purpose of the Y. W. C. A., "to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God."

Student Religious Council

OFFICERS

ELLA MAE STURDEVANT	President
HELEN HANNA	Secretary
MURIEL BREMER	Treasurer
MISS AITCHISON	Faculty Advisor

The Student Religious Council is composed of two representatives from each of the student groups of the Baptist, Congregational, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, and from the Y. W. C. A.

Its purpose is to unify the religious program of the campus. One phase of this is a union meeting twice a term for which we engage speakers who emphasize our special interest for the term.

During Holy Week, we have an early morning worship service each day culminating in an Easter Dawn Service in Science Gardens.

This group has gradually built up a feeling of unity among the church groups and the Y. W. C. A. which has laid a foundation for a fellowship, individual and corporate, which we believe is essential to spiritually rich education.

The Varsity Club was organized under the direction of Harry Ockerman, former baseball and basketball coach. The club was composed of all lettermen on the campus. In the brief space of a few years it grew in membership from sixteen to forty, through the earnest efforts of Mr. Ockerman.

The purpose of the club is to promote a friendlier feeling between the athletes and the men on the campus, and to cooperate with the Athletic Department in promoting various enterprises. The work of the club during the past year included taking charge of publishing the Homecoming Booklet, making arrangements for visiting alumni, ushering at all the athletic contests, and sponsoring a dance each term.

In addition, the club awards a blanket to every graduating member who has won two or more letters in any sport, providing he has fulfilled all other requirements, and is in good standing with the members and the administration of the college.

The Sodality Latina, during this twentieth year of its existence has had a program of three major interests.

A comparison of the ancient and modern life has been carried out in monthly meetings.

In celebration of the Horatian Bi-millennium, Dr. Meinicke of the University of Michigan addressed the club on "Horace as a Twentieth Century Poet".

On May second, a student-alumni dinner was given under the auspices of the club, in honor of Dr. Benjamin D'Ooghe who has completed fifty years of teaching on this campus.

Home Economics Club

This club is the social and professional organization of the Home Economics Department. It attempts to bring to the group, as speakers, authorities in the various phases of homemaking, as well as to afford an opportunity for furthering friendships among its members. A homecoming luncheon, a semi-formal dance, and a meeting on interior decoration were outstanding features of this year's program.

Social Committee

Were you one of the many who danced and dined at the Cabaret Parties, or were you among those present who swayed to the rhythm of Marvin Frederick and his band? Perhaps you were among those who got so well acquainted at the Broom Dances to the tune of Art Moe and his campus talent or Clare Wigell's orchestra. If so, your thanks to Mrs. Lyman and the Social Committee who helped plan the All-College get-togethers on Friday nights.

A few of the things the Social Committee did to keep itself busy during the year were: decorating for the seasonal parties, planning blackboard and poster advertisements, suggesting student hosts and hostesses, and arranging for cabaret floor shows, in addition to inaugurating an informal method of lighting the ball room by means of floor lamps.

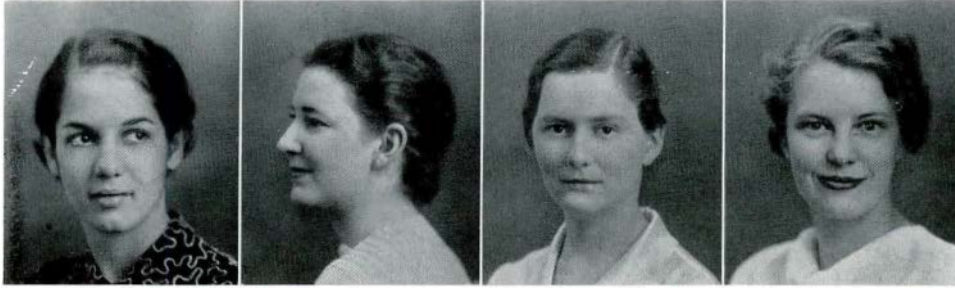

As an inducement to you to change our reputation as a "suit-case" college, the Social Committee planned a variety of parties for week-ends. During the Fall Term they arranged for a Get-Acquainted Party, two Homecoming Dances, a Halloween Dance, a Cabaret Party, one called simply "The Kick-Off" to honor our football team, and a Christmas Party. Winter Term was enlivened by a Round Up, a Corn Dance, the Snow Ball, a Matinee Dance for variation, a Tacky Toddle to enable us to wear our oldest clothes for a change, and also another All College Party. Concluding a pleasantly successful year, in the Spring Term the committee sponsored another Cabaret Party which is always a favorite, a Spring Ball, and a May Day Party.

This active committee was composed of our Social Director, Mrs. Florence L. Lyman, Elizabeth Whitehouse, Clark Schwaderer, Louise Morris, John Bocjun, Jane Wortley, and Art Kalita.

Interfraternity Council

YATES KENNEDY	President
DONALD BRONSON	Vice-President
RALPH LORENZ	Secretary-Treasurer

Furthering a spirit of unity and cooperation among the men's social organizations, the Interfraternity Council proved itself of true value during this past year.

In the fall a banquet was held with the patrons of the fraternities as speakers, stressing cooperation. During the Winter, the Council sponsored an Interfraternity Dance, and it closed the year with another fellowship banquet in the spring. Music for the banquet was provided by the Dixie Eight, men's double-quartet, and the speaker of the evening was Dr. O. O. Norris.

*The common man would ask for Peace.
Peace to do the work of the day in his pursuit of happiness.*

F E A T U R E S

FORWORD NOTE

Here we feature campus life as it exists by day and by night; peacefully, gayly; at work, and at play, throughout your college year.

“Fifty Golden Years”

DR. BENJAMIN
D'OOGHE

Since 1886 Dr. Benjamin D'Ooge has conducted the Ancient Language Department of Michigan State Normal College. Not only for these fifty years of most faithful service to education in the classics do we wish to honor him here, but for the added contribution which a great and magnanimous character presents through opportunity for association with it.

Through these years his hundreds of students and friends have known him to be the most charming of gentlemen, the keenest of scholars, the wisest of teachers, and a man of the finest integrity. We wish him the happiest of anniversary years.

“Author and Educator”

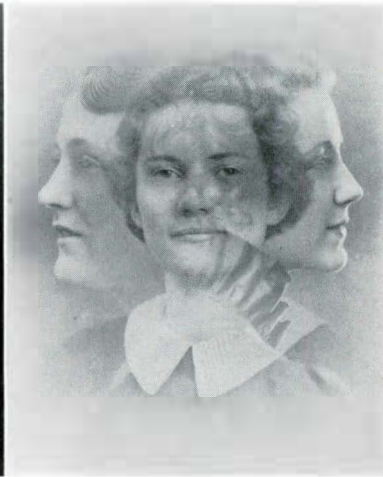

This year there is being published under the direction of Dr. Skinner, of the Department of Education of New York University, a new book, Fundamentals of Educational Psychology, to which Dr. Mehran K. Thomson was asked to contribute a chapter on motivating school work. Dr. Thomson, professor of sociology and social work at Michigan State Normal College, is the only professor in a teachers' college in the United States to be asked to contribute. He holds a high rank in his field of work and is the author of the well known and widely used and quoted, The Springs of Human Action.

JOE

JANE

Joe and Jane College

Freshman Year: Starting very green, both Jane and Joe ripen quickly under the benevolent auspices of the Women's League and the Men's Union. Jane joins Viventes, the freshmen women's club, and learns all the delicate points of etiquette. Joe wears a green "pot" and a hang-dog look, until, one night, he throws a lordly sophomore into the fountain. From then on Joe College is not to be trifled with.

Sophomore Year: Both Joe and Jane College return, old hands at classifying, and begin to worry about those first and second minor curricula. Jane finds time to join the Goldfeather Club and continue practising etiquette; Joe has become seriously involved in the intramural program or some varsity sport. By June that freshman year is far in the past and they are both beginning to feel old and experienced in the ways of the collegiate world.

Junior Year: College has become routine work for Joe and Jane. They no longer feel any after effects of having to rise at five o'clock three times a year to classify. Jane studies modern drama in the Euthalia Club; Joe has his next varsity letter in mind; and both wax enthusiastic over the J-Hop, the main social event of the year. With the end of Spring Term, their Senior year looms more and more impressively.

Senior Year: This last year finds Joe and Jane College putting the finishing touches on their education. Jane attends Book-a-Month Club. Joe is captain of an athletic team, or he debates, or he holds some other position. Practice teaching is a fearful adventure at first, but practice soon determines perfection. The end of June sends them away, "old grads" at last.

Marathonification

Those Greeks, who had a word for everything, give us another for this first day of college life; namely, Marathonification Day. But people of more recent vintage may call it classification. Here we picture its schedule for posterity, for this Spring Term the track officials have lopped off the first and longest lap, making it into a mere hundred-yard dash. But we shall remember the long course for some time to come.

6:10 A.M.: Pierce Hall. Lines begin at five o'clock, and here, an hour later, we see a large representation of that lazy, negligent, semi-conscious being, the collegian. Two hours must pass before the first step is begun.

10:00 A.M.: West Room, Gymnasium. The business of the world is far advanced, but here our student is just attempting, in step two, to arrange the schedule he will disrupt during the next twelve weeks. He has already collected a handful of papers of various importances.

11:30 A.M.: South Room, Gymnasium. Leaving this room is finishing the worst grind of the race; our student has a death clutch on all his little, white, class-admission cards, for which he has stood in four or five different lines.

1:00 P.M.: Second floor, Administration Building. From here on our heroic student just coasts along, signing his name up and down a yellow or white card, standing in lines with complete absence of feeling since there is no impending necessity to crowd ahead for some mysterious scrap of paper.

1:45 P.M.: to the General Office, Administration Building. Here our student is among the multitude on the home stretch. In his turn he will hand over his $21.50, watch someone else sign his name for once today, and go his way, only to return next term to enjoy again the lasting pleasures of Marathonification Day.

Campus Fashions

And little Audrey just laughed and laughed, because she knew this campus was just the place for infectious fads, and that was just why she was here!

But it all must have started with the O Getta Crutch fraternity, when brother Don Wille became the first, limping charter member.

So then the ladies came out in combs of all colors, small and inclined to slip.

Whereupon the men retaliated with dark, dark shirts and fuzzy, colorful sweater jackets.

Now everybody craves a pleat between the shoulders.

And then the ladies went in for their own initials in fancy little brass danglers, something like a watch fob, to be worn over the heart, in place of a tie, or in case of emergency.

Then the Social Committee had to start broom dances at the Friday night parties.

You must have noticed the tendency to decorate the ballroom with colored lighting at most of the special parties.

And whenever a lull threatened Joy Worzniak came through with an Aurora deadline.

And isn't Professor Metcalf's "Extra-Curricular Activities" class a perennial fad?

Then remember that for weeks the campus was littered with Aurora campaign jingles.

And concentration games.

And sun-tans by "proxy", the ray lamp at Health Cottage.

And knitting, knitting, and more knitting.

Or dip dancing at all dances.

And always those tennis, track, golf, and musician widows resorting to double solitaire and bridge in McKenny Hall.

Or Dean and President calls.

Did someone mention the Science Gardens?

Or Senior canes for hobbling through the last week of exams and graduation.

And always, so that it is almost an historical spot, the "Pettys'" Campus Drug Store, where you meet the collegiate spirit soaking up nicotine and coffee, flavored with a measure of German verbs, or a dash of local politics, or just plain talk.

Normal Annoyances

A couple of these professors around here—any couple.

Several fifty-nine minute classes, one on top of another.

To have your fountain pen leak a large glob of ink in the middle of rapid note-taking on an important lecture.

To have the line of vacant chairs in front of you move steadily out of reach and have to be dragged back periodically if you want to brace your foot on the back rung of the chair directly ahead.

To have the above rung squeak miserably every time you move your foot.

To find all the important (?) passages in a library reference book carefully underscored by seven different shades and ages of ink. (Admitted it is sometimes a help in case of emergency.)

The charmer (m. or f.) who measures the distance around the library with resounding footsteps.

The courteous customer who expects the student library assistant to bring the whole library, and all at once.

Lassitude of some of those aforementioned library assistants.

Putting pennies in the ink fountain and nothing happening.

And the librarian tip-toes up behind the two of you—Gr-r-r.

A conference in steady undertones next to you while you are valiantly trying to concentrate on the professor's amblins overtone.

Being preached new type tests and having to write for said educational reformer the most antique of essay kinds.

Consistent, insistent, impertinent, loquacious, and unashamed apple polishers.

Somebody's chin resting firmly and imperatively on your shoulder through an examination.

The indifference of chronic door-bangers toward the suffering short-circuited mortals behind them.

Jiggling tables under reluctant steaks in the cafeteria—or is it billowing floors?

Tender conversations, giggling competition, letter writing, sleeping, and eating during all assemblies.

Only half an hour after a dance to assuage the hunger pangs, reach the front porch, "chat" a moment, and get the door closed behind you.

Homecoming Days

No one left the city for this year's holiday week-end. Many alumni returning and a winning team helped make the 1935 Homecoming the biggest feature on this year's all-college program.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Friday, October 18, 1935

4:00 P. M.—Class games at Sleepy Hollow are won by the Sophomores; but the Freshmen pull the tug-of-war right away from the second year veterans.

7:30 P. M.—Pep meetings at Pease Auditorium is conducted by Don Wille.

The president of Central State's Men's Union is well received with the Wille version of a new Central fight song which is very like an old familiar funeral dirge.

8:40 P. M.—Those dance at McKenny Hall who do not dash the eight blocks to the theatre rush.

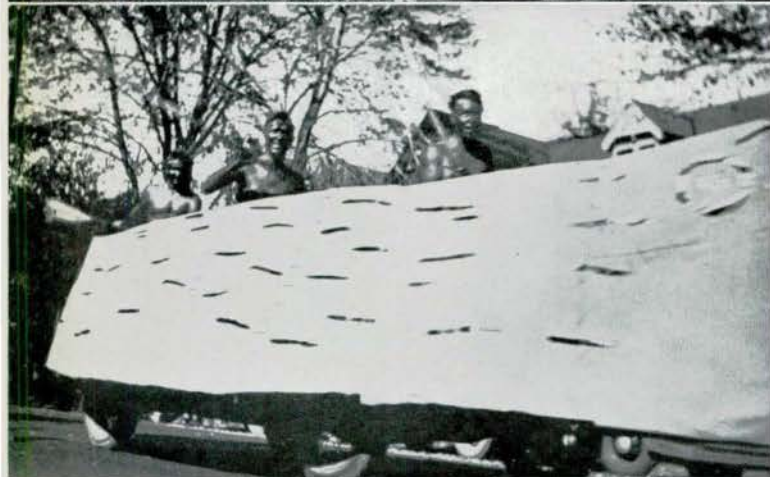

9:00 P. M.—Theatre rush: crash, crush, mob, furor, rumpus, shouting, stamping, yelling, milling, howling, singing, — that is the pep meeting transferring to the Wuerth Theatre.

Saturday, October 19

10:00 A. M.—Homecoming-parade float prizes go to the Sophomores, first, and to the Zeta Chi fraternity, second.

For the second year in succession the theme for decorations is announced to be "Huron Days"; so a tribe of Huron Indians returns to their old hunting grounds and hang out evidences of their primitive art all around the town.

10:30 A. M.—Bill Zepp leads the M. S. N. C. Cross Country Team to victory over Oberlin College.

October 18, 19, 20

12:00 M.—House decorations are judged, first prize going to those Zeta Chi men for a huge Huron Indian spearing a gigantic “bear Cat” in the front yard of the chapter house. Second prize is taken by the Theta Lambda Sigma sorority.

2:00 P. M.—The game, the feature of the week-end, gives a fourth quarter touchdown for a happy ending: M. S. N. C. 7; Central State 0.

Trainer Del Allman makes several trips onto the field with his black bag. President Munson sits on the bench and concentrates on victory with the rest of the college. Between halves drum-major Fred Weist whirls his baton over both goal posts.

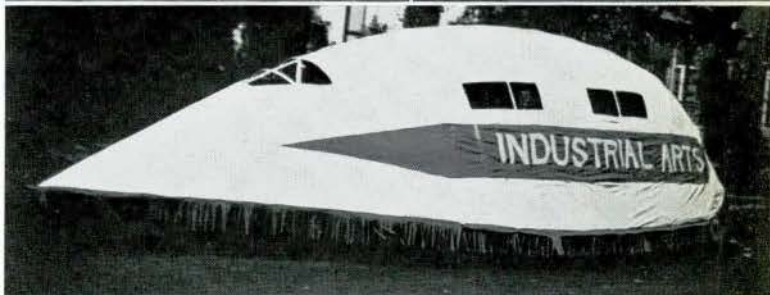

The last picture in the column shows the start of the touchdown play. An instant later the Hurons carry the ball over for the winning score.

6:30 P. M.—At the football banquet Johnny Ecclestone is toastmaster, introducing Mr. Lucian Fast, superintendent of Mount Clemens schools, as guest speaker. President Munson and Registrar C. P. Steimle also offer a few characteristic words.

8:40 P. M.—The Alumni Dance is held in McKenny Hall ballroom. Attendance of undergraduates is small in comparison to the huge crowd of alumni once more enjoying college atmosphere.

Sunday, October 20

4:00 P. M.—And the last event of the 1935 Homecoming week-end is the concert given by the Little Symphony, under the direction of Marius Fossenkemper, in Pease Auditorium. Annis Dexter Gray, of the Conservatory faculty, is soloist.

It Happened Here

And finally, there are those events which we could not photograph or strictly classify, but of which we should like to remind you as being peculiar to this year or worthy of remembering.

On October 23 every seat in Pease Auditorium was filled for the special afternoon assembly at which Madame Borgny Hammer and her dramatic troupe presented Ibsen's Ghosts.

And to the other extreme, at the Intramural boxing finals, December 10, the feature of the evening was the Jim Ross—John Murray bout, when the furious fighters battered down the boxing ring to tremendous applause, as well as thoroughly slugging each other.

And that same evening Lee Yen Ten won his seventh runner-up championship in campus wrestling and boxing contests.

January 29 Arthur Kallet came to talk to 1400 guinea pigs and hoped he left 1400 beings completely enlightened as to the duplicity of commercial advertising. This was one of our most interesting and effective assemblies.

Foreign Students Days, February 12 and 13, brought sheiks from Iraq, Hindus, Turks, Chinese, and Japanese to our campus. Many of the quest students were in their native dress, adding foreign color and international interest to the local scene for a day or two.

Sometime during spring vacation occurred the death of "Nutty Fagan", the squirrel attendant at all morning Handwriting classes on the third floor of Pierce Hall, and to whom Miss Herrick fed peanuts as he sat on the window sill. Old Jim, the janitor, buried him in a shoe box under one of the trees near the hall.

In March the Normal News conducted a peace poll among the students. The final count showed: 89.79 were against supporting the United States in a European War, and 19.21 in favor of support; 83.31 were in favor of supporting the United States if we were invaded, and 13.69 against all military action; and 47.98 were in favor of the United States joining the League of Nations, and 52.02 were against the move.

Thursday, March 19, the Women's League held its most exciting election in many years. Every office was closely contested, Barbara Whan finally winning over Helen Houvener, Margaret Owen, and Mary Joan Purcell for next year's presidential position.

Especially memorable was the quiet, peaceful, and therefore truly inspiring Annual Peace Program held in Starkweather Hall, April 22; and at which Professor Norris presented the ideal of Universal Humanism.

And last of all, "as we go to press", the student council question is foremost in every student's mind, and the voting day is set for May 13.

Seriously then, may we congratulate the leaders and followers of this college for being constantly on the alert and continually active in pursuing progress and peace in the name of the youth of the nation and their future.

College Comedy

or a Methods Course in Seven Scenes.

Characters: Boy—Girl

Scene One

Time: 10:00 A.M. Monday morning, registration day for Spring Term.

Place: In a line in the gym.

Boy: Hello.

Girl: Hello.

Boy: I see you lived through Hubbell's 241 History.

Girl: Just.

Boy: What did you get?

Girl: I don't remember; but it took me all Spring Vacation to forget it.

Boy: What's your method for forgetting?

Girl: Sleep.

Boy: Wouldn't work for me. I didn't sleep all last term, and that's all I do remember. What course are you on?

Girl: English-History; Senior High.

Boy: Like it?

Girl: Occasionally . . . (Similar enthusiastic conversation for next twenty minutes; then:)

Boy: Looks like maybe we'll get through here by noon.

Girl: I doubt it.

Curtain on Scene One

Scene Two

Time: Afternoon of same day. Place: Within the campus drug store.

Boy: Hello.

Girl: Hello.

Boy: Get your schedule O.K.?

Girl: After the third try.

Boy: Tough. Any snaps?

Girl: Two. (She names them, but we won't tell!)

Boy: Not bad. Mine are all brain crushers . . . (Similar loquacious eloquence for fifteen minutes, then:)

Boy: Have you seen the show?

Girl: No—

Boy: Well?—

Girl: O.K.

Boy: Swell. How about a coke?

Girl: All right. (They coke.)

Boy: Two ounces less in these cokes than in those at the Union.

Girl: Really? What'll we do about it?

Boy: Park here twice as long and take it out in rent . . . (The atmosphere is warming.)

Curtain on Scene Two

Scene Three

Time: Late Monday evening, after the show. Place: Science Gardens.

Boy: Did you say something?

Curtain on Scene Three.

Scene Four

Time: 7:45 A.M., Tuesday morning. Place: Fountain at McKenny Hall.

Boy: Hello—

Girl: Hello—

Boy: Ready to begin the old grind?

Girl: Oh, Spring Term isn't so bad.

Boy: Not bad at all the way it's begun. (They breakfast heartily on tomato juice, coffee, and a toasted pecan roll.)

Curtain on Scene Four

Scene Five

Time: 6:35 P.M., Tuesday evening. Place: Kresge dance in the ballroom.

Boy: Dance?

Girl: All right . . . (They dance.)

Boy: How are your classes?

Girl: Look promising.

Boy: Aha, all men pros!

Girl: No fair.

Boy: It's a racket with you women.

Girl: O, the men just aren't as subtle.

Boy: Never saw anything very subtle about it.

Girl: That is what's subtle . . . (It is a robbers' dance and another man cuts in. Then another. Then another. Etc. The dance is over.)

Boy: How about this next one!

Girl: Sorry—

Boy: Then the next?

Girl: That's taken, too.

Boy: Do I have to wait till the next robbers'?

Girl: Guess so—

Curtain on Scene Five

Scene Six

Time: 8:30 Tuesday evening. Place: Science Gardens.

Boy: Shall we sit here?

Girl: Oh, well—(They sit; proximity.)

Boy: Pretty warm weather for so early in the year—except that it gets cold after sunset. (Juxtaposition.)

Girl: Did you ever take astronomy?

Boy: Last term. Best class I had.

Girl: What's that star up there?

Boy: That's Vega.

Girl: And what are those?

Boy: That's the constellation of Cassiopeia . . . (This continues through the encyclopaedia to zodiac, at about 9:45.)

Girl: Have you a match?

Boy: Here. (She lights it to look at her watch.)

Girl: Lord! Look at the time! I'll be late. Let's run.

Boy: Aw—

Curtain on Scene Six

Scene Seven

Time: Wednesday morning. Place: Library steps.

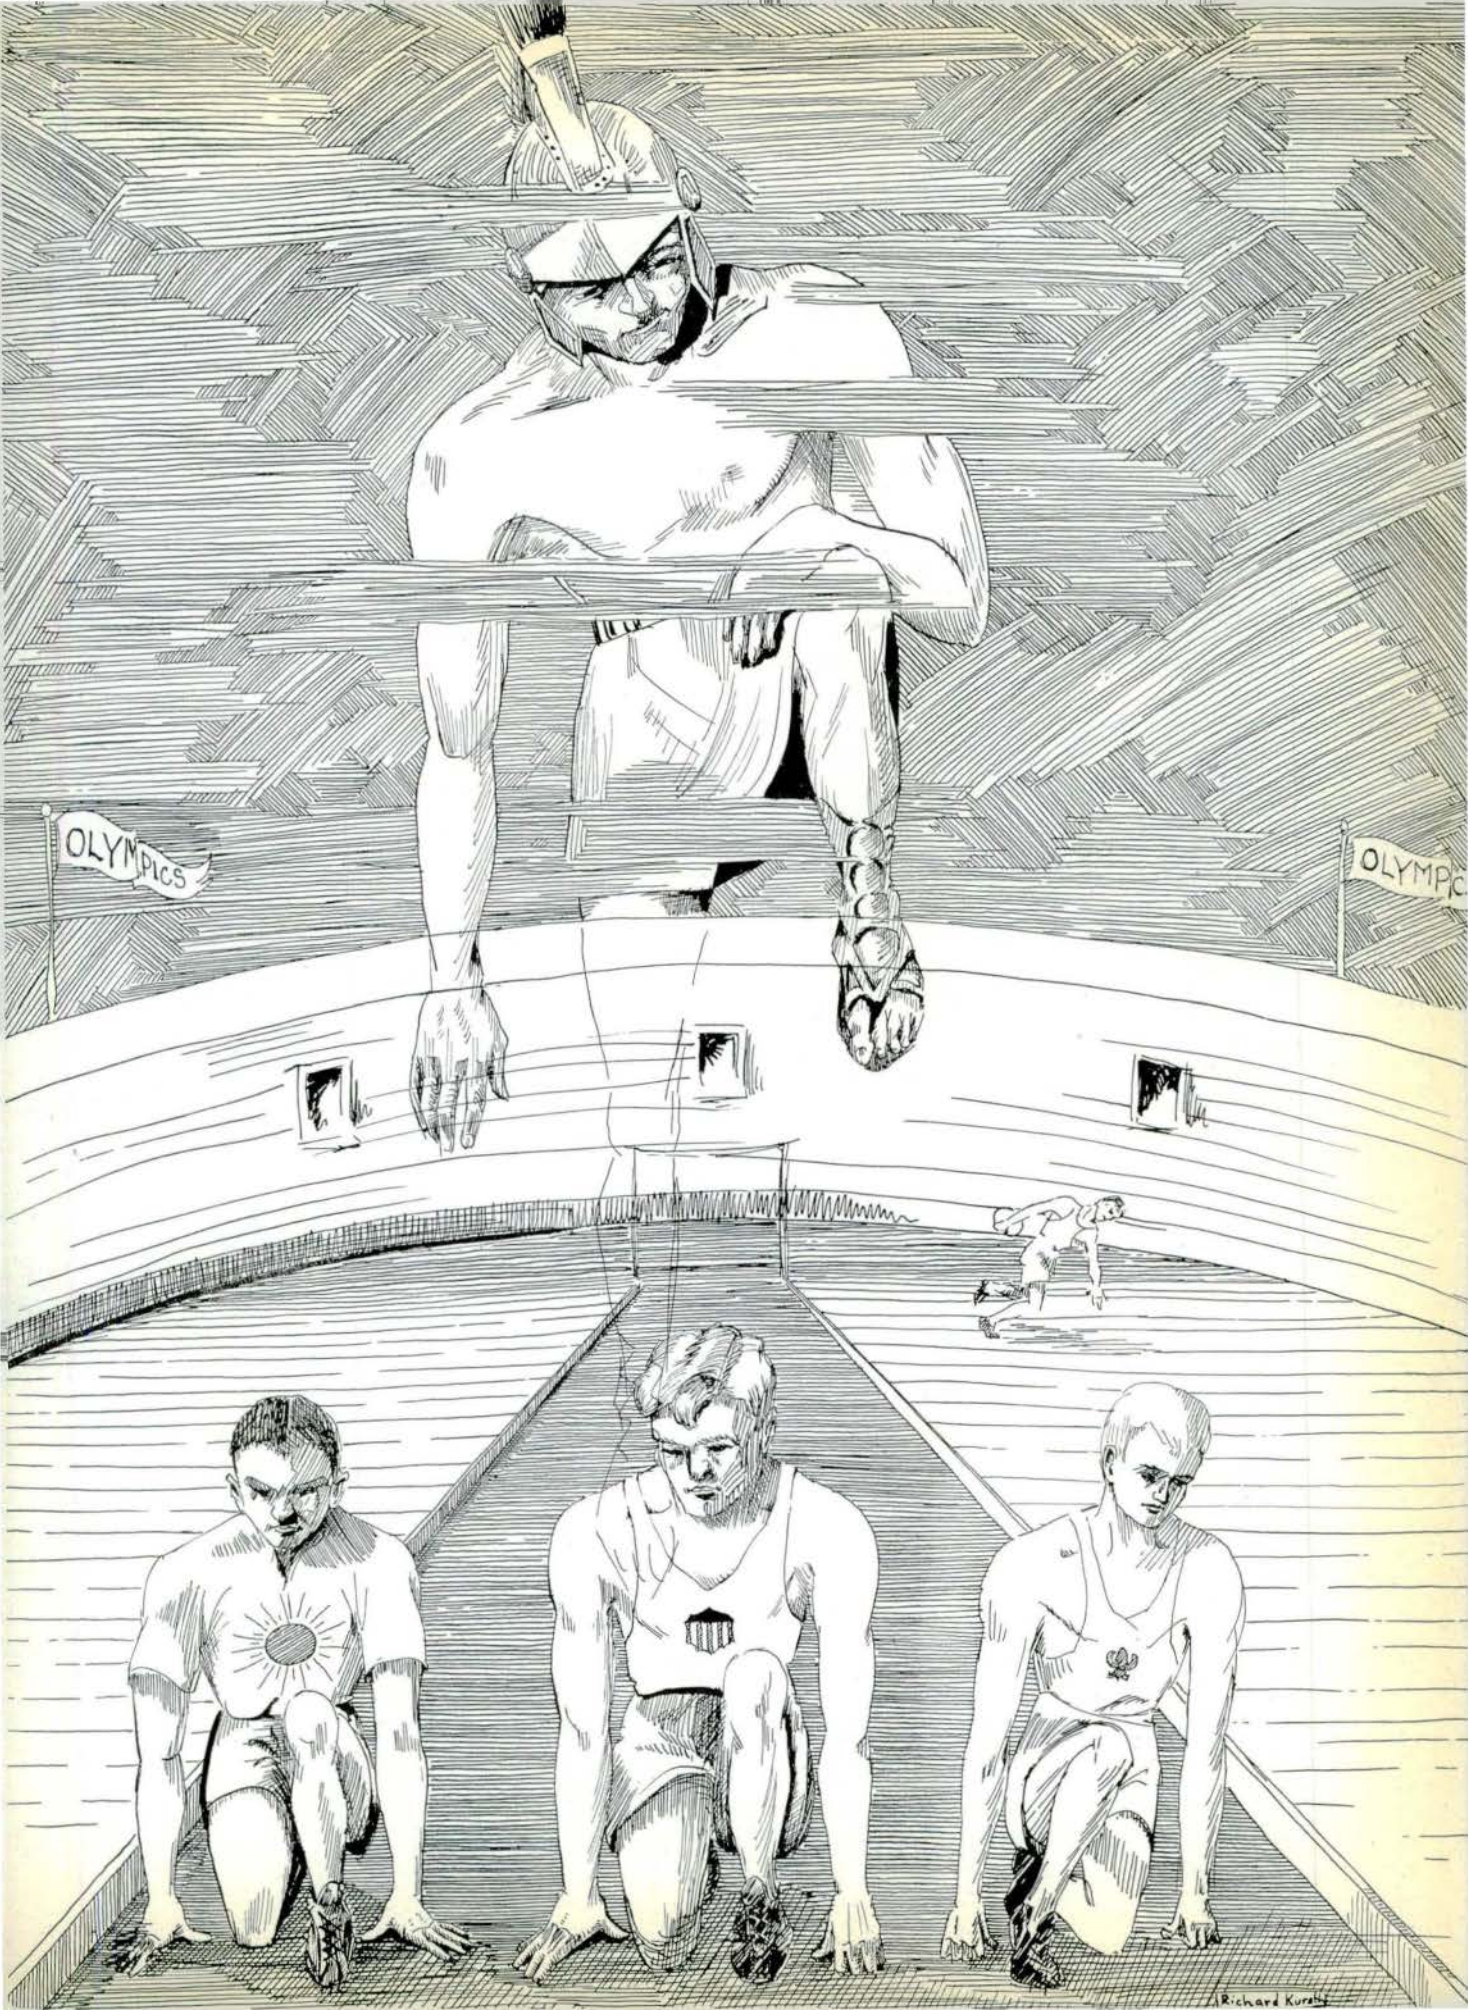

Boy: Hello?—

Girl: Hello.

The Coaches

Coach Rynearson and his aids were confronted with the task of building a winning combination from the smallest number of men that have ever reported to him. Molding his team around co-captains Jarosch and Parker, Rynearson was able to produce a scrapping eleven of which we may all be proud. Lack of reserve material forced those rugged linemen Hanneman, Lane, Wilson, Newman, Alexander, Jarosch, and Sabbath to be pillars of strength that could "take it" for a full sixty minutes. Three sophomores, Lyons, Russell, and DeFroschia, found their way into the lineup, and along with the veterans Parker, Rock, and LeBlond were able to produce the speed and stamina in the backfield that were needed for a team to win four games, lose two, and tie two, against stiff opposition.

Freshman Football

Although Coach Elton J. Rynearson's loss of seven lettermen will be very great, Michigan State Normal may well look forward to a successful football season in 1936 if the freshman squad comes up to the expectations of the assistant coach, Ray Stites.

Among the outstanding freshmen who are hoping for berths on next season's varsity team, are: Ralph Miller, Donald Todt, William Spreen, ends: Harold DeWard, Lloyd Digne, William Sherman, James Balazinac, tackles and guards: Raymond Trimble, center: Edward Bender, Paul Baldwin, Tex Walker, and John Murray, backs.

Varsity Basketball

Returning once more to the coaching of basketball after several years away from it, Coach Elton J. Ryneerson faced a tough schedule of games with a relatively inexperienced team. The only veterans to answer the first call for practice were Charles (Chuck) Hanneman and George Moroz, guards; Clarence Rukamp, center; and George Wendt and Ed Bernard, forwards. The outlook was not as dark as it seemed at first, however, for some fine cage material was found in the reserve ranks, with Louis Wenger and Harry Tower, guards; Jim Ross and Martin Zacher, centers; and Walter Good forward, all giving the veterans a battle for regular berths.

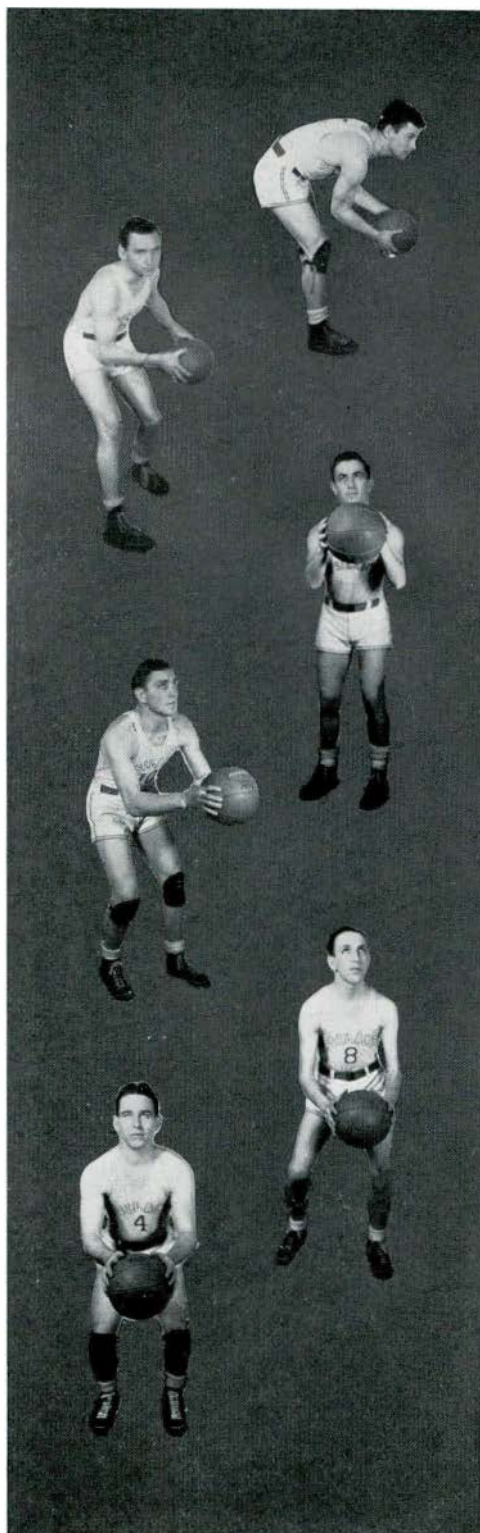

Misfortune came, however, before the season was well under way, when Captain Hanneman and George Moroz, veteran guards, were lost to the team through scholastic difficulties. Ross and Wenger immediately filled the vacancies, their speed and height bringing a decided advantage to the team. Harry Garian returned to school in the winter term and alternated with Ross at the guard position for the remainder of the season.

Although the team lost thirteen games of the sixteen scheduled, nine of the losses came by a margin of five points or less. A great deal of fighting spirit was shown by the team, and every opponent of Michigan Normal was always hard-pressed until the final whistle blew—a high tribute to either a winning or a losing team.

Oberlin

Starting his last season under the green and white colors of Michigan State Normal, Capt. Bill Zepp led a fighting cross-country team to victory over Oberlin College. The run was held as one of the features of the Homecoming program. The Oberlin boys, who had previously been undefeated for two years, and who were last year the Ohio Conference champions, showed the Hurons that they were true champions. They pressed the local boys at every turn and only a game finish saved the home team from defeat. The final score was 24-31.

Capt. Zepp led from start to finish and crossed the line in the good time of 21:17 for the four mile course. This was only seventeen seconds slower than the course record set by Roger Arnet. Behind Zepp came Harry Werbin also running a beautiful race, with a long lead over Capt. Manlove of Oberlin who just edged out Santee Brockman, the dusky Normal flyer.

Wisconsin State Teachers

The Wisconsin State Teachers' College lads nearly upset the Hurons in the run held at Milwaukee. Running on a strange course, and wearing rubber-soled shoes for the first time this year, the Redskins were handicapped from the very start. Despite sore and blistered feet caused by the unaccustomed shoes and the asphalt pavement, the Huron warriors plodded on to a narrow 26 to 29 victory.

Captain Bill Zepp established a new record of 18:55.9 for the three and five eights mile course, bettering the old record by over thirty-six seconds. Harry Werbin, the Hurons' Number 2 man, who is usually right behind his captain, finished third. Santee Brockman coasted in sixth, just ahead of Warren Frye, while Bowman Hall finished scoring for the local team by coming in ninth.

Ball State Teachers

Captain Zepp turned in a brilliant performance, setting a new record for the home course. He covered the four miles in 20:36.2, bettering by twenty-four seconds the record of that other great Normal star of yesteryear, Roger Arnet.

Only Captain Cleavanger of Ball State had any success competing against the fiery Redskins. He nosed out Harry Werbin for second place in the excellent time of 21:15. But behind Werbin came Rosenkrantz, Frye, and Brockman, to give Michigan Normal five out of the first six places. The final score was 19 to 36.

M. A. A. U.

After the defeat by Michigan State, Bill Zepp returned to his winning ways by covering the soggy four-mile course in new record time of 20:31.4 to cut by four seconds his record established earlier in the season. Harry Werbin and Abe Rosenkrantz came in eighth and ninth respectively, while Santee Brockman and Warren Frye finished scoring for Normal by coming in fourteenth and eighteenth. Howard Densmore, a transfer student on the Normal campus, ran for the Huron Club and came in fifth.

Only four complete teams were entered in the meet. The point score showed Normal leading with 22, Michigan State Reserves second with 40, Western State Varsity third with 59, and the Huron Frosh trailing the parade with 89. Michigan State Frosh, Western State Frosh, and the Huron Club entered incomplete teams but had good men, nevertheless.

With entry in the Central Intercollegiate meet cancelled because of lack of funds, the Huron hill and dale men can look back on a good, season which showed them victors in three dual meets, one state championship, and runners-up to Michigan State in the State Intercollegiate championship. Only Bill Zepp and Santee Brockman are lost to next year's squad.

The State Intercollegiate

Track Champions

After a brilliant indoor season that was featured by Abe Rosenkrantz's victory in the 880 yard dash at New York City, the track team moved out of doors where it had more room to set records.

Although small in numbers, several members of the team were able to distinguish themselves on numerous occasions. Such men as Captain Hal Baker, Jim Matthews, Abe Rosenkrantz, Harry Werbin, Chuck Drewyer, Al Gavrilavicz, Bill Hawthorne, Santee Brockman, and Warren Frye, consistently gained points for the Hurons.

Among the honors received by Bill Zepp, was a bid to the exclusive Princeton Invitational Meet, June 13. Each year the four or five outstanding men in each event receive invitations to this meet and the important world records have been set there.

A speedy, fighting mile relay team from Michigan Normal made athletic history at the Penn Relays, by capturing two of the feature races within forty-five minutes of each other.

The Hurons bested eleven other Normal Colleges to capture the Normal School title for the mile relay in the scintillating time of 3:23.9, only to return in a little while to capture the Class B college relay in 3:26.8. This was an exhibition of superb stamina and courage. Trailing the Green and White in the second race, were such teams as Columbia, Georgetown, Fordham, and Virginia, worthy opponents under any circumstances.

Captain Hal Baker, running as anchor man for the Hurons, turned in two of the best races of his career, but Rosenkrantz, Matthews, and Gavrilavicz, not to be outdone, also turned in performances that sparkled.

On a field which resembled quagmire, Coach Lloyd Olds' track team splashed to an easy victory over Illinois North Central University with a score of 80½ to 30½.

The Huron track men defeated the University of Detroit and Kalamazoo College in a triangular meet on May 6. The scores were: Michigan Normal, 78; Detroit, 20; Kalamazoo, 18. James Matthews was high point man for the Hurons, taking first in the two hurdle events.

The Redskins overcame Miami University May 9 by a score of 78 to 53.

Led by Abe Rosenkrantz and Bill Hawthorne, and with the timely assistance of Western State, Michigan Normal tied Wayne University for the State Intercollegiate title, on Saturday, May 16, at Ferry Field, Ann Arbor.

Archie Rader, Hal Baker, Jim Matthews, Bill Hawthorne, and "Slim" Drewyer all were suffering with pulled muscles. In spite of this, Hawthorne proved to be one of the stars of the meet, winning the pole vault and the broad jump, setting a new record of 23' 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ " in the latter. Abie Rosenkrantz turned in a new record for the half mile shortly after winning the mile run, in addition to running a leg on the relay team.

In the pole vault, Normal gathered nine points as Mead and Lystila, two sophomores, took second and third behind Hawthorne. Al Gavrilavicz took second in the quarter mile, and Jim Matthews and Leonard Bryant took third and fourth in the high hurdles. Jim also took second in the low hurdles. Santee Brockman edged out a fourth place in the mile run. Harry Werbin ran his best race of the year to take second in the two-mile run as Warren Frye took fourth place. The important third of a point was captured by Drewyer, sore leg and all, who tied for fourth place in the high jump. In the final event, the mile relay, the Hurons won, to deadlock the score. Final Score: Michigan Normal, 43 $\frac{1}{2}$; Wayne University, 43 $\frac{1}{2}$.

In the last dual meet of the season, Michigan Normal defeated Oberlin, 79 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 51 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Back Row—MOORE, STEIMLE, MCCORRY (MGR.), HULTIN, VARTANIAN.
Front Row—ROE, DENSMORE, MACKIN, WYBLE, SPATA, CUMMINGS, BARNES, LINDSEY.

Freshman Cross Country

The Freshmen hill and dale men opened their season by swamping Ypsilanti High School, 16 to 46. Mackin led his mates across the finish line in the fair time of 11:02 for the two-mile course.

In a triangular meet against Jackson and Toledo Scott High Schools, the Huron Frosh met defeat.

Revening themselves for their defeat, the Freshmen scored a victory over Monroe High School by a score of 22 to 40. Wyble and Mackin came in second and third.

Varsity Baseball

Coach Ray Stites returned to the Normal this year to serve as head baseball coach for the Indians.

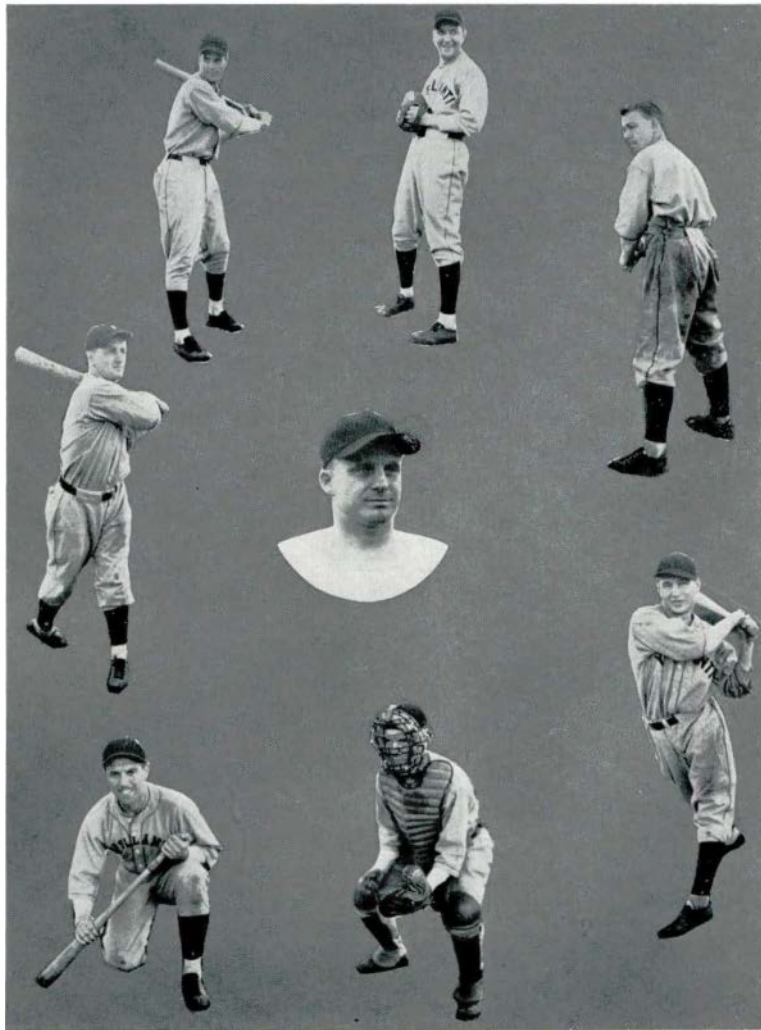

The team faced a long schedule without the aid of any experienced pitchers. Sid Fishman, Martin Zacher, Harry Tower, and Julian Sutton pitched valiantly but lost many games due to inexperience.

The team won about fifty percent of their games. The height of the season was reached when Normal defeated the University of Michigan team at Ann Arbor by the score of 8 to 2. Sid Fishman pitched this game, and he gave a fine exhibition, aided by excellent fielding by Captain Wendt, DeFroscia, Jackimowicz, and Rader.

Archie Rader, who returned to school this year, showed great ability at bat. He lead his teammates with a batting average of well over .400.

Intramural Manager

Intramural Athletics

At the beginning of the 1921-1922 college year, Coach Lloyd W. Olds instituted the Intramural System at Michigan State Normal College. The aim of the Intramural Program is to provide opportunity for competition for those students who because of either lack of interest, ability, or time, are not provided for in a program of inter-collegiate competition. The program has been broadened to include many sports which provide interesting competition for the general student body and embraces many activities which have a distinct value in relation to academic life.

Acknowledgements

Now our task is finished and we wish to thank those who have so ably cooperated in making this Aurora a success. The months of planning and work were stimulating and helpful under the competent guidance of the Rogers Printing Company, the Service Engraving Company, and the Smith-Molloy Company. To Saunders Photo Shop and Miller's Studio, the staff members extend their thanks.

To Mr. Leonard Menzi, especial thanks for his generous contribution of time and energy in making the dedication photograph.

The cooperation of the staff members and the generous assistance of the faculty committee have made the production of the 1936 Aurora a pleasurable experience.
