Forward . . .

At the end of four years you feel somewhat sad and wish you could stay longer. Knowledge sought and gained plus the social and cultural environment adds up to the sum total of a college education. As a student, you represent the spirit of your book. You have spent nine months a year for four years as one of approximately five thousand university students at Eastern, taking lecture notes, attending dances, losing sleep by cramming for blue books, and cheering in the stadium.

There are worries and tensions at Eastern as there are in the off-campus world; but, in spite of these, happy times were shared by all and these continued as Eastern Michigan College became Eastern Michigan University. Such things as homesick freshmen adjusting to campus life and the thrill experienced at homecoming time will always remain with you, the student, as a priceless memory.

To You Dean Hill, We Dedicate The 1960 Aurora

Susan B. Hill, Dean of Women

Dedication

In twenty years of service to Eastern Michigan University, Susan B. Hill, Dean of Women, has become recognized as an able administrator, an effective leader, and a warm, friendly person whom students and faculty alike respect and admire.

It seems appropriate that we dedicate this, our 1960 Aurora, to one who has watched the expansion of our institution move toward its newly-acquired university status. Thus, it is with deepest respect, that the editorial staff of the Aurora — on behalf of the Student body — chose you, Susan B. Hill, to receive the 1960 Aurora dedication.

Pictured on the opposite page is a panoramic view of a year in the life of our Dean. Until this book was released from the printer's on May 15, 1960, Dean Hill, to our knowledge, was not aware of this dedication. All photographs were carefully taken during informal situations so that this dedication might remain a secret.

Geraldine Zdziebko stops to visit with Dean Hill to ask for some advice.

As Gerry leaves, Dean Hill assures her that everything will be fine. Moving into the dorms for the school year was fun, but tiring.

Orientation

A new freshman arrives at Downing Hall.

Do all parents groan that no one else would possibly need all that luggage? Perhaps they do! All, however, is eventually fitted in and a new school year is officially begun.

For the new students, there are orientation meetings, speeches of welcome, and countless tests to fill the first days. Soon, that organized chaos called registration rolls around. Students and faculty alike may shudder at the thought but this necessary business passes in a few days.

Crisp clean notebooks, the luxury of sharpened pencils, and noble study schedules mark this beginning period. They, too, may pass. But as they do, time tags those once-strange names and faces with personalities.

"Just Relax," says senior nurse, Mrs. Alice Degnan, to Janice Harris as she checks on Jan's blood pressure.

Our photographer pictured these persons, as they were completing an entrance examination.

Registration

Welcome in the Air

Many students purchase student insurance during registration.

"Just follow this schedule," says Dr. Maddox to Frances Warth, who was confused about her schedule.

Climaxing Orientation week was a street dance which featured dancing under starlight.

All incoming students are required to attend a library meeting during orientation week. At this time the library and its functions are explained.

Homecoming Festivities Add to Campus Life

Enthusiasm beamed on the faces of Eastern Michigan University's students as they worked day and night to make the 1959 Homecoming Day the "best." Friends and alumni came to witness the events. The festivities started Wednesday morning with the crowning of the queen, Jean Hutchinson by last year's queen Pat Dunaway. Chosen for the court were Nelda Baker, Alice Columbus, Janet Dodenhoff and Ruth Lutten. On Friday, the sororities on campus participated in the Chick Relay. Freshmen and Sophomore men participated in the old tradition of class games. The theme, "Nations on Parade", was evident throughout the parade on Saturday morning.

Beautiful floats from every organization paraded down our streets with bands from neighboring schools accompanying the floats. Pi Kappa Sigma won first prize in both overall competition and fraternity division with their mammoth viking ship. Vets Club took second prize with their float on Japan and Alpha Xi Delta won the sorority division for their float on Germany. Jones Hall won first prizes, for their dorm decorations and for their dorm float. Their theme representing Holland was "Tip-toe Through The Tulips". The Hurons and Central Michigan met in the afternoon for the annual homecoming football game. After the game the dorms had a Cider Sip.

Every activity that took place during the week, from the planning stage to the finale which was a dance, added to the memory of our University's first Homecoming Day.

The ROTC Drill Team joins Homecoming festivities by marching in the parade.

Double Winner! Jones Hall took first prize in both float and hall competition.

And finally, the Queen's float appears on the scene.

Christmas Spirit

Fills the Air

In the true spirit of Christmas, the students of Eastern Michigan University made their preparations for the festive season. As the gayness of the coming holidays fills the air, and decorations begin to appear, a "new look" adorns the campus, and lends to every heart that undeniable expectation of the approaching Christmas season.

The various organizations sponsor such activities as Christmas parties for underprivileged and retarded children, the garnishing of McKenny Hall and the library with Christmas trees and wreaths, teas, parties, and dances for the entire student body. Class work is by no means neglected, but rather the merry activities incorporate themselves into each student's schedule to form a festive background for the day to day system of campus life.

And, although the cold walk to early classes through bitter wind may make one temporarily long for a balmy summer breeze, the snappiness of the air, faint strains of a favorite carol, and the promise of a long vacation ahead make the Christmas season at Eastern one of the most beautiful times of the year.

E.M.U. Productions Held at Quirk

The EMU Players have spent a busy and most enjoyable year in their new theater, free from the problems which have confronted them in previous years. Gone are the days of painting flats in McKenny, building scenery in the basements of Welch and Strong, and the setting up and playing in the borrowed facilities of the Roosevelt High School auditorium. Now the picture has changed. All activities are under one roof. Construction now poses few problems, as we now have a well equipped scene shop. Costumes are now made and stored in our own costume shop. We have ample dressing room facilities and our scenery does not have to be "trucked in" from different points on our campus—thanks to adequate storage space.

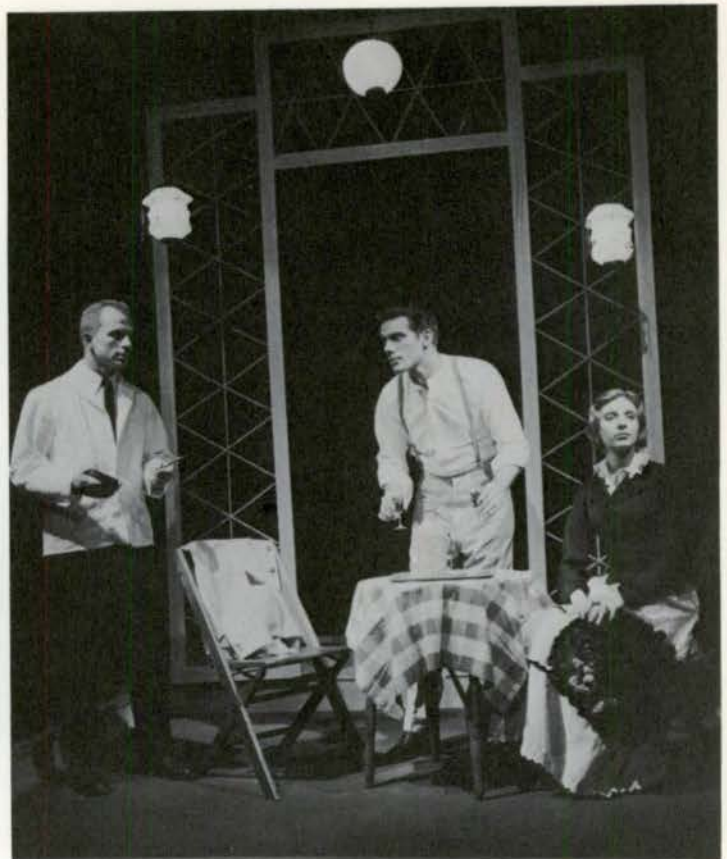

This year has been both an active and a satisfying one. Our production of Oklahoma! was the best received production on this campus in many years, and the student directed one act plays, Red Peppers, The Ugly Duckling, and Hello Out There were also a success. Dark of the Moon, Summer and Smoke, and the Shakespearean farce, The Taming of the Shrew, complete the Player's, production schedule.

Activity continues throughout the summer as the players dramatized The Arms and The Man.

Many additional hours are spent on play production besides the rehearsing of lines. Here is a scene from the stage shop here on Eastern's campus as students busily work toward that production deadline.

The first production of the spring drama season was Tennessee Williams play, "Summer and Smoke."

This is a scene from the production, "Dark of the Moon," presented during January by the EMU Players.

Distinguished Guests Visit Our University

From left to right are: State Senator Louis G. Christman, President Eugene B. Elliott, Governor G. Mennen Williams, Representative James F. Warner, and State Board of Education member Chris H. Magnusson. Governor Williams shows President Elliott a bill he has just signed giving Eastern University status, effective June 1, 1959. The bill was signed in Lansing, March 18, 1959.

On our campus we have the privilege of attending several functions each year which feature people who are considered experts or artists. The Ypsilanti Civic Music Association is one organization which provides a variety of musical shows.

One very excellent example of the entertainment offered was the Eglivsky-Pettit Ballet, which was presented on November 12. This group, composed of six members, gave the audience a glimpse of several types of dancing, from heel-toe Flamenco style to classical ballet. The performance proved to be extremely interesting and enlightening to the students.

The association sponsored three other programs during the year. Among them was the world-renowned Roger Wagner Chorale. The other performances included a piano duo and the Rudie Sinfonietta. The variety of the types of music which the organization presents leads to an increased amount of interest by the student audience.

The writer of "The Music Man," Meredith Willson, and his wife, who also visited our campus this year for a program of music and humor. This was an opportunity for the EMU students to meet a popular and well known entertainer.

Meredith and Rene Willsondelighted audience with humor, wit, and talent.

We Study

We Work

We Play

As lively and colorful as a painting is the scene at Eastern Michigan University every hour between classes. From the vantage point of a western window, on the third floor of the Administration Building, one can see streaming columns of students going to and from their classes. A few students may be seen getting on or off the student teaching bus in front of Pierce Hall.

On the hour many students dash to the Union for a coffee or coke break before going to their favorite place to study, such as the library, or back to the dorms. Other students are found rushing to work, to visit a friend or to a conference.

The gay greetings, the hurried tete-a-tetes, the sauntering or scurrying of the students are typical poses which can be seen in inimitable glowing colors. For fifty minutes from the toll of the gong, when classes are in session, the giant campus sleeps, only to break into fresh activity, once more at the end of each period.

The University Bookstore is located on the ground floor of McKenny Hall. Mr. Wayne Morgan, Manager, waits on a student who wishes to purchase a book.

The girls at the dinner pictured above are enjoying the privileges of high scholarship. Goddard Hall sponsors an annual banquet for its residents who measure up to a high scholastic standard.

A familiar sight to all are the seniors boarding the bus in front of Welch and Pierce Hall's which transports them daily to Lincoln for student teaching assignments.

A typical scene on the Eastern campus is students studying in the University Library. The library is centrally located on the campus.

Dancing Adds Festivity to Routine of School Life

Eastern's campus has many traditions. Highlights in the traditions are the annual dances. A number of formal and semi-formal dances are held, along with weekly hops which are sponsored by social groups on campus.

Homecoming, with all its gay festivities, starts the season by having a dance to climax the day's activities. The time between Homecoming and Thanksgiving is broken by the annual Harvest Hop. This hop is sponsored by the Women's League. The novelty of this dance is that the girls ask their dates.

After semester vacation, J-Hop comes. This is by far the biggest dance of the year. A 3 o'clock per is allowed to students who are attending this event.

The Military Ball is the first spring event of the year. The R.O.T.C. Department attends in full dress uniform. Closing the dance season for the year, each of the girl's dormitories sponsors a formal to be attended by its own residents and their guests.

At the annual winter prom the students swung out to the music of Kai Winding.

It was a momentous week climaxed by the homecoming dance held in McKenny Hall ballrooms.

The all-campus social committee presented, "Winter Prom." Music was by the Kai Winding dance band.

A Hobo Dance, sponsored by the Tri Sig's and the Phi Sig's, was filled with many laughs and fine entertainment.

Students Boost Traditions

When a student leaves Eastern Michigan University he takes with him a cluster of memories of his life at college. Binding together the time he spends in classes, the hours in the library studying and his interest in extra curricular activities are the traditions of EMU.

These traditions govern his behavior during his freshman year and the honors that he may receive when he graduates. Examples of traditions the student faces as a freshman are the wearing of green ribbons for women and "pots" for men until after homecoming.

Each senior girl asks a freshman girl to iron her graduation gown. This is considered to be an honor and each freshman hopes to be asked to perform the task.

Interfraternity traditions feature the painting of the rock outside the Strong Science building. Each pledge class paints their fraternity letters and colors on the rock at least once during their pledge term.

Pressing a graduate's gown means good luck for the freshman.

Traditionally, girls do not use the stairs located in the grill of the student union. In the above picture, John Kocsis uses these stairs.

The formal initiation of Adahi members is held each year on the steps directly in front of the library.

"We have 'em" shouted freshmen Mary Riedel and Harold Dode, when seniors Barbara Gorte and Sue Waltz inquire about her green ribbon and freshman beanie.

Lou Cernava and Dave McCluskey took the girls on an around the world newscast to Australia, Florida, Japan, and other countries.

Variety Show for Jean

Presiding over the Variety Show is the master of ceremonies, Chuck Cabbage.

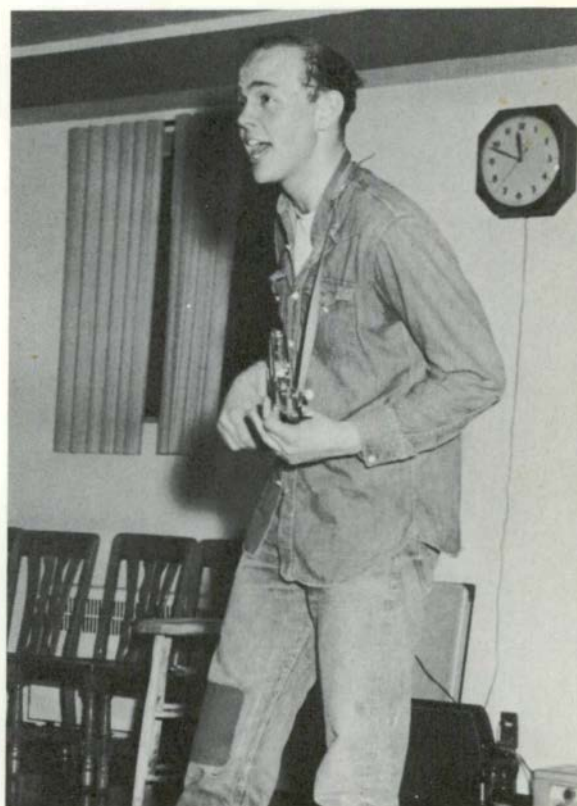

Performing a skit for the Jean Dickerson Benefit Variety Show are four boys from the men's residence halls. They traveled to each of the women's residence halls on succeeding nights to perform a skit spoofing the way women play cards.

Entertaining the girls with a Shelley Berman takeoff is Dave Fillmore, the president of EMU's Men's Union.

This group provided the unique sounds of the combination of guitars and bongos.

Providing that "relaxed" atmosphere is Al Prescott with his act "From Back Home."

This quartet featured a session of rock and roll to give a beat to the evening.

College Days End New Life Begins

Commencement! It marks the end of college days — late hours of study in the dorm, coffee in the Union, study dates in the library, and heart-to-heart talks with fellow students. It is the parting of friends.

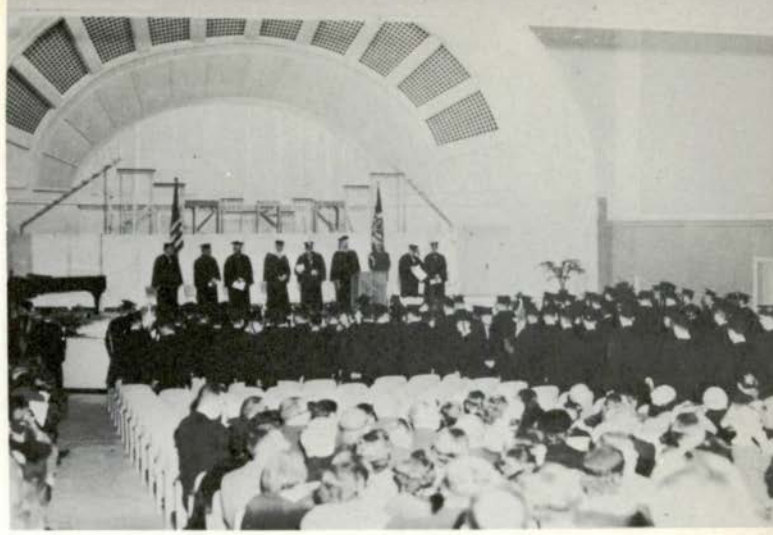

But Commencement is much more than this. It is the beginning of a new life — new friends, and new experiences. It is merely a bend in the great river of life. There are many rough waters which lie ahead, but the sailing will be smooth, for these college years have made the students of Eastern Michigan University captains of their lives. Commencement is only a stepping stone in life's exciting and wonderful journey.

Families, friends and relatives await the procession of the graduates.

Seniors make a final adjustment of their caps and gowns before the graduation procession shoves off.

Parents and friends proudly search for their own graduates among the marching seniors.

The most thrilling moment of graduation has at last arrived for the elated graduate.

During graduation exercises, ROTC cadets receive their commissions.

Faculty

Founded in 1849, Eastern Michigan University has, until recent years, been known primarily as a teacher training institution. The administration and faculty devote a large percentage of their lives to the success of this multi-purpose institution and its students. These are the men and women who have lectured, counseled, and advised the student with untiring stamina; who never seek thanks but attempt only to provide the catalyst for the student in his academic quest. These are the members of the Eastern Michigan administration and faculty.

Barbara Lee Nauman, President of Buell Hall, extends Season's Greetings to the President and his wife upon the departure of the Buell girls after carolling at the President's home.

Various organizations, on the Eastern Michigan campus, go caroling annually at President and Mrs. Eugene B. Elliott's home.

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

MICHIGAN

Office of the President

December 8, 1959

Dear Friends:

The achievements of those who have graduated from Eastern have made it a great institution for more than a century. Our graduates are to be found in the professions, business, trade, and industry, and their records attest to the quality of their education.

You who are on the campus today will be leaders tomorrow. The judgments and values which you learn and hold today will be reflected in your actions in the years to come. The quest for facts alone can scarcely be the goal of a college education. What is important is the extent to which understanding guides the use of knowledge.

For the person with knowledge and understanding, there is unlimited opportunity to explore new frontiers of human endeavor. The active mind with constructive ideas cannot be bound or shackled.

I wish for each of you the freedom that comes with learning and the acceptance of responsibility that comes with freedom.

Yours sincerely

Eugene B. Elliott
President

Vice Presidents and Controller

Mr. Bruce K. Nelson
Vice President for Instruction

Vice President Nelson administers the university's instructional program. Deans of the schools and colleges report to him. The general administration of policies and procedures affecting academic personnel are within his jurisdiction.

Vice President Lawrence is responsible for the administration of the student personnel program. Student activities, including intercollegiate athletics, are within his jurisdiction.

Mr. James E. Green
Vice President and Director of Planning and Development

Vice President Green is responsible for the planning and construction of the university's physical plant. He is also responsible for the university's public relations program and for the compilation and administration of capital outlay budgets.

Mr. Benjamin Klager
Controller

The University Controller is the chief business administrator of the university. He is responsible for the compilation and administration of the general university budget, for plant operation and maintenance, and for administration of policies affecting clerical and maintenance staff.

Deans

Mr. James M. Brown
Dean of Men

Mr. William J. Crane
Associate Dean of Men

Mr. Ralph F. Gilden
Dean of Student Activities

Mr. R. Stanley Gex
Dean of the College of Education

The work of the Dean of Women is never done. Her many duties center around the needs and interests of all women students.

Dean Rudin assists the Dean of Women and shares the responsibility of administering to all university women.

The responsibilities of Dean Hollis include chairmanship of orientation activities, coordination of the weekly campus calendar, advisor to the All Campus Social Committee, and faculty chairman of homecoming.

Primary emphasis at all times in the Graduate School is on a program which will produce a master teacher.

Dean James "Bingo" Brown is a favorite of all. He considers his main work to be counseling and "trying to guide the men down the proper roadbed of life."

Dean Crane is responsible for housing academic progress, fraternity activities, and disciplinary matters involving men.

Among the duties of the Dean of Student Activities is the supervision of student organizations, the high school-college relations program, student loans and scholarships, and the student insurance program. He is the advisor to student council and student court.

Dean Gex has the supervisory responsibility for the Departments of Education, Special Education, and Physical Education, and of the Roosevelt, Lincoln, and Rackham Schools. He is also director of the summer session.

Faculty at Work on Campus

Did you ever think of what it would be like to be correcting themes instead of writing them, to be evaluating a term project rather than preparing it, to be giving a lecture instead of taking notes on it?

Many times students are guilty of taking their instructors for granted. The responsibilities of teaching include a great deal more than just appearing in the classroom as the chimes herald the hour and in sharing a few well-chosen words with an alert class until that minute hand has moved around to ten.

Eastern Michigan University is proud of the outstanding quality of its faculty. They are graduates of the finest colleges and universities both here and abroad. At the present time, there are three hundred and eighty-seven members on the faculty and staff. This number includes those employed by the University, the Lincoln School, the Rackham School of Special Education, and the Roosevelt School.

Mr. Richard Elder of the Education Department is shown lecturing a teaching of reading class.

Students learn practical application of their course content in the Department of Business Studies by the use of machines connected with their preparation.

Mr. James Mansfield, Guidance Counselor, demonstrates one of the new devices—a controlled reader used in the reading-counseling program.

University Offers Extension Program

Many members of our faculty leave the campus at certain intervals during the week to teach in the classroom of the University's extension centers.

These centers are located throughout Southeastern Michigan in such cities as Flint, Jackson, Lapeer, and Monroe. The program is offered primarily for those persons doing undergraduate or graduate work in the field of education.

Enrollment in this program has increased a great deal in the past few years and the program itself is ever-expanding.

Mr. J. Wescott of the Industrial Arts Department journeys to Flint each Thursday to teach an Arts and Crafts course at the Whittier School. Above, Mr. Wescott, illustrates to the class a technique for one of their many projects.

Faculty Participate In Policy Making Groups

The Faculty Advisory Council, pictured below, is composed of twelve members elected from the general faculty. Eugene B. Elliott, president of the University, is an ex-officio member.

The Council is the responsible agency of the general faculty in matters of faculty welfare and institutional policy. It is authorized to elect the standing and special committees needed to keep the organization functioning effectively.

There are several organizations on campus to which members of the faculty may belong.

The Eastern Michigan University chapter of the American Association of University Professors gives all faculty members an opportunity to meet together and to bring about effective cooperation among the university teachers.

The American Federation of Teachers on campus works to assure optimum educational opportunity and to promote professionally stable conditions for teachers.

The Eastern Michigan University district of the Michigan Education Association strives to advance the interests of education and to promote the professional growth of its members.

The Faculty Men's Club, open to all male general faculty members, was established in 1924 to foster inter-departmental understanding, and to familiarize new faculty members with the history, traditions, and purposes of Eastern Michigan University; to promote harmony and fellowship among faculty members; and to support the educational and administrative policies of the University.

The Faculty Women's Club exists to cultivate a professional and social spirit among its members. All women of the general faculty are eligible for membership. Each year the club provides scholarships for worthy women students.

Eastern Plays Host To Principals

This was the third year that a Principal - Freshmen Conference was held on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. This conference is organized through the office of the Dean of Student Activities.

A list of the former high schools of all summer school and fall freshmen are compiled and the principals of these high schools are then invited to attend a special conference here at Eastern.

On the day of the conference, interviews are scheduled throughout the morning from 8:30 to 11:45. Freshmen are excused from their classes to attend their specific meetings. Interview areas are placed around campus in the dorm lounges, McKenny Hall, and in the lobbies of Quirk, Strong, and the Health Center.

At these meetings, the freshmen are given their mid-semester grades and they discuss with their former principal such things as how well high school prepared them for college and what problems they have encountered since entering college. This helps the principal to see the effectiveness of the high school program.

At noon a luncheon is held for the visiting principals in McKenny Hall. The head of each department on Eastern's campus is seated at one of the tables to discuss with the principals the academic performance of the freshmen.

Halls

Student Government on Eastern's campus is divided into six representative groups. The men and women's residence halls and the married student apartments each elect a council to help make decisions and suggest ways to improve the living conditions. They help implement the social, cultural, and personal growth of all the residents. Under the guidance of the Head Residents, the residence hall councils try to provide a wholesome and harmonious atmosphere.

Bertha G. Buell Residence Hall for women is the newest, most modern hall on Eastern Michigan University's expanding campus.

Buell Hall Active at Christmas Time

Buell Hall, the newest hall on Eastern's campus was opened on January 10, 1957.

Miss Bess Hyde, Head Resident, is aided by the following officers: Barbara Nauman, President; Jill Bennington, Vice President; Jan Hakala, Secretary; and Alice Columbus, Treasurer.

Christmas is an exciting time around Buell Hall. Angel Week is held during this season. During this time a girl receives a name of another girl and does favors for her. To climax this week there is an Angel party given on December 14, and here the girls give their Angels presents. On December 11, Buell was represented at the annual Christmas party by a Western Jail. A Parent - Faculty Tea was held on December 13.

A group of girls from Buell participated in the annual Christmas Sing, under the direction of Ann Roller, in Bowen Field House. Caroling around the campus was done after closing on December 17.

Downing's Social Activities Are Varied

Conscientiously working on the problems of Downing Residence Hall, are Miss Carson, Head Resident, and her assistants, Miss S. Soltman and Miss C. Niemela. These three are faced with the problem of taking room check, counseling, working switchboard and seeing that every thing runs smoothly.

Downing Hall, dedicated to Estelle Downing a former English professor at E.M.U., was opened for occupancy in 1957. It is one of the first buildings of a new women's residence hall complex which, when completed, will contain four residence hall units and house 1250 women.

the year. In December the hall gave a Christmas Faculty tea. This gave the students a chance to meet their instructors socially. Also at this time, Downing was host to several University of Michigan men's residence halls for exchange dances.

For the first time in 1958, Downing sponsored a Dad's Doy. This event proved so successful that other halls planned similar events. The annual "Mom's Weekend" is a time when mothers live the Downing way for a few days. A program is planned which usually consists of a delicious dinner, fashion show and tea, and a variety show with a singing group.

The big spring project is the "Colleen's Dream." This St. Patrick's Doy dance is a semi-formal affair complete with leprechauns and the traditional Blorney stone.

The latest addition to the extensive list of activities is helping a troop of Brownies at Roosevelt School.

Homelike Atmosphere Prevails in Goddard

Mary A. Goddard Residence Hall, which was built five years ago, is an example of modern roomy college living. The suites are self-contained with sleeping, study, living and both facilities included. The entire hall creates a homey friendly atmosphere.

The residents of Goddard spend some of their spare time preparing for and participating in various activities sponsored by the hall. Two of these events are the Faculty Tea, "At Home", and the Open House which gives parents, faculty, and students a chance to get acquainted on a non-academic basis.

The formal dance, held at Christmas, was carried out in green and gold decor which added much to the holiday spirit.

Each year, a "Mom's Day" and "Dad's Day" are held to give parents an idea of residence hall life.

Jones Takes Top Dorm Honors at Homecoming

Jones Hall was opened in 1949 and bears the name of Lydia I. Jones, who was Dean of Women at Eastern from 1924 to 1939.

The year's activities included a "Pixie Week" held in October. During "Pixie Week" each girl does nice things and gives little gifts to another girl. At the end of the week the "Pixies" are revealed at a party.

Top honors in the Hall division were received by Jones this year for Homecoming decorations. They carried out a Holland theme on both their float and Hall decorations.

On December 12, Jones held their annual formal, "Fantasy In White." Using a blue, silver and white motif to carry out their decorations, the dance featured the Dick James Quartet. December 13 was the Parent-Faculty Tea giving the parents an opportunity to meet the faculty. Christmas activities were topped off with the participation in the annual Christmas Sing and caroling.

Other activities included a party earlier in the fall semester with Hayden House of the University of Michigan, weekly corridor dinners, class and faculty teas and court picnics.

King Hall is Eastern's Oldest Women's Dorm

Julio Ann King Hall was founded in 1939.

During the fall, the usual hustle and bustle of making new friends, participating in Homecoming, and keeping up with homework was highlighted by "Pixie Days." The girls do each other surprise favors and at a party before Thanksgiving vacation the "Pixie Pals" are revealed to each other. At Christmas time, the King girls play Santa Claus and give a party for the children at Lincoln School. The girls bring toys and clothing from home, doing any repair work necessary. They then wrap the toys for distribution.

An annual Faculty - Parent Tea is held each spring, extending to the parents an opportunity to meet the Eastern Faculty. Rounding out the year's activities are the weekly corridor dinners where faculty members are invited to join the girls for a special meal that is catered by the kitchen staff.

Brown Hall is E.M.U.'s Newest Men's Dorm

James M. Brown Residence Hall was opened in 1949. It is the newest men's dorm and is named in honor of the famed "Bingo" Brown, Eastern's present Dean of Men. It is located directly across the street from Bowen Field House.

At the present time, Brown Hall has 220 men residing in it; however, the rated capacity is approximately 272. Two room suites are each occupied by two men. Unlike other dorms on our campus

Brown has its own dining hall.

To start the school year's activities off right, Brown took second place in float competition during the gala Homecoming activities. Shortly before Thanksgiving recess the entire campus enjoyed a "Beatnik Dance" sponsored by Brown Hall. There was a Citizenship Dinner given each semester honoring the outstanding young men living in the dorm. Inter-dorm basketball and baseball wound up the year's activities.

Board of Governors Control Goodison Hall

One of the oldest residence halls on Eastern's campus is Goodison Hall which operates under the supervision of Mrs. Dulcie V. Smith, housemother. The hall is centrally located on the campus and is adjacent to King Hall. It was dedicated to Bertha A. Goodison, a former member of the art department, in 1939. The building accomodates 202 students. Men were first assigned to Goodison in the fall of 1957.

The government of the hall is somewhat different from that of the other halls for it is composed of a board of governors. These governors, who are the supervising officials of their respective corridors, are elected by the residents in the Spring. From this board of governors a president is elected. This year Harold Bessert was elected. Also elected by the residents is a house council. The council consists of a president, a secretary-treasurer, a social chairman, a publicity chairman, a scholastic chairman, a hospitality chairman, and an athletic chairman.

One of the most important events of Goodison Hall is a Citizenship-Scholarship Dinner held once each semester. A scholarship is presented to an outstanding citizen with a high scholastic rating. Charles J. Schonkin received the scholarship during the fall of 1959. Other seasonal events include Christmas caroling, orientation, and parties for the faculty and parents.

Munson Provides Many Activities for Residents

A very necessary part of dormitory living are the opportunities to participate in activities. These activities fall into two main categories; the formal and the informal. The informal includes dormitory dances, intramural sports and informal discussion groups.

The activities are designed in such a way that the occupants have interchange of their particular interests, skills and ideas in a friendly and more relaxing atmosphere. Prominent among this type are the typical discussions found in the lobbies, lounges and rooms. The subject matter runs the whole gamut of human living, from a recent scientific or philosophical theory to the last movie produced in Hollywood.

Formal activities differ from the informal in that they are held in observance of a specific occasion, or for special recognition of outstanding residents. A speaker and guests are invited. Everyone attending these is required to wear formal attire. Among these are the semi-annual scholarship dinner, which honors residents having a high scholastic average. Also, a special dinner is given for the graduating seniors.

Pine Grove Terrace Houses Married Students

The first six units of Pine Grove Terrace were opened in 1955. An additional eight units were opened in 1957. Apartment housing at Eastern endeavors to provide housing at a rate that will make the buildings and services self-supporting and self-liquidating but at a rate sufficiently low to encourage equality of educational opportunity.

During occupancy— the husband or wife must be a full time student enrolled on the Eastern Michigan campus. A full time student must be carrying either eleven hours on the undergraduate level or eight hours on the graduate level. First consideration for apartments are given students with a two point or better average.

Cornell Courts opens this fall with ninety new apartment units.

Organizations

Education must be, of course, the primary object in a student's life while in school. But while education provides the foreground, organizations provide a diverse background in the picture of life at Eastern.

It would be a rare student indeed who has not been influenced, to some extent, by one of the many organizations on the EMU campus. Socially, certain organizations provide dances, parties, outings and countless other chances to relax for a few hours. Others may give the student an opportunity to serve, to aid a worthy cause, to be active in student government, or to work on a publication until the last deadline has been met. Professionally, they may aid a student in the field of his choice through the lectures, seminars, and field trips. Still other organizations honor those students whose academic averages or activities warrant it.

The EMU players was founded in 1952. The purpose of this organization is to promote the dramatic arts on campus; to stimulate interest in the production of plays; and to help students appreciate the vitality of the theatre. Their activities include an open house, the variety show, four major productions a year, and a banquet.

To become an associate member one must work at least 20 hours on the various activities; with 100 work hours, one can become an active member. Some of the group's activities include the nine crews; scene construction, scene painting, lighting, stage crews, costumes, make-up, properties, business management, and publicity.

Anyone can work on one of these crews to try out for a part in a play as long as they are in good academic standing. Approximately 100 students participate in the club each year.

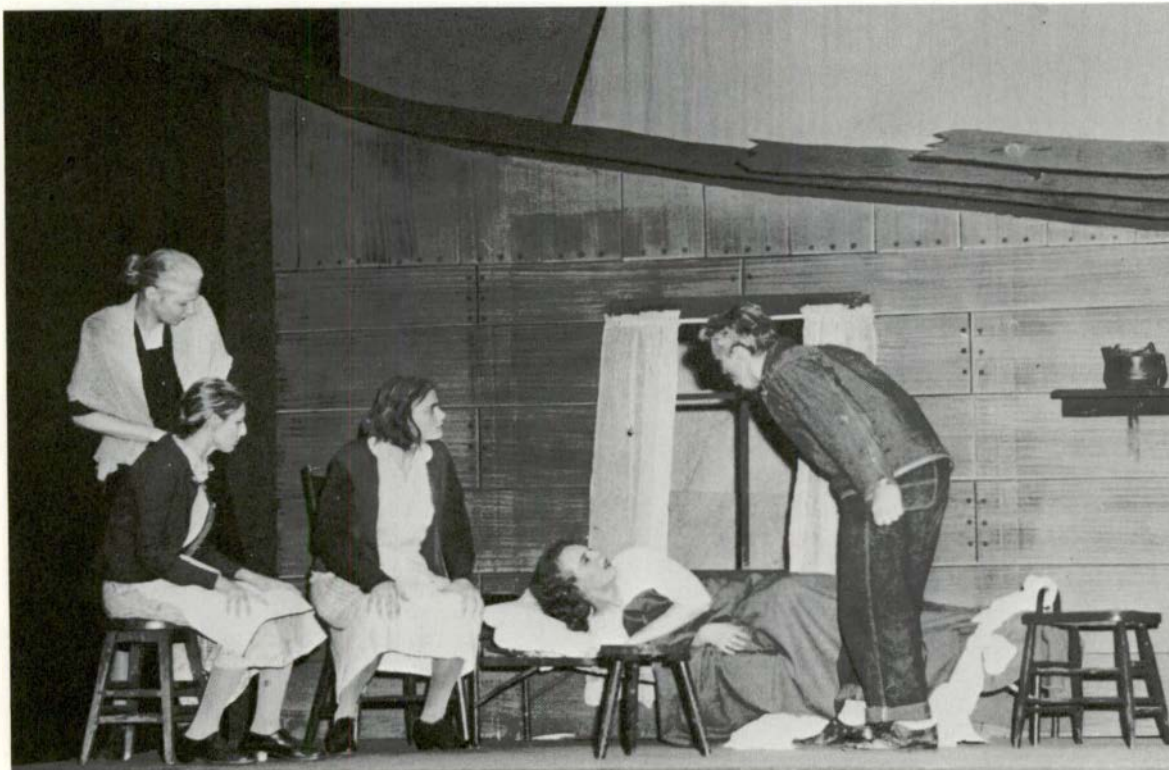

An important part of any dramatic production is the lighting.

Props are given a final backstage check before the curtain goes up.

Make-up takes time and care, as shown here before the play "Dark of the Moon."

Art Guild

The Art Guild was founded on the Eastern campus five years ago. The Guild is open to anyone majoring in art. The purpose of the organization is to further interest in, and to promote, art activities.

Activities for the year included drawing caricatures for their part in the annual Christmas party, a Christmas card workshop, a Masquerade Ball, painting scenery for the modern dance show, and an annual sale of projects. Other activities included field trips to Chicago, Detroit, and Toledo museums.

The Geography club met once a month throughout the year for its formal meetings. They also held a coffee hour during one school day of each month. Illustrative lectures were given by such faculty men as Mr. Geoffrey Martin, Assistant Professor of Geography; and Dr. Donald Brown of the Natural Science Department.

At Thanksgiving, several of the members participated in the forty-fifth annual meeting of the National Council for Geographic Education. It was held in Detroit and Eastern's Geography Club members acted as host.

Social events included a Christmas party and a party celebrating the end of the school year.

During the spring semester an Honorary Geographic Fraternity was established on Eastern's campus. It is called Gamma Theta Upsilon and is a national organization.

Arabic Club

In the fall of 1958 the Arabic Club was founded. It is open to any EMU student who is interested in Arab and Middle East affairs. The club is primarily social in nature and offers students the opportunity to participate in, and to share, the Arab culture. Each spring, they sponsor the Arabian Nights dance.

In an effort to promote a better understanding between the United States and the Arab world, they have sponsored such speakers as Dr. Fayez A. Auyegh, former director of the Arab States delegation, who spoke on "New American Opportunities in the Arab World."

Members of the club have also been active participants in intramural sports.

Chemistry Club

In accordance with the nationwide trend, the Chemistry Club has delved deep into the study of atomic energy. Two field trips took members to the Atomic Reactor in Monroe and the Ford Nuclear Reactor at U. of M. where they could see, at first hand, atomic power at work.

Emeritus Professor, B. W. Peet, who is still living in Ypsilanti, initiated the club in 1910. It has been in continuous existence since then. This year, they celebrated their 50th anniversary with a banquet inviting back all alumni members of the club.

Every year, the Chemistry Club controls the sale of Chemistry and Physics Handbooks to students and the outstanding freshman student in the first semester of college chemistry receives a handbook as an award for his work.

Natural Science Club

Eastern's Natural Science Club, which was founded in 1898 as the Nature Study Club, had as its first adviser Professor William H. Sherzer. In the spring of 1899, it received official recognition from President Boone.

This organization, which is open to natural science majors and minors and all other interested students, provides field trips to points of interest and speakers bringing new concepts of science to our campus.

The members of this club actively participate in the improvement of the department. Each year, supplies which need attention are repaired to be of better service to students. Money-making projects, which are initiated, go toward the purchase of equipment for further probing into the world of natural science.

This organization's activities are of both benefit and interest to all Eastern Michigan students.

Library Club

The Library Club was founded in 1952. At present there are about twenty members. The club meets once a month, visits schools and entertains alumnae.

Activities this year included participation in the Book Fair with Roosevelt School. Also, during the spring, the members played host to the American Association of School Libraries.

Home Economics Club

Home Economic majors work on projects at the Home Economics house.

The Home Economics Club of Eastern Michigan University is a chapter of the Michigan Home Economics Association and the National Home Economics Association.

Activities for the year included a state workshop held on the Eastern campus last November, tray favors for the Washtenaw County Home, and Christmas dinner. In the spring, the group attended the spring meeting of the Michigan Home Economics Association. Also, some of the members attended the Chicago Province Leadership Convention.

The group met once a month, during the year, to either listen to a speaker or for a social evening.

Occupational Therapy is any activity, mental or physical, prescribed to aid recovery from disease or injury. This form of treatment is a program under medical prescription where the patient participates in selected activities to benefit his own physical, mental, or emotional condition. The activities are devised to help him work out his special problems.

Any student enrolled in Occupational Therapy is eligible to become a member of the Occupational Therapy Club. This organization works to perform services in the field of O.T. The meetings are held bi-monthly and are usually lectures, craft demonstrations, or field trips.

Each year the members do a Christmas play for the children at Rackham School and for the patients at Ypsilanti State Hospital. They also have a craft sale of all the things the students have made. Throughout the year, there are many other activities provided for the O.T. student to help him become better acquainted with his chosen future profession.

Special Education Club

The purpose of the Special Education Club is to promote educational and social functions outside the classroom for those students interested in Special Education.

This organization is open to anyone interested in Special Education. Those who might have a particular concern are people majoring in visually handicapped, acoustically handicapped, orthopedically handicapped, mentally handicapped, and socially and emotionally maladjusted.

Meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday of the month. At these meetings, speakers talk on all phases of Special Education. Also, there are field trips, an open house at Rackham for anyone interested in touring the building, and Christmas Caroling.

Chess Club

Sixty-four red and black squares provide a common meeting ground each Tuesday night for members of EMU's Chess Club. This group, with an average of 10 members at each of its meetings, finds both intellectual and social stimulation during their weekly meetings.

At the present time, the major goal of the group is to build up a larger membership. And as the group increases numerically, they hope to tap the potential talent and skill on the campus.

Meetings are open to, and are often attended by, members from other chess clubs in the area such as the Huron Valley Chess Club and an Ann Arbor group. The programs, which of course, feature many games of standard chess, are often designed to show some of the variety and "fun" types of chess and may include lectures on strategy.

By a long process of liberal education, a student becomes certified to teach. After three years of intense preparation, the university student combines academic work with student teaching during their senior year. Critic meetings are held weekly to talk over classroom problems and educational problems. With student teaching and 124 undergraduate hours completed a graduating senior receives a provisional certificate to teach for five years. During the five year period, the teacher must teach three years and take ten hours of graduate work to receive the permanent certificate.

Mrs. Margaret Fitzharris, second grade critic teacher at Roosevelt, helps Timmy Cox and Jill Foster with their workbook.

Student teachers are required to meet one afternoon each week with their critic. Shown here are student teachers at Roosevelt with Mrs. Margaret Fitzharris.

Veterans Club

The Vets Club was reactivated in the fall of 1958. It is open to any EMU student who has been honorably discharged from the military service. Six-month reservists, however, are not eligible.

The club is one of the largest organizations on campus with 120 paid members. They have been very active in intramural sports and took first place in baseball during the spring of 1959 and first place in football this year.

Social activities include parties and dances. Aside from social activities, the club provides various services to the community. Every Thursday night a group is delegated to direct an athletic program for the children at the Ypsilanti State Hospital. They have also raised money for needy families.

The club also looks out for its members' interests. At present, they are trying to get the GI Bill for education which expired in 1955 to cover later graduates from the military service.

Circle K

Circle K was founded on Eastern's campus three years ago and is sponsored by the International Kiwanis. The club is strictly a service organization which lives up to its motto "We build." Each week, they sponsor the showing of fairly recent Hollywood films in Strong Auditorium. The money obtained from these showings is put into a fund used at Christmas time to aid needy families in the Ypsilanti area. Members of the group also put up the Christmas lights around the library.

Membership is open to any EMU male student with a 2.00 average or better. Being a service organization, the club leaves itself open to perform any service project the administration deems desirable. They also participate in those social activities open to groups — such as having an entry in the homecoming parade.

Campus Women Participate In

The Women's Recreation Association is the main athletic association for women on campus. Each woman student is automatically a member and able to participate in any of the activities.

The purpose of W.R.A. is to promote and foster an extra-curricular program to provide wholesome recreational activities for Eastern's students. The association endeavors to encourage co-recreational activities whenever possible. W.R.A. tries to create good sportsmanship, leadership, and a spirit of unity.

W.R.A. is made up of several distinct units. There are three leagues which hold contests throughout the school year. The Independent League consists of the different residence halls on campus. The Major League is made up of physical education majors. The third is the sorority League including all sororities on campus. These different leagues compete in team activities throughout the year.

The Cataline Club is also under the sponsorship of W.R.A. Each year it sponsors the annual water show. The purpose of this club is to create artistic achievement, the fun of working together, improvement of water skills, and the production of a water show.

The Orchesis Club is the modern dance organization. Under the sponsorship of W.R.A. the Orchesis Club stages an annual dance concert, and performs in various productions on campus.

WEMU

WEMU Broadcasting Guild, was founded in the spring of 1959.

Programs produced by the Guild are tape recorded at the Dramatic Arts Building and heard over local commercial radio stations. Members of the Guild are students on the university campus. The president is David Nichols and Mr. William Work serves as faculty adviser for the group.

In June, WEMU will have completed some twenty-six weeks of programing.

At the signal, these members of the Broadcasting Guild started a panel discussion to be aired at a later date over WEMU.

Military Science Trains Future Officers Through ROTC Program

For some, a diploma may be a passport to a job. Forty January graduates this year received, along with their diploma, an even more secure passport. These 40 men received their commissions in the United States Army.

These were the men who have completed the ROTC training program while in school here. Besides the first two compulsory years of training, these men had gone on and taken the advanced courses which are offered by the ROTC department during a student's junior and senior years.

Founded on this campus in 1952, the department's purpose is to train future officers for the army. Besides this, however, they sponsor the varsity rifle team, the drill team, and a field day.

Perhaps the most widely known of the social events they sponsor is the annual Military Ball. At this impressive affair, students enrolled in the ROTC program wear their uniforms and a queen with her court are chosen to reign for the night.

Judy Baker received her crown and bouquet of queenship for the Military Ball from Lieutenant Colonel Pratt Warren.

Music

Choir

The choir, under the direction of Robert Waterstripe, is made up of interested members of the Choral Union. The organization is open to all members of the Choral Union except freshman girls. The group, composed of about thirty-five members, gave many concerts on and off campus throughout the year. Concerts include the one for freshman-principal's day and the annual Christmas serenade for Pierce Hall. They are always on hand to sing for the mid-year commencement and the honors convocation.

Freshman Ensemble

The Freshman Ensemble, directed by John S. Elwell, is made up of freshman girls who are members of the Choral Union. Membership is limited to fifteen and is chosen by audition. Throughout the year they are invited to sing at community affairs and even travel to outside communities. One of the highlights of the year was the concert for the Faculty Dames Christmas party.

Choral Union

Eastern's Choral Union, directed by Haydn Morgan, is the largest music organization on campus and is open to all students. Required of vocal majors, it also gives academic credit to other participants. Major activities of the group are the traditional Christmas and Spring Concerts, and Baccalaureate services.

Drum Major and Majorettes

The whistle blows! The drums roll! The band takes the field! This is a familiar sight to all sports minded college students. Oliver "Sunny Skies" Peltonen and the majorettes, Dexa Coleman, Ruth Rezek, Judy Dow, and Margaret White are introduced to the crowd by Roger Losey, the band's announcer. In their snappy green and white uniforms they jump, dance, and twirl. In this few minutes, each fall week-end, they show the results of long lessons and practices.

The majorettes are chosen each fall by Mr. Osadchuk, the returning majorettes, and the band. In their try-outs, they must show skill in the fundamental twirls and marching. They are also judged on general appearance.

These five people practice each time the band meets in addition to individual practicing and routine composing. All of the routines seen at the football games are created by the girls themselves. They plan their skirts and ideas around the theme of the show and the style of the music.

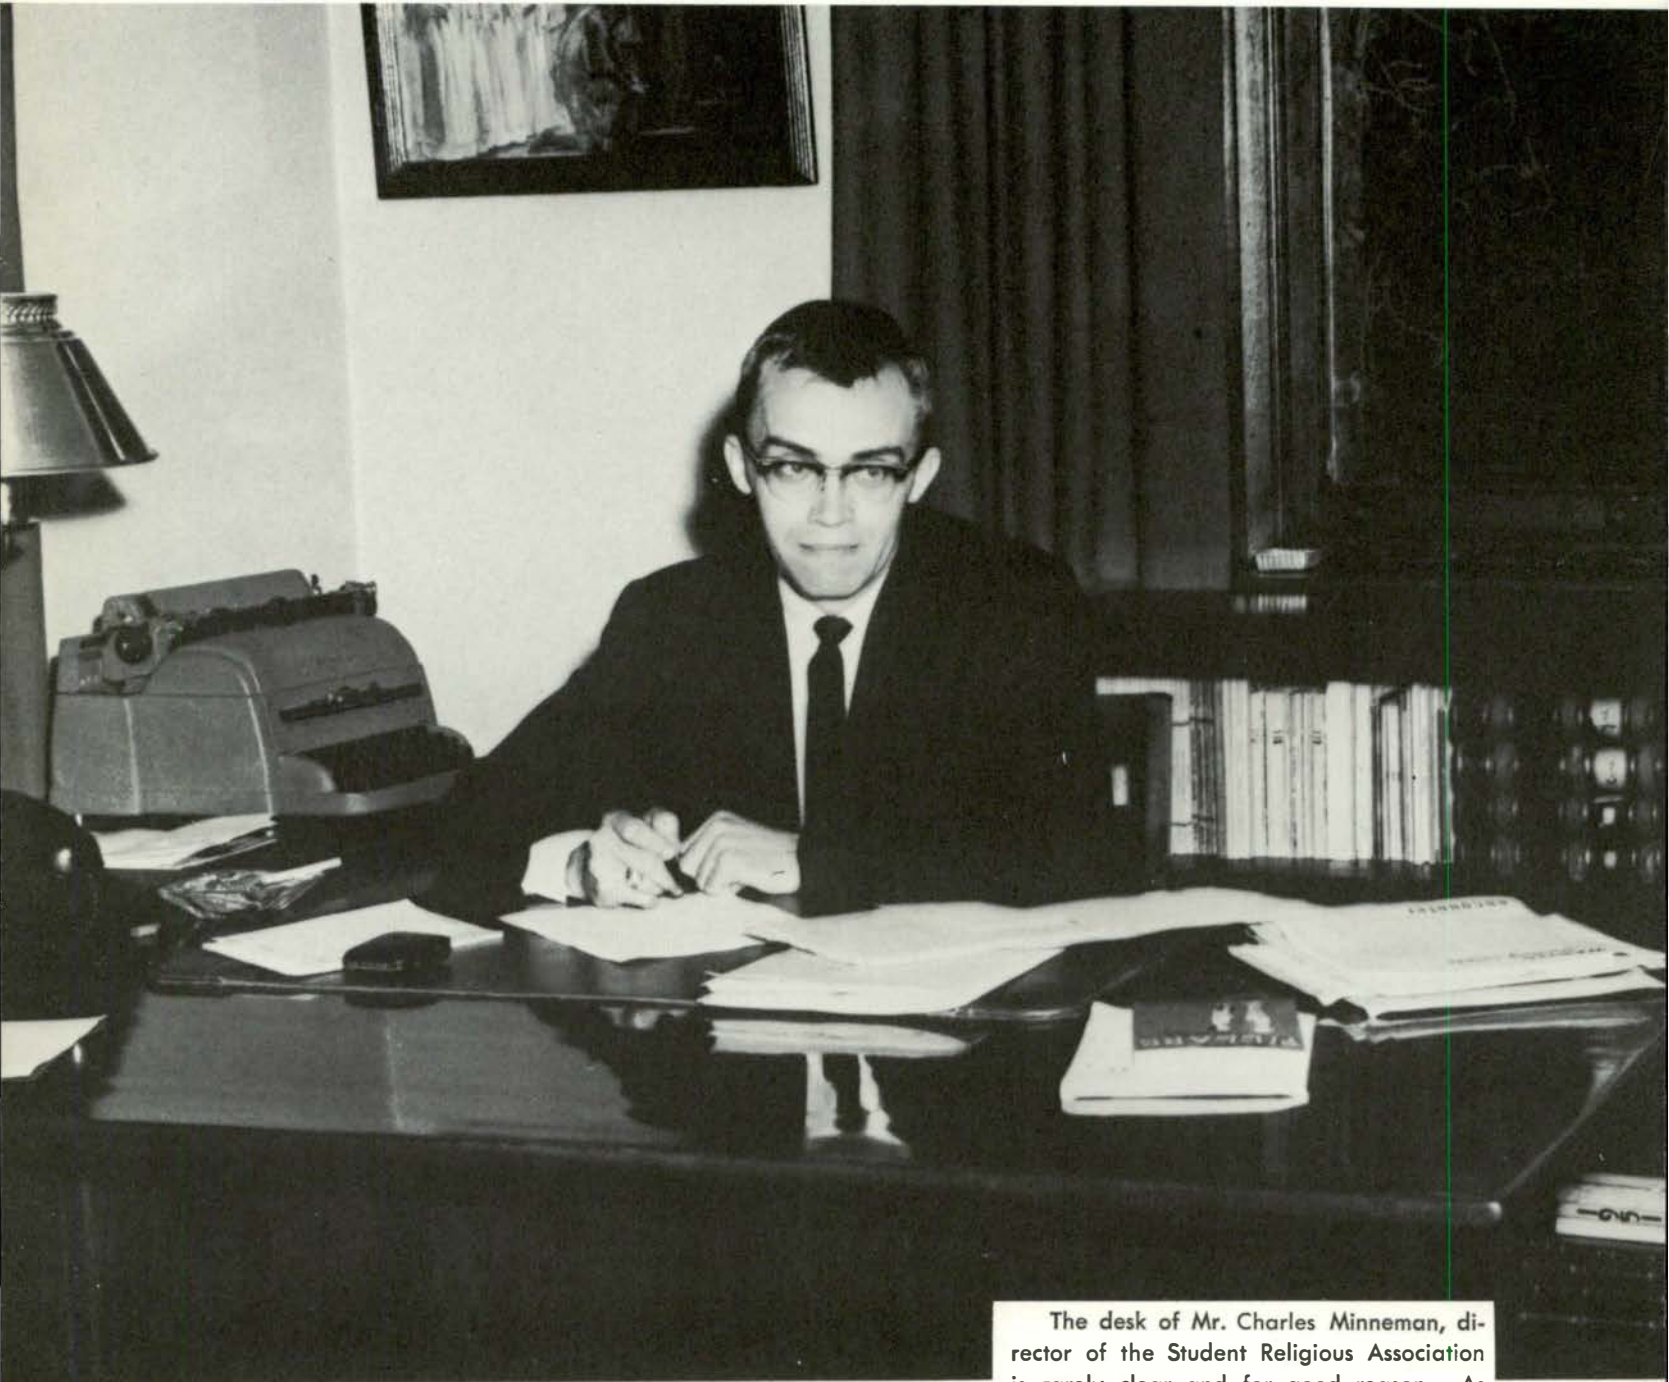

The high jumping Drum Major for Eastern Michigan's Marching Band is Oliver "Sunny Skies" Peltonen.

Director of Religious Affairs

The desk of Mr. Charles Minneman, director of the Student Religious Association is rarely clear and for good reason. As director of religious affairs at E. M. U. he is the administrative coordinator of all the student religious groups. He is also the official advisor of S.R.A.

Religion, Organizational Change

Under the Director of Religious Affairs, Charles Minneman, the Student Religious Association is in the process of many changes. This position, as well as that of Associate Director which is filled by Gladys Erickson, was started only this year. Both are under the auspices of the Vice President of Student Affairs.

Probably the most important factor in the progress of the organization has been a complete revision of the constitution. Under the new constitution, S. R. A. will become the Council of Student Religious Affairs. More important than the change in name, however, is the proposed change in structure and function.

The old constitution listed a dual purpose for

S.R.A. First, was to promote understanding and to integrate the actions between the religious groups on campus. Second, they were to initiate a campus-wide religious organization. Under the new constitution, one of the main purposes will be to provide programs and functions which no single group could manage alone. These will include well-known speakers and campus-wide programs. It will be more than a religious association; it will be a co-ordinator of religious associations.

Much of the responsibility will fall upon the shoulders of the people who will fill two new offices. These are a Vice President of Student Relations, and a Vice President of Programing.

Hospitality Committee

Eastern Michigan hospitality has been extended to many visitors during the past year through the work of the Hospitality Committee. The committee has kept the tradition of Eastern's friendliness alive to guests through tours of the campus, the annual Future Teachers of America day, and the Principal-Freshman Conference.

The Hospitality Committee was organized in the fall of 1956, with four students appointed by the Women's League and the Men's Union, to serve as the core of the group. The committee has approximately sixty members.

One of the chief functions of the committee is to serve prospective students, parents, alumni, and high school and college delegations when they visit the campus by providing guide service and information about Eastern's academic, social and co-curricular program.

Stoic Society

Stoic Society, Eastern's oldest honorary society, had its beginning in 1909. It was started by Mr. J. Stuart Lathers, head of the Department of Oratory.

In its first year, Stoic Society initiated a scholarship fund to assist promising students. At the present time, the organization awards a scholarship to each officer and controls twelve scholarship funds with a principal totaling over $15,000.

Prospective members are taken from the sophomore class and are chosen by membership vote and faculty recommendations. Qualities looked for in nominees are: scholarship, helpfulness in school affairs, moral responsibility, and initiative.

Each year, Stoic Society holds traditional events such as the Stoic Banquet, White Elephant Sale, May Breakfast, and the Reception of New Members.

From its beginning membership of eleven, Stoic Society has grown along with the university. It now has over 100 members. Graduate members of Stoic are serving in positions of honor and responsibility both in this country and abroad.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is the national honor society in education. Its purpose is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards. Also, they wish to recognize outstanding contributions to education. Locally, it attempts to improve student teacher education, professional ethics, and the professional future of teachers.

Each year Kappa Delta Pi has a program designed to further values in the field of education. Last year the Books for Cambodia drive was included in this program.

Kappa Delta Pi was founded at the University of Illinois in 1911. There are 214 other chapters. Pi chapter was installed at Eastern Michigan University on June 20, 1922.

Pi Kappa Delta

Pi Kappa Delta is the largest honorary Forensic Society in America. Michigan Epsilon is the chapter here at Eastern Michigan University.

It was established for the purpose of stimulating progress in and furthering the interest of inter-collegiate speech activities and communications. This is being done in an effort to provide functional leadership training for life, and at the same time to encourage a spirit of fellowship, brotherly co-operation, and incentive for achievement.

Its members are students in good standing, graduates, and instructors who have represented E. M. U. in speech activities. Pi Kappa members attend national and regional conventions and sponsor district tournament discussions for high schools. The honorary is proud of its debate squad, which is one of the finest in the state. It is equally proud of its discussion group which has also won recognition.

Awards are given for honorary membership, distinguished alumni, and scholarship.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary fraternity for students in dramatics. The members are selected for outstanding work in the three branches of dramatics . . . acting, directing, and stagecraft. The students who meet the requirements of the society are invited for membership. The members must show an active interest in drama and educational theatre.

The Fraternity participates in a number of events on campus each year. Their activities include producing a variety show and assisting with the various plays. The Monday after each production they sponsor a free informal coffee hour, which is open to the public. Each year they also lend their time and talents to the campus Christmas presentation.

An award is presented annually to "The Outstanding Player of the Year." This is the student who has contributed the most in the field of dramatics for Eastern Michigan University. His name is inscribed on a plaque, which is on display in the Quirk Theatre lounge.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

Alpha Kappa Alpha was founded at Howard University, Washington D.C., in 1906. The organization was initiated by Ethel Hedgeman Lyle. At present, 25,000 members are active in 165 graduate chapters and 104 undergraduate chapters throughout the United States.

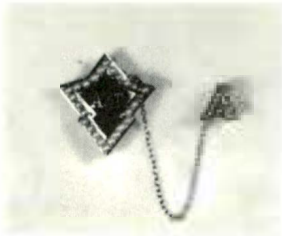

Xi, the local chapter at Eastern Michigan was established in 1949. Since then, Xi chapter has been active both in civic and social affairs. Volunteer work at Byer Hospital and the local Red Cross constitute part of the services rendered by this group. Once a year, a scholarship is awarded to a deserving high school student, and a Thanksgiving basket is given to a needy family in the local area. The semi-formal dance, "Akabaile", is an annual spring event.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha chapter, is a national sorority, founded here on November 4, 1899. There are thirty active collegiate chapters.

Activities this year included a Founder's Day dinner on October 31. On December 7, twelve pledges were initiated into Alpha Sigma Tau. A dinner and Christmas party given by the alumnae followed the initiation.

Among their spring activities was an all-campus dance sponsored jointly with the Sig Tau's and held during Orientation week. The annual Candlelight Ball was also held during the spring, at which time new actives were honored. At the Candlelight Ball, they also pass on their traveling President's pin, the scholarship pin, and the traveling lavelier, which is passed on to the "best pledge" each semester.

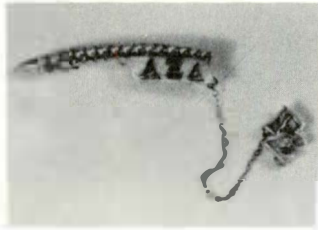

Alpha Sig sorority weekend was held near Brighton on a lake so that the girls could swim and sun before final exams.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was founded in 1913 by Howard University undergraduate women. The sorority emphasizes high scholastic attainment and requires it for membership in the group. The local chapter is Delta Beta and is a member of the international organization. It was founded in 1949 and adopted the Violet as its flower. Miss Penelope Bullock of the Eastern Michigan library staff serves as Delta Theta's adviser.

Volunteering aid to organizations such as the Women's Christian Association, the Red Cross, Girl Scouts, and the United Community Fund are several of the ways the Delta Sigma girls serve the public.

The group also contributes annually to a Christmas party for underprivileged children. By working through their international headquarters, they are able to finance an exchange student program.

The Crimson and Cream Ball is the main social event that is sponsored annually by the sorority.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta was founded in 1902 at the University of Miami in Oxford, Ohio and became a member of the National Panhellenic Council in 1910. The Gamma Sigma chapter at Eastern is one of the 123 chapters of Delta Sigma throughout the United States.

The colors of the sorority are old rose and vieux green which are represented in the flower, the Killarney rose.

Annual events of the Gamma Sigma chapter are the Delta Zeta-Delta Sigma Phi all-campus dance, the Delta Zeta-Delta Sig party for underprivileged children at Christmas, a dinner dance honoring the pledges sorority weekend, and participation in State Day at Michigan State University.

Delta Zeta girls enjoy weekend of fun.

Sigma Kappa

In September 1959, Pi Kappa Sigma, a local sorority on Eastern's campus, became the Delta Alpha chapter of Sigma Kappa, a national social sorority. There are 102 chapters. The purpose of Sigma Kappa is to unite its members in a bond of friendship for the development of character and the promotion of social and intellectual activities.

This year's activities included participation in the Muscular Dystrophy drive, the Chick Relays, the Christmas Sing, and the Greek Talent Show. The annual dance was called Cupid's Capers. Spring activities included sorority weekend and senior dessert. Also held in the spring was the dinner dance. Throughout the year they contributed to two philanthropies: The Maine Seacoast Mission, and The American Farm School in Greece.

Sigma Nu Phi

Sigma Nu Phi was founded in September of 1897. It is the oldest sorority on campus. They have alumni chapters in the Detroit, Toledo, and Ypsilanti areas. Another chapter is in the formation stages near Flint.

The marguerite is the sorority flower. Yellow and white, their colors, were chosen by the founder's as was the diamond shaped pin design.

Sigma Nu Phi has many traditions. They have held the Panhellenic Scholarship cup for the last four out of five years. Annually, they sponsor a Thanksgiving and a Christmas project for a needy family. Their social functions include a dinner dance in the spring, an annual Faculty Tea, and a sorority weekend.

Their goal is to achieve a feeling of sisterhood and to establish coordination in working together.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

In 1917, the Omicron chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, national social sorority, was founded on the Eastern campus. The first chapter was founded in 1898 and at present there are 55 active chapters.

Sigma Sigma Sigma supports a broad social service program. The most significant program today is the Robbie Page Memorial. The donations made to this cause are for the furtherance of research work in polio. Another social service project on the local scale is the chapter's annual trip to Mayberry Sanatorium. They give the children suffering from tuberculosis a Christmas party.

Other social events include a Cider Sip after the homecoming game, Dad's day festivities, and the Hobo-Hop given with the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

On November 7, 1913, at Old Washington Square, New York University, eleven young men got together to plan a new college fraternity. In 1917, they placed their second chapter at Cornell. At present there are seventy-two active chapters totalling over 19,000 members.

September of 1957, found Epsilon Mu Colony of Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity born on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. The feeling of brotherhood of Alpha Epsilon Pi is expressed: "Grant us Brotherhood, not only for this day but for all years. A brotherhood not of words but of acts and deeds."

Although this chapter is in its infancy, it has received many awards: World University Service Fair Plaque, Best Pledge Award, The Scholarship Keys, and The Masters Award.

Arm of Honor

On January 5, 1895, a group of men met on Emmet Street in Ypsilanti, to form a speech fraternity of high standards and quality. A week later, on January 12, 1895 the name of Arm of Honor was officially accepted by this new fraternity.

During its sixty-five years of existence, the Arm of Honor has changed from a speech to a social fraternity. Many of its aims, however, are the same as those initiated in 1895. The main purpose is creating a spirit of life and long friendship among its members.

Kappa Phi Alpha

The Alpha chapter of Kappa Phi Alpha was founded in 1902. At that time, Mr. Dimon H. Roberts, the founder, along with seven other men established this local fraternity. The fraternity stands for good scholarship, good fellowship, and good sportsmanship. The original members selected Hercules as the symbol and Patron Saint of their organization.

Through the efforts of Mr. William J. Brownrigg and the strong alumni board a house was purchased in 1951 at 122 N. Normal Street. The house accommodates 27 of the present active members.

The annual Red Rose Ball and Spring Banquet highlight the fraternity's social activities of the year. Kappa Phi Alpha has won the all-sports trophy for the last three years and ranked second last year in the scholastic rating.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

Phi Sigma Epsilon is a national social fraternity which was founded in Emporia, Kansas in 1910. Its history began on Eastern Michigan's campus when Chi Delta became the Lambda chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon in 1934. The organization promotes brotherhood and scholarship and is run by every man for the benefit of every man in it.

Phi Sigma Epsilon sponsors many activities throughout the college year. These include participation in the all campus Christmas party, a Christmas party for underprivileged children in the Ypsilanti area, the annual "Phi Sig-Tri Sig dance", and the annual closed dinner dance. The Phi Sigs are also active in inter-fraternity athletics.

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity works on their winning float for the homecoming parade.

Pi Kappa Phi was founded in 1904 in Charleston, South Carolina and has grown in southern tradition. It is this tradition that binds together the 100 active and alumni chapters. The Beta Pi chapter was founded on this campus in 1957.

Pi Kappa Phi is proud of the close action between their chapters. This year has seen their annual "Beta Bowl", which is a yearly football game with the Beta Lota chapter from Toledo University. Other events include a banquet with their chapter from Michigan State, a round robin basketball tournament with the chapters from Michigan State, Central Michigan, and Toledo University, and a bowling match and baseball games between the previously mentioned chapters.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Sigma Tau Gamma members and dates are enjoying a picnic.

The Alpha chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma was founded at Central Missouri State College in 1920. Since then, the fraternity has added new chapters scattered widely throughout the country. The chapter on Eastern's campus was founded in 1948. It is the Alpha Theta chapter. The fraternity motto is Wisdom, Purity and Nobility.

During the school term the fraternity takes part in many varied activities. They enter participants in the intramural athletic events. At Christmas time, a party is held for underprivileged children. During orientation week, the Sig Tau's co-sponsored an all-campus dance with Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority. A big event in the spring is the annual White Rose Ball.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, national fraternity, was founded in the year 1899. In 1955 the national office of this fraternity granted a chapter, named Delta Pi, to a local fraternity at Eastern by the name of Phi Delta Pi. At the present time Tau Kappa Epsilon has 150 active chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

The TKE's introduced the "Chick Relays" on Eastern's campus, and sponsor it annually during Homecoming Week. Each spring semester Tau Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Xi Delta present their all-campus Double Exposure Dance.

The fraternity takes part in the Men's Union annual Mad Man's Marthon, which it has won each year in the four year history of the event. They also take part in interfraternity athletics.

Zeta Chi Sigma

Zeta Chi Sigma fraternity was founded on Eastern's campus in 1928. As a local fraternity, they have petitioned the Theta Chi national group and hope to be admitted to their ranks soon.

The Zeta Chi Cruise is the big social event of the year. This is a fantasy dance which has a different geographical theme each year.

The fraternity participates in the all-campus Christmas Sing and has an annual party for children at this time of the year. Other activities include the building of a float for the homecoming parade and a dance for the active members and the alumni. Another big event is the Memorial Day picnic.

The Zeta Chi's advisor is Mr. Quinn Tyler of the Department of Art. The fraternity house is located on Cross Street.

The Zeta Chi house, decorated for homecoming, affords grandstand seats where spectators can watch the parade.

Sports

Coached by one of the finest staffs in the country, Huron athletes maintained the spirit and courage that is traditionally Eastern's. This spirit was kept alive despite the lack of talent and depth that plagued all the athletic teams this year.

Fred Trosko's gridgers won only one game with an inexperienced and undermanned squad. But, George Marshall's cross-country team loped to a sixth place finish in the IIAC. The cagers, coached by Jim Skala, netted seven out of thirteen games, while Russell Bush's wrestlers grappled for sixth slot in the conference.

As we go to press, the trackmen show promise of a fair season with a three meet winning streak.

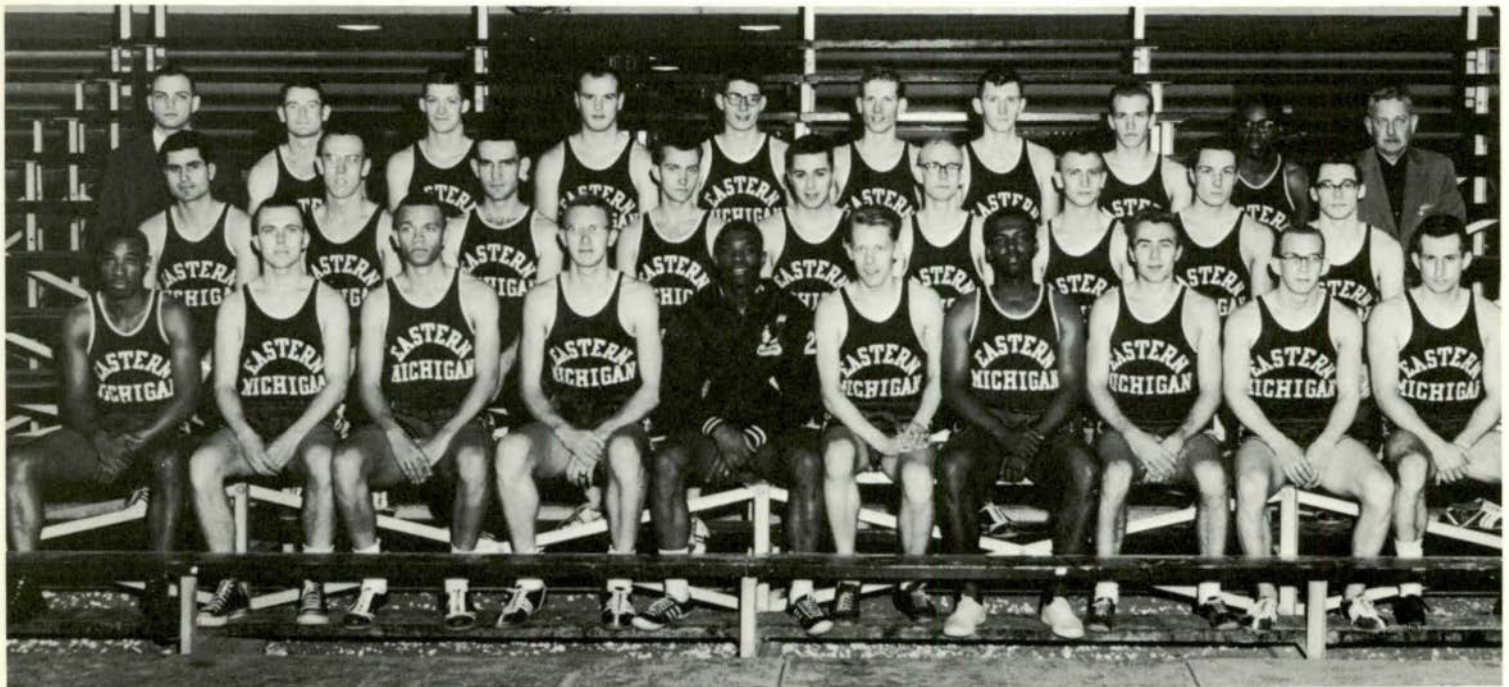

Showing the effort of a champion, Hayes nears the finish line.

Track Champion ... Jones

Hayes completed his victorious indoor track season by defeating his arch-rival, Lee Calhoun and setting a new world's record for the 50-yard high hurdles. His time was :05.9.

Let's take a look at the past of Eastern's pride and joy. His interest in sports can be traced to early childhood. He started his track career while in the fifth grade. Surprisingly, he was unable to make the team until his junior year in high school. The coach felt that he had very little talent, but Hayes worked and practiced endless hours until he qualified. By his senior year, Hayes was attracting nationwide notice in the high and low hurdles.

In college, he is a star performer, whose record to date more than justifies his chances of being named a member of the 1960 United States Olympic Track Team. His competitive efforts have been magnificent considering the high caliber of opposition that he has faced.

Hayes has worked hard for the honor of wearing this Olympic jacket. →

Gridders

The football squad had a rather rough year, with only a few lettermen returning. Winning only two games of the season, the squad ranked low on the IAC scale. The weather was unfavorable, and the student body, in general, showed little interest. Attendance at the games was poor, and the old team spirit seemed to be missing. With a few more men returning next year, hopes are high for a much better year.

Completing their stint as varsity cagers are Dick Montre, Rod Treais, Bill Stephens, and Frank Manley who captained the team. Voted most valuable player by his teammates was Rod Treais who played high school ball in the Saginaw Valley area.

Captain-elect is Tom Mackenzie, a former high school star at Ypsilanti Roosevelt and a three year veteran of the Huron squad.

Backing up the varsity is the junior varsity team composed of freshmen and sophomores who hope to be the future stars of the Huron quintet. Coached by Bill Crouch, the JV's showed exceptional promise as they completed their season.

The able coach of the varsity team was Jim Skala, a former basketball star at the University of Michigan.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders are an organization that can be found on nearly every university campus. Eastern Michigan University has a cheerleading group composed of six varsity members and four girls on the reserve squad. Their main purpose is to encourage and lead cheers for the team at university sports events.

The cheerleaders, in addition, are available for clinics at various high schools throughout southeastern Michigan. They share their knowledge and experience in helping to train and develop younger girls in the sport. Last fall, the girls were hostesses for the annual regional clinic held on Eastern's campus for all high school cheerleaders in southeastern Michigan. Individually, the squad has assisted with the training of girls in the Ypsilanti public school system.

Some of the members of the cheerleading staff are: First Row, J. Mansfield, S. Koval, C. Wilson; Second Row, J. Gothelf, J. Ingles, and M. Burten.

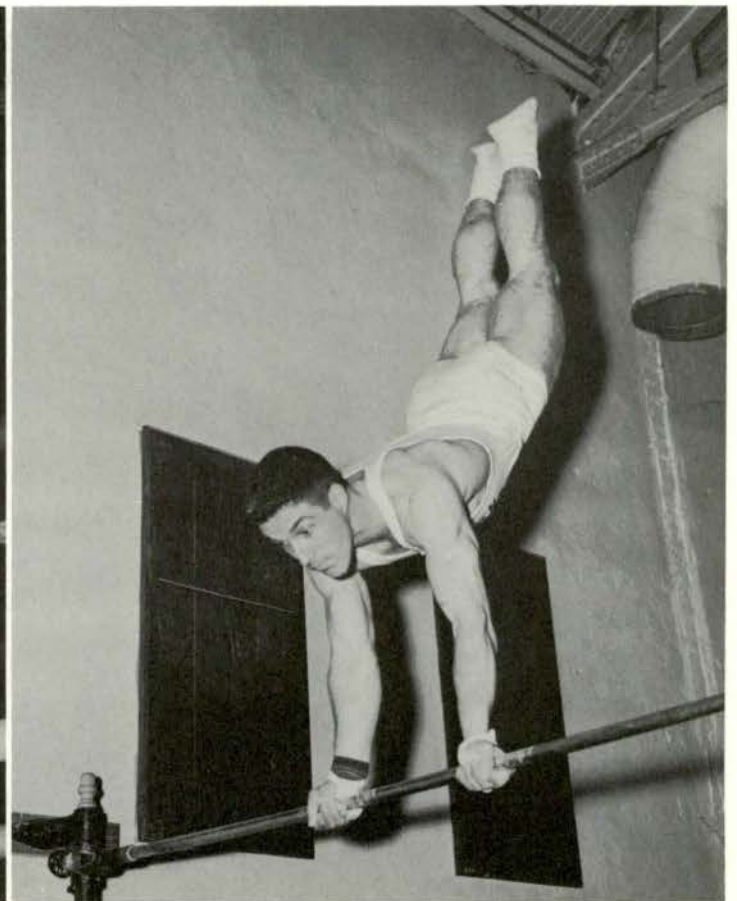

This panoramic scene typifies the synchronized movement of cheerleading. Shown here are M. Trochio, S. Gnifke, C. Riopelle, and M. Mead.

Intramurals

Ed Herndon demonstrates some of the basic skills on the parallel bars.

It takes skill and endurance to perform these feats with good form as demonstrated by Ed Herndon.

The intramural division of the Department of Physical Education has, as its main purpose, the responsibility of providing athletic activities for the student body.

Some of the activities offered are: tennis, football, basketball, cross country, softball, table tennis, golf, badminton, bowling, volleyball, and many others.

Sigma Delta Psi, a national honorary athletic fraternity, is open to all men students who have passed an athletic achievement test. This phase of the intramural program requires all around athletic skill.

Connie Riopelle tips the ball over her opponent's head.

Linda Johnson on the Downing Hall team goes in for a jump shot.

Miss Verda instructs the girls in the fundamentals of good tennis.

Seniors

The mirror that the senior looks into reflects a face that has a look of mixed emotions: happiness, sadness, and anxiety.

Such will be the look of every graduating senior this year — happy because he has completed four years of schooling and will soon be graduating; sad because he will have to leave behind many pleasant times, anxious because he will soon be opening the door to a new life.

eastern michigan university

In September 1959, the flag of Eastern Michigan University symbolically flew above this campus for the first time, honoring its new status as a university. Eastern has seen its name changed four times during its one hundred and eleven year history.

It is with the deepest pride that the staff of the 1960 AURORA is able to bring to you the pictorial review of the first year of our new university. As the university grew, so did this book. In keeping with university expectations, we have increased the size of the Aurora.

As the year comes to an end, the flag is furled and this book comes off the press. The production of this yearbook has required many other than the talents of the Aurora staff. To Dick Wilbur, and Rosemary Lawrence, photographers; Bill Edwards, School Services; Samuel Fields, Delma Studios; Marty Edwards and Edwards Brothers, printers; Kingsley Calkins, David Crippen, James E. Green, and Thelma McAndless (for their advising efforts); members, Board in Control of Student Publications; the Echo staff, and many others, we extend our sincere thanks. To the Aurora Staff, I would like to publicly express my most sincere appreciation--for without their tireless effort, this book would not have been published.

And now, to the 1960 graduates, we extend our best wishes for happiness and continued success.

Sincerely,

Barbara J. Norman, Editor
