PRESIDENT JOHN M. MUNSON

For each university and college there is one man who must build his school to answer best the needs and desires of the student body. To do this, he must safeguard the financial status of the college, carefully choose the faculty, and inspire each student to feel that he is a vital part of the undergraduate world.

Each fall he must welcome the newly enrolled, give everyone the same advantages, opportunities, and pleasures. After four years he must bid farewell to the graduates.

To fulfill this task, Michigan State Normal College has President John M. Munson. S

Old King Cole

MR. HOVER MR. STEIMLE

Assisting President Munson in creating a smoothly functioning administration are Dean of Administration, J. Milton Hover; Registrar, C. P. Steimle; Dean of Women, Lydia I. Jones; and Dean of Men, James M. Brown.

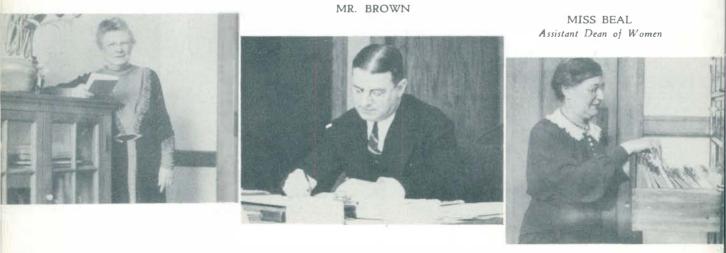

From the moment the credits are sent to the college, and continuing through the many years after graduation, the administrative officers with their assistants create a vivid and vital part in each student's life.

Working together, the administration functions in creating for the students a well rounded social life . . . proper housing conditions, noted assembly lecturers from varied positions in life, social gatherings . . . besides an intellectual and educational assistance in each individual career.

In the files of the various administrative offices are the records of a careful and smoothly working registration at the beginning of each term, accurate tallying of each student's scholastic achievements, lists of extra-curricular activities—all reminders of a great amount of work well done in helping to graduate from this college the best teachers in the state.

MEDIATION BOARD

> Students clamor for an organization which will function directly with the administration for the welfare of the majority on the campus. A few courageous souls push the cause until it becomes actuated in a mediation board of six members.

> Thus is born a potential power for more complete understanding and harmonious living. To it, students may present problems with the assurance that they will at least be seriously considered. It is one organization on the campus through which the students may speak for themselves. Its success will depend upon how wisely they take advantage of this privilege.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

OFFICERS AND GENERAL

The instant the rubber stamp leaves the imprint PAID on your tuition slip, the farreaching arm of the Women's League reaches out to embrace you, pat you on the head, and welcome you as a member of its clan and a sharer of the year's round of activities.

The reins of supervision rest in the hands of Ruth Holleran, genius of organization and President of Women's League, assisted by Vice-President, Marguerite Smith. Keeping careful notes and writing polite letters is Jean Jolliffe, secretary. Treasurer Selma Hartung has become an expert check signer.

Under the wise guidance of Dean Jones and Assistant Dean Beal the League manages to accomplish an incredible amount of activities each year, beginning in September and ending only in June. Remember those opening days of school and all those scared freshmen girls? Who organized Campus Sisters, gave teas, theatre parties, and bought innumerable "cokes" for homesick Freshies? The Women's League.

Who organized the four classes into class clubs: the Freshmen, Viventes; Sophomore, Goldfeather; Junior, Euthalia; and Senior, Book-a-Month—so that girls could have teas, dinners, discussions and heaps of fun? . . The Women's League.

Who put on assemblies and provided us with good entertainment when things began to slow down? . . . Well, it wasn't the Men's Union.

And who held Faculty Chats every Monday afternoon in the Alumni Lounge and sponsored the International Debate, and in fact, who ran the school? . . . You're right! . . . The Women's League. Meeting in state every other Wednesday night are ten members-at-large and twelve club chairmen, who, under the President of the Women's League, are popularly referred to as the Executive Board. The duties of the group as a whole are to discuss and pass on all matters concerning women, and to vote appropriations for the many activities the League sponsors during the year. The twelve club chairmen have more individual accomplishments.

Sponsored and financed by Women's League are the four class clubs, but the organization and direction itself is the personal worry of the chairman of clubs, who sees that each class is organized into a club in the fall and functions smoothly throughout the year.

A high point in fall and winter terms were the Faculty Chats, held every other Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Faculty expressed their wise opinions of current affairs to as many students as could be crowded into the Alumni Lounge. Nothing escaped their praise or criticism from the advantages of a tour in Europe to proletarian literature.

For the nicest dances, the daintiest teas, and the most amusing mixers no compunction need be felt in awarding an orchid to the Social Committee. From the beginning of the year when the Frosh Frolic was given to mix a few hundred nail-biting, homesick freshmen with their sisters in misery, the committee has outdone themselves in performing feats of social dexterity. The two big dances of the year, the Harvest Hop in November and the League Lark in April -where the feminine part of the campus swung the better half to the smoothest music, amid the smartest decorations-have gone down in the annals of collegiate history as the biggest reason why girls leave home and come to M. S. N. C. Other activities restricted to women students were the Co-Ed Prom, or Santa Claus Swing as it was called this year, the tea for transfer students.

Swaggering with the reputation of being one of the best-organized units in the United States, the Campus Sisters function for the first two weeks of the school year and prepare during the remainder of the year for the first two weeks of the next year, doing their usual smoothly running, efficient job of providing a haven for homesick freshmen. When every new student has been carefully cared for physically and cheered mentally, the Campus Sisters recuperated at a well-deserved breakfast and felt themselves every inch girl-scouts. The Student Advisors, composed of members of the Executive and Advisory boards, journeyed from house to house at the end of the winter term to learn student opinion of activities of the League and to pick up suggestions for further improvements. The compiled results were sent to the Executive Board to await action.

The Committee on constitutions covered themselves with honors this year by enlarging the League constitution so as to include provisions for methods of electing officers in the four class clubs, thus stabilizing a heretofore uncertain rule.

A really revolutionary movement this year was made by the elections committee. Candidates for next year's officers were introduced in the annual elections assembly to the rhythms of a swing band and the canned speeches of two opposing parties. Another innovation was the elections tea, held in the formal lounge. The purpose of the tea was to honor the candidates, and each house president was invited to be present.

These and other activities went to make up a full and successful year for the Women's League Executive Board.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

Composed of House Presidents of forty largest houses, and headed by the Vicepresident of the Women's League, the House Presidents' Council served as a mediating board between houses and the Executive Board for a project attempting to make boarding house life more like that of a dormitory. The Council's bid for fame this year was a pamphlet entitled "The Art of Living Graciously." The annual House Presidents' breakfast was held early in the fall.

A long, active year winds up in June with Campus Sisters meeting in preparation for fall activities—and so the wheel turns—

MEN'S UNION

The Union—every man a member, and every member a part of the Union. The Men's Union, an organization composed of every man on campus, operates for the sole purpose of promoting the cause of masculinity on campus. Tex Walker, super-man of sports and President of the Union, is assisted by Sam Wotring, vice-president. Charles Drewyour, secretary, is responsible for careful record keeping, and George Russell is comptroller of currency.

Under the careful guidance of Dean James M. Brown, the Men's Union lives up to its purpose, from the time school opens in September, to when it closes in June. Assemblies, Homecomings, dances, conventions, coffee hours, elections—all are included in the activities of the Men's Union. The Men's Union manages to have a finger in every pie, and, in fact, who runs the school? ... You're right, the Men's Union.

George Russell, Sam Wotring, Neville Walker, Charles Drewyour. Duane Nelson, Gerhart Peters.

Francis Scripter, Henry Jensen.

Richard Yeager, George Newlands, Carl

The Men's Union operated immediately in the fall by turning its attention to the first item of business, the election of two representatives from each class to form the executive board.

Organized in the fall of 1936, the MUGS (Men's Union Guides), younger brothers to the League's Campus Sisters, slipped smoothly into action in the fall of 1937 with an improved organization to welcome the Freshman men to the campus, and to initiate them into the mysteries of collegiate campus. A mixer the first night of Freshman week gave the young a new headgear and a number of new ideas of why they came to college.

Gerhart Peters

Duane Nelson, William Cruickshank.

Homecoming, the big excitement of the fall term, gave the Union its first chance to show its strength. The presidents of the Union and the League cooperated and selected co-chairmen Nelson and Cruickshank to stir up excitement and to lead the students through the maze of home-coming events. Parades, dances, games, theatre rushes, concerts, with innovations by the Homecoming committee, and the crowd went home well pleased.

The Yule Log Drag, annual fall term party, under the chairmanship of Gerhart Peters, was judged a social triumph. Smooth music and modernistic decorations made the party an unprecedented success.

In December, Tex Walker attended a national convention of Men's Unions at Purdue University. Three days were spent in comparing notes on Union activities and gaining new ideas.

Early in the year, the men in assembly called for a student council report. The Men's Union proposed the plan of a mediations board composed of members of the Union and the League Executive Boards, as a less cumbersome plan than the pending student council constitution had called for. The plan was accepted and the board went into operation. Coffee-hours, under Bill Cruickshank, entertained the men during the winter term. The recipe of coffee, cake, a speech, and discussion proved a good one, and the men's lounge was overcrowded with men, hungry for brain food. Professor Osborn informed the men about the duties of the chemist; Professor Isbell analyzed Hitler's methods of running a government. Dr. Gorton illustrated light, and Professor Jefferson also enlightened the men with more of Hitler's objectives.

Men's Union assemblies were held twice a term with interesting speakers and entertainers on the programs. At certain assemblies general problems of the Men's Union were discussed and acted upon.

The Union marked Edwin Stahl's resigning as manager of Charles McKenny Hall by presenting him with a leather brief case.

Spring around again, and plans for the Spring Breeze were made. Nelson and Peters were placed in charge, and the party surpassed previous super-parties in every way.

Spring elections wound up Union activities for the year.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

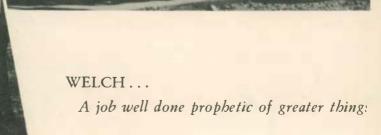

With the hilarious peeling of the big apple, we swing into another year of social events featuring every type of dance to suit every person's taste and purse—all college parties, cabarets, Kresges, Woolworths. Particularly admirable were the orchestras that pleased, the floor shows of quality, the different ways to dance to the same music, and the two classes for learning the elements of swing.

And another year finds the social committee still expertly engineering. Starting with a record crowd, the first all-college dance swung softly to the low moanings of Moe and Carter's old favorites. The Grid Swirl was a fitting prelude to two other college parties, the homecoming swings followed, where alumni and undergraduates all stepped to their hearts' content.

Joe Caruso and the cabaret party starred as the biggest of the big social events sponsored by the committee.

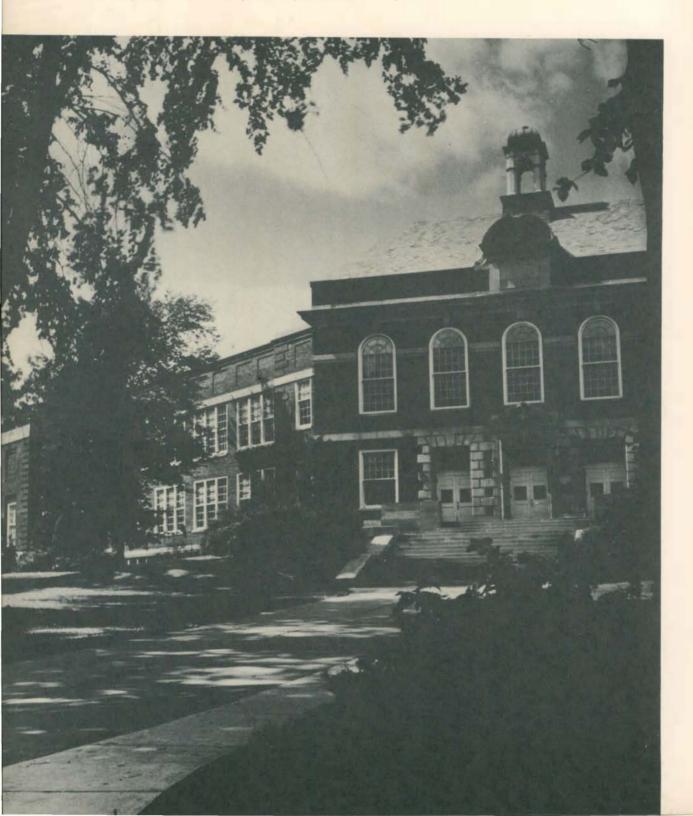

Winter brought the Round-Up. The snow-ball rolled itself into prominence in the next party. And then came the Woolworths, the joys of the stags. Deposit a dime for the evening and get all the music you want plus robbers and more robbers.

Then spring came bringing a holiday. All dates were taken, with none left for the committee. Both dancing classes were finished. Only the Kresges were left, and plans for another year.

SOSINSKI WOLFE DAVIS HUBBARD

Four men were chosen to lead the sophomore class this year. William Sosinski, president; Charles Wolfe, vicepresident; Jess Davis, secretary; and Ralph Hubbard, treasurer; have led the sophomores to a new high in campus activities.

Hail, Class of '40, the most courageous chip off old Michigan State Normal's Block! We are dauntless sons in the face of the over-whelming odds of annual class games. We may have been defeated in points, but we were undefeated in bravery. The Sophomore men, mightier in mind than stature, heroically defended our honor by keeping our flag waving victoriously above this bloody battle in which the prevailing enemy was temporarily halted.

We have heard it mentioned that our men lack brawn, but we can prove that they are anything but muscle-bound: witness Yeager, Valleau, and Simpson. The college drum-major is one of our men. He may not be tall, yet he certainly can strut that baton down the field. Kissner, strut on!

We boast handsome and dramatic "Sophomen" too-the Lichtenfelt lad (even hidden behind a priest's garb) is one of several thrilling actors.

And do those men have brains! Half of the new Stoics are our own male geniuses. The other half are our gentler geniuses.

Oh! you have wondered if we had any women. Most assuredly we have—the most glamorous group of pulchitrude on campus. Not only that, they are talented too. There are, for example, our two rising musicians, Virginia Mutter and Virginia Lohr; Phyllis Nelson, our glorified actress; and Audrey Buytendorp, our sophisticated interpretative reader.

As a matter of fact, the campus activities have claimed practically all of the gifted Sophomores, so we are naturally and rightfully just a bit proud. The class has been a keenly cooperative one, under the guidance of our able skipper, Sosinski, and the supervision of Dr. Fagerstrom, our advisor. This "togetherness" was exhibited in the loyal labor on the homecoming float at the Bibbins' abode. The artistic creation was of a green and white crepe paper background displaying the school seal. Our unusual and sucessful class mixers are another example of "together '40 stands"-brilliant, energetic, vivacious. And we can take it with us!

CLASS OF 1939

Then We Danced

Second row—Russell, Jolliffe, DeWard, Newcomb, Ardis, Payne, Hand, Hatch, Ylitalo, Squires.

Third row—Beauchamp, Glow, Bryson, O'Berg, Balten, Anderson, Keeping, Ellsworth.

With Mike Reilly, the maestro of the "Music Goes Round and Round" fame, and his noted radio band from Cleveland furnishing the swing for the 1938 J-Hop, the dance established itself as the high spot of the Junior activities. Soft blue and white lights gave indirect lighting to the ballroom; dim candle light was featured in the cafeteria where green and white refreshments smartly decorated with high hats and canes were served. Clever favors in the form of a combination leather dance program and key case added to the occasion.

The Juniors appreciate the work of the committee in enabling the class to maintain the high standards set by former J-Hops.

A GRAND FINALE PRELUDETO

The Class of '39 arrived on the Campus of Michigan State Normal College with a delegation of over 250 smiling scholars.

Homecoming gave first evidence that the Junior Class was a class to be reckoned with. Having outgrown class games, the class concentrated on building a super-colossal float. Perhaps we should say a committee of four representing the class, concentrated. Anyway the float, a huge top hat with a cane advertising the J-Hop, added much to the Homecoming parade.

Homecoming past history, the class settled down to make its mark on the scholastic pages of Normal history. Winter term saw the class putting on a magnificent J-Hop. Under the co-chairmen, Esther LaPointe and Ray LaBounty, unprecedented plans were made. The dance was a huge success and won more laurels for the class.

Every department was bolstered by the Juniors, and at least one department found its leader to be a "'39er."

During the spring term the Juniors sponsored a mixer to bring the class together for a last fling.

June saw the Juniors looking back with regret for good times past, but forward to a prospective senior year when the class will achieve its greatest success and win its greatest reward. President Cruickshank and the other Senior officers, Barbara Howlett, vice-president; Eltie Kemmerling, secretary; and Jane Kennedy, treasurer; have proved very capable leaders in putting across the functions which necessarily fall upon a graduating class. It has been through their inspiring efforts that three full and useful years have been climaxed by a fourth even more successful socially and academically.

THAT LAST WORD

Amid the swinging of canes, lanterns, and the dance orchestra, the Seniors leave the campus, realizing that the activities they have sponsored will soon be forgotten, but confident of what they will accomplish in the educational world. Armed as they are with theories they certainly will write their names for posterity.

As versatile a group as one may find—the Senior Class of 1938. They are leaders in scholastic, athletic, social, and fraternal affairs. All phases of college life are represented by the three hundred fifty graduates who must pass their weighty responsibilities to the underclassmen, already waiting with eager hands.

To the class of '38, the campus says, "The best of luck." The Class of '38 sighs profoundly, thinking of four hectic years, and says, "We've earned it."

Any old-fashioned, conventional ideas about collegiate intelligentsia must be put out of the mind. If you have been associating members of college honor societies with sallow, bespectacled sticks, moles, mice, or a peculiar species of worm, you need to revise your impressions. Members of these groups are fine students, it is true; but they are not mere book worms. They promote friendship and goodwill among students and faculty. They set high scholarship and social standards on campus. A glance at their pictures and the list of their varied activities will convince you that there are among them more than a few fair faces and a very few one-tracked minds. A generous program of picnics, breakfasts, banquets, and parties proves the superior-minded student to be like the rest of us.

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary society in education for juniors and seniors, is the second largest Greek letter society in the world. Therein lies its Greek honorary feature. Its chief educational feature consists in stimulating interest in the professional activities and personalities of great teachers and other educational leaders.

To this end Pi chapter participated in a murky but far from dismal half trip to the district convention at Muncie, Indiana . . . a trip by democratic representation to the national convention at Atlantic City, which left President Bernard Stone breathless and penniless, but not speechless . . . a novel imaginary vacation journey made vivid by director Allan Scherzer's lively films and delightful human interest descriptions . . . inauguration of the dignified new initiation service for the fifty-four neophytes.

Of local and social interest were the friendly Halloween gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Turner, the impressive winter banquet honoring the new members, and the spring term hail and farewell breakfast.

When the members admire beautiful bouquets of flowers at this farewell breakfast, they may appropriately think orchids to Bernard Stone, president; Betty Malley, vice-president; Edmond Goings, treasurer; Ada Pettingill, corresponding secretary; Eltie Kemmerling, recording secretary; Mr. Turner, faculty adviser; and Miss Martha Best, faculty sponsor.

The national honorary forensic society, Pi Kappa Delta, consists of one hundred fifty chapters located in thirty-five states and the island of Puerto Rico. Organized simultaneously at Ottawa University in Kansas, and Ripon College in Wisconsin in 1913 the fraternity has grown to a national membership of 15,500 members in 1938. The local chapter, Michigan Epsilon, which was installed June, 1921, now has two hundred fifty campus and alumni members.

The society sponsors all public speaking activities on the campus. The outstanding event of this year was the debate with a Cambridge-Oxford team before a packed house in Pease Auditorium. The tournament of the Michigan section of the National High School Forensic League was held in McKenny Hall.

Scholarship, Stoics, and scholarships are rapidly becoming synonomous on our campus. Without the assistance of national affiliation, this sophomore honorary society of purely local origin and leadership maintains an independent program for scholarship promotion that has astonished even the Stoics themselves. Gathering momentum from the successful completion of the Carl E. Pray Scholarship Fund, the organization of thirty members this year promoted the establishment of a fund honoring another gold key Stoic — Professor Benjamin L. D'Ooge.

But the members of this versatile group do not live by brain alone. Although establishing scholarships seems to have become the first aim of this organization, surely its second aim is the promotion of friendliness. Starring in the Stoic social calendar was the annual winter banquet where the new scholarship was announced. Satellites were the initiation party at the home of Professor and Mrs. Lathers, the traditionally hilarious White Elephant Sale, a pleasant meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and the beautiful May morning Breakfast — all experiences that leave a nostalgic pain in many stoic hearts.

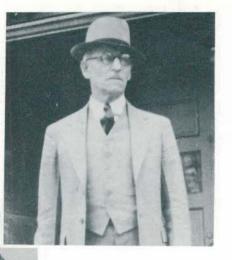

The Stoics and the rest of the campus appreciate the services of Miss Martha Best and Mr. J. Milton Hover in pacing the students in these outstanding intellectual and social ventures. Official honors belong to Ivah Lewis, president; Dorothy Long, secretary; and Mr. J. Stuart Lathers, patron.

PI KAPPA DELTA

Michigan Normal's first international debate on November eighteenth was the outstanding event of the year. The prospect of competition with a lively team from Cambridge and Oxford, one of whom was an Irishman, filled Pease Auditorium to capacity. The splendid cooperation of the committees under the leadership of President Holleran of the Women's League and President Walker of the Men's Union insured a successful evening. A formal banquet in McKenny Hall ballroom honoring the British Consul, Hughes-Hallett, his wife, and the competing teams touched off the event in an atmosphere of decorous humor. The final clash in the auditorium even exceeded explanations in its display of wit, wisdom, and hilarity, not to mention international good will.

A speech mixer early in the fall, and the winter term "Chop Suey" dinner proved helpful in promoting forensics. Paced by the extempore speaking contest in November and the general oratory contest in December, speech activities were in full swing during winter term. The peace oratory contest in February and the interpretative reading contest in March, together with an extended schedule of women's and men's debates, completed winter activities.

The Michigan division of the National High School Forensic League was invited to hold its tournament here April fifteenth, and contests embracing all phases of speech activities were staged, with more than seventy picked high school champions competing for prizes. The freshman public speaking and poetry reading contests in the spring not only kept the activity pace strong to the finish, but also brought out hidden but budding talent that will be valuable in forensic activities during the next few years.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

Wodeso Club members, eighteen strong, spent the fall term warming up in preparation for winter term debate activities. The winter results showed the effects of the rigorous fall training. Jean Sprecher, president, and Professor McKay, director, with eleven members worked valiantly through thirtytwo debates with nine colleges and universities of Ohio and Michigan.

On January twenty-first and twenty-second the club sponsored a tournament among Ohio and Michigan schools. On February nineteenth, eleven speakers participated in the annual state women's debate tournament at Western State Teachers College. Jean Sprecher and Elsin Goodrich won two debates; Ruth Huber and Norma Luder were victors in one and losers in one. The final score for the whole delegation was four victories and four defeats. These noble efforts tied them for third place.

Other debates were held with Michigan State and Hillsdale colleges, and with Sigma Rho Tau, Stump Speakers Society of the engineering school of the University of Michigan.

At the close of the season Pi Kappa Delta offered membership to Jean Sprecher, Elsin Goodrich, Ruth Huber, Norma Luder, Ernestine Warner, Veva Whitcomb, and Helene Langthorne. Three freshmen, Winnifred Sayre, Martha Walsh, and Dorothy Hearn, were given honorable mention.

The high point of the men's debating this year was the contest of November eighteenth in which Frederick Liechty and Oliver Crager, provincial winners of last year, met the Oxford-Cambridge team on the Supreme Court question before a packed house in Pease Auditorium.

The regular question for debate by men this year was, "Resolved that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitrations of all industrial disputes." The twenty men of the debate squad took part in over sixty intercollegiate debates. They also participated in the Michigan State Debate League tournament at Wayne University. By the close of the year three men, Frederick Liechty, James Lieberman, and Oliver Crager had won the Pi Kappa Delta degree of special distinction in debate and were awarded diamond keys by the organization and gavels by the Men's Union in recognition of their attainments.

Other Pi Kappa Delta debaters are Gordon Kennedy, Earl Schwichtenberg, and William Waugh. The following men were recommended for membership in Pi Kappa Delta: Robert Dickerson, Alfred Gurley, Harold Holt, Ralph Hubbard, Alton Kott, Dennis Lund, Robert McElliott, Robert Mayhew, Norman Naas, Albert Riddering, and Charles Wolfe. Receiving honorable mention are Eugene Holtman, Reginald Lowe, and Pershing Meyers.

Extemporaneous Speaking

This year extemporaneous speakers Robert Beauchamp and Mary Jane Coe trekked to Albion for the annual Intercollegiate Extempore Contest on November twentythird. Our women's representative won third place.

Interpretative Reading

Choosing an individual to represent Michigan State Normal College in the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League's annual Interpretative Reading Contest Festival was no easy task. After weighty consideration, Phyllis Nelson was chosen, with Betty Jane Malley as alternate. The contest was held May thirteenth at Hope College, Holland, Michigan.

Betty Jane Malley, Tom Carrington

General Oratory

The forty-ninth annual oratory contest and the thirty-first contest in women's oratory occurred on December second. College champs were Betty Malley, senior, who spoke on "Charity's Child" and Tom Carrington, junior, who interpreted "The Wheel of Fortune Spins."

Campus winners from ten colleges met at Alma College March fourth for the annual state oratory contest. Tom, pleading against the evils of slot machines, placed fourth. Betty, telling of personal experiences with children in charitable institutions, took second place and a silver medal of the League.

Albert Riddering

Peace Oratory

Albert Riddering, speaking on "We Twenty-five Million," represented the college in the state peace oratory contest April eighth at Calvin College.

Campus Choristers

Campus Choristers, the wobbly brain child of a small group of progressive college students interested in raising music standards and extending musical opportunities on our campus, first saw the light in May, 1937. It has since come to be a popular prodigy of the music department. Its early development was feeble but steady, and it was soon on its feet. With the new school year Campus Choristers was well past its growing pains and had taken its place in college music activities. With the financial aid of the League and the Union, it presented a midweek series of matinee musicals which have become very popular. At these informal music sessions we hear anything from Jerome Kern's fantasies to Wagner's "Pilgrims' Chorus."

Membership in the group of thirty young students is considered a privilege, and invitations to its programs are greatly appreciated. Besides carrying on its campus activities, the group made several trips to nearby communities, and closed its season with a formal May Musicale.

ORCHESTRA

Where String is King

The familiar slogan "Watch us grow" may well be applied to our symphony. In seven short years it has become a nationally famous student music group. From four to five-thirty of one Sunday of each month is set aside for students, faculty, and townspeople to hear the delightful programs the orchestra offers. Each concert features soloists, both students and guests. A program of three beautiful concerts during commencement week extends the pleasure the campus music lovers have enjoyed throughout the year to the visiting alumni and other friends of the college.

With one of the largest band libraries in the country, over four thousand selections, they always have appropriate music for any occasion.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The activities of the "Y" leave no doubt that it is a very versatile and wide awake organization. Vespers, matins, and Lenten meetings—all short devotional services are held regularly in their seasons. Blue Monday teas bring shy freshmen out of their shells of loneliness and provide a bright spot in the busy day of upper-classwomen. Lunch-a-month is always a popular occasion well attended and featuring tasty food, good music, and helpful speakers. The organization's Marthas find self-expression and outlet in service by providing Thanksgiving baskets for needy families and bulging Christmas stockings for Santa's orphans of Ypsilanti. D

THE ''Y'S'' WOMEN

The local "Y" was represented in regional activities at Walden Woods, Michigan, and at Geneva, Wisconsin. It also sent delegates to the national convention at Oxford, Ohio. Speakers from Kalamazoo, the University of Michigan, and our own campus brought inspiring messages to eager campus groups.

An ever popular venture in international understanding is the annual world acquaintance tour among the Old World sections of Detroit. World fellowship interests were further aroused by a visit from a Canadian Indian princess and by an illuminating three day conference with Dr. and Mrs. Jaroslav Kosé of Czechoslovakia. Friendship made through these contacts creates deep concern for the safety of European minorities and a desire to promote peace among all the peoples of the world.

With such activities as these the "Y" provides many experiences for campus girls in fun, frolic, and serious thought.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

First Row: McKillen; Lillibridge, Aitchison; Meyers; Werbin.

Second Row: Cooperman; Mahaffey; Boyden; Drew; Weinlander; Leonard.

Third Row: Goings; Haddrill; Marsh.

Uniting all religious groups of the campus is the Student Religious Council, which welcomes young people from all denominations to participate in its activities program. During the winter term this organization sponsored a weekly open house, and on two Sundays of each term a union worship service, with special interdenominational services before and on Easter. They heard pastors, faculty members, and foreign students from the University of Michigan. They brought the year's activities to a grand finale in the spring term by a picnic and interchurch softball contest. The representatives of the religious groups are Congregational, Edna Eggleston and Phillip Haddrill, president; Y. W. C. A., Mary Jane Coe and Mary Louise Boyden, vice-president; Baptist, Charles Marsh and Annette Drew, secretary; Presbyterian, Orson Leonard and Lunetta Mahaffy, treasurer; Methodist, Dorothy Lillibridge and Edmond Goings, publicity secretary; Newman Club, Lillian McKillen and James Powers; Lutheran, Geraldine Schill and Max Weinlander; Jewish, Marion Meyers, Milton Werbin, and Arnold Cooperman; Miss Grace Aichison, sponsor. Guiding the reorganization of the Newman Club are Robert Beauchamp, president; Vadah DuVall, vice-president; Alice Khols, vice-president; Ann Sysak, secretary; Eleanor Collins, corresponding secretary; Joseph Kobilansky, treasurer; Reverend Father Warren W. Peek, chaplain; and Mr. George Ennen, director.

In addition to these officers the executive committee includes Joseph Corcoran, chairman social committee; Gibson Brown, chairman men's membership committee; William Weber; Leo Barron; Ruth Barry.

Patrons are Mr. C. P. Steimle and Miss Blanche Emery. Other faculty members are Dean James M. Brown, Mr. Elton Rynearson, and Miss Eleanor Strafer.

CLUB

This year the Catholic student group reorganized the Newman Club, which had been inactive for several years. The club is named for Cardinal Newman, who because of his sterling qualities of mind and heart and soul was chosen patron of the International Organization of Catholic College Clubs, representing a Catholic student membership of over fifty thousand. His interest in the human heart, his reasoned wisdom in higher education and appreciation of great sweeping intellectual movements, his exquisite style placed Newman among the English masters of the written word and the great spiritual leaders of the human race.

The national federation, of which our club is a member, was organized in 1915. The purpose of the Newman club on our campus is to supplement instruction with religious fellowship among Catholic students. The club also encourages sociability through a generous program of dances, parties, dramatics, and dinners. The sixty-four student and faculty members of the local club thoroughly enjoy their opportunities for inspiration, sociability, and fellowship.

Minding Our Own Business

The Commercial Teachers' Club unites Cleary College with Michigan State Normal College. The membership is limited to students of commercial teaching and people already engaged in teaching commercial subjects. Besides furthering professional interest through study of theory, the club finds time to enjoy picnics, originate "Sweater Swirls" in competition with the college social committee's "Kresges," and take trips to big business establishments in and around Detroit. The club is led by Frances Budd, president; Virginia Hardy, vice-president; Hildred Lester, secretary; Lucille Disenroth, treasurer; Harland Charter, reporter; President P. R. Cleary, patron; and Miss Mildred Giddis, faculty adviser.

Something's Stewing

The Home Economics Club brings the faculty and all the future home makers together. Frequent supper meetings at which are served products of their own hands are pleasant social affairs. Their handiwork is also exhibited in a club social project producing layettes for children on the welfare. Other meetings include lectures and informal discussions on professional and educational topics. The climax of the year's activities is reached in the formal Christmas dance for members, faculty, and guests.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

The Physical Education Club, one of the largest organizations on campus, is a very democratic group. They are governed by a council made up of two boys and two girls from each class. The council elects officers and carries out the duties of the club.

Officers for this year are George Russell, president; Gertrude Deal, vice-president; John Burg, secretary; Marion Turnbull, student treasurer; Miss Boughner, faculty treasurer. Assisting these people on the council are Doris Lockwood, Celia Shapiro, Beth Gordon, Dorothy Swanson, Marion Schram, Louise Van Dommelen, Jess Davis, Francis Spata, George Miller, Bly Corning, Jack Yuille, and Don Todt.

MUSCLING IN

To prove that the "body strong" wasn't their only objective the Physical Education club elected organization leaders who would stress a well-rounded personality. Gone is the day of muscle-bound dancers, tightbrained English students, and mannish-cut amazons. Modern times require the winning personalities of fluent men and women with a proper amount of social culture. Hence, the program completed this year covered a diversified field.

To start the year on the right foot, a dance and refreshment party was held in ye olde west gym in the shadows of the basketball nets. Swing, slide, and the "big apple" revealed the swan-like grace of many a football behemoth. A swell time was had by all. In January, Mr. Elmer D. Mitchell, a nationally known physical education speaker, took the boys and girls on a tour of the Olympic Games via lecture and motion pictures. The committee reports that there wasn't a "snoozer" in the house.

Some of the heavier sports, such as pingpong, shuffle-board, and miniature golf were indulged in on a minor sports night. Two sprained wrists due to a scuffling in a checker game were the only casualties.

Spring term saw officers Marion Turnbull, George Russell and that mighty mite Johnny Burg travel to the windy city for a conference.

Theme song for the year was "Smile, darn ya, smile!"

SIGMA DELTA PSI

Seated: David Russell, Don Todt, Mr. George Marshall. Standing: Hamilton Morningst²r, Charles Drewyour, Ed Engle, George Miller.

With Brain and Brawn

Sigma Delta Psi is distinguished as the only national honorary society for athletes. To become a member a student must meet certain scholastic standards as well as a long list of requirements demonstrating his physical superiority. He must be a good student as well as an all round athlete. Our local chapter, one of eighty in the United States, participates with the University of Michigan and Michigan State college in a banquet each spring.

Officers are Don Todt, president; George Miller, secretary; Ed Engle, treasurer; and Mr. George Marshall, patron.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CLUB

Life is My Song

Young musicians of the campus find opportunity to lift up their voices in song through the Public School Music Club activities. A Halloween party, initiation for seventeen new members, an annual banquet, and a June breakfast sound like a mere college party, an initiation, a banquet, and a breakfast. That is, to the uninitiated. To the P. S. M. C. members they connote heartwarming sociability, friendliness, and warbling fests. Has the price of song books and sheet music become prohibitive through the depression? Their meetings need not be songless. Undaunted, they produce their own compositions. Believing that talent should not be hidden and that joy grows by being shared, the members of the club share with their friends in public recitals the rewards of their years of cultivating their talent. And many a campus and community hostess has warmed the hearts of her guests through a gift of song brought by some talented member of this club.

But the next convention will be important to all the chapter. It is being held in Detroit where the entire sorority will have the chance to serve as hostesses.

CORBIN JOHNSON MAC KELLAR MARTIN MISS EPPLER L. WELLOCK

Cooperation has replaced dissention among fraternities, and as a result, the Interfraternity Council this year has marched steadily forward in its attempts to improve the position of fraternities on the campus.

Under the leadership of dynamic David Russell, the Council began operations with a written constitution which gave it definite powers. It decreed that a two-thirds vote of fraternities would pass measures for all fraternities. This enabled progress to be made more rapidly.

For this and other reasons, the Council this year has passed more important legislation than in any previous years. Examples are: the ban on pledging of freshmen and transfer students during fall term, the requirement of a "C" average for all athletic competition, and the dropping of Cleary College students as fraternity eligibles.

Outstanding functions of the year were the annual interfraternity banquet, the interfraternity dance, and the interfraternity picnic.

Numbering many famous men among its alumni, this fraternity has as its patron, Horace Z. Wilber, and boasts six prominent faculty members, Charles M. Elliott, J. Milton Hover, Orlo M. Gill, C. P. Steimle, J. Stuart Lathers, Albert Fey.

Not content with resting upon its laurels, however, Phi Delta Pi retains a position of prominence today in athletics, scholarship, social affairs, and campus politics. The list of members is Frank Zumpf, Howard Chapman,

Rapidly Becoming a Campus Power

Nineteen members returning for the new year presaged a brilliant season for Phi Sigma Epsilon. Soon six more pledges became full fledged members, and five new men were pledged.

Phi Sigma's chief claim to distinction has been that it is a national fraternity, but the activities of Lambda chapter are causing it to become distinctive in other fields. Phi Sig men are well represented in varsity athletics, and the fraternity's teams are becoming recognized powers in inter-fraternity competition. In social affairs, also, the fraternity is becoming prominent, as evidenced by the choice of Raymond LaBounty as co-chairman of the J.-Hop.

The social highlight of the year for the fraternity was the annual spring dance, May 21, in McKenny Hall. Besides this, two very successful closed parties were held, one in McKenny Hall and the other in the chapter house.

Every other year Phi Sigma Epsilon holds a conclave of all the chapters throughout the country. Kansas City was host to the gathering last August. Lambda Chapter sent five representatives who brought back a very interesting report on the proceedings.

ZETA CHI

Stressing Scholarship,

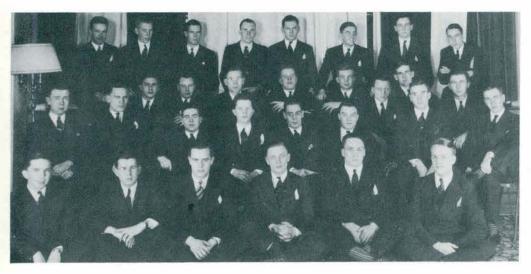

In 1928 a group of seven interested young men met together to make plans for a fraternity that would meet the need for balance between the scholastic, the athletic, and the social elements. The result of their action has been the steady rise of Zeta Chi Sigma which still follows closely the ideals of its founders —sportsmanship, scholarship, morality.

Maroon and gold were chosen as the colors, and the daffodil became the fraternity flower. Mr. H. Reninger was the first faculty member. The organization was incorporated in 1931. The present patron is Dr. Clarence M. Loesell who acts with honorary members Mr. Reninger, Mr. John F. Barnhill, and Mr. Edgar W. Waugh as an advisory board.

The thirty-five members of the active chapter include Ferris Young, Robert Brund-

Noted especially for its high scholastic and cultural achievements, Zeta Chi Sigma also maintains its social reputation through the annual Spring Cruise, one of the most novel parties of the year. It was held this year in Charles McKenny Hall on May fourteenth.

Having nearly one hundred alumni members in the nine years of its existence, an alumni chapter was formed on October twenty-fourth. Robert Goold, a graduate of 1937, is the first president. The active chapter maintains a close association with all the alumni members through its monthly newspaper "The Zeta Cry."

The greatest achievement of the year was the renting and furnishing of the large chapter house at 404 Ballard. Complete independence in house management has resulted from the new arrangement. The officers for this year are Norman Roller, president; Donald Rank, vice-president; Gilbert Blanks, secretary; Francis Ballantine, treasurer; Francis Scripter, athletic manager; Donald Christie, alumni secretary; Clarence Odmark, house manager; Haward Wait and Francis Scripter, Interfraternity Council representatives.

SIGMA MU SIGMA

The Fraternity of Masonry

Iota chapter of Sigma Mu Sigma was established in 1929 and is therefore the youngest fraternity on the campus. The colors yellow and blue and the yellow carnation are the symbols of the fraternity. Professor Harry T. Wood acts in the capacity of sponsor.

Sigma Mu Sigma is the national masonic fraternity, consisting of Masons, sons and brothers of Masons, and other men who are eligible for masonry.

The officers this year are David Russell, president; Mahlon Herrick, vice-president; Robert Mayhew, secretary; Laurence Skinner, treasurer; and William Brown, athletic manager.

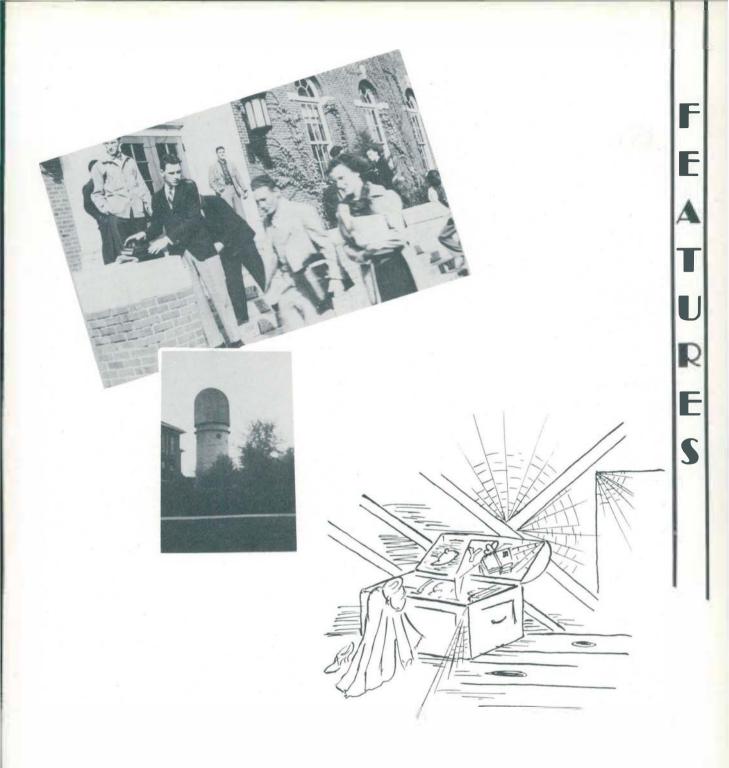

The other members of the active chapter are Lester Newbern, Wendell Chamberlain, Clyde Vogt, Norman Hunt, Max Ellsworth, Don Fite, Earl Schwichtenberg, Francis Torrey, Julian Torrey, Henry Wichman, John Wescott, La Verne Curry, Kenneth Thumme, Max Reynolds, Myrle Granger, Leslie Clark.

- Second Row: Wichman, Fite, J. Torrey, F. Torrey, Schwichtenberg, Vogt, Hunt.
- Third Row: Ellsworth, Curry, Plasters, Wescott, Allen, Thumme, Granger.
- Fourth Row: Sponenburgh, Reiber, Reynolds, Bloomhuff, Ross, Clark, Hodges, Brown.

Another year, another term, and another feature section. It is to be a general view of the sidelights and angles of the year's happenings — the human side of student activities permanently recorded for future generations and grandson on grandpop's knee. "Ah, how well I can remember that year when the girls wore shawls around their ears . . . "

Freshmen and upperclassmen arrive via Greyhound, Michigan Central, Ford, and thumb. General greetings, huzzas, and tall stories. A veneer of optimism over thick tans and thin wallets. The sun shines bright...

Campus sisters diffuse rapidly among the freshmen girls, organizing their units and flying squadrons. There are places to be seen and things to be done . . . You, too, can be charming in three easy lessons . . .

Campus MUGS are also active. All freshmen register at the desk . . . Okay, mug, you take care of this kid. Can you play football, basketball, speedball, golf, or tennis? . . . You can! How about joining my fraternity? Swell bunch of fellows. Very democratic too . . . Lots of high school sweaters in sight. Didn't you know? Oskosh High, of course. Held the state class Z football championship for three years. Only defeated because the coach died . . .

Afternoon tea at McKenny Hall. Reception line, Emily Adams on the strings, professors, and no tea.

President Munson officially welcomes the green and white to the Green and White. Study hard, boys and girls; jobs are waiting for the worthy... Doctor Snow describes the college health service as a mecca of healing. Upperclassmen, however, tell that all who enter come out wearing glasses ... And still it goes on ... receptions, pep rallies, parties, dances, dunkings, and dates. Classes begin at last ...

Pigskin punters practice privately . . . Roadrunners renew relentless running . . October, the second week of classes, and students dig in for a long siege. Assignments are long, profs are optimistic, athletes are pessimistic, and term papers are dished out: "History of Hymenoptera in the Fourteenth Century," "Christian Science and Psychotherapy," "The Spanish Tragedy and the Japanese Comedy," "Dark Ethiopia and Sunny Italy." "It's best not to wait until the last two days to prepare these reports," advise the learned. "Well, we've got lots of time," is the general comment.

Extra-curricular starts in full swing. Jerry Beissel and band officially open the Kresge season. Lots of dimes, sweet and swingy rhythms, and last summer's white shoes. (No signs of the Big Apple yet.) . . . Cruickshank and Nelson (Bud) are to direct the biggest, best, broadest, and most ballyhooed homecoming. All right, you grads, take out your mothballed bennies, your tin horns and cow bells . . . Rynie's regulars run riot. Russell races seventy yards. Ypsi 13 and Ball State 6 . . . Sophs-Frosh call a halt to offensive activities 'til class games . . . Steimle announces the ensnarement of 1507 tuitions, an eleven per cent increase over last year.

The third issue of the Normal News goes into circulation . . . "Class Game Victors to Wield Torch." Bill and Duane are hot on the trail of the biggest, best, broadest, and most ballyhooed homecoming. Only two more weeks . . . "Marquette Magnificently Murdered, 44-0." Football fever flourishes . . . A huge sign appears in Pearce Hall corridor. "Do your Aurora shopping early," is the theme. All passing students are very politely corralled by a staff of high-pressure salesmen and saleswomen soliciting a measly seventy-five cents (fifteen "cokes") for the privilege of having your picture in your copy of the year's memories to be read to your grandchildren. When can you have your picture taken? ... Tuxedos and formals are donned for a testimonial feed. We officially accept the $150,000.00, Mr. Briggs . . . Pierce Hall is passing its respectable old age . . . Cross-country run victory over Bowling Green seems strange without the services of Zepp, Werbin, and Rosenkrantz. Shadows that pass . . .

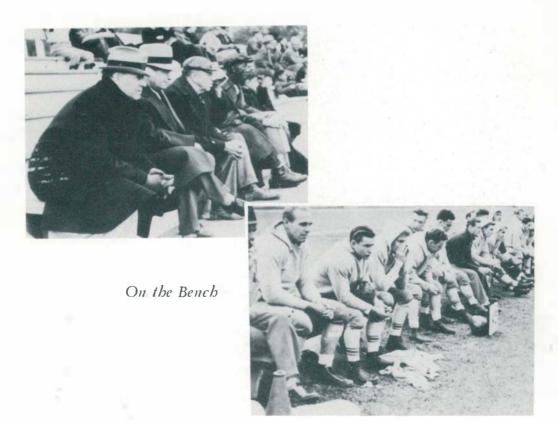

Homecoming comes home. The frosh break all precedent, tradition, and everything else by beating the sophs in class games. Pots are burned in a blazing pyre, while the jubilant victors snake-dance. "There'll be no living with them," say the upperclassmen . . . A pep rally in the evening peps up things with mirthprovoker Matthews getting lots of competition from a balcony heckler and a group of fidgety speakers. Billy Repaid, the effervescent guest star, effervesced for five minutes. A plea for youth and Four Roses. They all laughed ... Saturday afternoon 5200 hungry Huron homecomers see the grid team humiliated. Lots of spirit evident . . . Dance in the evening and listen to the symphony orchestra Sunday afternoon with Phil Haddrill making his debut as clarinet soloist. Very fine, Phil . . . Joke of the week: Men ask for report on Student Council . . . L. L. L. directs the distribution of directories. At last! That blonde's telephone number! . . . A sobering note halts all college activities. Miss Bertha Goodison, beloved Fine Arts head passes away. Townspeople, professors, and students mourn her departure. Shadows that pass . . . Frank Manley, Ypsi alumnus, famous and successful, speaks to a crowded Special Ed. Club meeting. "For further details on October, read your Normal News," says Leonard Lewis.

Remember November for Armistice, turkey and mid-terms . . . You can't fool all of the people all of the time, but you can cram for an exam any of the time. However, despite this student tactic, the profs begin to distinguish between the apple-polishers and the honest to goodness students. Coast for the rest of the term.

Hurons hit Hope's hopes, 19-0... Holleran and Walker plan a super-super reception for Great Britain with the assistance of Crager and Liechty. Paul Revere will not be invited ... Dr. Jaroslav Kose, eminent Czech, tells all-college assembly, "If you want peace, prepare for peace." All agree. Friday we forget all about it. We haven't the time ... A large student exodus to Wayne for football. All have a swell time, despite the impoliteness of our host in beating the boys 7-0 ... Frat pledges are very nicely entertained during hell week. Remember, boys, for the honor of the school, your country, and your fraternity. We build men in our outfit ... Final grid tilt of the season. You can return the blankets to your landlady now ...

Two talented young men from the old world delight a capacity audience at Pease by their spontaneous whip-lash witticisms hurled at Oliver, Fritz, and time-keepers. It wasn't much of a debate. We Americans take college debating too seriously, the British aver . . . Grunts and groans at the gym . . . Femmes get their man at the annual Harvest Hop. "It's a splendid idea," say the men . . . Campus Choristers and Bernard Stone present a matinee recital. "Music we love to sing." The experiment by this new campus organization is highly successful. Leadership and talent put it across . . .

December

Snow in December and two more weeks to go . Winter term classification cards clutter the mails. See your adviser and plan your program. How can I work in my minors? Lots of time to take that course. Wait until somebody else teaches it. Do you intend to work next term? Fill out this blank . . . And thus it goes. Once a term we get that personal touch with department heads. Guidance in education . . .

Life is given the once-over by Dr. Norris, Dr. Turner, and Miss McCrickett at a faculty chat. Tolerance in education . . . Co-eds galavant minus males at Women's League Santa Swing . . . Numerous apparitions float around the campus. Them are costumes . . . Puppetry pleases the populace at Pease Comedy even for the sophisticates . . . McKenny Hall is awed by the host of University professors who descend upon our measly little institution for their annual meeting ... Final exam schedules appear. Take a deep breath . . . Malley and Carrington offer the best arguments to top the college oratory contest . . . Standing room only for the privilege of seeing the boys slap each other around. Hersh and Hoopfer raise the rooftops with their slam-bang performance. Hersh the winnah! Arm of Honor beats A. of H. Folks still favor fisticuffs . . . Richard Halliburton takes his listeners via magic carpet to far off romantic isles . . . Eddie Stahl ends his career at McKenny. Official resignation. A piece of work well done. Mr. Alexander Stocky John Burg raises intramural sports to its well-deserved respectability by veering a trifle from the status quo. The finalists in ping-pong, basketball, handball, and badminton assemble under the same roof to determine the winners. Sports for all is the theme . . . A highly-touted Wayne track team is beaten to the tape by Ypsi's sleeveless shirt runners. Free bus transportation for the spectators . . . And again a comprehensive test of the term's work is presented. More sleepless nights and pen-chewing until Friday noon. Then away we go for nine days of Spring vacation. Oh, the sun shines bright . . .

New Horizons

April

April opens with a smile and a splash. Sunny days that hint of the warmth to come. We return from one week of lounging and larking at home to the cloistered seclusion of classes and extra curriculars. Penitent, resolved, and hopeful, we build our barricades for an eleven week siege. . . . Brown and white saddle shoes make their official appearance at the first Kresge dance. College dances, too, reflect the new spring styles. Males remain conservative in symphonies of black and white. Co-eds flutter forth in butterfly hues of pastel blues, greens, and pinks.

Baseballers battle U. of Wisconsin in the opening game of the season. Pitchers, batters, and fielders uncork their winter-bottled energy. Bingles, bunts, and bungles . . . A few racquet and net enthusiasts appear on the courts of a week-end morning. Push that roller, line the court, hit the ball over, and wheeze and snort. The tune's "That's why Darkies were born." . . . Quietly and unobtrusively, science garden patrons begin to tramp down the weeds of unused paths. Lots of room in McKenny lounges these days . . .

Sophomores come into their own. Featuring a 12-piece swing ensemble and a three-piece imitation, the second year studes advertise the Swirl in bold letters. Come one, come all, to the biggest dance of the year. Two bands, a floor show, and refreshments. Junior becomes a man . . . Ypsi entertains the National Forensic League in their annual state tournament. It is remarkable how well these high-schoolers take up the burden of word-slinging while our own speech-makers rest their Adam's apples.

Signs of the Times

May

Many moons make May mild and mellow. This is the month when all things bloom, even mid-terms. But they're not much trouble now. We take them in strides, defiant of worse to come . . .

Track comes to the fore again with a number of outdoor spectacles to thrill the small but staunch following. Western Ontario, Wayne, Loyola, and others. The state meet at Lansing climaxes the year . . . Pill-pounders create many a breeze in their attempt to crash the horizon of the Washtenaw Country Club. Incidentally these golfers carry their own bags . . . The tennis team, too, has its quota of spectators. 'Tis a fast-moving game wherein reaction time is cut to a minimum and stamina extended to its maximum . . .

Michigan Normal emerges from her state of vacuity concerning national problems with the Y's sponsoring of an open discussion of the labor question. Away with prejudice and misconceptions. We seek truths . . . And today, Briggs makes a strong bid for posterity when the stadium is officially dedicated. Students and alumni acknowledge the creation by turning out, en masse. Hurons versus U. of M.'s...

For these are the days when Pierce Hall windows reach for the ceiling, and youth, elbows propped on window-sills, whistles to the out-of-doors. Even the birds know that such days were not meant for history or political science . . . Is it true that they're breaking ground for the new special education building? Science garden strollers will be seeking new paths for ambulation.

Seniors make a bee-line for the placement office and superintendents. Do you play an instrument? What is your religion? Can you direct the school play, glee club, orchestra and band? Can you coach a few teams? (Sold for 1,200 dollars . . .)

May's days are numbered, and 1500 bated breaths wait for the appearance of the Aurora on the local news stands. They say it's due the first week in June...

Hot days . . . Hot days . . . Hot days . . .

The last mile. Time to dig in and unleash that final sprint... This is the season for afternoon teas in the science garden and picnics in Sleepy Hollow and outlying districts. Profs and students get to know one another over roasted weenies and salad dressing ... Everybody is "lining up" a job for the summermill, factory, camps, resorts, department stores. We ain't fussy. Anything to make money for next year's tuition... A few of the elite are planning summers at the seashore, braving the surging surf on an eye-stretching beach dotted with slim tanned bodies...

Seniors are still twirling their canes defiantly. There's a hard cold world awaiting you, men and women. Has college life with its seclusion helped you to face life's realities? Something to mull over for many a year.

Life goes on in its endless cycle. Frosh become sophs, sophs become juniors, juniors are seniors, and seniors—we couldn't say . . . Time to go now. Be seein' ya. Much of the effectiveness of W. A. A. depends on the officers. Gertrude Deal, president; Verona Blair, vice-president; Elaine Greene, secretary; and Lillian Galbraith, point recorder, have directed the organization in a particularly active year.

W. A. A.

Active since 1925 the Women's Athletic Association presents a varied program of individual sports and team games. Each year it tries to make this program more extensive.

Expertly controlling the organization is a board of student sports managers: Mabel Frye, hockey and soccer; Sarah Heckrodt, baseball and volleyball; Marion Meyers, badminton; Lois Wellock, golf, tennis and riding; Ellma Rossow, bowling and swimming; Eloise Wellock, minor sports; Adeline Reeves, minor sports assistant; Beth Gordon, basketball; Eunice McAvoy, intersorority manager; Helen Kidd, interclass manager; Miss Gertrude Eppler, faculty advisor.

Points are given to a girl for taking part in each activity. If she has been a good sport, she may have enough points for an award at the end of the year. Five hundred points will win her a bracelet; a thousand points net a pin; two thousand points bring her a jacket; and three thousand points rate her a coveted blanket.

• Hockey:

With a clash of enthusiastic action the hockey tournament was played off on high. Fighting valiantly to the end, the seniors gave way only to the juniors, whose victory means retaining their championship for another year. Here's to a senior victory next year!

• Soccer:

A beastly day! Muddy fields and the first flurries of snow made the stage and trappings for this jolly game of soccer. Again the juniors scored highest. That leaves the juniors tops, with the seniors still second.

Camp:

Camp Wathana proved to be an ideal setting for this year's early November activities. How one week-end could be so crammed full of hiking, canoeing, and fireplace programs remains a mystery to be solved only by other W. A. A. fall campers.

• Volleyball:

Sororities donned shirts and shorts and came out to show each other how to play volleyball. Sigma Nu Phi retained their top rating, with Theta Lambda Sigma next. Then the greedy, victorious juniors in another stiff interclass battle won their third first honor. This victory gives the juniors a monopoly on the honors for fall sports.

• Figure Swimming:

Slow measured strokes, hopes, perfect coordination, and a figure emerging that would be a credit to any acquatic ballet. But the fun and grace of figure swimming are not the only rewards for the members of the newly organized swimming club. There is opportunity to practice for the swimming meet. Evidently the practice was well taken, for the seniors and sophomores tied for first place. Theta Sigma Upsilon led in the intersorority meet, Delta Sigma Epsilon coming in second.

• Badminton:

Shuttlecocks, expertly aimed, sailed over the badminton courts in the interclass tournament games. The juniors, represented by Leone Cartwright and Lillian Galbraith, succeeded in defeating the seniors' representatives, Olga Madar and Margaret Stevens, in the final game. In the intersorority tournament Delta Sigma Epsilon and Sigma Nu Phi placed first and second respectively.

• Basketball:

Again basketball hit a new high in arousing keen competition and much attention, with nine independent teams spiritedly clashing for honors. The "L. B. I." team was favored to retain the championship won last year, but the "Mummers" defeated them, losing no games during the tourneys. Sororities displayed no less agility in their tournament, with Delta Sigma Epsilon, Kappa Gamma Phi, Kappa Mu Delta, Sigma Nu Phi, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Theta Lambda Sigma, and Theta Sigma Upsilon taking part.

• Other Activities:

And they fenced, bowled, and swung pingpong paddles with equal ease and enthusiasm during the term; they wound up the term with skating, skiing, tobogganing, and defrosting toes and noses in front of the fireplace at winter camp.

SPRING

• Baseball:

Spring is here! There's no doubt about it now, for baseball has begun. Sorority and independent teams organize for the annual exciting tournaments.

• Spring Camp:

Crowds of students, faculty and alumni went to spring camp for canoeing, swimming, archery, and baseball. Following camp the annual formal banquet was held at Charles McKenny Hall. The sorority banner and class plaque were presented and the individual awards were given.

Archery:

Shades of Sherwood.Forest! Michigan State Normal College displaying feminine archers posing with taut bows and slender arrows pointed toward colorful targets. And an allcollege tourney in which to show their prowess!

Tennis:

"Service!" Dull-tan clay courts, dark glasses, colorful kerchief-covered heads, sun-browned backs and legs and arms, noses violently pink . . . perhaps . . . but also muscle-control to be proud of and the fun and excitement of playing in the interclass, intersorority, and all-college tournaments. • Other Activities:

"Get your clubs; we're going out for a round of golf." "Let's put on shorts and gc bicycling." "How about going horseback riding around the river road this afternoon?" Oft-repeated remarks heard uround the campus this time of year.

• Life Saving:

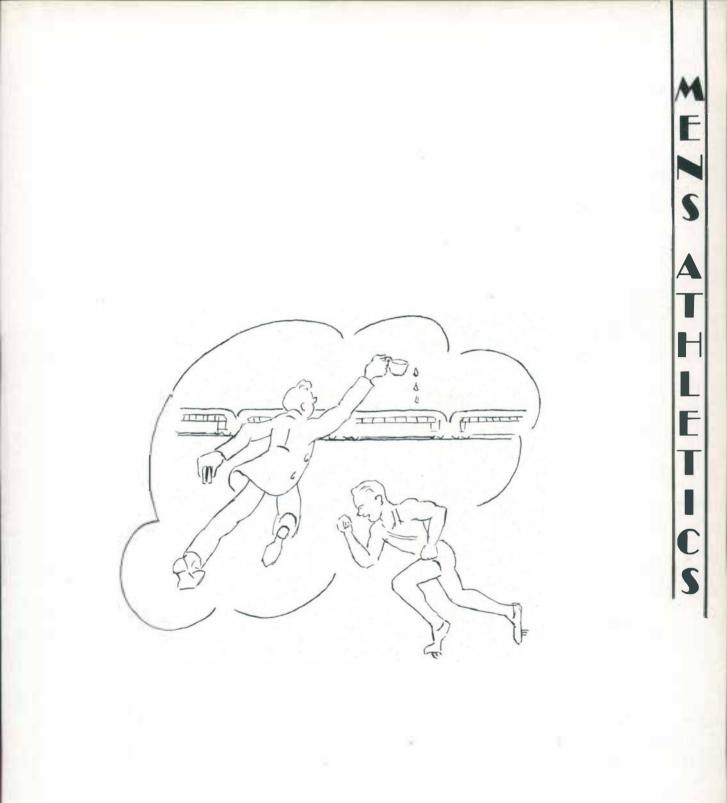

The life saving course offered by the National Red Cross life saving division was welcomed by many of our up-and-coming coeds. Officially capable of life guard duty, many of them found positions in summer camps.

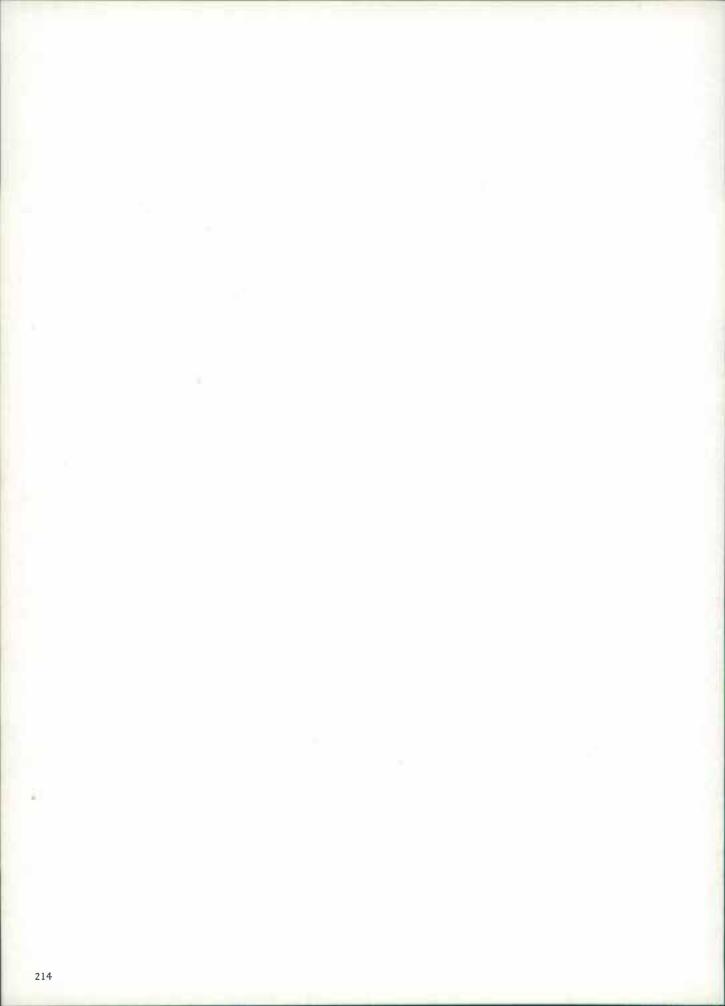

• Modern Dance:

Dressed in severe black jersey suits, swaying, leaping, bending with movements regulated to the beating of the tom-toms or the rhythm of the piano, the modern dance class effectively presented original compositions at term-end programs and in the spring festival.

 Second Row: Coach Rynearson, Goetz, Sherman, Lane, Ross, Balten, Miller, Lyons, Gruber, Kurz, Stewart, Coach Stites.
 Third Row: Hyne, Torrey, Jaffe, DeWard, Mayfield, Engle, Squires, Pokrywka, Lecznar, Everett, Lutkas.

The Huron gridiron warriors kept intact "Rynie's" record of never having a Huron team defeated more than two times a season when the eleven won five games, tied one, and dropped only two.

Turning on an early season power, they came through with a one-touchdown margin against Ball State team. In the following two games, the grid team romped through Northern State and Bowling Green, exhibiting power which predicted an outstanding season. Having been scored on but once in the first three games, the Huron team met Alma favored to win easily, but the Scots upset the dope and held the Ypsi team to a twelve to twelve deadlock. Meeting Central State in the Homecoming contest, the Hurons dropped their first game to the powerful Bearcat eleven after holding the lead up to the final period. Reviving their early spirit and power, they downed Hope by a nineteen to nothing score. Having pointed all season to the big game of the year at Wayne, the gridders turned in one of their finest games but came out on the small end of a seven to nothing score. With five men playing their last game of the year, the squad rang down the curtain on the 1937 grid season by crushing the Indiana State team thirty-three to seven.

In spite of the untimely injury to George Everett, star back, in the Northern State game, and the injuries to Captain De Froscia and Tex Walker, the team played hard, scrappy football. Filling in where Everett left off, diminutive Jimmy Walsh provided the sparkle for the squad and led them to another successful season. George Miller and Fred Gruber, co-captains elect, showed the ability that makes prospects for next year's team look good.

Captain Augie DeFroscia, Ken Lane, George Russell, Jim Ross, and Bill Lyons, stalwarts of the Huron team for the past three years, will be missing. Though their absence will leave notable gaps in the lineup, others on the squad showed signs of development which make Coach Rynearson look forward to the 1938 season with optimism.

CROSS COUNTRY

With four letter-winners missing, the cross country team upset the pre-season dope by completing a season with no defeats in their dual meets. Building the team around Captain Wyble, Carl Drajila, Bill Mackin, and Harold Vartanian, Coach Lloyd Olds guided the squad to another very successful season.

Opening against the Bowling Green harriers, the Hurons took the first five places with Drajila, Mackin, Wyble, Hughes, and Cummings scoring a 45 to 15 point victory. Sweeping the first four places, the team went on to defeat Ball State 44 to 16, with Wyble and Drajila crossing the finish line together, and Mackin and Osborne close behind.

Wyble broke the course record when he lead his team-mates to a 25 to 30 victory over the Wisconsin State Teachers College team at Milwaukee. Wayne University was the next victim in the Huron march to a perfect score.

The University of Western Ontario team was defeated 21 to 34 in the final meet of the season. In the State Intercollegiate meet the team, weakened by the absence of Bill Mackin and Leroy Grindle, finished third behind Michigan State College and Western State Teachers College. In the A. A. U. meet at Kalamazoo the team dropped to a fifth place.

The promising ability of the freshman squad makes Coach Olds look forward to a still better season next year.

With a record of eight victories and six defeats the Huron cagers chalked up one of the most successful seasons a Normal basketball team has ever had. Led by the allaround play of Jimmy Walsh, high scorer for the season, the quintet defeated Hope, St. Mary's, Armour, and Central State twice, while bowing in both games to Wayne and the University of Detroit, and once each to Bowling Green and Northern State. Two of their defeats came by the close margin of two points, while two others were lost by but three points.

Walsh, captain-elect, not only led his teammates in scoring, but was outstanding in his passing, defensive work, and team play while providing the spark-plug needed in the tight pinches. We can not forget the smooth, steady play of Captain Lou Wenger, whose long shots from back court pulled several games out of the fire. Working along with the speedy Walsh, Catalso Casucci, scrappy and aggressive, provided the other half of the clever, fast, and smooth-working combination at the forward posts. Supplying the necessary height, Jim Ross and Ed Engle worked around the pivot positions and under the basket to complete the Huron five.

BASKETBALL (Continued)

Credit must also be given to Jess Davis, El Anderson, Tex Walker, Zeke Zachar, who alternated with regulars to make up another smooth outfit. Danny Casella, Harry Garian, Johnny Squires, and Dick Yeager, who completed the squad, also turned in good performances as varsity substitutes. The final game of the season saw the completion of the collegiate basketball career for four veterans: Wenger, Ross, Zachar, and Garian. Though only the first two are regulars, the outlook for next year's team is again very good, with "Rynie" having plenty of good material.

BASEBALL

Handicapped by ineligibilities, Coach Ray Stites faced the difficult task of building a nine for the opening game with the University of Wisconsin team on the new Walter O. Briggs field this spring. This year's Huron diamond team was the first to play in the new stadium, holding the dedication ceremonies on May sixth, with the University of Michigan team as the opposition.

In the opener with the Badger nine, veteran "Zeke" Zachar turned in one of the finest exhibitions of hurling that has been seen on a Michigan Normal nine in years. Holding the Wisconsin team hitless until the eighth inning, during which, with two men out, a scratch hit enabled them to earn their safe hit as well as to knock the first ball out of the infield, Zachar finished the twelve innings with shutout ball. By mutual agreement of the coachs, the game was then called, with a score of 0 to 0, because of the difficulty of seeing the pitched ball. Working along with the "Zeke," George Everett helped take over the pitching duties for the squad. Behind the plate, El Anderson donned the catcher's garb to do the receiving. Harry Garian drew the first call at first base. Augie DeFroscia, Jimmy Walsh, and Don Todt took over the duties of the other infield spots.

In the outer-gardens, Fran Scripter was the only returning regular to assure himself of a job. However, Captain Dave Russell was converted from the infield to add experience to the fly-chasing trio. In the third spot, sophomore Joe Pokrywka, was awarded the starting position.

Besides the Wisconsin opener and the two Michigan games, encounters were held with Hillsdale, Armour Tech, Toledo University, and Michigan State in home-and-home series.

The varsity squad survived the indoor season with fair success after opening with a small, inexperienced squad. Only thirteen letter men were available for Coach George Marshall, who piloted the squad during Coach L. W. Olds' absence during the winter term, and but a few numeral winners graduated to the varsity squad. Besides these discouraging factors the Huron thinclads faced a tough schedule.

Opening the season in very impressive style, the tracksters took every first place, slamming six events, while trouncing Bowling Green 91 to 4. John Anderson was the individual star, capturing three firsts in the two hurdle races and the dash event. Meeting Michigan State the following week, the Normal team was soundly defeated 73 to 22. Chuck Drewyour, high jumper, won the only first place for the Hurons.

Butler University chalked up the second defeat of the season against the squad by capturing the final event, the relay, by but a foot, to win 48 to 47. Anderson again took three firsts, while Drewyour won his event.

Ohio Wesleyan were the next opponents to fall before the Hurons by a score of 85 to 19. Taking nine firsts, three being slams, they evened their score for the season. For the third time Anderson broke the tape in three races, and took a third in the 220 dash. Carl Drajila won two firsts and Neil Hathaway broke the Ohio field house record in the shot put.

HUGHES, HERMAN, WYBLE

CAPTAIN MEAD

In the last dual meet of the season, they snapped the Wayne University winning streak 58 to 46, as Carl Drajila captured two firsts. Competing in the state relays, John Anderson won a first, second, and a third. The relay teams ran good races showing improved form. Coach Marshall sent several men to the Central Intercollegiates at South Bend and to Armour Tech Relays. Though failing to bring home any first place medals, they gave good performances.

When outdoor season started, the team was bolstered by the return of five letter men, and another very successful season under the returning Coach Olds was expected. Completing their careers as Michigan Normal track men were Captain Bill Mead, Francis Exworthy, John Anderson, Carl Drajila, D. O. Wyble, Charles Drewyour, and Milt Hause.

GRINDLE, HIGH, VALLEAU

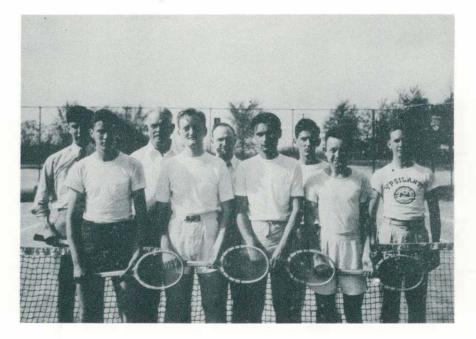

ANDERSON, SIMPSON COOPERMAN

With three letter-winners returning, the Huron golfers began their daily jaunts over the hills of the Washtenaw Country Club with the first signs of spring. George Russell, Lou Wenger, and Bob Champe provided the experience for the foursome, while sophomore Fred Kurz proved a welcome addition in rounding out the team. Two other second-year men, Dick Yeager and Myron Sarnes, served as replacements for the varsity team.

Twelve matches were scheduled, with Kalamazoo College furnishing the first opposition. Besides the Kalamazoo team, two matches were played with Toledo University, Grand Rapids Junior College, Wayne University, and DeSales College. Other teams to meet the Huron golfers were from Hillsdale, Findlay College, and the University of Detroit.

Better balance among the four players afforded the team opportunity to have one of the most successful seasons ever had by a Michigan Normal golf team. Competing for their third and last year on the squad were Lou Wenger and George Russell.

Coach "Pop" Samson was greeted by the return of only two letter-winners, co-captains Ed Howard and "Red" Goodsman, for the Michigan Normal tennis team this spring. Both Howard and Goodsman were juniors having but one year of varsity competition behind them, but Coach Samson, working with two as the backbone of the team, soon built a strong, consistent court squad.

With Howard winning the post as number one man and Goodsman assured of the second position on the team, sophomores Seymour Gordon and Max Weinlander, and senior George Spear received the call to fill out the team. Teaming Howard with Gordon and Goodsman with Spear, the netters turned up two good doubles combinations.

Opening the season against Lawrence Tech, the netters opposed the court teams from Kalamazoo College, Michigan State, University of Michigan, Wayne University, University of Detroit, and Toledo University.

FRESHMAN EVENTS

First Row: Greenwood, Parker, Mc-Clelland, Quinn, Lindner, Lee, Schaeffer,

Cross Country

Led by Tommy Quinn, the Huron harriers demonstrated prospects for a good varsity team for the 1938 season. Though engaging in but a few meets, the yearlings seemed well fortified in material for the over-field running. Eight numerals were awarded by Coach George Marshall. Men receiving them were Tom Quinn, Bill Parker, Al McClelland, Walt Willis, Bob Klein, Dan Burton, Bill Tait, and Robert Lee.

• Football

The freshman gridders, guided this year by Coach Henry Jensen, had a rather poor season, as actual totals show. Losing to the Michigan State Frosh, the University of Detroit yearlings, and the River Rouge high school teams, they made anything but an impressive record, yet the chief difficulty was ineligibilities, which Coach Rynearson wishes to remove by the time for the varsity to begin practice in the fall. However, there were several on the first-year squad that will undoubtedly aid the varsity next year. Outstanding on the squad were the Newland brothers, Dick Jennings, Mandy Silverstein, Lynn Holly, Walt Turton, and several others among the twenty-two who were awarded numerals.

Second Row: Manager Cowan, Willis, Burton, Alvarez, Knickerbocker, Tait. Klein, Reber.

FRESHMAN EVENTS

First Row: Antonofsky, Kivo, Leide, Cook, Garian, Conolly.

Second Row: Coach Stites, Kaminskis. Egorenko, Getz, Grant, Newlands, Lemon.

Basketball

The yearling hoopsters broke even this year in eight contests. Winning twice from Cleary College, once from the Albion frosh, and once from Highland Park Junior College, they dropped two games from the U. of D. first-year men, one from Wayne frosh, and one from the Highland Park J. C. quintet. Provided with one of the best arrays of material he has had in several years, Coach Ray Stites began the season with Captain Cook, Carl Alfsen, Bob Conolly, George Newlands, and Vitold Kaminskis in the starting posts; during the latter part of the season, Art Getz and Vic Leide broke into the line-up regularly. Alfsen led the frosh in the scoring for the season.

• Track:

A large, talented group donned the freshman track suits to begin the molding of future varsity teams for Coaches Lloyd Olds and George Marshall. By stealing most of the honors at the all-college track meets, Huron yearling tracksters appeared to have a great abundance of fine material. The distance events were particularly covered by Tommy Quinn, Paul Herman, Duane Zempfer, Herman Goffberg, Ken Lindner and Byron Greenwood. Running the dashes for the frosh were Bill Rozanowski, Ronald Clark, and Ira Packer. In the middle distance events were George Young, Ray Schaeffer, and Bob Kilchenman. Other men showing very promising talent among the yearlings were Ted Breitag, broad jumper, and Henry Grafton and Stuart Frid, pole vaulters.

INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

Manager John Burg,

Manager John Burg, assisted by Dick Pearson and guided by Mr. Lloyd Olds, presented a very interesting and extensive group of intramural sports to the students of Michigan State Normal College. The three major events of the year's program were the wrestling tournament, the boxing tournament, and the intramural Open House. Each event drew a large audience and proved to be among the list of most popular occasions of the campus year.

Outstanding results of the crowded calendar were the Phi Delt's fourth win of the interfraternity swimming meet as well as their basketball championship; Kappa Phi's continued domination in fraternity athletics; Lou Wenger's fourth consecutive year as table tennis champion, as well as runnerup in the badminton tourney to Ray Wieczynski and co-champion with Esther Lapointe in the mixed doubles table tennis competition; Bill Cowan's winning the basketball shooting tournament as well as the leading score in the fraternity league; Sy Rothman's capturing the handball championship; the Zepher's third year as independent basketball champions; Sigma Mu's victory in interfraternity table tennis; Warren Hersh's upset of Paul Hoopfer; the Freshmen's domination of all intramural track events; and Preston Townsend's winning his fifth and sixth trophies in the wrestling and boxing tourneys. The many innovations in the intramural program have added color and interest to this department.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

Judging from the emptiness of the library and the crowdedness of the gym, it appeared that this year's boxing and wrestling tournaments attracted practically the entire school population. From all corners and confines of the campus they came to raise the rafters with their cheers and jeers for the hard-working gladiators of fisticuffs and grunts and groans.

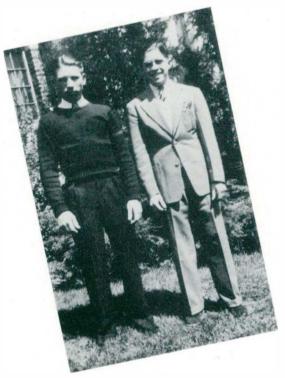

"Geev it to him, Willie!" seemed to be the theme of this annual December fray. It is generally agreed that announcer John De-Palma suffered the most punishment of the entire tournament.

Top: Reber, 126; Rozanowski, 145. Center: Rickard, 155; Russell, 175. Bottom: Walker, 175; Gavnier, 135. Young, heavy. Kobilanski, 145.

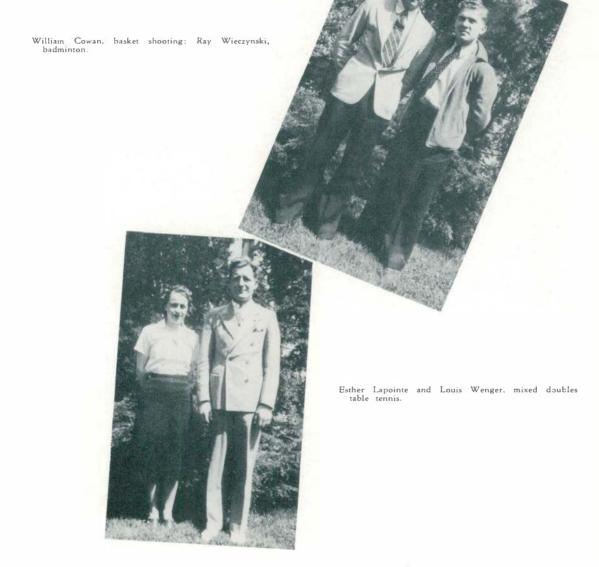

INTRAMURAL

This year Open House occurred during the winter term. A capacity crowd turned out to watch the play-off of the finalists in the term's intramural tournaments. The championship battle between the interfraternity victors, the Phi Delta Pi quintet, and the independent league winners, the Zephers, was an added drawing card.

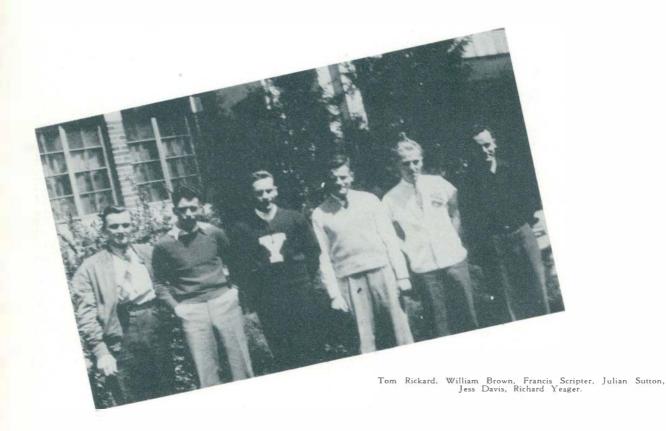

Al Hutchins, golf; Sye Rothman, handball.

CHAMPIONS

INTERFRATERNITY MANAGERS

In addition to the many individual tournaments offered during the year, the fraternity schedule proved one of the most interesting ever held. For the first time in many years competition has grown intense and every fraternity has shared in the championships. Kappa Phi Alpha, however, still holds a slight edge over the other brotherhoods. Closely pressing the Kappa Phis were the Arm of Honor athletes and the Phi Delts.
