Board: Representative of Growing Cooperation

At one time, it would have been relatively impossible for a student to voice his opinion in administrative matters of curriculum change, policy, or building improvements. Eastern today, is giving the student a voice, and an emphatic one, in campus policy.

The McKenny Hall Advisory board is one representative of a growing cooperation and communication between the student body and faculty or administration. This 1962 Aurora is dedicated to a group which represents such a growing cooperation.

Advisory Board members relax in front of the fireplace that was opened this year upon recommendation of the board.

A greatly enlarged book store offers improved service.

The Board was officially formed in April of 1960 when University and McKenny Hall administrators felt that policies were often established without representation from the groups using the building. The 14 member board includes representatives from campus governing bodies, the residence halls, faculty groups, and off-campus groups.

The group has accomplished many things during its two years existance. A suggestion box at the information desk was instituted as one method of getting student opinion and ideas. Dancing was instituted in the north room of the snack bar.

The Board reviewed and accepted plans for moving the billiard Lounge to the second floor which allowed for the extensive enlargement of the Book Store.

Other improvements discussed by the board included the 'Special of the Day' offered in the grill at a 15% price reduction, opening of the fire place in the grill, a review of bookstore pricing, and sponsorship of a dance in the snack bar during Orientation Week with a band, free cokes, and pretzels. The group has also recommended that a barber shop be opened in Mc-Kenny.

Background in the Search for Knowledge

Perhaps Eastern's most important job is building . . . building foundations for its students to use in later life. This is a multi-faceted job, a job that starts within the classroom and never truly ends.

While this book, or any book, can never tell the entire story, it can show representative parts and pieces. This then, is our purpose . . . to show EMU building foundations for the future.

In the classroom, the search for knowledge is intensified and guided. Ideas are put forth . . . ideas that lead to further ideas and on to the unending quest for learning. Under the guidance of instructors who are specialists in their field, new doors are opened to the student. Here the student is given a background to use as he builds his future.

Foundations for the Future Social Life Adds Spark to the Campus

A ccuple stops for refreshment during the carnival.

Certainly college life is not all work. Social life adds fun, zip, and a wonderful experience to the four years spent at Eastern.

People . . . people of different backgrounds and nationalities, of different views and ideas, become friends. Dating, dances, and a quick coffee between classes become truly a part of building a social foundation.

Foundations for the Future Cultural Opportunities are Readily

Opportunities for cultural advancement exist in a university as they do no where else in the world. Trips ... to museums, to shows, and to concerts are sponsored by Eastern throughout the year. Plays, lecturers, and orchestras come to Eastern.

No longer is a student's environment bounded by the walls of his home. In a thousand and one ways, the opportunities for advancement are opened to the student.

EMU Players bring drama to the campus with five plays each year.

Available

The Community Concert series brings many notable musical groups to the campus. In this instance, it is a member of the Dick Schory Percussion and Brass Ensemble.

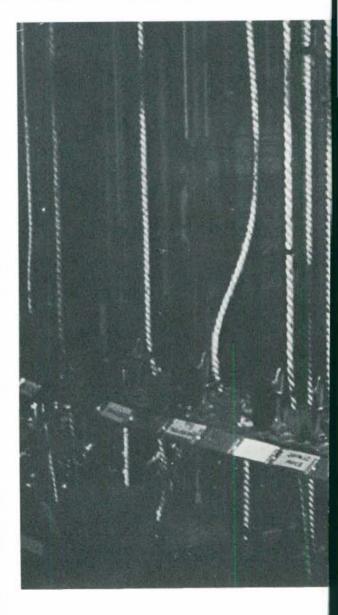

Foundations for the Future Extracurricular Activities

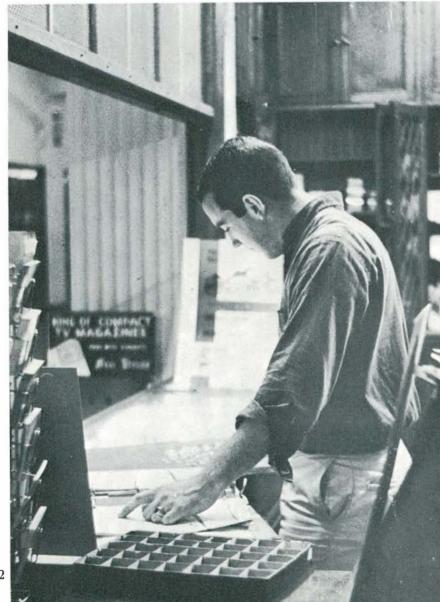

Working on a student publication, building a sorority float, doing service to the community, or holding down a part-time job becomes a part of the foundation that Eastern is building.

For every student, there is some extra-curricular opportunity open. Some may be purely social; some may be of service; others, may advance a student in his chosen field. But, whatever their purpose, whatever their scope, they all add up to a wonderful part of the growth that is inherent in college life.

Sports are popular both for spectators and participants.

Clubs, such as the modern dance club Orchesis, hold the interest of many.

We listen . . .

Eastern Michigan University is a world wide league of students. From many states and countries, from every variety of culture, from every form of educational background, men and boys, women and girls come to EMU with one common purpose: each comes to receive an education and to prepare himself for a fruitful life.

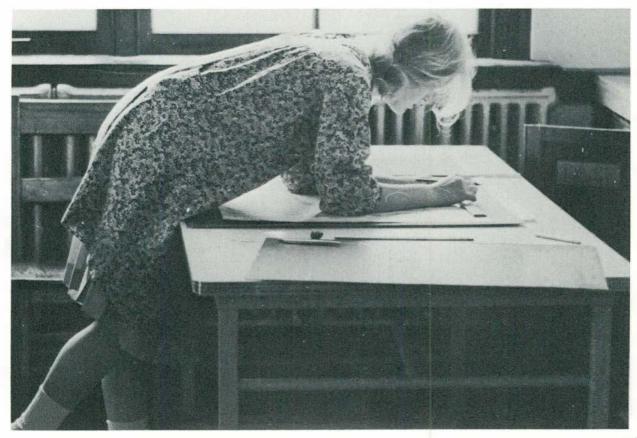

. . . and learn.

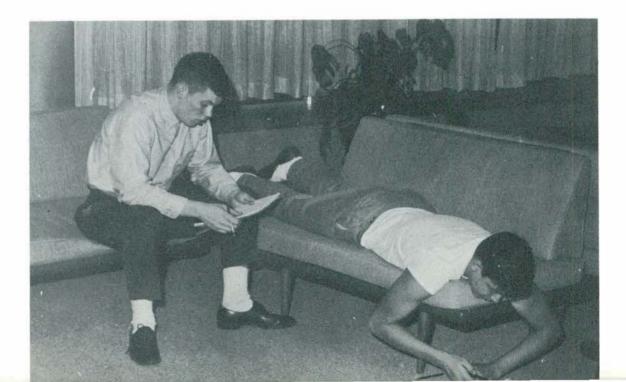

He learns to use the tools of his Tade in an artful manner. From long hours of tedious practice, he gains the dexterity which will be demanded of him by future employers.

We absorb knowledge

Hours spent in reading, outlining, memorizing, and reciting give him a background upon which to rely in his struggles with life. He gains confidence from facing examinations. He learns to interact with those who possess true knowledge and he tries to emulate the wisdom he sees about him.

and pass on knowledge to others.

With the help of a professional educator, the student teacher faces for the first time the full fcrce of children in class. She learns to sense their changing moods, to present a class program which will both interest and educate the children, and to suffer the problems which will confront her when there is no guiding hand to show her the way.

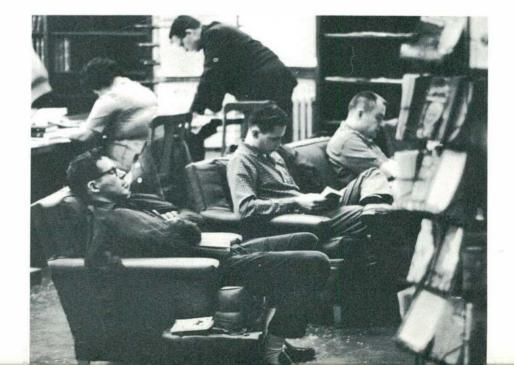

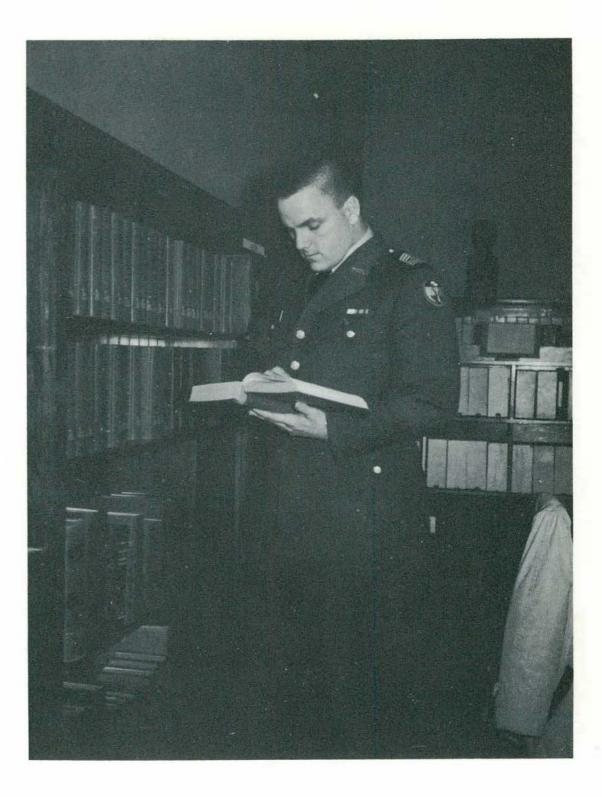

The library is our home . . .

The student is a child. The library is, to him, a home. His parents are the thousands and thousands of men who live in the memories of the old and who guide with the love of the truly wise.

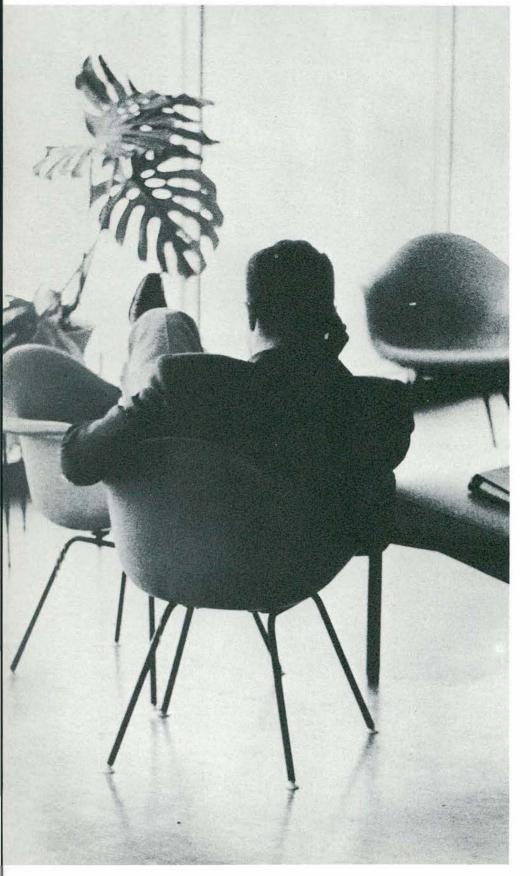

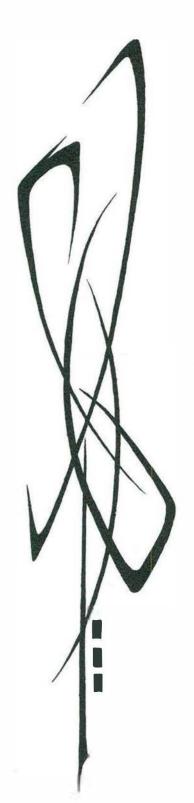

. . and we are guided by unseen parents.

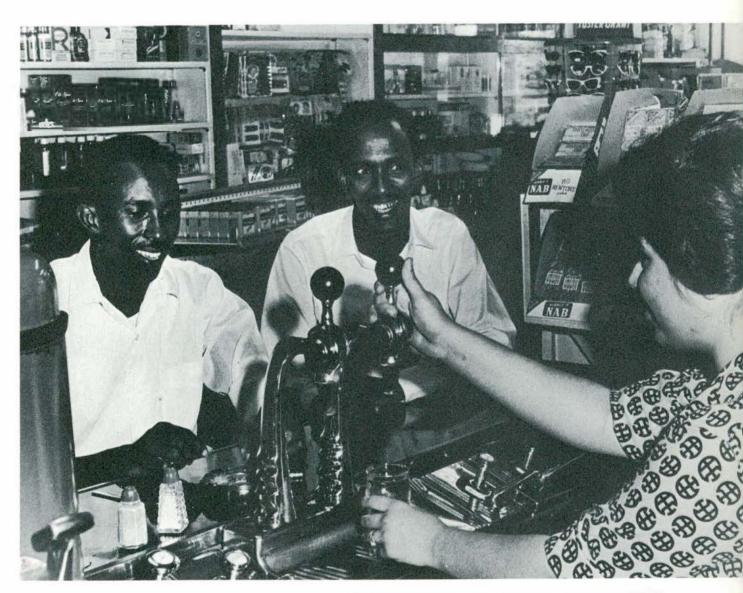

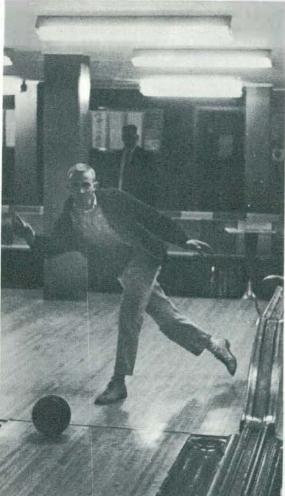

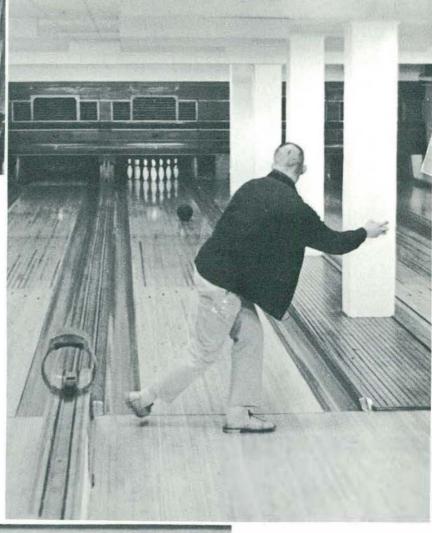

Ted's

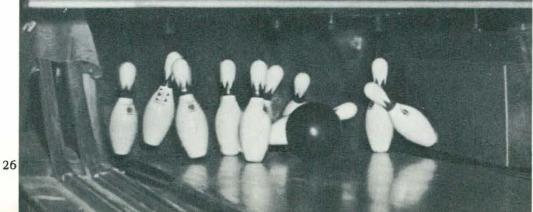

Ted's is off campus, true, but to the student at EMU, his drugstore is the warm parlor with the blue fire. The friendly smile that greets him at the door and the warm, garret atmosphere puts the student into a bright, cheerful mood. Here he finds companions for cokes and jokes, solitude for study, and the best coffee in Ypsilanti.

Charles McKenney Hall provides, for the sports minded, two places where one can relieve tension, compete in a friendly manner, or just sit and socialize. Fraternity and all-school bowlings teams meet, practice, and compete in the basement bowling-alley while on the main floor, facilities have been provided for those who enjoy pocket billiards, rail billiards, or bumper pool.

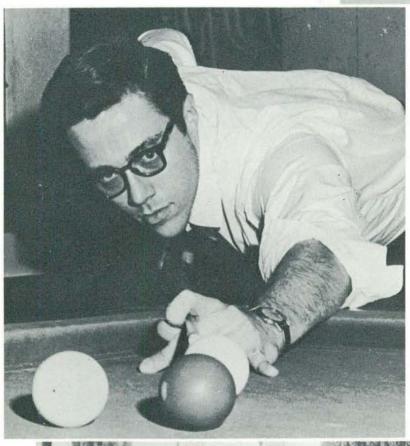

Bowling

Billiards in the lounge.

Intermural sports.

Non-varsity athletes form teams and compete for trophies in the intermural sports program. Both men and women participate in this program which encompasses such sports as volleyball, tennis, basketball, football, and field hockey.

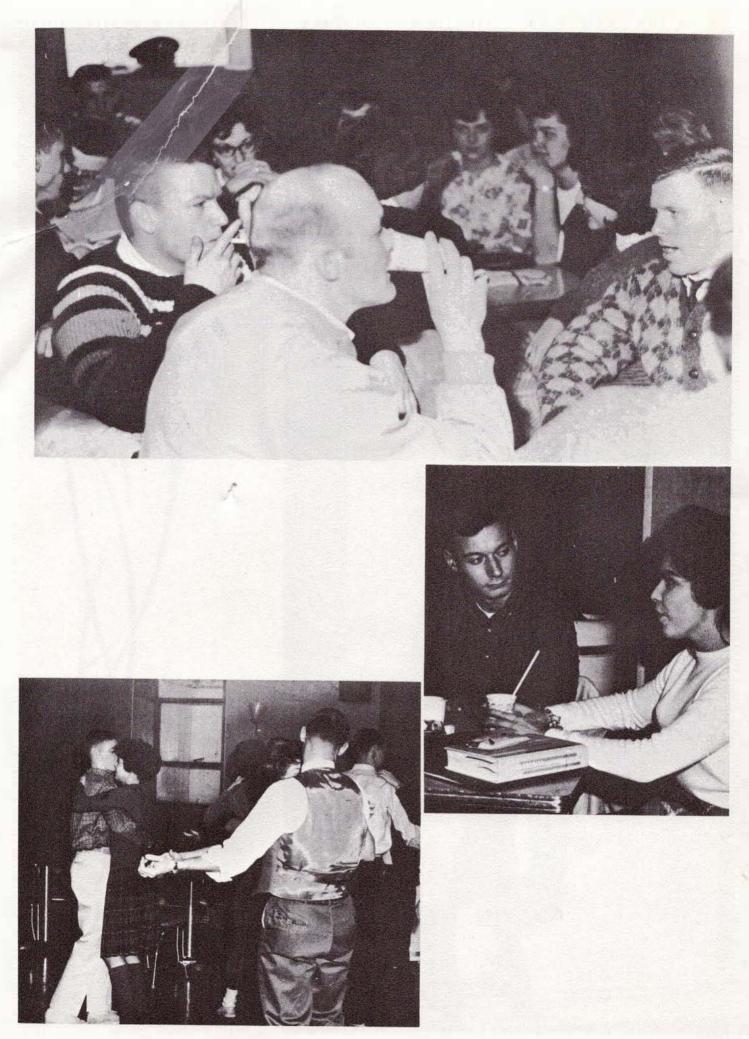

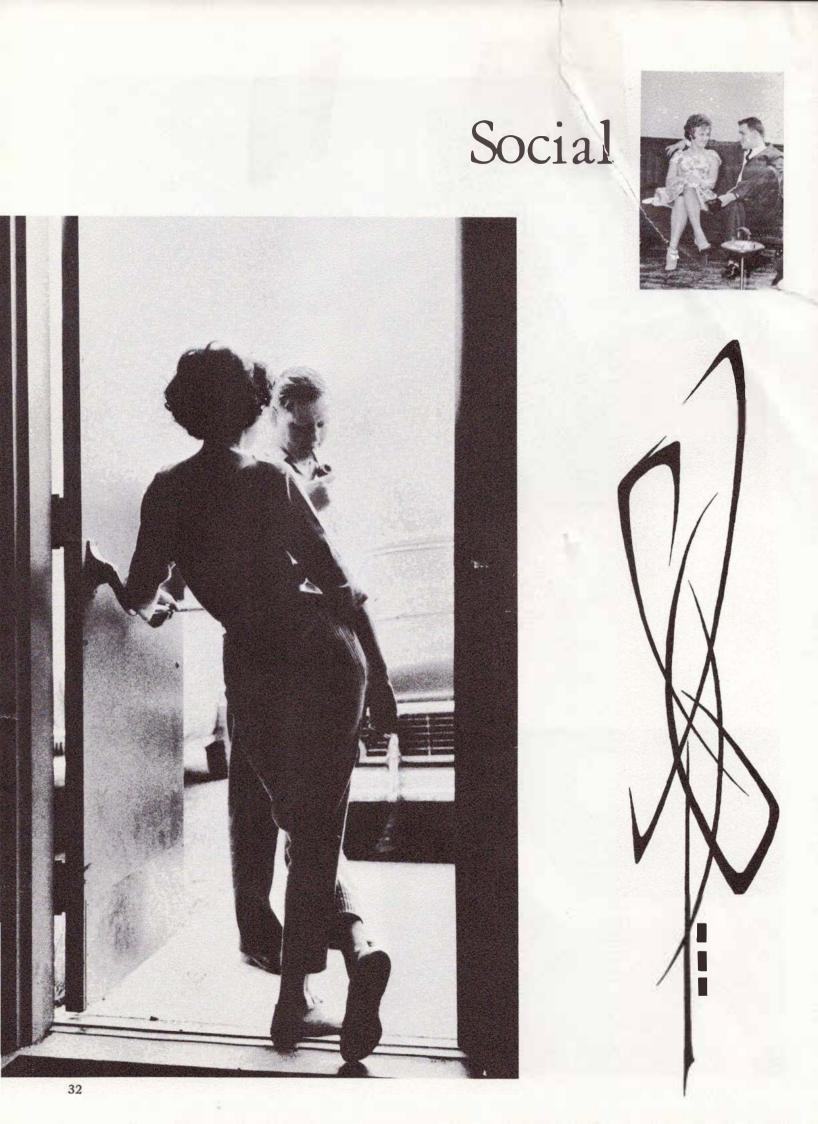

Unionizing

Unionizing, the great national pasttime of college students, is practiced here with strong spirit. This year, Mc-Kenny Grill gained two new aspects; it now boasts a functional fireplace and it now permits dancing in the evenings. From seven in the morning until eleven at night, sorority girls, fraternity men, commuting students, dorm students, and even the boys and girls of Roosevelt High School congregate at the union to eat, drink coke, talk, listen to music, or study.

Continantal Holiday

Continental Holiday was the theme for the 1962 J-Hop presented by the All-University Social Committee. From nine to one, happy faces bobbed to the music of Peter Palmer, His Voices, and Orchestra.

A Queen for Eastern

Accompanied by all the nervous excitement a girl can compile in waiting for such an announcement as, "Long live Lassie Slusher, Homecoming Queen 1962," Lassie accepted her crown with her customary humility and thankfulness.

The dorms dress up, floats parade through the streets, and hundreds of radiant faces await the judging of campus decorations in the Homecoming festivities. This year Downing Hall was judged the best-dressed dorm; the all-campus award was given to Alpha Sig; Buell Hall's float was the best of the dormitory floats; TKE took the fraternity float honors; and, of the campus organizations, WRA was judged to be the winner.

The EMU Players have put on excellent plays for as long as the Players have played. This season was no exception. The Boyfriend and Desire Under The Elms started the season, Flies by Sartre followed, and the season closed with the stage version of Gigi. Besides the homebound theater group, other groups of traveling thespians appear on the Quirk theater stage. This year the Southern Illinois Touring Theater presented for our benefit Taming of the Shrew and The Wicked Wizzard of Wobbly Way.

Speeches . . .

Part of the cultural background the campus provides for the student's edification, is the many speakers who come to explain their thoughts to willing minds. The campus has had the opportunity to witness e.e.cummings read his own poetry, to hear William Shirer speak on the hope for lasting peace, and to hear the wit and commentary of Bob Richards and Bud Guest.

and speakers.

and songfests.

It is in the heart of the young to hear the music of the ages and judge for himself the beauty which it holds. The campus offers music ranging from the classics, through march rhythms, to the jazz of the twentieth century. One most enjoyable music for the college connoisseur is that of singing for he can enjoy the music of his own voice. On stage in Pease Auditorium, choirs, both professional and amateur perform for the applause of the Eastern Michigan University professional audience.

Tribute to the Greeks

Despite the zany antics depicted on the following pages, Greek life on our campus is not one of constant frivolity. The Greeks of Eastern's campus have reason to be proud, for among their ranks are officers and members of nearly every campus organization. Greeks preside over A.W.S. and Judicial Board meetings, Men's Union, the All-University Social Committee, Student Council, and Women's Recreation Association. They claim the editorship of the Echo and staff members of the Aurora. Members of our sorority and fraternity groups hold Resident Assistant and Staff Assistant positions in our dormitories, as well as serving in the capacities of freshmen counselors, corridor chairmen, dormitory presidents and other officers. Eastern has good reason to be proud of their affiliated students for they have done much to strengthen our student life. For this, we offer a Tribute to the Greeks.

Greeks on the Loose

The Greeks of our campus outdid themselves in providing f.m and frohe for the entire student body. After weeks of planning, Eastern burst forth with identifying Greek hats, competitive contestants, a song fest, a bonfire highlighted by Dr. Edgar Waugh, and a culminating Greek Eall. All this to show our fellow students that the "Old Greek Spirit" is a strong one.

There goes the fender, now for the rest of the car.

Art Expanded Curriculum

By abandoning two formerly required minors, the Art Department has expanded its art major curriculum to include 53-60 hours in art. This made possible new classes in jewelry, design, and crafts, and intensified the student's program in other studio areas.

The permanent collection, a part of the continuing program of teaching-collection instructional exhibitions, has been enriched this year. Among the new acquisitions are Clave and Picasso lithographs, a Tom McClure sculpture, and a Toshiko Takaezu pot.

Biology Name Changed from Natural Science

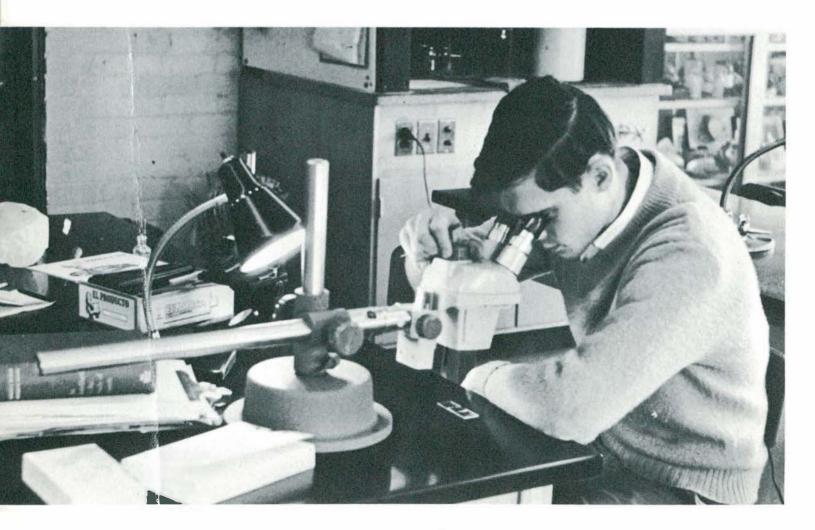

The Department of Biology, known until recently as the Department of Natural Science, has a constantly expanding program.

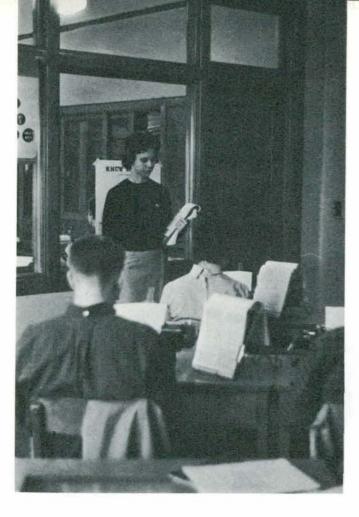

The Department now offers the degree of Master of Science in Biology, based on 50 semester hours of biology, with at least 24 hours on the graduate level. This program better qualifies the student for teaching Biology in high schools and junior colleges, and at the same time provides a sound foundation for those going on for a specialized doctorate. This broad background has become increasingly difficult to obtain, as many institutions demand virtually exclusive concentration on only one area.

This concern for breadth of undertaking is also expressed in two new cooperative programs, the minor in Conservation and Resource Use, in conjunction with the Departments of Geography and of History, and the 36-hour group major in General Science and required minor in a specific science.

Other areas of cooperation are the several preprofessional curricula, in Medicine, Dentistry, Forestry, Pharmacy, and Mortuary Science, whose students draw heavily from all the science areas. Those who take their degree here usually major in Biology or in Chemistry. To these programs has recently been added Medical Technology.

Business Studies

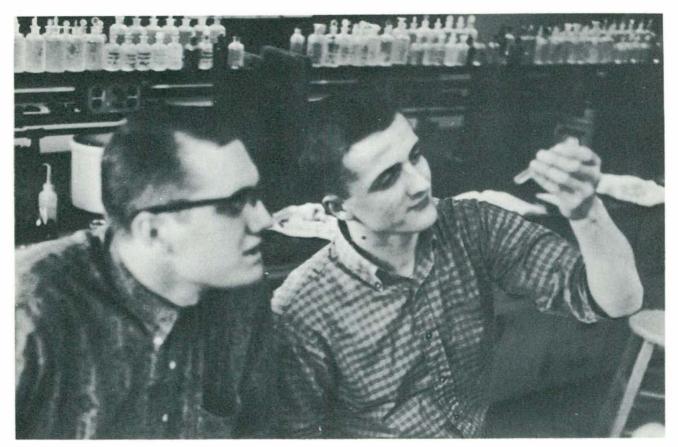

Three Major Divisions in Business

The Department of Business Studies is organized into three major divisions: Business Administration, Business Education and Secretarial Science, and Business Technical. The department awards the Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and the Bachelor of Science degree with a teaching certificate upon completion of a four year course of study. A certificate of achievement is awarded to students upon completion of the two-year business technical program.

The educational program within the Department of Business Studies seeks to provide a liberal education consistent with that in other professional areas, to give adequate breadth and specialization within its own curricular programs, and to afford opportunity for interchange of ideas with related fields.

Approximately 1,350 students are enrolled in the Department of Business Studies with 650 of these students majoring in one of the three administrative divisions. The remainder of the student population is composed of business minors and non-business majors electing business courses to supplement their respective study programs.

Chemistry Advanced Courses Offered

Since the establishment of a college of Arts and Sciences in 1959, the department of chemistry has made rapid strides toward its goal of providing bachelor's level training in chemistry which meets the standards set up by the Committee on Professional Training of the American Chemical Society. By the fall of 1962 we will have introduced six new advanced level courses in chemistry. This will make available to the chemistry majors a breadth and depth of academic study equivalent to that of most of the larger universities.

In addition to increased course offerings for the chemistry majors, an entirely new curriculum has been introduced in the field of medical technology. This curriculum is unique in that the fourth year is spent in in-service training in a nearby hospital.

Seven of the eight staff members hold the Ph.D. degree. All are very well qualified both in the areas of research and instruction.

The Sellers memorial research laboratory was established this year in honor of the late Dr. John A. Sellers, former head of the department of chemistry. Gifts and donations toward this memorial are now being received and at present total over $800, although the establishment of this memorial has not yet been officially announced.

A grant of $1600 was made available through Research Corporation for basic research on the synthesis of new drugs to be tested for cancer therapy. Other research in progress is in the field of organo-boron compounds. Equipment is now available for research in nuclear chemistry.

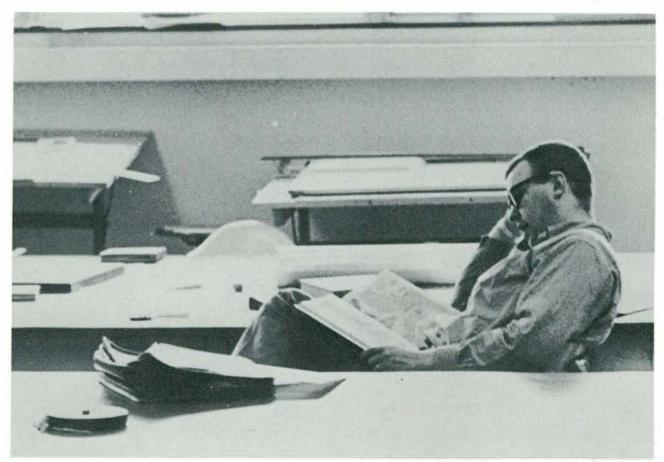

Geography Proud of Long History

The Department of Geography at Eastern has a long and illustrious history. It was established in 1901 and Mark Jefferson, internationally famous geographer, served as head of the department from then until 1939. Dean Glasgow, dean of the Graduate School, and Dean Brown, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, were both former heads of the department. In February of 1961, Dr. John Lounsbury assumed this position.

The department numbers 9 full-time members and 1 part-time person. In both the undergraduate and graduate levels, the department has a wide variety of courses. In 1961, the total enrollment in all geography courses was fourth largest in the United States. This department offers a very sound undergraduate major and the Master of Arts degree. Many graduates hold responsible professional positions in academic, industrial, and governmental work.

Members of the department are nationally known specialists in the fields of climatology, physical geography, Latin America, U.S.S.R., North America, Africa, Asia, Europe, urban and industrial geography, and geographic education.

The department is continually increasing its course offerings and departmental members are extremely active in professional work and reasearch, many of which include the employment of student research assistants. Several members of the department hold executive positions with national scientific organizations.

Home Economics Training in Family Living

Home Economics is the field of knowledge and service primarily concerned with strengthening family life through education of the individual, improvement of services and goods, research to discover changing needs, and furthering conditions favorable to family living.

At the present time, the Home Economics Department at Eastern provides a four-year course leading to a degree of Bachelor of Science with a major in education and a two-year curriculum in general home economics. In addition to teaching, graduates also go into business and industry including food service and retailing, the Agricultural Extension Service, and mass media such as television.

During the 1961-62 year, a new curriculum for teachers was provided. This includes a 30 semester hour major and a 20 hour minor. Five new courses were added to fulfill the needs of this program.

Next year one section of Family Living will be opened for engaged and married couples only. All courses in the department are open as electives to any student in the university if prerequisites can be met.

History and Social Sciences Advancements, Additions,

Advancements, additions, and experiments mark the improvements being made in the Department of History and Social Sciences. During the past 3½ years, the department has grown approximately ten per cent. Thirty teachers are now involved in this program, although some are only on a part time basis.

The department covers five areas: History, Political Science, Sociology, Economics, and Philosophy. Philosophy, the newest addition, became part of the curriculum in the fall of 1959. Professor Manuel Bilsky has been in charge of this fast developing area since his arrival here in the fall of 1960. The department hopes in the near future to be able to offer a minor in Philosophy.

In the fall of 1959 a program for the Masters Degree in History was set up. There are now about fifty graduate students participating in this program which is yearly expanding in scope and enrollment.

In the area of experimentation, closed-circuit television classes have come about. During the academic year Professor Rienhard Wittke taught 101 and 102 History of Civilization by this method.

Industrial Education Expanded to Meet Need

The changes in the name of the Department of Industrial Education and Applied Arts reflect the progress of this department, of EMU, and the impact of the Twentieth Century technology. Originally organized in 1901 as Manual Training, the name was changed to Industrial Arts in 1916 and the present name adopted in 1956.

Along with the name changes, there has been a constant revision of curriculum. A complete revision, the most thorough in many years, will be put into effect next year.

and Experimentation

Mathematics Modernize Program

A number of changes designed to modernize and improve the training of students in mathematics are currently underway. Functional mathematics, the general education course, has been revised to emphasize modern trends in elementary mathematics; in-service courses are offered to help modernize the training of people presently teaching. A revision of the present freshmansophomore sequence is now underway in keeping with national trends with new courses which will be taught in the Fall of 1962.

Advanced courses of modern algebra, matrices, and mathematical statistics, have been added to the curriculum. In connection with this, Mr. Goings is now completing the construction of an analogue computer which will be useful to students in applied math.

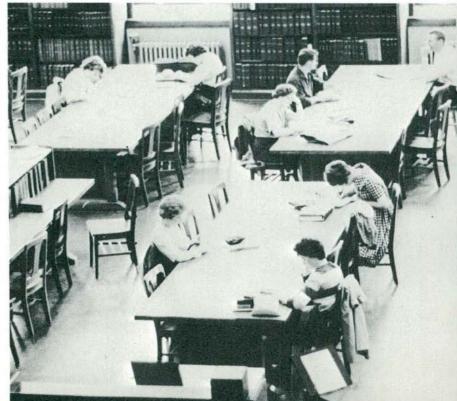

Library More Material Available

Although Eastern's library was constructed for closedstack operation, much has been done to open stack area to students and faculty. This year for the first time, all periodicals have been moved to open stack area. Another recent change put education and psychology books in the open stacks.

Many works on microfilm and microcard have been added to the library's collection. At the present time, the library has two microfilm readers and expects to add more in the future.

Now in the planning, is a large addition to the present library which was built in 1930. The addition will be three times the size of the present building with open stacks throughout to give a virtually new library building.

Music Three Main Objectives Mark Department

reparing teachers of music, providing instructions in vocal and instrumental music and theory and also offering music instruction and appreciation to the general student serves as the three main objectives of the universities Department of Music.

January of 1961 brought about two dedications to the Music Department. The first being the dedication of Alexander building which the music department has occupied since 1959 and also the dedication of the Frederick Alexander Memorial Organ.

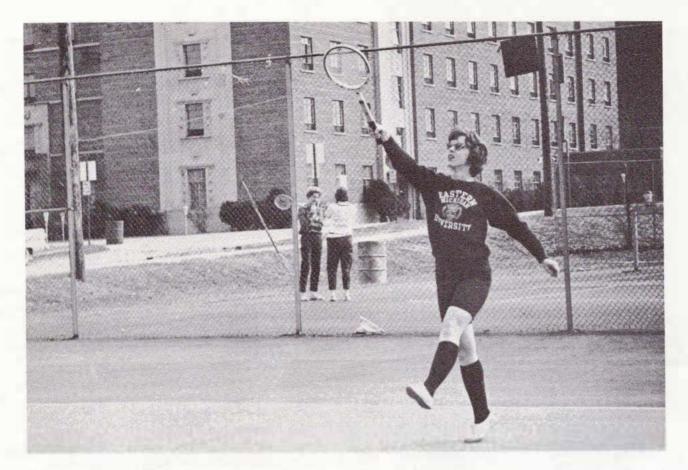

On November 24, 1961, our Music Department became an Institutional Member of The National Association of Schools of Music. The revisions and improvements made in the department since 1959 made us eligible for membership this year.

Among the other advancements made in the department is the broad extension of a music library and the re-establishment of an organ department.

Graduate credit classes, at the rate of one to two a year, are being added to the curriculum. Plans of the future include graduate music degrees.

The Music Department holds summer sessions for high school musicians. Last year being the 9th annual. In the summer of 1961 the music department sponsored its first Seminar in Choral and Vocal Art which was conducted by the well known Roger Wagner.

Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics First to Offer Teacher Training

It is interesting to note that Eastern Michigan Unversity was the first state supported college or university in the entire country to offer teacher training in physical education in 1888. The Department was officially organized in 1903 under the leadership of the late Professor Wilbur P. Bowen, pioneer in the field of physical education. Since the organization of the department in 1903, some 3,000 majors have graduated and are now holding prominent positions in the field of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics throughout the entire United States and several foreign countries. The Department offers a major in Physical Education and Recreation and a minor in Health, Recreation, and the Dance.

The intercollegiate program offers participation to the men students in football, baseball, basketball, track, cross country, wrestling, tennis, golf and gymnastics. One of the vital programs offered to the students at Eastern Michigan is a well organized Intramural program for men and the Women's Recreation Association for women. Eastern's department of Physical Education was one of the first to sponsor State Interscholastic Athletics, which brings to the campus 6500 high school boys and girls annually.

During the past two years the professional curriculum, both academic and practice courses, has been completely revised and printed in an outline form. Most recent addition to the department was the minor in Dance and the re-establishment of Gymnastics.

Physics and Astronomy Nuclear Physics Lab Added

The Department of Physics and Astronomy offers a major and minor in the field of physics and provides service courses for the general education requirements, the pre-engineering, pre-medical, and pre-dental curricula as well as the Music Department.

About half of the majors in this department become teachers; the other half find positions in industry or enter graduate programs at other universities.

The department's greatest accomplishment during the past year has been the equipping of its Nuclear Physics Laboratory with the aid of a $15,000 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission.

In the future, this department will place new emphasis on undergraduate research. A new course, Electricity and Magnetism, has recently been added to the curriculum for majors and minors.

In the image of today's need for increasing knowledge in the fields of science, it is endeavoring to promote understanding of the basic concepts of the physical environment in which this world lives.

Military Science ROTC Program Changes With Growth

Since its beginning at EMU, the Military Science Department, popularly known as ROTC, has grown with the University. With growth comes change, and in School Year 1961-62 the ROTC changed to a new look.

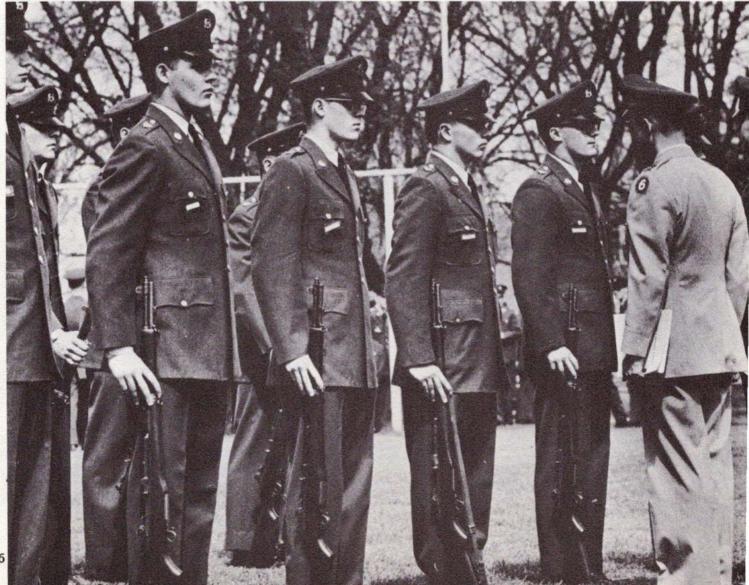

The Cadet Corps at EMU was in the vanguard of Army Reorganization as it shed the old Battle Group establishment that has been so familiar to Cadets since 1958.

As the Army announced its elimination of the Battle Group organization EMU's Military Science Department changed the Cadet Corps organization to that of the Brigade. Subordinate to the Brigade are two Battalions with three companies each.

Lieutenant Colonel Alton M. Shipstead became the Professor of Military Science, replacing Lt. Col. Pratt Warren, who retired from the active Army in July, 1961.

The elite marching unit of the program, The Huron Guard, established a weekly ceremony at flag lowering on the central campus in front of the Library. In addition to a bugler playing "To The Colors". The ROTC Marching Band appeared once monthly to sound the "Star Spangled Banner" as Old Glory was lowered for the day.

Special Education and Occupational Therapy Growth of Jobs and Facilities in Michigan

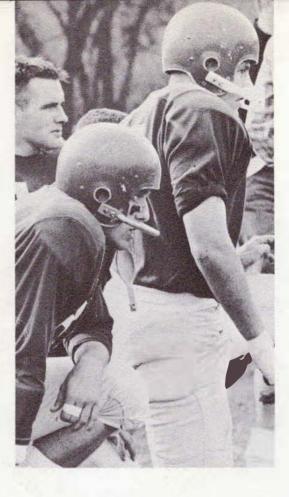

New legislation in the state of Michigan has caused fantastic growth in job opportunities and facilities for special education. In recent years, the enrollment of students in special education has grown from 162 to more than 300.

A new program in speech correction has been implemented and is growing each year. Present plans call for a speech clinic to be organized within the Department of Special Education which will go into operation in the Fall of 1962. Currently, speech correction is available for children and college students although there has been no organized clinic.

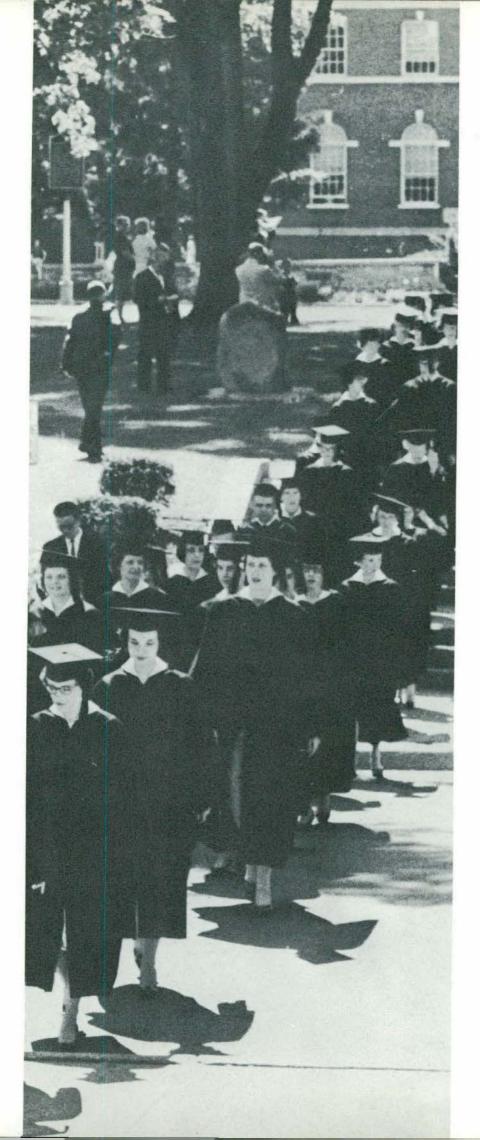

The curriculums in both the areas of the emotionally disturbed and of the deaf and hard of hearing, have undergone considerable revision. Facilities for the deaf are being used in the public schools so that students in training have the opportunity to see how handicapped children are integrated with normal youngsters.

Tough completition showed as Eastern met arch rival Central in the EMU Homecoming game to vie for possession of the "Totem Pole". Over 5,000 students and ahimni watched as the fine passing of quarterback Ed George Beaudette and the running of quarterback Ed Dubaj, fullback Don Oboza and half-back Dale Collar spurred Eastern to lead the Chips 11-0 most of the game. With only 4½ minutes remaining in the game Central capitalized on a Huron bad punt and fumble to win 13-11.

Fierce action and a strong desire to win characterized the 1961 Huron gridiron season. The odds were great against Eastern in its last season as a member of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, however, the men in green and white proved themselves worthy of their opponents. The seasons record of 0-8-1 tells only half the story. The hope, desire and total school spirit that was present at every game follows in Easterns great athletic tradition.

Injuries and the clock constantly hampered the Huron "11". Key players such as Don Oboza, Dale Coller, Don Drinkhahn and George Beaudette were sidelined for several games because of injuries. In four games, during the season, EMU had threatened to either tie the score or go ahead with drives deep into rival territory only to have the clock run out ending the game.

Leonard Anderson, EMU end, pulls in a thirty yard pass from quatterback George Beaudette against the Chips-from Central.

Tip Off IIAC Champs

The David and Goliath story well fits the Huron netters last two games as they whipped the two most powerful teams in the conference, Eastern and Southern Illinois, on the same week. After posting a rather dismal season record, 6-13, the Hurons were invaded by the all-powerful Illinois teams in games believed by many to be easy victories for the Prairie state boys. Coach Dick Adams believes his crew just worked as a closely knit team and were not playing above their potential in pulling the two IIAC basketball upsets of the year.

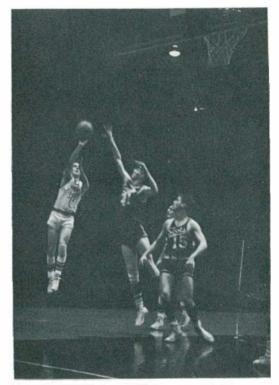

A lack of height proved to be a big problem with this years squad. Tallest man on the squad was Russ Harvey at 6'4", while the shortest was "Peanuts" Duane Lamiman at 5'8". A new record was set as Mike Gouin scored 30 points against Alma in a reserve game. The cagers finished the season with an 8-13 record, an improvement over last years 5-18 finish. Prospects for next years team look good as only three of the varsity squad will be lost through graduation.

Riding a string of five victories against one defeat, Track Coach George Marshall is very optimistic about the remainder of the season. His cindermen have showed surprising strength and determination to bounce back after the season opener loss to Miami of Ohio 69¹/₃ to 34²/₃. The original 17 returning lettermen have been fortified by freshmen and transfer students previously ineligible. Larry Andrewes, 440-yard dash and relay man, Russ Harvey, high jumper, Roger Mead, broad jump, Ron Wilson, mile and Pat MacDonald and Ken Kruse in the two-mile have been standouts on the team. Rolling over such powerful teams as Baldwin-Wallace, Bowling Green, and Wayne State, the Hurons have caused much attention to be focused on them.

The Michigan Amateur Athletic Union's Indoor Track and Field Championships were held in Eowen Fieldhouse this year with 14 teams and over 50 individuals entered. Among the teams entered were EMU, Wayne State University, Western Michigan University, Grand Rapids Junior College, McMasters College from Hamilton, Ontario, the University of Detroit, the Detroit Track Club, the Toronto Olympic Club, and the Waterford Track Club. Eastern took fourth place in the meet. while Western Michigan finished first.

Wrestlers Pin 5-4 Record

For the first time in the six-year history of wrestling on Eastern's campus, the Hurons finished in last place. Lack of depth and several injuries were major factors in the four won, five lost record posted. This is also the first time that Eastern has failed to have a conference champion.

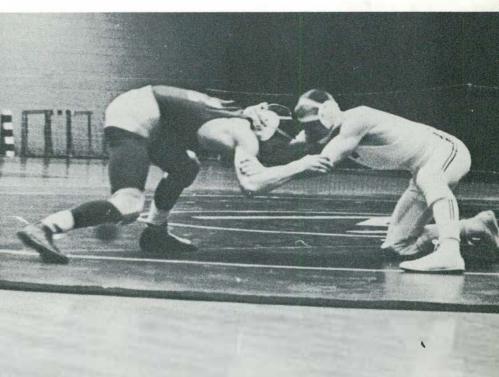

Last year's conference champion, Bart Kruse, was ineligible because his four semesters of sports participation were up. Duke Relyea finished second in the 191 weight class and Craig Strain took a third in the 115 weight class during the IIAC championships at Charles ton, Illinois. Coach Bush is optimistic about next season as most of his men will return.

Finishing as the last team on the totem pole, the Eastern gynmasts could not overcome inuries to key men this year. Two of the three returning lettermen, Roger Bechtol and Ronald Mercier, were injured early in the season and missed several meets. The loss of Dennis Lorain with a broken arm further hampered Eastern chances. Coach Bob Willoughby felt his team lived up to its potential with newcomers Paul Bawol and Bruce Austen giving several promising performances. At the conference championships in Normal, Illinois, two Huron gymnasts placed among the top ten victors. Don Principe took seventh place on the rings, while Harold Taylor placed seventh on the trampoline. Ronald Mercier also did well in placing eleventh on the parallel bars and twelfth on the high bars.

Women's Sports

Recreation and Fun Through Women's Sports

Basketball

Approximately two hundred girls enjoyed this W.R.A. sport which requires fast thinking and skillful teamwork from each team member. The sport was open to sorority, dorm, and major teams.

The major team engaged in interscholastic games with Adrian College, Michigan State, and Western Michigan University.

The dorm and sorority teams competed in a dynamic game in the Annual All-Star Game in Bowen Field House, followed by another fast moving game between the major teams.

Bowling

The favorite activity of many E.M.U. students is bowling, as was indicated by the twenty one teams participating in tournament competition in 1961. There were two leagues and two winners: Sigma Nu Phi took honors in the sorority league, and Jones Jills won the championship in the dormitory and independent league.

This year the sororities bowled at Thunderbird Lanes. The atmosphere had a remarkable effect on the bowling averages. Eleven select bowlers from the field of twenty one teams participated in the annual D. G. W. S. telegraphic meet. Twenty one colleges and universities throughout the United States competed for top honors.

Swimming

Sponsored by the W.R.A., the Catalina Club provides a four fold purpose: creative and artistic achievement, fun of working together, improvement of water skills, and production of a complete water show.

Although the loss of the pool in the early part of the year prevented the production of the annual swim show, the swimmers put on clinics and demonstrations at various schools. A synchronized swimming clinic held at the new Lincoln High pool highlighted the spring semester.

Softball

Softball, a competitive spring sport, was open to sorority, dorm, and major teams. Similar to basketball, tournaments were held between these groups to encourage participation and foster good sportsmanship. The major team held several playdays with other colleges in this area.

Field Hockey

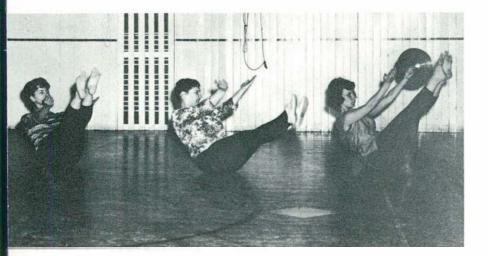

Field Hockey, the first W.R.A. sport of the year, is rapidly gaining popularity among Eastern women. Last fall forty girls participated in this enervating sport, competing against such teams as Central Michigan, Western Michigan, Olivet College, Adrian College, Bowling Green State University, Michigan State University, and the Ann Arbor Field Hockey Club. The reward at the end of a season of hard playing was four wins and one loss for the first team, and two wins and one loss for the second team.

Gymnastics

Gymnastics is rapidly becoming popular among Eastern coeds. Activities included in the area were stunts and tumbling, free exercise, balance team, trampoline, horse, and parallel bars. This group put on clinics and demonstrations in order to promote an interest in, and the development of gymnastics programs at all school levels.

Modern Dance

Orchesis Club and Modern Dance Club function as a part of the Womens' Recreation Association. The culminating event of these performing groups of men and women was the annual dance concert on April 5th and 6th at Quirk Theater. The clubs organize in the fall under the direction of members of the Womens' Physical Education Department. Eastern students assist the sponsors in the writing and preparation of dance numbers.

Cheerleaders Victory, Victory Is Their Cry!

Pep and enthusiasm are the two words which best describe the E.M.U. cheerleaders. Inspiring both football and basketball teams, these girls have done much to further the enthusiasm of the student body.

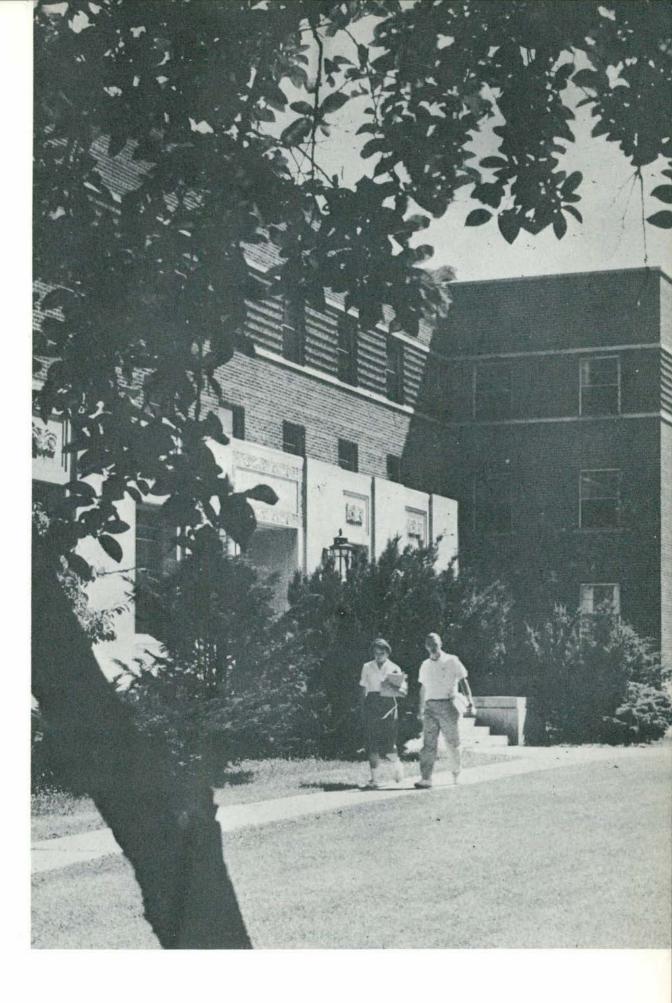

In addition to their regular activities, the cheerleaders acted as hostesses to over thirteen hundred junior and senior high school cheerleaders attending the annual cheerleading clinic. Distinguished guest for the day was Newt Loken, University of Michigan gymnastics coach.

Brown Hall A Working Honor System

Despite the problems faced when Brown was opened this Fall as a girls' dorm, the hall has had a spirited and successful year. An honor system for closing was evolved at the beginning of the second semester. Each girl is responsible for getting her own date out of the dorm by closing. This has eliminated the unpleasant chore of having an Ad Board member shout "closing" and has made things more orderly and pleasant for all concerned.

Another honor system in which potato chips are soldhas been successful and has added about $50 to the dorm's fund.

During Christmas holidays, Brown held its annual Parent-Faculty Tea. The girls also held a party for 50 needy children which included entertainment and gifts.

The Bess Hyde scholarship is given each year— JoAnn Cole currently holds this award.

Social events within the dorm included the formal "By The Sea", a Little Sister's Day, a Dad's Day in the Fall, and 2 mixers with Munson Hall.

Buell Hall Winning Comes Naturally

Winning seems to come easily for the men of Buell Hall. The dorm took first place in residence hall float competition with their float "A diamond is forever" dedicated to Bingo Brown. The trophy for winning the inter-dorm games currently resides in Buell.

One of the hall's teams took first place in intermural football and a dorm team took second place in basketball.

At a scholarship dinner held each semester, the hall awards an outstanding man. This year, Bob Hutchinson, received the scholarship. Social life, too, is important and Buell has held a number of casual mixers with the other dorms on campus.

Downing Hall "Just a Little Bit Better" Wins

With the theme "Just a Little Bit Better" Downing's Homecoming display traced the development of Eastern and won first place in the dorm decorations contest. The decorations illustrated the progress that EMU has made throughout the years.

Downing Hall has a rather unique system of scholarships. Each fall, a $50 scholarship is awarded to the president and vice-president of the hall. The social chairman also receives a scholarship from interest on the hall's principle. This fall, Downing's overall scholastic average was tops among the dorms.

The girls invite their mothers up for a weekend each year. The moms are entertained with a variety show, fashion show, tours of the campus, bridge, and get a chance to meet others and know the dorm.

Goddard Hall Wednesday is Bridge Night

The girls of Goddard have added an unusual dorm activity in the form of a bridge night. Once a week, a group meets to play bridge and at times receives instruction from an expert player.

The rec-room was turned into miniature golf course during Little Sisters Weekend which provided entertainment for both big and little sisters. On Mom's Day, the entertainment was high lighted by a fashion show of Spring clothes from Graham's of Arborland.

A spring event, the Parent-Professor Patio Party saw the Goddard Cafeteria decorated as an outside patio. Instead of the usual corridor dinner, a corridor breakfast was held from 7-8 a.m. with Dean Hill, Dean and Mrs. Brown, and Geraldine Kersey as honored guests.

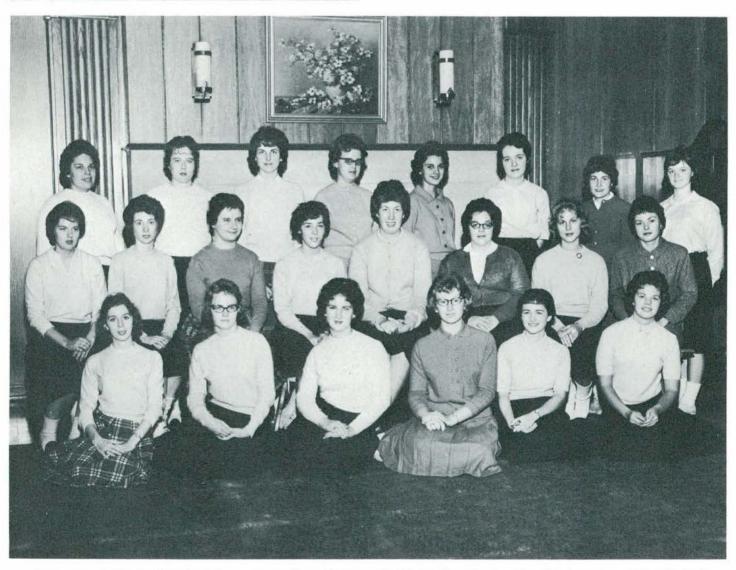

Goodison Hall Faculty Firesides on Topics of Interest

"Faculty Firesides" have replaced the traditional corridor dinners in Goodison Hall this year. The girls have invited various administrators and professors to speak on topics of interest to both freshmen and the older students.

GHOST (Goodison Hall Old Spirit Tapping) Week found the girls doing little favors and leaving gifts.

The Goodison girls did much in the way of acquainting their families with the hall. The dorm held Dad's Day, Mother's Day, Little Sister's Weekend, Parent's Day, and a Christmas Parent-Faculty Tea.

The hall formal dance was based around the them ϵ "Oriental Garden."

Jones Hall Holiday Activities Galore

Christmas time brings a fever of activity to the girls in Jones Hall. At this time, the dorm holds its annual Parent-Faculty Open House. The traditional formal dance, "Fantasy in White" adds a social whirl to the activities.

In a holiday spirit of giving, the girls in Jones collected gifts, wrapped them, and these were then given to needy children through the Salvation Army. More than 20 girls made dresses for the Ruth Alden Dress Drive this year.

A Cider Sip and Open House was held following the Homecoming parade. Jones Hall was also honored by having Kathy Speir on the Homecoming court.

In April, Jones held its annual Little Sister's day with entertainment and activities planned by the girls.

King Hall A White and Gold Christmas

King Hall's Christmas decorations this year were truly a tribute to Art major, Shirley Stirling who is head resident. The dorm sparkled in a gold and white color scheme and a large white tree decorated with gold ornaments graced the lounge.

The girls gave their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children from Lincoln School. The children were entertained with story telling and had refreshments of cookies and ice cream. Highlight of the party, of course, was the arrival of Santa Claus who saw that every child received a gift.

At Mom's Day in March, the girls of King entertained their mothers and presented a fashion show from the Village Store in Ann Arbor. A Little Sister's weekend featured recreational games in the court.

Munson Hall Co-educational Activities with Brown Hall

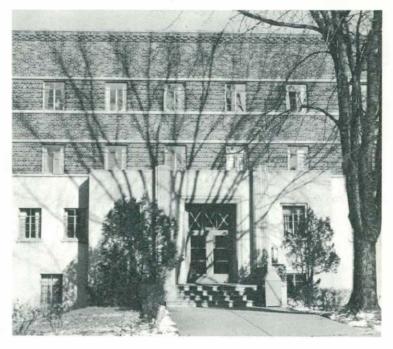

In the reshuffling of residence hall this year many of the former residents of Brown and Goodison Hall now occupy Munson Hall. This also meant a change for Mrs. Smith who is now Munson's head resident.

The residents of Munson Hall are experiencing many co-educational activities with the residents of Brown Hall. These include mixers, dining, and study sessions. More of these activities are being planned for next year. At present the residents are working the project of getting music supplied in the dining room.

The men have been active in intramural sports and have made plans for a Table Tennis Contest.

Acting as president of House Council for the spring semester is Paul Meyers. Wes Kuhn holds the office of vice-president.

Since 1954 an award of $100 has been presented each semester to an outstanding student in the dorm. This award is based on citizenship, scholastic standing and interest in the dorm activity. The winner of this award for the fall semester of 1961 was Danny Batesta who is presently serving as resident assistant.

Cornell Cours and Pine Grove Modern, Convenient Housing

Pine Grove Terrace and Cornell Courts provide modern, convenient housing for more than 150 couples of married students. Both groups of apartments provide furnished one and two-bedroom apartments at moderate rents.

The married student housing offers many opportunities for informal socializing. During the Fall, Cornell Courts threw a 'Back to School' party. The back parking was roped off, lights and Chinese lanterns were hung, and couples danced and socialized till early hours.

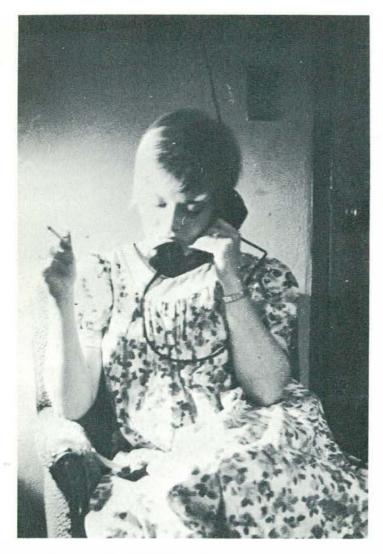

Both Cornell and Pine Grove sponsor Baseball teams which play independently with many of the intramural teams.

The year started by Delta Zeta winning the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy followed by the DZ sponsored Ugliest Man Contest. Last fall, Pam McClure was selected to the homecoming court and DZ won the volleyball championship for the third straight year. Also the fall marked another DZ first-the Top Man Auction held in McKenny Ballroom. The governing bodies of social fraternities on our campus is Interfraternity Council. All rush rulings are handled by this organization and mandatory open houses are organized by I.F.C. The major spring project of this group is to co-sponsor, with Panhellenic Council, our campus Greek Week, this year to be held May 3, 4 and 5. Other matters which are included within the groups' jurisdiction are rules for pledging, fraternity problems, and the number of bids a fraternity may offer.

Alpha Gamma Upsilon

Alpha Gamma Upsilon started the year by making various house improvements. Besides changing storm windows, the Alpha Gams now enjoy beautiful new furniture. Eight new pledges were taken in open rush, and the fraternity is presently making plans to bring back "Royal Interlude," their dinner dance.

Activity and refreshment are combined at the informal meetings of the Mathematics Club. Membership is open to anyone interested in the field of mathematics. The purpose of the organization is to encourage and promote interest in the area of mathematics and create fellowship among its members.

Activities of the past year include a talk by Professor Schneider, a visit to the U. of M. computer center, and Professor Goings gave a demonstration of his own computer.

Art Guild

Art majors largely comprise the organization known as the Art Guild. Its primary purpose is to carry out their art interests to a fuller extent and to promote art activities.

Their meetings are informal, being primarly an interchange of thoughts and ideas.

Last semester the group sponsored a trip to the Flemish Art Display. Many of the members had their own works displayed in the Student Display during May.

Mr. Thomas Walsh, of the University of Michigan, was one of the noted speakers presented this year.

Chemistry Club

It was a busy year for EMU's Chemistry Club. The group which was organized in 1910, has had continuous meetings since that time. At present, they have about fifteen members, who try to promote interest and provide contacts between chemistry students at Eastern and members of the chemistry profession and to establish social contact between students with common interests.

Activities of the year included two movies, a Christmas party, a speaker in January, a fieldtrip in March, and an alumni banquet in May.

Meetings are always informal.

E.M.U. Dames

Geography Club

One of the most active groups on campus is the Geography Club. The year was filled with interesting lecture and field trips. Two airline trips were taken over the southern Michigan area. The group also visited Cranbrook Institute in March and later in the spring they went to the salt mines.

Famed speakers this year included Dr. Chapman, who is a representative of the International Geophysical Year, and Dr. Dohrs, who spoke on Soviet Union capabilities. Wives of EMU students or married women students of Eastern are eligible for membership in the EMU Dames. The Dames is a national organization with headquarters in Idaho.

Many activities took place this year for the Dames. They visited Handicraft Furniture Store in Ann Arbor, Mrs. Trosko, Coach Trosko's wife, gave a fine hat demonstration. In March there was a fashion show at Jacobson's in Ann Arbor. In January, Mr. Kerkoff, of the Merrill-Palmer Institute, gave a talk on "Young Marriages." A Christmas party was also had; it was a potluck dinner.

Home Economics Club

Majors and minors in the area of home economics, largely make up the group known as the Home Economics Club.

Activities this year include a three-day trip for representatives of the club to Chicago to attend the Province Seven Workshop at the Palmer House. Also, Mr. Leatherman of the University of Michigan spoke to the group on one occasion, about the Phoenix Project, concerning radiation. Each year at Christmas and Easter time the girls make favors and visit the people of the Whitehall Convalescent home in Ann Arbor. Also at Christmas time, the "Meals for special occasions" class prepares a dinner for the club. The first and last meeting of the year is traditionally a picnic.

Occupational Therapy

Students enrolled on the Occupational Therapy curriculum are members of the student Occupational Therapy Club. Through the organization they have had opportunity to do service projects for patients at Ypsilanti State Hospital and the children of the Rackham School. They have also visited the nearby Occupational Therapy departments in the area.

A fall picnic for new students and a late spring outing for the senior students have been carried out in conjunction with the Special Education club. A "senior dessert" for students about to start their hospital affiliations is an annual event in May.

The lawn in front of Rackham was adorned with Twinkles, the pink elephant of cereal fame, in recognition of Homecoming festivities. This was a joint effort of the Special Education and Occupational Therapy Clubs.

Special Education

Students majoring or minoring in any one of the nine areas of Special Education make up the majority of the members belonging to the Special Education Club.

Meetings consist of guest speakers, panel discussions, and movies. During the year at least one program is devoted to each of the nine areas which include Mentally Handicapped, Gifted, Socially and Emotionally Maladjusted, Blind, Partially Sighted, Deaf, Hard of Hearing, Orthopedic and Speech Correction.

During the fall semester the club members accompanied by their advisor, Mr. Bernard Treado, traveled to Coldwater for a tour of the school for the Mentally Handicapped. Mrs. Marshall, from the Ypsilanti State Hospital, also visited and spoke on Mental Health. The spring semester brought about a trip to Flint's School for the Deaf.

Orchesis

As a branch of Women's Recreation Association, the Orchesis, EMU's modern dance organization, produces an annual dance concert. Featured numbers in the program are often written and prepared by members of the group. This year's concert was held on April 5th and 6th.

During their weekly meetings the girls practice dance techniques and make ready for the concert presentation. The girls are under the supervision of Mrs. Moffett.

Anyone interested in the art of modern dance is welcomed by the club.

To promote interest in physical education beyond what is learned in classes is the primary purpose of the Physical Education Club. It aids in making its members more professional and helps them to see what they as physical education teachers can do in the school and community to be better teachers.

Various speakers on equipment were heard throughout the year. Clinics were also conducted and fun was added to the list of activities with a bike hike and a Christmas party. Eastern Michigan University has the honor of being the President School of the State Organization of Women's Recreation Association. Next November WRA will have a convention on this campus.

As for activities, WRA sponsors Co-Rec Night, Campus Weekend for all women, WRA board outing and the annual WRA banquet.

In addition to these activities, WRA has teams in field hockey, volleyball, basketball, archery, softball, bowling, tennis, and golf.

WRA also participated in the Homecoming Parade and in the Christmas Sing.

Ski Club

By integrating principles of skiing with as many ski trips as possible, the EMU Ski Club hopes to generate interest and to encourage and familiarize new skiers with the basic and intermediate points of skiing. The club is devoted to promote the sport of snow skiing at the lowest possible financial expense by taking advantage of group rates. As a group, members are enabled maximum opportunity for receiving instruction, supervision, and fellowship.

Other activities of the Ski Club include bi-monthly meetings, featuring guest speakers, films, committee projects and a newly added dry land ski school.

The Ski Club is open to membership by all who are interested in the sport.

Young Republican's Club

To promote the ideals and candidates of the Republican Party while informing themselves of the issues and the men behind them, is the aim of each member of the Republican Club. They are proud of their "action" on campus. All interested Republican students are invited to attend the informal meetings.

The group attended a convention of the Michigan Federation of Young Fepublicans during February in Port Huron. In March. they visited Con-Con. Noted speakers of the year included Professors Waugh and Drummond; also Rocky Gust.

Veterans Club

Many of Eastern's ex-service mer. belong to the Veterans Club. It is primarily socially minded and gives the vets on campus an opportunity to get together for fun and work, too.

The vets were intramural champs for two years. They also had the winning float in the organizational class of the Homecoming Parade for two years. Work at Ypsilanti State Hospital is also an activity of the Veteran's Club. A Christmas Party was given here in December.

Meetings are always informal and fillowed by a general gab session at Cast Nova's.

Varsity Club

All men earning a letter in an active sport are eligible for membership in EMU's Varsity Club. There are at present approximately thirty active members. Coach Jim Fox does a fine jcb as advisor to the group.

The biggest activity for the club is selling concessions at the annual high school tournaments held at Bowen Field House.

The group usually participates in the McKenny Hall Christmas Party, also.

The Varsity club purchased the pennants that adorn the ceiling in Bowen F eld House.

E.M.U. Players

One hundred hours of work are required for active membership in the EMU Players. Their work resulted in several fine production: The Boy Friend, Desire Under the Elms, The Flies, and Gigi. The organization whose purpose is to promote dramatic interest on campus, to encourage participation in dramatic activities and to help students appreciate the vitality of the theater, also presented a series of films.

The Campus-wide Variety Show was one of the bigger events of the season. Social events within the group consisted of a banquet, a picnic and sponsoring a float in the Homecoming parade.

Library Club

Guessner Burgess.

A tea in the Spring for officers of the National Association of School Libraries, highlighted this year's activities for the Library Club. Miss Margaret Robinson, advisor of the club, was honored at the tea as Presiden; of the Michigan Association of School Libraries.

Promoting educational and social functions outside of the classroom for students interested in Library Science is the primary purpose of the organization.

Other activities were a field trip to Nankin Mills school district and to Lincoln Consolidated High School.

WEMU Broadcasting

Each week at 10:35 p.m. the EMU Broadcasting Guild is heard "live" on WHRV Radio for one half-hour.

The organization is open to anyone interested in any or all phases of broadcasting; its purpose is promotir.g this interest.

The program presented by the guild is always one of current interests and challenging topics.

The meetings include lessons in broadcasting and polishing the show for broadcast.

Marching Band

The EMU Marching Band, Drum Major and Majorettes add to the thrill and excitement of every football season.

After the last football game the band still has the obligation of performing in three major concerts. There is a Spring Concert, a Winter Concert, and an Outdocr Concert in May. At this final performance band awards are given to students for participation.

Majorettes lead the band twirling up spirit within the crowd. During basketball season they twirl at a few games and pep assemblies. They always add spark to our Homecoming Parade. Every two years the band and majorettes travel to Central to twirl at their Homecoming. Majorettes try out each fall; they are judged on fundamental twirls and marching.

The Drum Major, Ed Newlin, is the ultimate, high stepping leader of the band!

Always leading our Homecoming Parace is the ROTC department's Drill Team. In fact, they were busy throughout the year, taking part in "Blossom Time' at Benton Harbor, and also the Michigan Invitational Erill Meet. They cooperated with the Vets in an activity at the Ypsilanti State Hospital. A parade in Romulus is also one of this year's activities plus our owr Field Day and Military Ball festivities. The Drill Team serves as an honor guard for the Honorary Cadet Colonel who resides over the Military Ball.

Rifle Team

Eleven teams comprise the Inter-Service Rifle League of which EMU's Rifle Team is a part. In addition to these matches our Rifle team shoots in several "postal matches." We also match skills in the 5th Army Interzollegiate Matches and the Hurst National Trophy Matches in which two of our teams participated. We are proud that one of the teams placed 13th and one team placed 15th in the 5th Army area.

Wesley Foundation

The Wesley house at 407 W. Forest is used in service and fellowship to the Methodist students on campus. Many activities sponsored by the Wesley Foundation keep the house and its members interested an busy.

Meetings start out with formal discussion and is followed by refreshments and informal discussion.

Social activities consist of a fall and a spring retreat, seminar study groups, dances, roller skating parties, and hayrides.

To promote academic quality, the group has many study groups.

Hillel

Monthly meetings of the Jewish students on campus are held in the newly remodeled Starkweather Hall.

The meetings are informal and refreshments always accompany them. The group known as the Hillel Foundation provides for the religious, cultural, educational, and social needs of the Jewish students on campus.

Activities include a big Hannukah Party and the celebrating of various Jewish holidays.

The group co-operates with the Council of Student Religious Organizations, and co-sponsors many famous speakers on campus. In March, the group co-sponsored Shabai Teveth, an Israel journalist and writer, who spoke on Israel and the Middle East.

Lutheran Student's

During this year a variety of events and activities have been enjoyed by the Lutheran Student Association (LSA), "Dating, Courtship, and Marriage", and "Are You Really a Lutheran?" were two of the topics presented by visiting speakers. Informal coffee and coke hours, a discussion of the comic strips, the show ng of the "Martin Luther" film, Sunday suppers during Lent, and visits to various churches for Lenten services rounded out the year of meaningful fun, fellowship, and education for the group.

Canterbury Club

A spirit of enthusiasm and closeness might well describe the informal weekly meetings of the Canterbury Club. This group represents the Episcopalian students on campus.

The group enjoys doing a number of things throughout the year. Field trips took the group to Cranbrook, and the 1961 Episcopal Convention, and a series of joint meetings at Michigan State University. Meetings are also held every Wednesday morning for those wishing to take Holy Communion.

The group has about twenty members and it is open to anyone who wishes to join.

Eastern Christian

Approximately 45 members constitute Eastern's nondenominational Christian organization, known as Eastern Christian Fellowship.

Because the group is non-denominational, its membership is not restricted, but open to all those who are interested.

Eastern Christian Fellowship sponsors daily prayer meetings and weekly "dorm" Bible studies.

Social events for the group this year were weekend conferences, monthly socials and participation in Homecoming festivities, and a spring banquet.

Lectures, films, student presentations, discussions, and singing, add interest and activity to their weekly meeting.

Christian Science

Formal testimonial meetings are held once a week as a primary founction f the Christian Science religious organization. Their purpose is to meet the spiritual needs of Christian Science students during their attendance at Eastern.

In April, the group sponsored a lecture provided by The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston, Massachusetts. This is the major event of the year and open to both students and faculty.

Last summer several members attended an international meeting in Boston for Christian Science College Students.

Baptist Group

A new religious group on campus has started out with a busy year. The group is known as The Baptist Student Fellowship and provides for spiritual and social encouragement among Baptist students on campus.

The group presented two colored films this year and was entertained on another occasion by a play reading group from Ann Arbor, who presented "Waiting For Godat", by Samuel Beckett. A trip was also taken to the American Baptist Assembly Grounds in Grass Lake.

At one meeting three instructors from the natural science department and a minister gave a panel discussion on evolution. It was then opened for discussion by all.

Westminister Presbyterian

Students while wish to make Presbyterian their church away from heme, are invited to join the Westminster Fellowship Group. The fellowship group was organized on Eastern Michigan's campus in January of 1961. Meetings are every Sunday evening.

Light dinner is served at every meeting, followed by discussion or a special speaker. Usually a student chooses a topic for a week and he is then the discussion leader. Rev. Eair serves as pastor for the group, while their adviscr is Mr. Richard Nisbet.

Gamma Delta

The name of the official campus organization for members and friends of the Lutheran church—Missouri Synod, is Gamma Delta. It is an international association of Lutheran college and university students, having approximately one hundred and thirty-five chapters in the United States and Canada.

The purpose of Gamma Delta is to foster Christian knowledge and service on the camp.is. This theme is carried out very well at their weekly meetings where interesting and challenging discussions are conducted.

CSRO

Serving as a structure of communication and coordination for the student religious organizations in the exercise of their religious concerns, is the university's Counc.1 of Student Religious Organizations. The Council has had a busy year.

The CSRO sponsors the Concert-Lectures where honored speakers this year included Harry Golden and William Shire:

The Council also conducted Wednesday afternoon Coffee Hours and Seminars in Religion, plus Faculty Firesices in both the spring and fall semesters.

This year EMU was host to the fifth annual Eastern Regional Stucent Affairs Conference. This was held May fourth through sixth.

Student Court Justice by and for Students

The highest judicial body on Eastern's campus is Student Court. The Court is composed of justices elected in the annual all-campus election. The group tries cases which are violations of university regulations.

The Court tries cases and makes its recommendation to the administration. Typical cases include illegal offcampus housing, and in general "conduct unbecoming a university student."

Maintaining High Standards Among Women Associated Women Students

Upon registering in the university, every woman student becomes a member of A.W.S.; Associated Women Students. The A.W.S. group on Eastern's campus was crganized in 1919. A.W.S. provides a means by which all women students may participate in student government. It also provides a social outlet by membership in group activities. Working with both faculty and students, A.W.S. strives to maintain high standards in university living. Associated Women Students is a member of National Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

A.W.S. has been an active group on Eastern's campus. They are credited with the starting of the "honor system" in the women's residence halls, and also the later closing hours. Men's Union and A.W.S. this year sponsored penny night in which each girl paid one penny per minute, up to an hour, to stay out later.

Advisory Board

Handling all serious infractions of rules in the women's residence halls and all latenesses of more than five minutes, is a job of the Women's Advisory Board. The board meets once a week to hear cases; they have the authority to dorm a girl, campus her, or refer her to Dean Hill for counseling. Usually the board meets with ten or twelve girls per night.

Members of the Advisory Board are elected during the all-campus elections from a slate set up by Women's League.

Men's Union Cooperative Interests Among Men

Every man on campus is actually a member of Men's Union. Its object is to further the social life of the men, to stimulate cooperative interest in matters of general student welfare, and to assist its members with their problems.

The Union works in cooperation with many organizations on campus to further a democratic spirit of fellowship at Eastern.

The board meets twice a month to discuss and promote its purposes and interests.

With Dean Brown's leadership, the Union sponsored the Yule Log Drag, the class games, the Mad Man's Marathon, All-Sports Night, and in May the Men's Union Banquet.

All-University Social Committee Providing a Whirl of Social Fun

HOSPITALITY

Serving as fine hosts and hostesses, the members of EMU's Hospitality Committee conduct campus tours for all interested visitors.

Two of the biggest events for the Hospitality members are helping with the F.T.A. Day Tours, and with the annual Principal-Freshmen Conference. They also serve coffee at the various departmental workshops and serve as host and hostesses. Often, when receptions are held for noted guests and speakers on campus, the committee is asked to help with conducting the reception. Members are sometimes sent on special college day or rights held at the high schools in the southern Michigan area. They tell what they like about Eastern and answer any questions that might arise. An instructor always accompanies the members on these occasions. ALL UN The All-Un year of plann We have been campus, throu other guests we Huronaires. The J-Hop Cornettra play the best ever. For this reason, a 2.00 average is required for membership, accompanied with a pleasant personality and a well-groomed, attractive appearance. The Committee is proud to have over one hundred members.

ALL UNIVERSITY SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The All-University Social Committee has had a busy year of planning social activities for Eastern students. We have been fortunate in having Si Zentner visit our campus, through the efforts of the Committee. Among other guests were the Friars and the Arbors, and the Huronaires.

The J-Hop is always the big event for the Social Committee. This year Peter Palmer and his Voices and Orchestra played and sang to make this year's J-Hop the best ever.

This Committee has given much in its efforts to better ocial activities at our university.

Student Council The Student's Voice in University Affairs

Better communication between students, faculty, and administration is another aim of Student Council. In January, Dean Gilden spoke to the group and discussed ways for improving the counseling system at EMU. Members of the Council are represented on studentfaculty committees, and on various Deans Committees where both student and faculty opinions are discussed.

Meeting every two weeks, the group which represents students and reflects the majority of student opinion, is active in providing government and service to the students of Eastern. Striving to provide more effective student government, the Student Council has attempted to expand itself into all phases of campus life. Under the guidance of Dean Gilden, the group has made many notable contributions to the university this year.

Among its achievements are orientation activities including the President's welcome and the development of an appointment book and a calendar which is printed each semester. One of the main jobs of this group is to take charge of the annual campus elections held each Spring.

Concepts Magazine of Creative Writing and Art

Concepts, the university literary and art magazine, offers a medium of expression to student writers and artists. Published each semester, it presents the best creative works of the year and awards cash prizes for poetry, art, short stories, and essays.

The editors this year encouraged creative writing through student readings and discussions.

The magazine is distributed free of cost to Eastern's students and faculty.

Aurora Three-color Cover and

Although only a harried staff member can fully appreciate the endless hours that go into producing a yearbook, the book itself will certainly be judged by every person who reads it.

Several changes have been made in the organization and the format of this 1962 Aurora. An already tight budget was squeezed to allow for a three-color cover instead of two as in the past. Academic coverage, only briefly covered in past years, has been expanded to include both photographic and literary coverage for each department.

The format of the book has taken on a more informal layout this year. Both sports and Greeks have enlarged coverage in this book.

True, there will be faults in this, as in every yearbook. Nevertheless, we of the Aurora staff feel that taken steps toward the production of a better yearbook.

Controversy for Readers

Throughout the year, The Eastern Echo has tried to provide the campus with a newspaper which informs, entertains, and provokes thought. In doing this, it has tried to cover as many campus events as possible, hired a cartoonist, added a copy editor to the editorial staff, and written editorials intended to raise questions and throw out ideas.

Articles in the Echo initiated such campus issues as the residence hall policy on discrimination, advocacy of a Communist speaker, criticisms of the actions of Student Council, and condemnation of fallout shelters. The Echo fought for the right to print names and cases tried before student court—an issue which was later a referendum placed on the ballots for the annual campus elections.

The Echo has added a column of off-beat interest titled "The Balloon Man" as well as political interest in the Young Democrats' and Young Republicans' weekly views.
