Ambition

In the hushed stillness, ere the sun had made
Its way into the royal purple sky
And chased the silver maiden from her throne;
Before the velvet cloak of night had flown
To its retreat, I watched the clouds float by
Like little tinsel soldiers on parade.

And as I marked them in their hurried flight
Across the azure dome, I saw there-in
The passing of the years—like fleeting arrows
Reaching the mark before the straining bows
Are loosed. For, hardly does a year begin
Before it ends, the new year come to sight.

Then mother nature's reaching, unseen hand
Turned out the twinkling candles, one by one;
Only a silver lamp hung in the sky
To shed its light upon the earth. While high
In her majestic realm a lighted sun
Began its climb above the dew-stained land.

And in the sun poised on the brink of day,
I saw ambition. There, in that spark of light,
All dreams that I have ever hoped to see
Come true, were in that torch ahead of me.
With hope, I beheld the passing of the night,
And watched the sun prepare to light my way.

ELEANOR MESTON

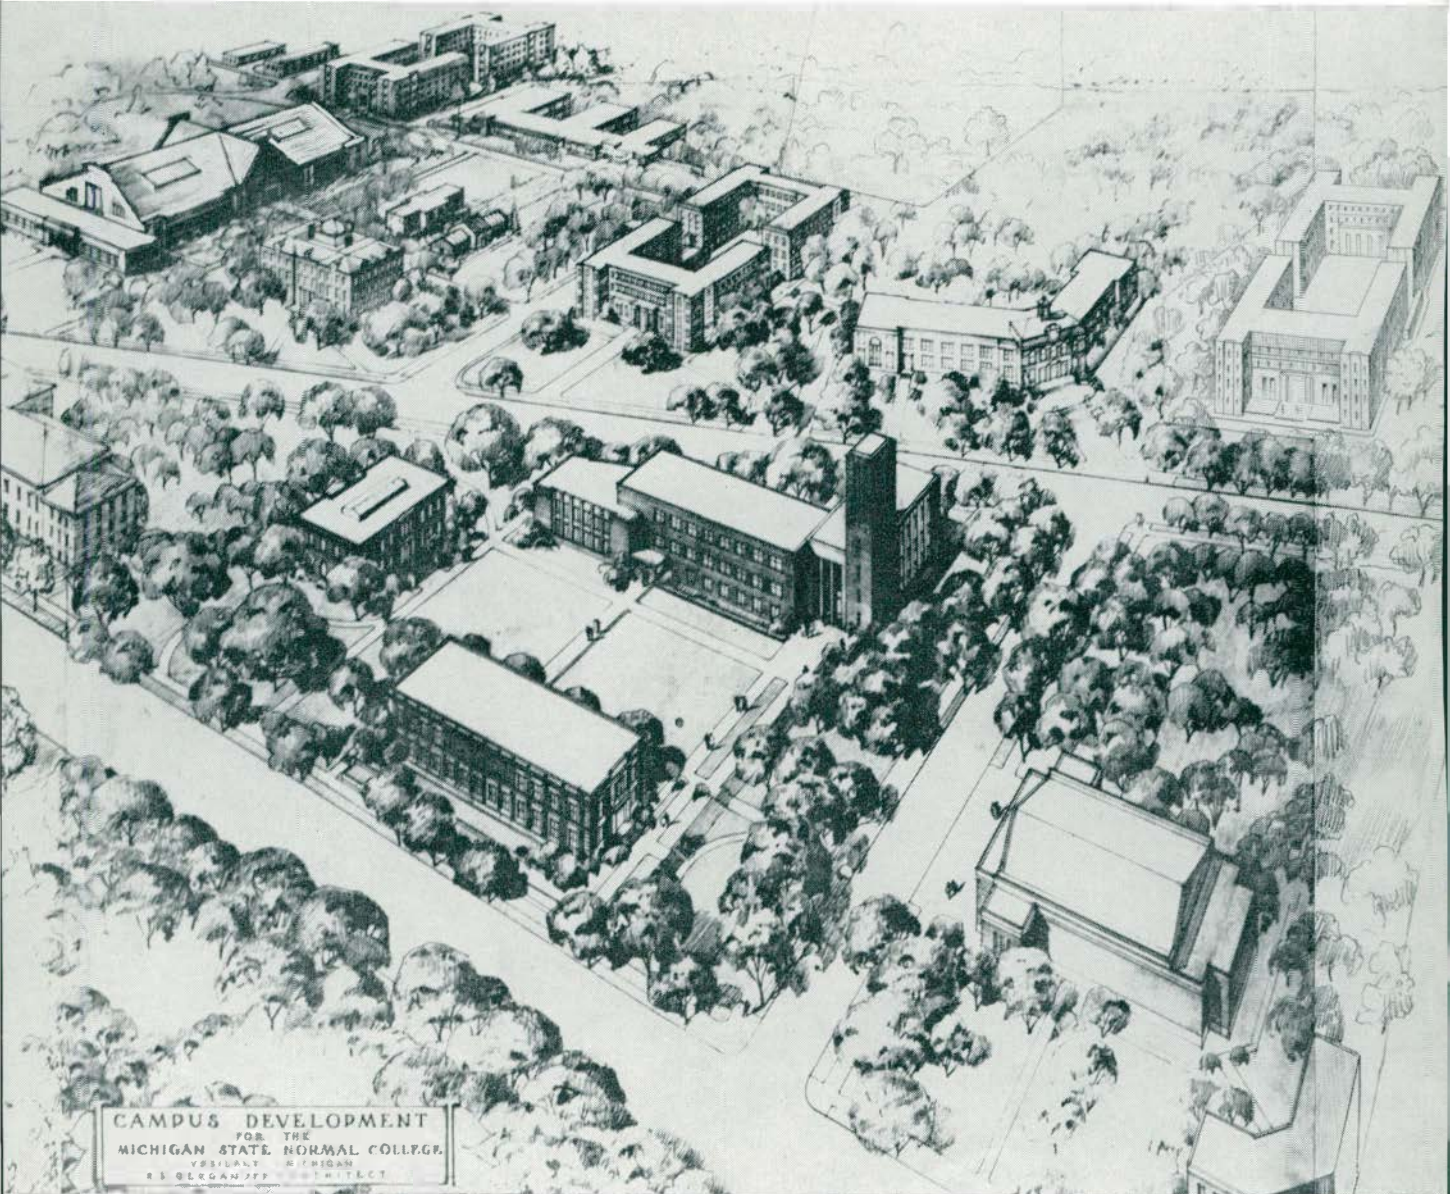

Dedication

There be few whose names evoke at once love, admiration, and respect. Eleanor Meston, a classroom teacher, is one so signally distinguished. The first grade boys and girls say, "Miss Meston's wonderful". A little older grown, they add, "She's swell. She's sympathetic. She's understanding." Colleagues nod approvingly and interject, "She's a real person. She has imagination and intelligence and integrity. She has rare charm and sound judgment".

Generations of Michigan State Normal College students have known all this and more of Miss Meston. She has been to them a source of inspiration, a font of homely wisdom, a pediment of courage. She has exemplified in her gracious, purposive living Cicero's simple truth: "He who shows way to another is as one who has lighted another's lamp from his own; it none the less gives light to himself when it burns for others".

And so the 1946 AURORA is humbly dedicated to Miss Eleanor Meston. "By her good deeds ye shall know her".

PRESIDENT JOHN M. MUNSON

John M. Munson, president of our college, has met the dawn of a new era with a full building program. His plans for the M. S. N. C. campus of the future include three new dormitories, two for women residents and one for men residents; a new building to replace Pierce Hall; a new gymnasium; and several other remodeling plans. The finances already having been secured, the only thing which is hindering the progress of this construction plan is the lack of necessary labor, together with the matter of priorities. President Munson hopes to have this blueprint of the future well under way by spring 1946.

Administrative Officers

The Administrative officers of M. S. N. C. are highly efficient in directing the impercipient minds of the students into the proper channels of classification, social activity, and placement.

Egbert R. Isbell, Dean of Administration, is the industrious man whose office is thronged with bewildered students every semester during and after registration. The confusion of class programs is capably straightened out by him in a miraculous fashion.

Mr. C. P. Steimle, Registrar, busies himself with the personal and scholastic records of every student on the campus. It is to him that prospective students apply for entrance into our college.

"Men of Michigan State Normal College" are the words which best characterize Dean James M. Brown. To Bingo, Dean of Men, and Susan B. Hill, Dean of Women, are given the tasks of arranging campus social functions and looking after the individual class and personal adjustments of the students.

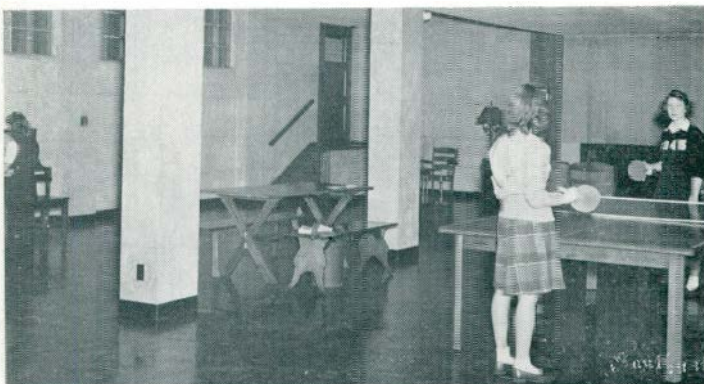

Leslie A. Butler is the person who places the graduating students in positions which they will find suitable to their tastes and capabilities.

"They serve in silence", is truly the motto of the Administrative officers.

CARSON, BALTZER
GOODISON LOUNGE

KING RECREATION ROOM
MORTON, CARR

King--Goodison

"Quiet hours ! ! " exclaims the girl in the corner room and silence once again prevails — but only for a moment. Muffled giggles and conversation are the background for serious studying and discussions of the world situation. Two, four, or six heads are better than one (so they think) as they gather in the kitchenette to discuss their notes, take in a few more vitamins, but most of all, to relate the fun they had at one of the dorm gatherings. Another reprimand from the corner room and the guilty ones scamper to their rooms and put the lights out. In a few minutes all look the picture of innocence.

This atmosphere of a happy and well-regulated home is due to the excellent supervision of head residents, Miss Carson of Goodison Hall, and Miss Morton of King Hall, who are ably assisted by Mrs. Baltzer, Mrs. Carr, and the house councils.

Our lives in the dorm will certainly be the source of many of our happiest college memories.

Munson Hall

Munson Hall serves as a modern, comfortable home for college men. Here, under the expert and efficient guidance of head residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Gildenstein, the men are given over to self-government and the routine runs very smoothly.

The men have a dormitory council to assist in the planning of social activities and other pertinent matters at the dorm. The men, in their fourth year of leadership under Mr. Gildenstein, are completely at home when they first enter the dormitory. Checker contests, ping-pong games, movies, splash parties, and numerous other events help to enrich life in the building.

The dorm, the most modern in this section of our country, with a grill room, recreation room, four floors now almost filled to capacity, has been in the past, and still is, a center for alumni and former students returning home from the war.

This comfortable, pleasant, and well-managed campus home helps the men to become more proud of their Alma Mater.

Health Residence

Located in the southeastern corner of the campus is that building known to all as the Health Residence. Every year Dr. Snow and her staff strive to keep the students in the prime physical condition so necessary to successful college work. The yearly physical examination, the nose spray, and throat swabbing for those inevitable colds, and the light treatments for aching muscles are familiar examples of the many services provided.

BEERBOWER, SNOW, BOWEN

McKenny Hall

The center of all social activities is the college union, Charles McKenny Hall. This union, in which students and alumni have an equal investment, fosters a spirit of true fellowship. College mixer, dinners, formal dances, forensic activities, informal and formal chats are held in the beautiful rooms of McKenny Hall.

Miss Frances Farnham, former Associate Dean of Women, assisted by Miss Myra Gratton, former instructor at the Conservatory, is expertly managing the Union.

GRATTON, FARNHAM

Dormitory Manager

The task of supplying balanced, appetizing meals is a great one. Food shortages due to the war have made it particularly difficult for Mrs. Elliot, who in the capacity of dormitory Director, also acts as Dietician. With skillful management she has done a commendable job in serving nutritious, appealing meals. Under her supervision the Residence Halls always give the appearance of well-kept, cheerful homes.

Retiring

In June Dr. Theodore Lindquist will retire from his position as Head of the Department of Mathematics of Michigan State Normal College. Students and faculty who have been associated with Dr. Lindquist during his twenty-three years of service on our campus have found in him not only an inspiring teacher, but also a staunch friend and wise counsellor. Many students recall with gratitude the kindly interest and generous advice with which Dr. Lindquist guided them during their undergraduate days and in later life.

Dr. Lindquist's contributions to education are numerous. They include textbooks, many magazine articles pertaining to teaching, and service in national organizations. However, his greatest achievement is to be found in the excellent records which have been maintained by the students who have gone out from his classroom into graduate work, into teaching, and into other professional activities.

His colleagues and students are glad to have this opportunity to express their appreciation of Dr. Lindquist for his loyal and generous service as a friend and teacher.

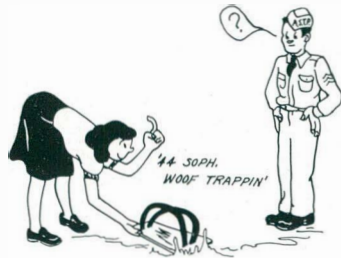

Classes

S E N I O R S

The Class of June, 1946, started off with a bang when they first set foot on campus in September, 1942. Although upperclassmen termed us "green", it wasn't long before we showed them we were a class with pep and get-up-and-go. Even though the Sophomores were the victors in the class games during homecoming, we'll never forget the way our boys got in there and showed them that we love competition. June Kellner and Chuck Hollosy were selected as leaders. Things went smoothly for the rest of the year and that spring most of the fellows left to join Uncle Sam's forces.

Sadly lacking in masculinity, we carried on our Sophomore year led by Mary Ann Melick as president; Jo Pajas, vice president, who soon left for the service; Ceil Valley, treasurer; and Ralph Kwiatkowski, secretary. We weren't able to hold class games or the Soph Swirl but you can bet that we were on our way to the top.

'45 JUNIOR
WEARY WAR YEAR

The main event of our Junior year was the J-Hop. Co-chairmen, Jean Pringnitz, and Nancy Lewark, saw to it that we produced one of the best yet. Elected to the presidency that year was Jean Pringnitz. Jean Cameron, vice president; Jean Willis (now Mrs. Richard Ross), secretary; and Ernestine Wilson (now Mrs. Harold Schaefer), treasurer, were the others chosen.

Finally, we moved into our final and most important year. We were pleased to find many veterans among our ranks and elected one of them, Ed Gilday, to lead us. Jack Simonds was vice president; Betty Flynn, secretary; and Ralph Kwitkowski, treasurer. With them, Jerre Halladay, Pat Siddall, Bill Hanford, and Jean Pringnitz formed the executive committee. Betty Quinn took over the leadership of the Christmas Sing and made it a huge success.

We didn't neglect our academic activities and scattered out among the training schools to try our hand at the teaching profession.

The Senior Class Day, Senior Women's Breakfast, and the Lantern Walk were among our last activities together as the Class of '46. The Senior Dance really wound things up right and it came time to say goodbye to M. S. N. C. after four never-to-be-forgotten years.

JUNIORS

Back from a happy and carefree summer, we got off on the right foot by electing Eugene Lucarelli to take over the trials and tribulations of class president, Richard Gabriel to pinch-hit for him, Wilma Schweinfurth to keep the records, and Leonard Logan to keep an eye on the finances.

We lost no time in planning what was referred to by M. S. N. C. "guys and gals" as "one of the best J-Hops ever". Under the able direction of Eugene Lucarelli and Irene Ringel and their committees, the first post-war J-Hop soon evolved in the setting of a stylish night club aptly named "Club '47". Bill Layton's orchestra, an all-time favorite of college students, gave out with the latest in dancing pleasure. The evening was high-lighted by a revival of an old J-Hop tradition—the Grand March. Pictures were taken of each couple, and personalized match folders served as favors. The soft glow of candlelight lent that added touch to refreshment time at the "Club '47". And so March 1, 1946, will remain as the most perfect evening ever experienced by hundreds of Normalites.

We climaxed the year with a rousing class picnic, looking back on a successful year, and looking forward to the time when we would at last be Seniors.

SOPHOMORES

The fall semester of 1945 found most of the freshmen of the previous year back on campus as full-fledged upperclassmen. Sophomores! No more green pots for the fellows and ten o'clock permission for the girls; dates until ten on week nights!

At the first sophomore class meeting, the class officers were elected for the 1945-1946 year: president, Oldrich Bitnar (Hiya, Oattie); vice-president, Pat Sparrow; reader of the minutes, James Black; treasurer, Hank Gillam (nice job if you can get it!). Arrangements were also made for a class picnic. On October 25, all the sophomores went out to Dr. and Mrs. Fagerstrom's, the class advisors, for a grand picnic—hot dogs, cider, coffee, and doughnuts — yum! Everyone sat around the dying fire singing songs after which Dr. Fagerstrom gave a recitation that sent all present into stitches of laughter. They all agreed that it was lots of fun.

Last year was a rough year for the girls in this class. No men, few college parties. But this year there were real men and an honest-to-goodness football team. Also, there was the Yule-Log Drag, given by the Men's Union December 1, which was a new experience to the sophomores since this particular dance had been absent from the campus for several years. To top everything, the Kresge Dance returned — every Wednesday night, and only a dime. What a change from last year!

"Ypsi" campus again bloomed out in green, a color, incidentally, which is the favorite freshman color used by lording upperclassmen.

"Frost pot" greeted the freshmen fellows everywhere they went, and if they weren't sporting one of those required green caps, a swing session loomed up before them. The girls had to wear green ribbons, which blended beautifully with a blue suit.

Campus sisters aided us with our many problems. We probably wore them out with all our questions. They took us to the many parties and to teas which were held in our honor; they helped us over our first period of adjustment.

It wasn't long before we caught on to the routine of "Meet you in the Drug for a coke" or "Let's go to the Union and dance". This lasted for a couple of weeks; then we had to really settle down to classes and dreaded assignments.

Soon we began hearing rumors about "Homecoming" which seemed to be taking the spot light in conversations. That week-end we stood aside to watch the older students greet "alums" with bear-hugs while others drifted off to explore old haunts. The whole student body was at the football game to help cheer the team on to victory.

In November, Dr. Glasgow, our class advisor, appointed Don Horner and "Gerrie" Moffett as class leaders. They both did their work efficiently, and when the second semester rolled around, "Gerrie" was soon elected president. To assist her, Jean Gerstner was elected vice president; Shirly Beckman, secretary; and Elinor Stevens, treasurer. These officers helped to make the class of '50 one of the best.

Women's League

From the time a timid freshman enters college until she leaves as a self-assured graduate, every girl on the campus is a member of the Women's League. This organization is the college women's governing body, which solves in an efficient fashion the problems of the women on the campus. Organization and cooperation are the keywords to the success of this group.

Along with the dawn of a new era came many innovations to Normal's campus; these presented problems. The Women's League aided in making this leap from wartime to peacetime college life a successful one.

Mary Ann Melick, as president, directed efficiently the affairs of the League. Vice-president Helen Rahm served as chairman of the advisory board. Jean Willis Ross assumed the duties of secretary, and Jean Cameron was custodian of the treasury.

Trembling and ill at ease, a group of girls stood outside the chambers of the Advisory Board. One by one they entered. Beyond these doors, the girls who had failed to conform to college rules were met by a group of women students whose sole duty was to pass judgment.

These girls soon realized that there was no basis for their fear. They were allowed to state their cases and to leave immediately. After the board discussed the situation, it decided upon the action it would take.

Elected, in the Women's League Election this year to serve on the Advisory Board were Virginia McLean, Helen Niparko, Margery Jacka, Eunice Ford, Cynthia Everett, Barbara Rogers, Mary Stumpmier, Mary Dillon, and Helen Rahm, vice president of the League, who presided as chairman of this democratic board.

The spirit of a new era was exhibited this year in the Women's League Executive Board, the representative and governing body of campus women.

In addition to regular duties, the board instigated many changes in the traditions of campus women. One of these was the reorganization of the cultural club, which now makes available to campus girls, books and tickets for concerts and plays. Another change was the compilation of a more complete freshmen handbook.

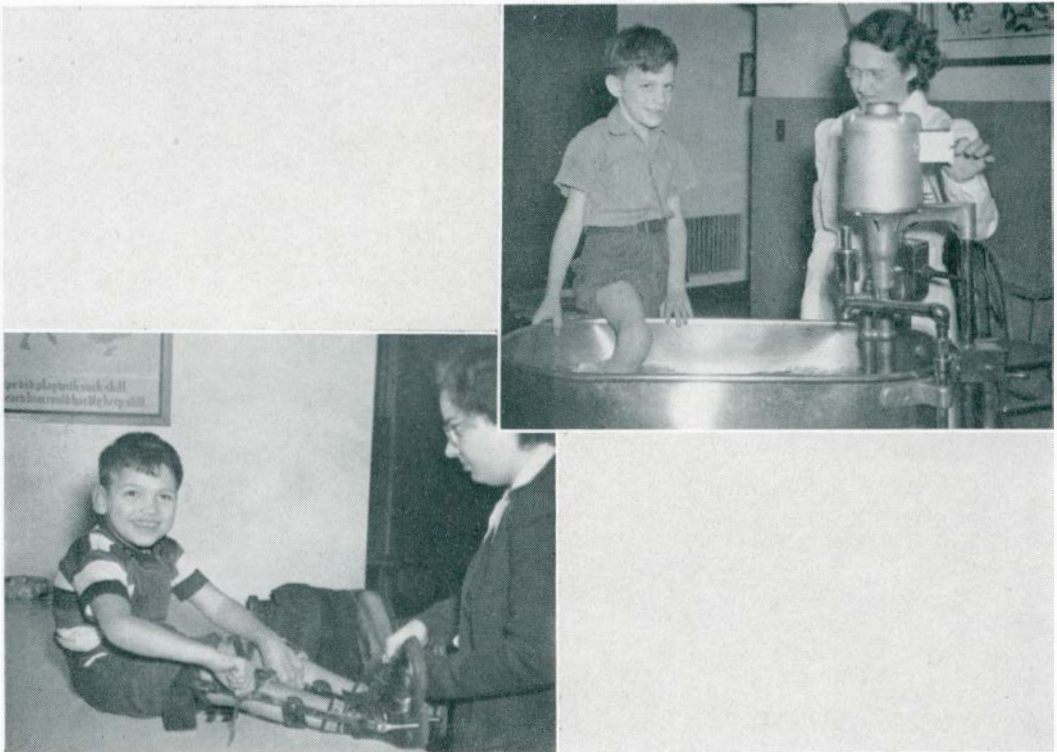

A new tradition was born when a board started action which finally gave to the women on campus the right to smoke in Charles McKenny Hall. A committee also composed of several Board members was formed to re-value all campus rules for women and to make the necessary worthwhile changes.

Women's League Service Club

Filled to capacity, the Red Cross station wagon left King Hall to deposit volunteer service club workers at various recreation centers in Ypsilanti. Here these women spent many hours of constructive work in community activities. The services they rendered were diversified—some worked as group leaders in recreational activities, others spent tireless hours with pre-school children at Woodruff Nursery School, while still others found satisfaction in teaching Mexican laborers to speak English.

The Service Club, sponsored by the Women's League, was expertly directed by general chairman, Irene Saterstad, and her committee chairman: Laura Diebel, who was in charge of volunteer work at Woodruff Nursery School; Marise Tabor, Park Ridge Center; Jean Harmon, Gilbert House; Imelda Weir, Red Cross; Jean Cameron, Scouting; and Jane Neafie, Rackham School.

The women of the M. S. N. C., with traditional spirit, are entering into the dawn of a new era, with realization of the importance of community recreation centers in this postwar world.

Social Committee

Have you ever wondered as you whirled around at a Kresge dance or attended some campus party on a week-end, who planned these social events? The social committee, with Dean Hill as advisor, Mary Alice Liddicoatt as president, Blanche Paynter as secretary, Helen Rahm, Joan House, Henry Gillam, and Pat Peitz also as committeemen, have spent many busy hours thinking up novel ideas for the entertainment of the Student body.

The entertainment they had planned made its debut with the Homecoming Dance. Remember what a good time we had and how crowded the dance floor was with students and "alums"? What good times we had at the informal juke-box dances—especially the time they raffled off a Thanksgiving Dinner?

We all dropped our books for a few hours of relaxation at the Pre-Exam Jam. Rex Riley and his orchestra seemed expert in wiping those frowns of despair from the faces of anxious students.

Even the "carpet-baggers" looked a little wistful as we told them about all the fun that we had at the different week-end parties.

The Men's Union

Have you ever wondered what the Block "M" pins that the "frosh" men have been wearing stood for? These pins, presented for the first time since the outbreak of the war, indicate membership in the Men's Union, which was started October 6, 1914. Thus an organization was born that would stimulate loyalty, character, and scholarship, which in turn would help to carry on the college traditions.

Dean James M. Brown, "Bingo", is the advisor for the Men's Union and under his expert guidance Richard Ross served as president, assisted by James Walton as vice-president. Sanford Silsby was in charge of the minutes and announcements of meetings, but James McAllister took care of the financial affairs.

The Men's Union sponsored a gala Yule-Log Drag and the traditional Spring Breeze in high fashion. It also listed several assemblies for men students.

Union Executive Board

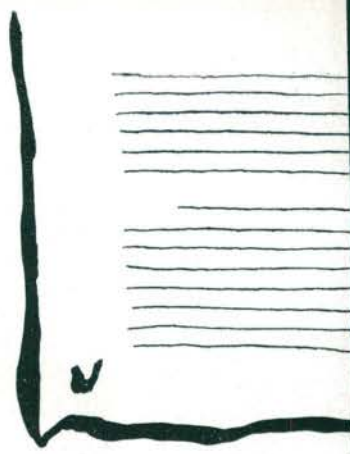

PRESIDENT:
RICHARD ROSS

The Executive Board is composed of President Richard Ross and his committee of representatives from each class. These representatives were chosen at the fall meeting of the Men's Union. Andrew Newlands and Edward Gilday were the senior representatives on the Board. The juniors were represented by Bernard Dyer and Charles Sampier; the sophomores by Bernard Conley and Oldrich Bitnar; and the freshmen by Baldwin Batalucco.

The Board assisted at the Annual Homecoming and sponsored the Christmas parties.

Dealing with freshmen forcefully, but not harshly, the Board enforced the college tradition of green pots. Because many a freshman was caught without his pot, he was reprimanded.

Stoics

Founded by Professor J. Stuart Lathers and a group of students, the Stoic Society has for thirty-seven years recognized high standards of scholarship and conduct among the sophomore students on the campus. The underlying purpose of this honorary society is to further an interest in scholastic excellence, not only in its members, but also in the student body at large.

Each year, members who are worthy receive scholarships from the funds of the organization. Mary Dillon, Carol House, Joyce McKeachie, and Virginia Betley received those awarded this year.

One of the honors to an upperclassman is election to membership in Kappa Delta Pi, second largest honorary society in the world. Members are chosen on the basis of initiative, scholarship, and leadership. For nearly twenty-five years, Pi Chapter has been active on the campus maintaining high educational ideals and fostering fellowship, scholarship, and achievement in educational work. Although each year new activities are initiated, the traditional meetings were also held this year: the mock interviews with school superintendents; the Honors Tea, the Christmas Party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Lindquist, and the Initiation Banquet with the Honorable Eugene B. Elliott as speaker.

Choir and Orchestra

The College Choir under the direction of Mr. Haydn Morgan presented a brilliant Christmas Concert on December 6 featuring Mr. Robert Luscombe, '23, baritone as soloist. The choir presented jointly with the College Symphony Orchestra the Annual Palm Sunday Concert on April 14; the Spring Concert on May 9 provided music during Commencement week.

The Orchestra under the direction of Mr. William Fitch had an extremely successful year. In addition to the above mentioned concerts with the choir, the orchestra presented a series of Sunday afternoon concerts.

From the membership of the choir, two vocal ensembles, trained by Mr. Carl Lindgren and a string quartet from the orchestra, trained by Mr. Fitch, performed at numerous College and Community functions, and at a number of high school assemblies in south-eastern Michigan.

Music Club

"Keep a song in your heart"—Yes, that's the motto of the Music Club. This is the club which not only sharpens the musical wits of the members, but also has just "plain good times". Everyone on campus is welcome as long as he has an interest in music and participates in some musical activity. The formal initiation and banquet proves to be the highlight of every year.

This year's officers were: Virginia Smith, president; Marian Capron, vice president; Margaret Zick, secretary-treasurer; Betty Quinn, publicity chairman; and Rena Gillespie, reporter for the Normal News.

Occupational Therapy Club

Many smiles were brought to the faces of the children at Rackham School and the patients at Ypsilanti State Hospital when the Occupational Therapy Club presented the annual Christmas play for their amusement.

President Kathleen Sanderson, assisted by Jane Neafie as vice-president, Irene Ringle as secretary, and Katherine Gehring as treasurer with Miss Tmey as advisor, planned a full schedule for the year which consisted of a formal dinner, a picnic, and many other worthwhile activities.

Special Education Club

The Special Education Club is open to all students interested in the education of exceptional children.

During the past year, meetings were devoted to discussions or to movies and speakers related to special education.

The "Special Eds" are fortunate in having the Horace H. Rackham School of Special Education located here on campus. No other college in the country can claim the distinction of this training school advantage.

Vivian Dickey was president; Rita Pepin, vice-president; Margery Jacka, secretary; and Jean Harmon, treasurer. Dr. Mary Frances Gates is the faculty advisor.

Mathematical Club

The members of the Mathematical Club met to discuss problems in mathematics and related fields and to create good fellowship among the students of that department. At the meetings everyone tried his best to solve some puzzle—to multiply, to divide, to extract a root, or to differentiate—“how do you solve it?” The meetings were held at the home of Dr. Lindquist, the sponsor. Jean Cameron was president; Mary Stumpmier, vice-president; and Darlene Gaus, secretary-treasurer.

Commercial Club

Small in number but great in spirit, the Commercial Club is comprised of students specializing in commercial education. Meetings are designed to combine up-to-the-minute discussions of the latest developments in the business world and the commercial teaching field with relaxation, entertainment and fun.

During the past year, officers have been Lois Arnold, president; Imelda Weir, vice president; and Irene Patterson, secretary-treasurer. Mr. John C. Springman is the faculty advisor.

The Natural Science Club is comprised of students who are majoring and minor- ing in Natural Science, and the faculty members of the department.

During the year the club had many interesting speakers such as Dr. Worth, who spoke on "Allergies", and Mr. Norton, who showed color slides on "Orchids". Some of the activities they carried out were the making of corsages and Christmas wreaths for veteran WAC's at Percy Jones Hospital.

Marjorie Jones was president for the year, and Dr. Curtis was the sponsor.

With the coming of the peace, great advancements in chemistry have taken place. Once a month the Chemistry Club met to hear speakers, see movies, or discuss the most recent developments in chemistry. Secrets that have been released only recently because of previous censorship are of especial interest to the future chemists. The officers were George Mitchell, president; Robert Schafer, vice-president; Phyllis Perkins, secretary-treasurer.

The Art Club is an organization of Fine Art majors and minors who meet periodically for extra-curricular programs, lectures, or sketching parties for the purpose of intensifying their artistic interests through association with each other on a professional basis. Visiting professional and commercial artists, as well as members of the faculty, help the organization to develop practical as well as idealistic principles in both the teaching and practice of art.

The Home Economics Club is affiliated with the American Home Economics Association. Its program for the year was planned to harmonize with the National program by stressing international Home Economics. Activities included the Christmas Dinner, the Alumnae Luncheon and a field trip. Officers were: Miss Clara Kelly, sponsor; Ruth Baumann, president; Luetta Sietz, vice president; Alberta Robinson, secretary; Mary Stevenson, treasurer; Mary Dillon, state project chairman; and Kathryn Simmons, reporter.

Physical Education Club

The Physical Education Club meets monthly to acquaint its members with their profession and to further broaden their knowledge with what is being done in this field.

Not only does the club serve in educational purposes, but in social as well. The group enjoyed a hayride and several picnics. A mixer was planned to welcome the Physical Education veterans and their wives.

Dick Gabriel, president, with the sponsors of the club, attended the National Physical Education Conference in St. Louis to exchange and bring back ideas from different clubs all over the country.

This organization is the largest professional club on campus, and is one of the most active, providing stimulating interests in the field of physical education and outside recreation.

The officers for this year were: president, Dick Gabriel; vice-president, Betty Manning; secretary, Jane Davis. The faculty sponsor was Mrs. Vossler. The cooperation of the Physical Education Department aided the success of the club.

The student officers, Jean Black, Jean Harmon, Marilyn Goetz, and Jean Wooden, with the invaluable guidance of Miss Virginia Wielandy, faculty sponsor, and Robert L. DeWitt, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, led the group through a worthwhile year.

The overnight retreat highlighted the fall activities. The group also heard lectures, held several Corporate Communion and breakfasts, and presented a service of Choral Evensong.

The Wesleyan Guild offers youth Worship, Fellowship, Religious Education Counseling and a Christian atmosphere in which youth may find opportunities for creative leadership and possibilities for wholesome recreation. Newman Club

The Newman Club is an organization of Catholic students attending secular colleges. The club furnishes an opportunity for sociability among the Catholic students on Michigan State Normal College and Cleary campuses. Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month. Besides having social get-togethers, the club is entertained by speakers from the outside. The Newman Club is of importance in giving Catholic students an opportunity to associate with other young people of their religion.

Newman Club Communion Breakfasts are the most important events on the Club calendar. At this time, some speaker from outside comes to speak to the group during its Sunday morning gatherings.

Officers for this year were Ralph Kwiatkowski, president; Eugene Lucarelli, vice-president; Vivian King, secretary; Phyllis Perkins, treasurer; and Betty Stahl, social chairman. The club sponsor is Father Horeauf.

CAROL HOUSE,
PRESIDENT

All sororities on the campus are under a board of control and guidance known as the Pan Hellenic Council which is composed of three representatives from each sorority. This committee has jurisdiction over the important policies of all sorority functions; it is headed by Carol House as Chairman, and assisting her are Patricia Harrison as Recording Secretary, Devonne Branstetter as Corresponding Secretary, Marilyn Goetz as treasurer, and Dean Hill as advisor.

Before each rushing season an Educational Hour is held. At this meeting each prospective "rushee" is given a pamphlet which includes a schedule for the rushing season and a brief history of each sorority. This year Pan-Hellenic directed open-bidding for first semester and formal bidding for the second semester.

In January, the Pan-Hellenic Council sponsored a formal dance which was very successful for a large crowd filled the ball-room.

One of the outstanding events of the year which the Pan-Hellenic sponsors is the formal dessert where gifts are presented to sorority members who have the highest scholastic standing.

FOOTBALL

COACH RYNEARSON

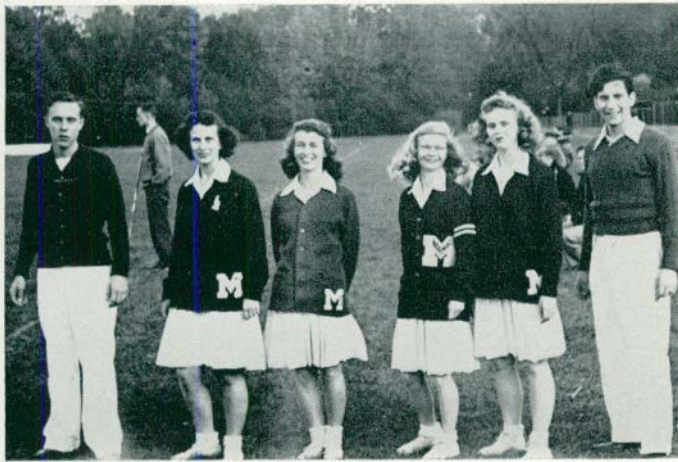

Coach Elton J. Ryneerson's first post-war football team left a very impressive record. Utilizing the talents of returning servicemen and that of players waiting for two years for football to reappear upon the scenes, Coach Ryneerson built a big and strong team.

A schedule of six games was played against Hillsdale, Albion, and Wayne. With the completion of these six games, Normal remained undefeated and up until the last two games which were with Wayne, the goal line had yet to be crossed. The Hurons defeated Wayne in the first game 14-13 but the final game ended in a scoreless tie.

During the season Coach Ryneerson had to depend upon a small number of players; this caused a great deal of sixty-minute football which told heavily on some of the older players. Had it not been for the fine spirit that was shown, Normal might not have had such an impressive record.

FOURTH ROW: OPIE, BATALUCCO, GRUBBS, SIMMONS, KALBFLEISCH, LANE, COONEY, ADAMS.

 FIRST ROW: BENTLEY, BLACK, SHANNON, DALTON, CARANO, CHICKERAL, BITNAR, SCHAFFER, LOGAN, SPENCER.

With the opening of the season, Coach Rynear on had on hand a number of his former players whom he used as a foundation for the team. Some of these were Barney Dyer, honorary captain for the season; Andy Newlands, who was player and coach; Charles Kalbfleisch; Bill Nuse; Bill Wilson and Gene Carano. The freshmen added a great deal in Glen Simmons, Bob Walterhouse, Reinard Heining, Charles Lane, and John Jacobson. The remainder of the team was composed of Dick Ross, "Tiny" Dalton, Bill Coulman, Jim Black, and Bob Bentley.

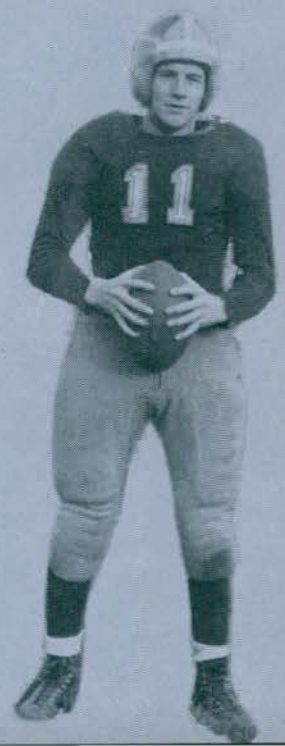

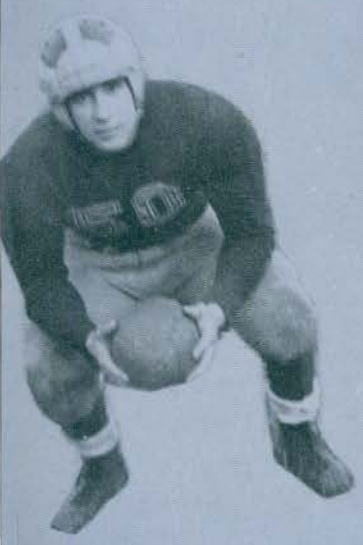

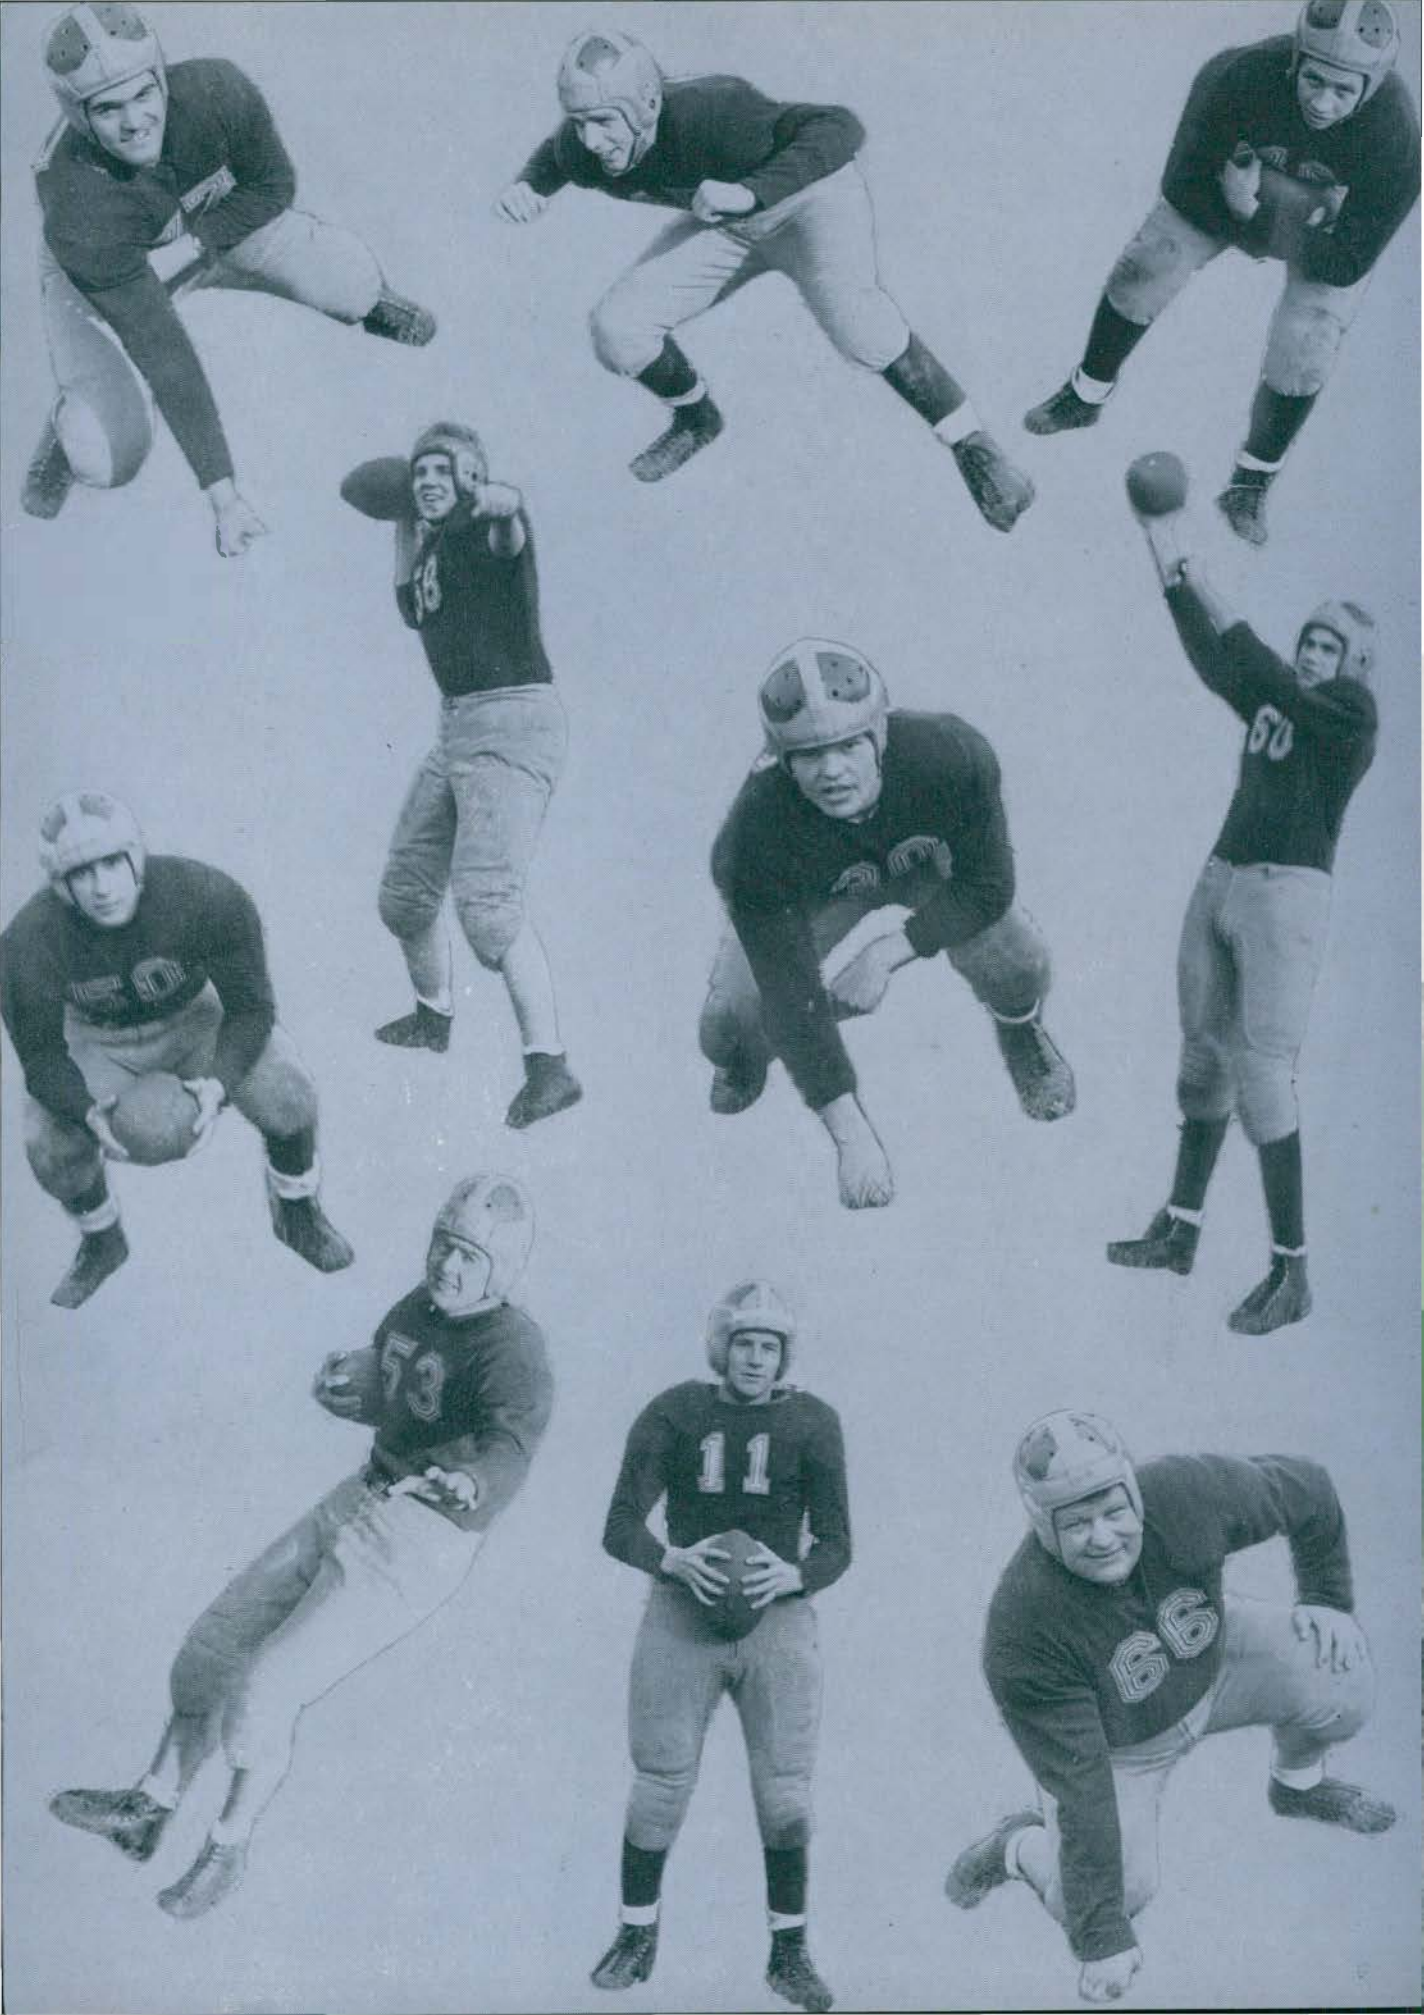

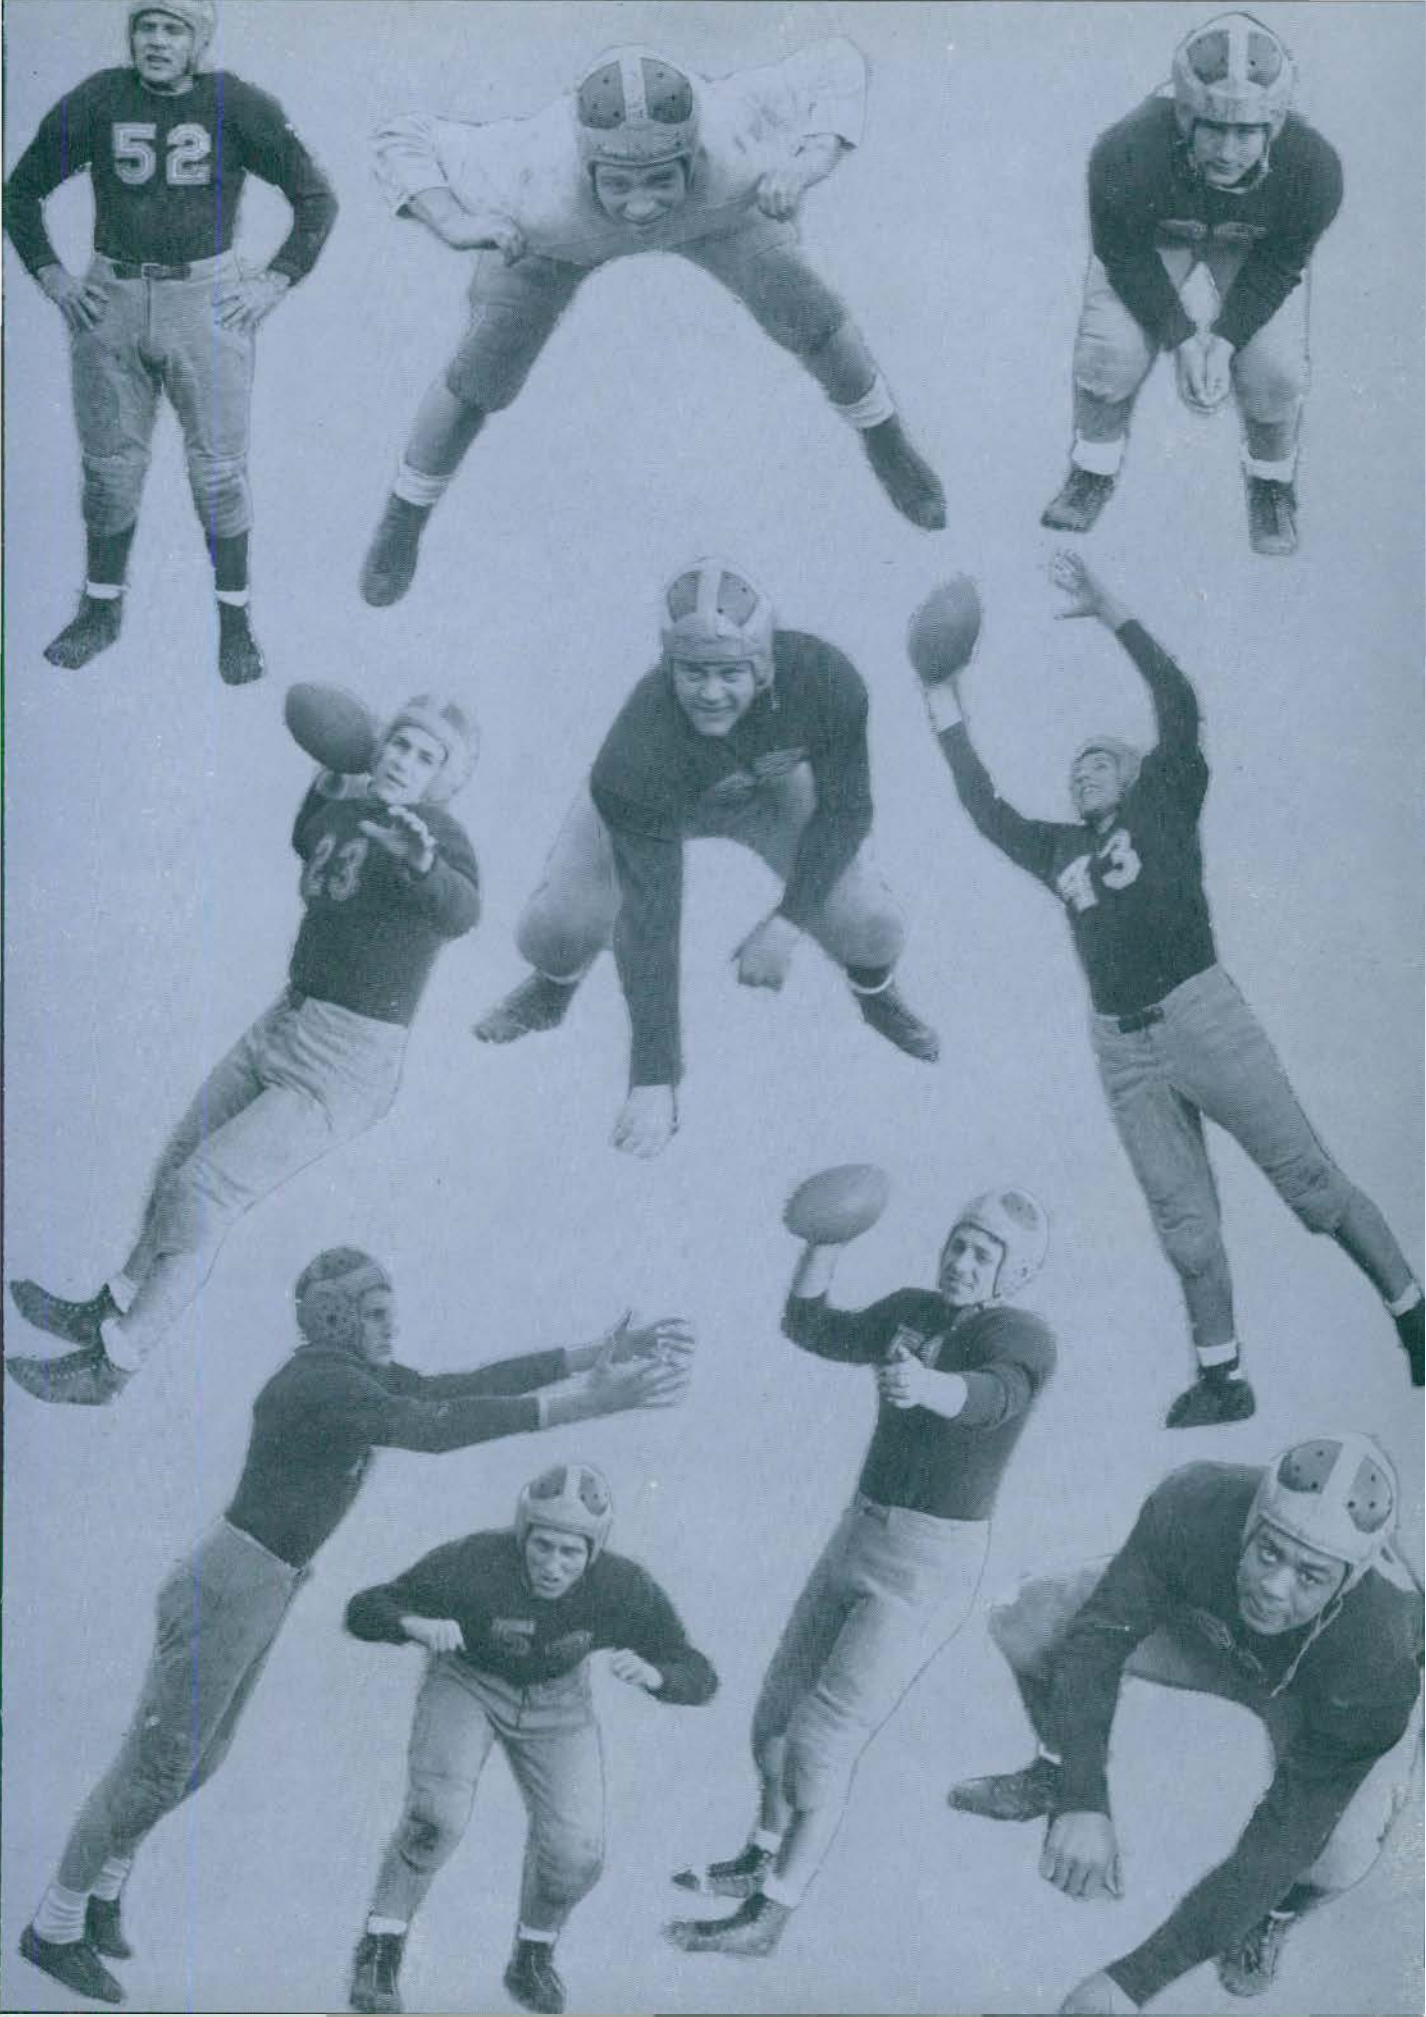

As a team, these boys played together in grand style, for they showed a great amount of fight and determination to win. They were fortunate in not receiving too many injuries, although those that they did receive were ably cared for by Trainer George Marshall and his assistants.

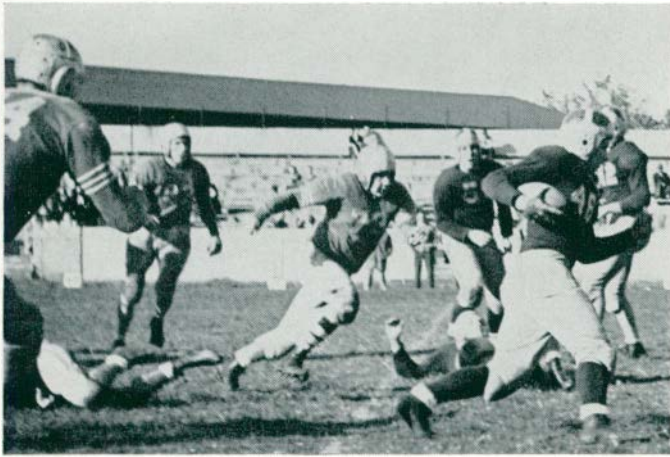

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

M. S. N. C. vs. Albion	6-0
M. S. N. C. vs. Hillsdale	13-0
M. S. N. C. vs. Hillsdale	6-0
M. S. N. C. vs. Albion	6-0
M. S. N. C. vs. Wayne	14-13
M. S. N. C. vs. Wayne	0-0

Beginning what was to be an undefeated season, the Hurons defeated Albion 6-0 in the season's opener. The first half remained scoreless. In the second half Albion threatened when the Hurons fumbled on their own twenty-yard line and Albion recovered. Albion lost its opportunity when two penalties set it back thirty-seven yards, and Normal recovered the ball on downs. Five plays later Normal scored on a fake reverse, Newlands to Walton. Normal failed to make the conversion and so the game ended 6-0.

Unleashing a powerful ground attack, the Hurons defeated Hillsdale 13-0, thrilling a jubilant homecoming crowd. Obviously no match for the Normal team, Hillsdale failed to pass Normal's 30-yard line once during the game.

Returning to Hillsdale for their third game of the season, Normal spoiled the Dale's homecoming by defeating them 6-0. Normal maintained its record of being one of the four colleges in the nation that is still unscored and undefeated.

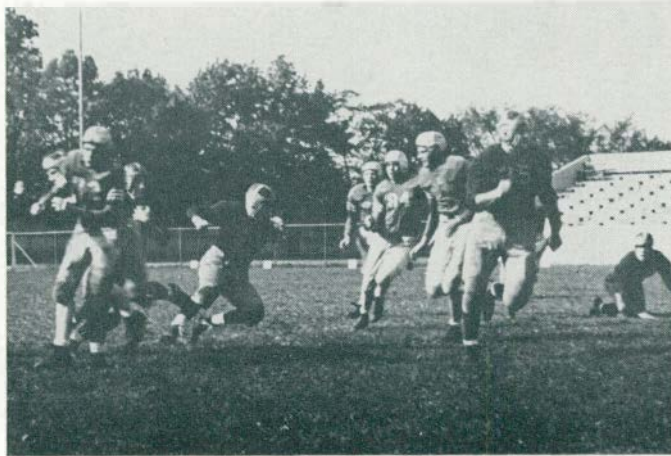

Playing on a snow-covered field, the Hurons won their fourth game of the season by defeating Albion 6-0. Normal gained the distinction of being the only unbeaten, unscored-upon eleven in the nation.

The Hurons made it five games in a row when they defeated a highly trained Wayne team by the score of 14-13. Wayne played hard, bruising football in an attempt to stop the Huron's winning streak, but the Green and White played a defensive, heads up game.

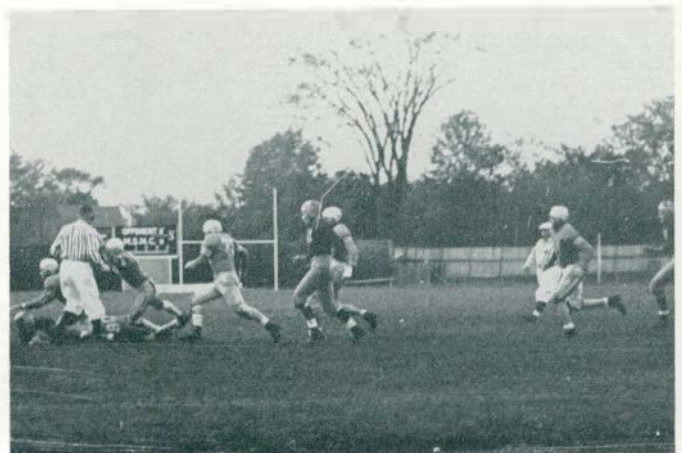

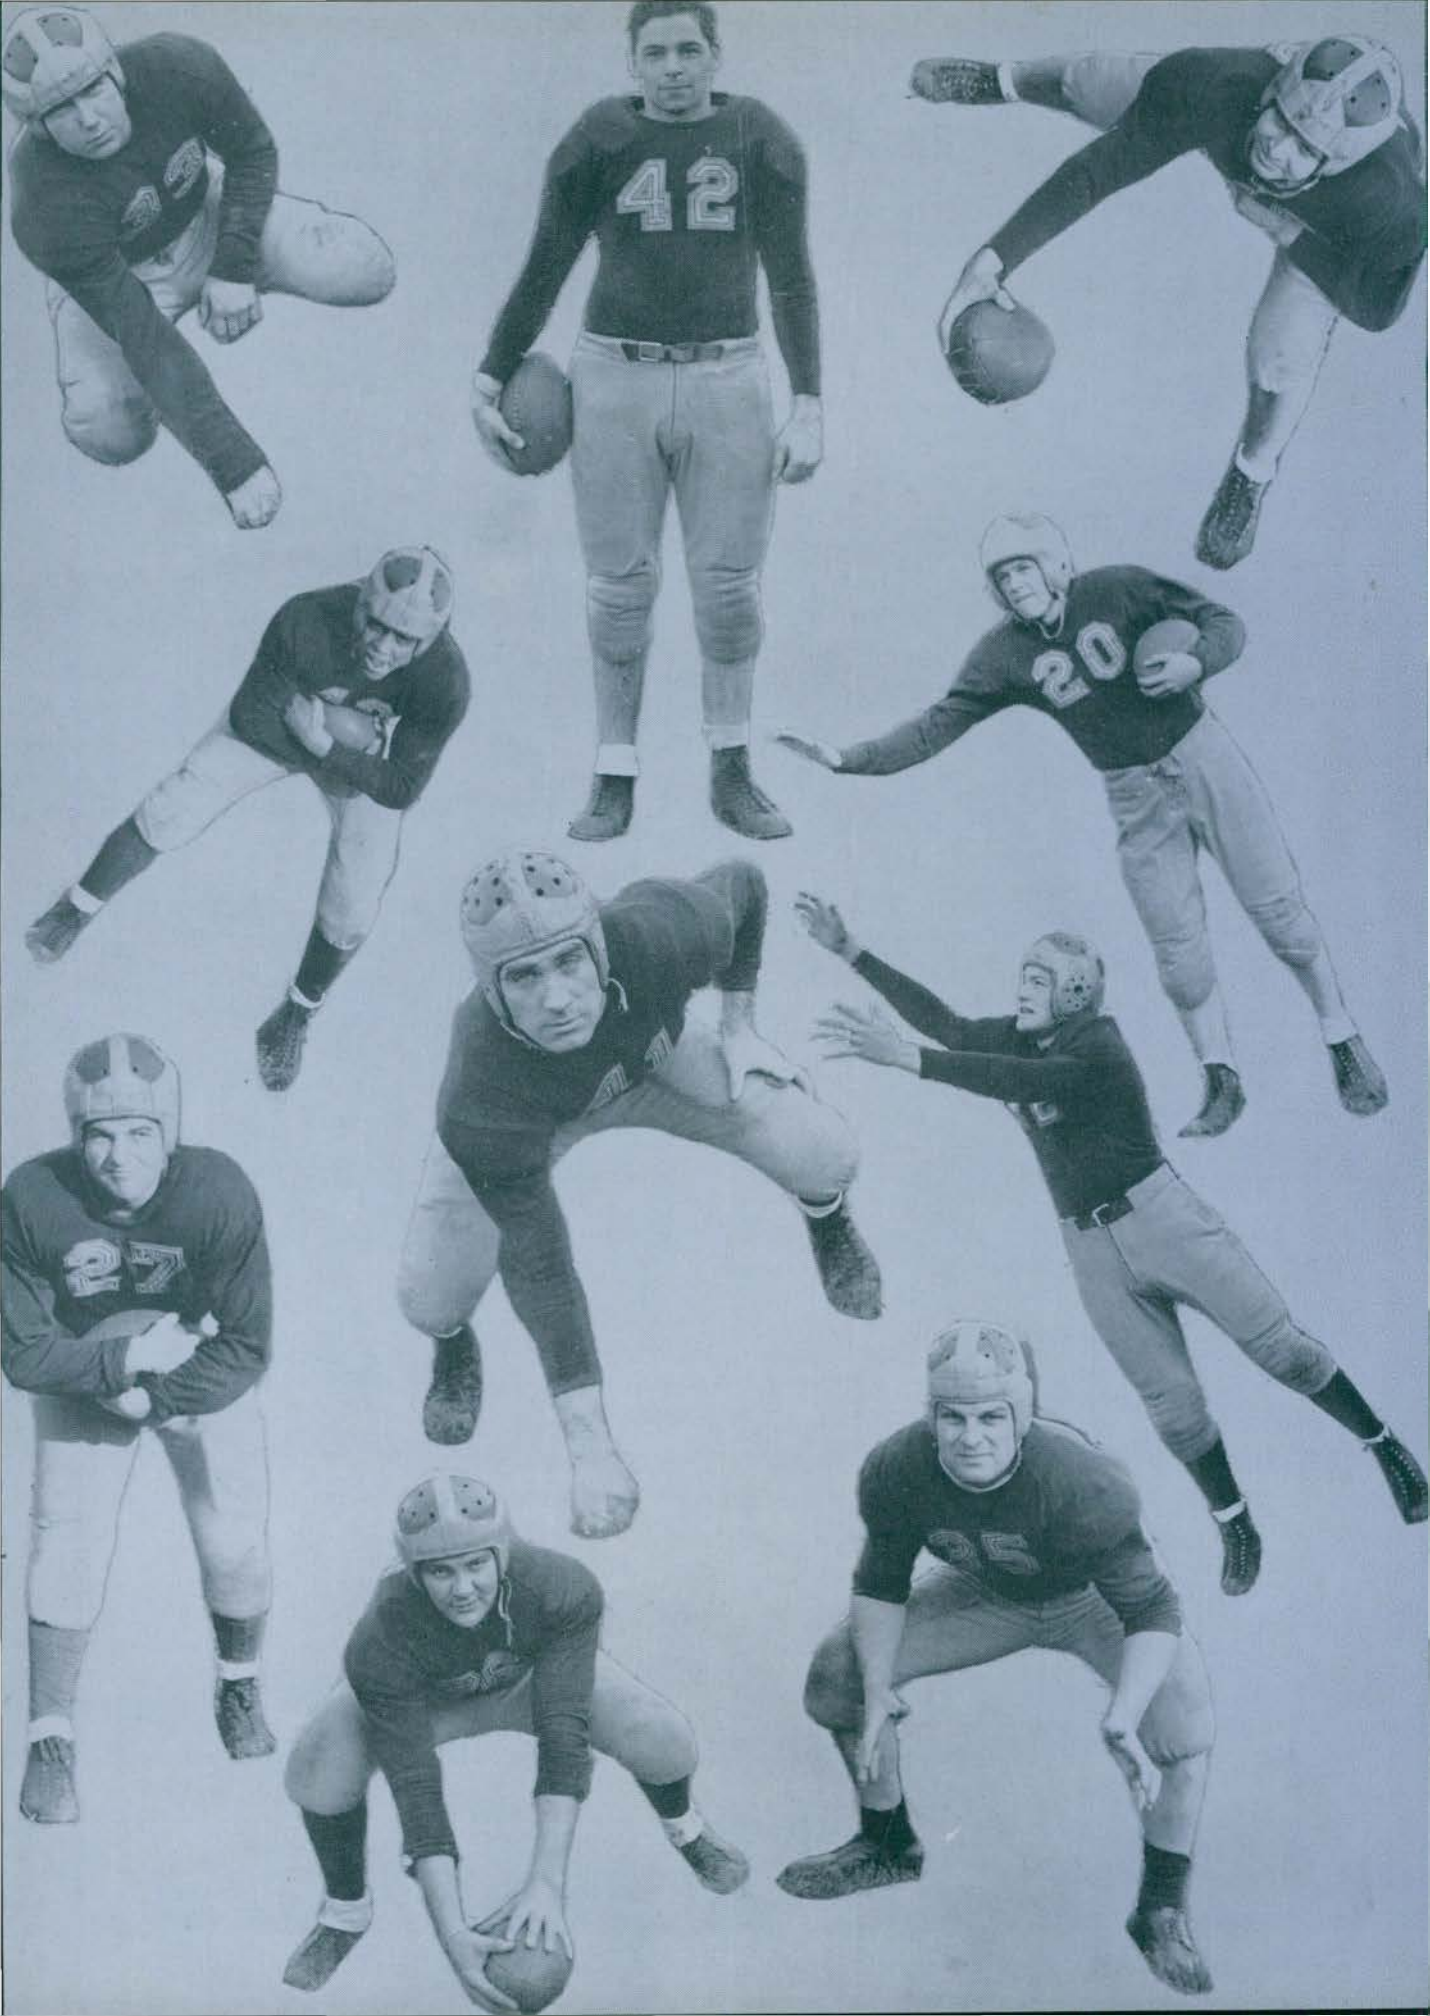

Normal's first score in the Wayne game, came in the first quarter when Walterhouse streaked seventy-five yards for a touchdown. "Tiny" Dalton made the conversion. Normal added another score in the second quarter when Carano intercepted a lateral on the Tartar twenty-eight and scored. Dalton again made the conversion. Wayne threatened once in the first half but lost the ball on a fumble at the Huron five-yard stripe. In the third quarter, Wayne recovered a fumbled kick on its own forty. That started a drive which ended with Wayne's going eighteen yards over tackle for a touchdown. Wayne missed the try for the point which proved very costly. Staging an aerial attack in the fourth quarter, Wayne scored one more touchdown.

The Hurons ended their gridiron schedule at Briggs Stadium with a scoreless tie against Wayne University. It gave Normal a record of five victories and one tie thereby putting the Hurons in undisputed possession of first place among Michigan colleges. In the first half the Tartars threatened once but the attack bogged down on the nine-yard line. Normal's first scoring threat came in the second half when Dyer stole the ball from Mistele on Wayne's thirty-five yard line, but the attack was stopped on the one-inch line. In the fourth quarter Walterhouse, on a Statue of Liberty play, ran forty yards to the Wayne ten-yard line. Advancing the ball two yards on two tries, the Hurons tried another field goal which missed. The game ended a scoreless tie.

Basketball

Despite a not too impressive record in the won and lost column, Normal can still boast that she had one of her strongest teams in history. The records show that the Hurons won one out of every two games. The main factor that kept the Green and White from a winning percentage was a six game losing streak in which the Hurons slumped so badly that they lost even to Hillsdale, a team which they later annihilated.

The season started off with a fifteen-point win over Albion. The next two games the Hurons lost in close contests against U. of D. and Wayne. Normal then bounced back with a three-game splurge, taking a pair from Kalamazoo and dropping St. Mary's easily.

The St. Mary's game saw an individual scoring record racked up by center Howard Messenger. Howard played most of the game and during that time hit the nets for a total of thirty-one points. The next game saw Messenger continue his blistering pace with twenty-four points of a sixty-two point score that was five short of beating Hope. After beating Alma with ease, the Hurons went into their slump, for they took it on the chin from Central Michigan, Hillsdale, Alma, Hope, U. of D., and Central Michigan. But here the string ended, and the unpredictable Hurons finished off the season with a four-game winning streak over St. Mary's, Wayne (in the closest game of the year), Albion, and Hillsdale.

The last game saw the Green and White score fifty-one points in the first half and possibly they might have broken the century mark had they not purposely held the score down.

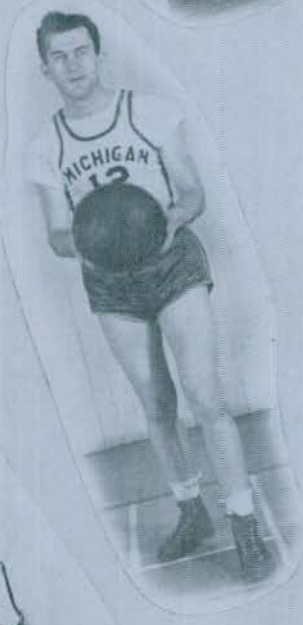

Highlights of the season were the record by Messenger, the second Wayne game when Normal came from behind to defeat their traditional rivals by two points, and the home stretch drive of four straight wins.

Scoring honors for the year go to Messenger who broke the school record with his 266 points. Gilday, team captain and sparkplug, ran a close second with 249 points. Sampier, in spite of the fact that he spent most of his time setting up plays, came third with 116. Because of his fine team play, he was elected captain of next year's five.

Track

This semester we saw track return to the athletic program after a conspicuous absence of three years. Coach George Marshall was enthusiastic over the team's prospects during the twelve-meet season.

Although not as strong as former Huron teams, this year's squad points toward a return of the old track glory. In addition to many promising new prospects, such as Bill Nederlanden, the half-miler; Dale Aldersen, the weight man; Ed Wellner, the broad-jumper; and Bob Spencer, the half-miler; the squad welcomed back veterans Bill Cave, the 440-yard star; Bob Phipps, the miler; Don Kahler, the miler; Paul Hansen, the two miler; Don Jones, the sprinter; Bill Wilson, the shot-putter; and Bob Smiley and Archie Coran, sprinters.

Cave returned to the campus with the quarter-mile championship of the European Theater which he garnered last summer in Paris.

Handicapped by only a few weeks practice in the tiny fieldhouse, the squad finished sixth among fifteen top competitors at Jennison Field-house in East Lansing. In this meet, Ed Wellner, sensational broad-jumper, took first place with his first jump after five years of inactivity in track.

Things look bright once more for Normal's great track reputation.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association, under the supervision of the Physical Education Department, provides the opportunity for all women on campus to participate in some sport. The officers and general board supervise the W.A.A. activities.

Miss Candace Roell, a faculty member of the Physical Education Department, took over the responsible duties as Director of the W.A.A. Boards.

The President, Marian Hughes, and Vice-president, Wilma Schweinfurth, guided all the activities to attainment and success. Secretary Jane Davis and Recorder Betty Manning kept the books, correspondence, and records for scholastic eligibility for awards. With Betty Bush as Social Chairman and Mary Stumpmier as Publicity Manager, the social functions of the W.A.A. proved highly successful.

The dependable representative for the sports write-ups in the Normal News was Joyce Haglund, who kept the students well-posted about the activities. Pat Siddall reported the W.A.A. activities to the Women's League Executive Board, who helped to make the Sports Nights complete by serving refreshments.

This year all members who participated in at least one W.A.A. sport and had a scholastic average of at least "C" enjoyed a week-end of gala excitement at Camp Talahi, near Brighton, Michigan.

Volleyball, ping-pong, badminton, and fencing were made co-recreational activities this year. Stiff competition among the men and women created an exciting and enjoyable atmosphere.

The annual spring banquet culminated the year's activities of W.A.A. at which time the honor award, the "M" pin, was presented to an outstanding participant of activities. This pin is presented only to juniors and seniors who are selected according to their performance and interest in different sports. Others who took part in at least three activities and maintained at least a "C" average were presented "M" letters. And so another successful year of W.A.A. activities was brought to a close.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming? Football team? Alums? These were only part of the rumors that met all our ears the first day we came to school last fall. We soon found that they weren't just rumors as we all eagerly anticipated the first Homecoming in four years.

At last, the week-end was here. The dorms were crowded with alumni who came from all over the countryside to help the student body and faculty cheer the Huron Braves on to victory. The first of the events was a pep rally under the direction of Len Logan. If the pep showed there was any indication of the outcome of the game, Hillsdale was in for a tough fight. After the rally a snake dance wended its way to Sleepy Hollow where hot dogs awaited us. Later there was a juke-box dance in the ballroom and while many danced, several groups of alums were seen gathered around talking over fond memories.

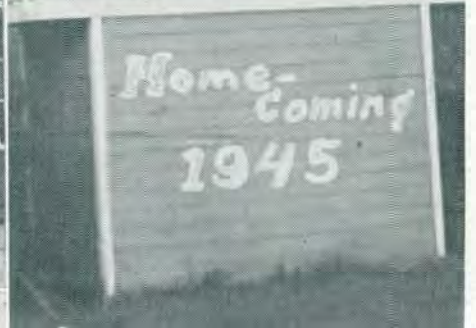

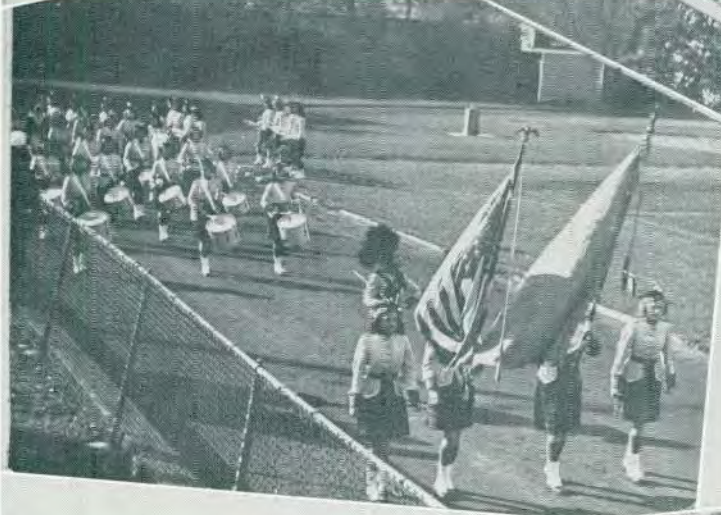

Saturday found the stadium packed with eager faces waiting for the team to trot out onto the field. Cheers and applause met their ears and helped make that winning touchdown. The final score was M.S.N.C.—6, Hillsdale—0.

That night Joe Baccarla and his orchestra furnished music for the Kick-Off Ball. Blanche Paynter and her committee had novel ideas to make this a success. They collected the team shirts and hung them around the room to help carry through the decorative theme of football.

After the dance many lights burned in all the dorms till the "wee small" hours, proving all had so much fun they hated to draw the week-end to a close.

Late Sunday the alums regretfully made their departure, leaving the remainder of us to once again settle down to our books and look forward to the days when we would be alums returning to our dear old alma mater.

Shall We Dance?

“How about tonight—shall we dance?” This question could be heard in all the dorms on Wednesday nights. Immediately we put our books aside, and off we trekked to the Union to dance to our latest favorite records.

“Ten cents, please,” we were asked at the door of the ballroom and there we were, clad in our bobby socks and sweaters, all set to show our chums the latest steps we had learned.

The first semester a few of the braver men ventured forth to ask a girl to dance a number. More often than not, however, the shy, timid type of men lined up around the room, afraid to ask the girls to dance. The girls were having a gay time laughing at each other over their leading.

Second semester changed things. The return of more veterans showed that we now had more courageous men on the campus for they had all the girls “hep” to taking in a Kresge.

Listlessly we sank into a chair. The week-end arrived with nothing for us to do. Of course we could study, but then we’re pretty well up-to-date. Suddenly our door opens and someone yells, “Don’t forget the All-College Dance tonight!” Our problem is solved.

Generally the All-College Dances were held in the ballroom in which we danced to music furnished by one of the local orchestras. Occasionally the juke box was placed in the grill; and we sat at the tables chatting and drinking cokes. When our favorite numbers were played, we could dance. No more dull week-ends for us !

The Harvest Hop

If anyone casually strolled by King or Goodison dorm one Saturday morning early in November, he would have seen a path of giant paper footprints leading to the Union for the ticket sales of the Harvest Hop. The crowd of girls following the footprints proved how anxiously the campus was awaiting the Women's League's first post-war formal.

Pat Pretty and Sally Ball, co-chairmen, and their committees spent many hours of hard work in preparation. They covered the countryside in search of pumpkins and corn to help carry out the decoration theme of "Jack Frost".

The gay crowd that filled the ballroom enjoyed dancing to the smooth music of Rosemary and her "Jills of Jive". Many couples took the opportunity of having their pictures taken during intermission. These pictures will always bring back pleasant thoughts of a memorable evening.

"Merry Christmas"

Do you remember the bright red programs from the Yule Log Drag featuring LeRoy Smith and his orchestra? The Men's Union started the Christmas season out in gala fashion when it sponsored this formal dance, December 1.

How we all laughed over our fortunes, and then danced to the juke box at the annual Christmas party. What a thrill it gave us as the whole student body gathered around to sing Christmas carols in unison.

Just before we went home, we attended the Christmas Sing. Many times we laughed during the program, and maybe we shed a tear or two when different organizations featured songs. We came back to our dorms to attend dorm parties. We all gathered down in the lounge to sing songs while we munched on candy canes. To finish the season off right, many of us sat around till the wee small hours singing and playing Christmas carols.

Pan-Hel Dance

Immediately after Christmas vacation all of the sorority girls on campus began making plans for the first post-war Pan Hellenic Dance. Phones began ringing at Munson, letters were carried out in piles by the mail-man and soon one began hearing about the sharp date "Mary and Jane" had.

Remember all the Greek letters that decorated the curtain behind Bill Layton and orchestra? This was just one of the many novel ideas that Elma Schonmeier, chairman, and her committees worked out to make the dance a success.

Girls, busy pressing formals and trying new hair creations, took time out from their tasks to welcome Alum sorority sisters who came from miles around to share the evening's pleasure.

J-Hop

Under the able co-chairmanship of Irene Ringel and Eugene Lucarelli, the ballroom of McKenny Hall was completely transformed into Club '47 the night of the J-Hop. As we entered we saw palm trees in the corners and the words "Club '47" glittering on the curtain behind Bill Layton and his orchestra.

Every now and then we would drift away from the dance floor to greet a newly-arrived group of alums, to chat with them, and thus to find out all the latest news.

Downstairs in the cafeteria, we munched sandwiches, sipped coffee, and remarked about the cleverness of the place mats and match folders marked "Club '47", which were given as souvenirs to each couple to put away in their scrapbooks. The individual photos taken of each couple will help us to remember the pleasant hours we spent at the year's nicest formal dance.

Back to Normal

Stop sometime at night and notice that warm glow in the sky at the northwest corner of the campus. What a change has come over Munson Hall this semester with three hundred forty veterans on the campus. The switchboard operators in all three dorms are kept busy as casual dates are made by phone.

About seventy percent of these veterans returned to pick up their books which they had dropped so abruptly when Uncle Sam called. As one of the faculty members who had been in the service stated, the war was like stopping the clock for three years.

Michigan is rapidly getting back to Normal with the return of the veterans. The days of having small crowds at the formal dances are gone; now the ballroom is filled to capacity. Our green and white colors are well represented on the athletic field with a winning football team, and a first class basketball, baseball, and track team. That fraternities have started up again is evidenced by the "scums" who painfully walk around the day after a swing session. The court between the women's dorms has become the stage for would-be serenaders as they carry out the desires of the actives. Too, the Men's Union is now the potent force it used to be.

A stranger to pre-war college life is the newly organized Veterans Club. Whether the veteran be male or female, he is eligible to join. The primary purpose of the Veterans Club is to help rehabilitate veterans for college life and to sponsor social activities that are of interest to the veterans. Under the sponsorship of Dean Isbell and Dr. Kelly, the Veterans Club is becoming one of the most important college organizations.
