

AURORA

With the recent emphasis on higher learning, the universities and colleges all over the nation are responding with active programs of expansion. Each institution is concentrating on enlarging its various fields and facilities in answer to the vast demand of the increasing student population.

Eastern Michigan University is one of the many institutions participating in this nation-wide demand for improvement. Action toward the new gym and several new residence halls adds greatly to the modern facilities already present on this campus. The creation of many new student organizations and projects has enlarged the areas in which students with these interests may participate, and the addition of new courses and instructors has helped maintain the high standard of education prevalent on this campus.

The culmination of these various additions plus the traditions and experiences of the past have been an active force behind the promotion of Eastern's latest innovations—which may aptly be called The Rising University.

Campus

A university is a complex thing.

No other type of institution assimilates such a great number of different individuals and gives them a common goal.

Amid its maze of various buildings and facilities, the student body accumulates and reiterates knowledge.

Although the acquisition of academic knowledge and skills is their main purpose, each student is individually responsible for the quality and quantity of this knowledge that he gathers.

Not all of this knowledge is academic. The social and cultural aspects of university life aid the student in discovering himself, as well as his goals for the future.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Art

Joan Norton and Karenann Moroz sketch displayed paintings as Dr. King Calkins supervises.

An art school atmosphere prevails in this department. The program is designed to serve both general students and specializing art students. Studios for student use are kept open evenings and weekends. Studio experiences are an integral part of most classes and instruction is offered in a full range of art media. Traditionally, the department has represented a creative, experimental approach to art study. Recently, a revision and expansion of the major program has permitted more professional experiences. Graduate programs in art education and fine arts began this year.

The Art Gallery is open during school hours and features a new exhibition each month, with particular stress on the work of young professional students. A permanent collection, mainly contemporary, is made available to the University Library, Starkweather Hall, and other campus centers. Students exhibitions accompany openings at Quirk Theatre.

All staff members are specialists in individual areas of teaching. In addition, all are exhibiting artists. As a group, they have exhibited in Detroit, Ypsilanti, and Ann Arbor during the 1962-1963 school year, as well as presenting individual exhibitions and contributing to many group shows.

Biology

Students, led by Dr. Johnson, learn about the Natural History of Invertebrates.

The Department of Biology now offers the degree of Master of Science in Biology, based on 50 semester hours of Biology, with at least 24 hours on the graduate level. This program better qualifies the student for teaching Biology in high schools and junior colleges, and at the same time provides a sound foundation for those going on for specialized doctorate. This broad background has become increasingly difficult to obtain, as many institutions demand virtually exclusive concentration on only one area.

This concern for breadth of undertaking is also expressed in two new cooperative programs, the minor in Conservation and Resource Use, in conjunction with the Departments of Geography and of History, and the 36-hour group major in General Science and required minor in a specific science.

Other areas of cooperation are the several preprofessional curricula, in Medicine, Dentistry, Forestry, Pharmacy, and Mortuary Science, whose students draw heavily from all the Science areas. Those who take their degree here usually major in Biology or in Chemistry. To these programs has recently been added Medical Technology.

In the 1962-64 biennium the Biology and Chemistry Departments are acquiring nearly $40,000.00 worth of new equipment, through a $19,650.00 grant from the National Science Foundation, plus matching funds from the state. This is resulting in a marked improvement in instruction, particularly in the areas of Physiology and Biochemistry.

Chemistry

Bert Vossler and Alan Vasher experiment in fractional distillation.

Dr. Clark Spike helps Sarah Wickenheiser in the techniques of instrumental analysis.

To understand the phenomenal rise in importance of science and technology in the past three decades, one needs only to recognize two facts: 1) 90% of all the scientists and engineers ever trained are alive today, 2) The future needs and opportunities for people trained in science and related fields are greater than in any other area of endeavor.

To prepare its students to take advantage of these great opportunities, the E.M.U. Chemistry Department offers challenging programs leading to the Bachelor degree, and participates in preprofessional programs in dentistry, engineering, pharmacy, and medicine. In addition, a new program has been established in Medical Technology, in which the student spends his fourth year in internship at one of seven affiliated hospitals. The department has also introduced nine new courses within the past five years, providing 21 additional credit hours in the fields of physical, organic, inorganic, analytical chemistry and research.

Not only is the department located in the relatively new Strong Science building, with its equally modern facilities, but in the past year they have received, jointly with the Biology Department, a grant for $40,000 to be spent on equipment for teaching and research.

Several undergraduate research programs are in progress. One, which is supported by a grant from Research Corporation, involves the synthesis of new compounds to be tested for cancer chemotherapy. Many challenging opportunities await the qualified student in the area of research.

Chemistry major graduates from E.M.U. are experiencing a wide selection of excellent opportunities in teaching, industry, and research. Those who wish to attend graduate schools for further training have found fellowships readily available at most of the major universities. At present, E.M.U. graduates are pursuing Doctoral programs in chemistry at Ohio State University, Purdue University, Michigan State University, University of Michigan, and the University of Arizona.

The department extends a most cordial welcome to students with above average scholarship, a sincere interest in science and mathematics, an inner urge to seek the universal truths of nature, and an aptitude for keen observation and logical thinking, and it is prepared to offer personalized attention that cannot be found at the large universities.

English and Speech

Professor M. P. Foster lectures on Shakespeare.

The Department of English and Speech maintains various courses for students majoring in these areas and those seeking an adequate background in English to further their different interests. The department has an excellent faculty, consisting of forty-three members that work either full or part-time. Many of these faculty members have obtained their Doctorate Degrees, thus enabling those students that wish additional information in special areas to receive aid.

121 English Composition, designed to provide the fundamental skills of reading and writing, including a study of grammar, sentence structure, punctuation, and organization of simple material, is required of all freshmen, unless they are determined exempt. 101 and 102 Reading of Literature is also required to graduate, unless substituted with a foreign language. 121 Fundamentals of Speech, designed to provide the student with both theory and practice in the principles of effective speech composition and presentation, is also required.

There are several courses that may be taken for credit or as extra curricular classes — Forensics, Interpretation, Theatre Practice, Broadcasting, and Debate.

Foreign Language and Literature

Modern facilities are available in the foreign language lab.

Language is man's greatest invention. The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures performs several tasks. It prepares teachers of French, Spanish and German for all levels of instruction from the F.L.E.S. teacher of the early grades to college teachers. The language courses have the dual function of giving the student an understanding of the structure of language, and of developing his skill in the language he studies. The literature courses, which are all given in the language, provide for the cultural development of the student.

In a service role, the Department supplies the requisite language training for students in the pre-professional and scientific fields. A new and well-equipped laboratory, whose use is required in all language classes, provides aural training, while students in conversation courses do extensive recording of their own work.

Dr. Owens, Head of the Department.

Geography

Dr. Gallagher demonstrates the techniques of topography.

The department of geography at Eastern Michigan University has long been recognized as one of the most outstanding departments in the country. Several nationally known scholars have been associated with the department over the course of the last six decades.

At present, the department consists of nine full time staff members and several part time members. There is a large number of undergraduate majors in the department. The graduate program is well established and many students, from many sections of the country, are working toward their master's degree in geography here. The total enrollment of the department presently ranks fifth in the United States.

Several of the present staff are very active professionally. Each year members of the department contribute articles to professional journals and some hold offices of major responsibility in national and international organizations. Many of the department's graduates presently hold responsible positions in academic and government fields as well as private industry.

History and Social Science

Dr. Pearce points out an area of importance to his class.

Advancements, additions, and experiments mark the improvements being made in the Department of History and Social Sciences. During the past five years, the department has grown approximately twenty per cent. Approximately 35 teachers, some of them part-time, are now involved in this program.

The department covers five areas: History, Political Science, Sociology, Economics, and Philosophy. Thirty-hour majors and twenty-hour minors are available in all areas except Philosophy, which was added to the curriculum only four years ago. A Philosophy minor will be offered for the first time in 1963-1964. The department hopes to add a Philosophy major in the near future.

In the fall of 1959, a program for the Master's Degree in History was set up. Upwards of sixty students are now enrolled in this program, which is designed primarily for teachers. Cognate work is offered at the graduate level in the fields of Political Science, Economics, and Sociology.

For the past two years, the department has conducted a limited amount of instruction by closed-circuit television. While this work is still experimental, results have been sufficiently promising to warrant its continuation.

Mathematics

Dr. Goings helps one of the students with a computer in the math lab.

A number of changes designed to modernize and improve the training of students in mathematics are currently underway. Functional mathematics, the general education course, has been revised to emphasize modern trends in elementary mathematics; in-service courses are offered to help modernize the training of people presently teaching. The present freshman-sophomore sequence was revised in keeping with national trends in new courses which will be taught in the Fall of 1963.

Advanced courses of modern algebra, matrices, and mathematical statistics, have been added to the curriculum. In connection with this, Mr. Goings helped to complete the construction of an analogue computer which is useful to students in applied math.

Music

Dr. Schrader shows students the proper hand position for playing the piano.

The program offered by the Department of Music at Eastern Michigan University serves three primary objectives: (1) It prepares teachers of music for the schools, (2) It provides instruction in vocal and instrumental music and in musical theory, and (3) It offers instruction in music and music appreciation to the general student.

The curriculum for teachers of music at the University includes work in the general areas of drama, language, literature, and speech; the sciences and social sciences; professional education; the fine arts; and musical performance. The student working for the Bachelor of Music Education with an Elementary or Secondary Provisional Certificate is required major either in vocal or instrumental music. In either case, he would study elements of music, harmony, counterpoint, the history and literature of music, and orchestration. In addition, vocal majors would study sight reading and ear training, and diction and musical repertoire. Both vocal and instrumental majors must meet prescribed levels of performance in their areas of professional concentration.

The Frederick Alexander Music Building provides a social and meeting center for the music students and their organizations. The building features two large rehearsal halls, one vocal, the other instrumental; practice rooms and teaching studios; classrooms; and offices for the Department of Music and its faculty. It also provides a complete range of essential musical facilities. Organs and pianos are available for practice and recital in sufficient numbers to meet the needs of students. There are facilities for instrument storage and repair. There is a music library, and its facilities are constantly being expanded to augment the collection of musical scores. Available are modern listening rooms with a fine record collection. The completeness of facilities in the new building provides each student with a full opportunity to explore his interests in performance and in study.

Physics and Astronomy

Endeavoring to promote understanding of the fundamental concepts of our physical environment, the Department of Physics and Astronomy stretches its studies from the core of the atom to the far reaches of outer space. With seven regular staff members and a group of student assistants, the department offers a major and minor in Physics and serves the General Education program, the Pre-medical, Pre-dental, the Pre-engineering curriculum, the Applied Science curriculum, and the Department of Music.

The laboratory program which accompanies course offerings in the department is designed to allow students to gain first hand insight into the workings of their surroundings. Beginning with simple experiments in elementary courses, students progress to more sophisticated levels at which advanced equipment is used and greater understanding are necessary. Majors in the department are encouraged to partake in undergraduate research programs of an individual nature.

At the completion of this school year, the department will have constructed a new high vacuum plating system which will be used for coating telescope mirrors and conducting coatings on crystals for use in ultrasonic experiments.

Graduates of the Department of Physics and Astronomy are much in demand in both teaching and industrial positions, and the greater percentage of graduates are now finding their way into graduate study to better prepare themselves for their work.

Psychology

Dr. Anderson teaches psychology students how to utilize machines.

The newest department on Eastern's campus is the Psychology Department. It was officially established by the action of the State Board of Education on July 1, 1962, and became one of the eleven departments that constitute the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Robert L. Anderson was appointed as acting-head of the department for the first year. Four additional full-time staff members were employed. With the aid of five part-time instructors, a staff of six and one-half full-time equivalent positions was constituted.

The department offers a major and two minors at the undergraduate level. The major is applicable for both a liberal arts degree and teaching certification. A variety of new courses have been developed for the undergraduate and graduate program, including a laboratory experience for general psychology and courses in adjustment, sensation and perception, motivation, and emotion, theories of personality, and individual research.

The student interest in psychology has been indicated by the fact that more than a hundred students have elected either a major or minor. Students have given further expression of interest by the formation of the Psychology Club.

Planning is underway to develop a master's degree program in the near future. It is probable that special emphasis will be given to programs in the teaching of psychology, experimental psychology, and school psychology.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Education

Dr. Woronoff lectures on Human Growth and Development.

The Department of Education is a major department within the College of Education. The other departments include those of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics, and Special Education and Occupational Therapy. The function of the College of Education is to provide programs of instruction for school leaders, such as teachers, administrators, counselors, curriculum coordinators, and the many specialists in a variety of school positions.

The Department of Education is responsible for providing students with experiences in educational theory and practice, and arranging opportunities for experiencing these theories under the supervision of the University's faculty members. Organized programs of professional education are afforded at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

In the undergraduate program, for students on the Elementary and Junior-Senior High School Curricula, the course sequence is as follows: 320 Human Growth and Development is usually taken in the Sophomore or Junior years; 326 School and Society is generally taken in the Junior year; Methods of Teaching is taken in the Junior year; and 495-496 Student Teaching is taken in the Senior year, along with 418 Seminar in Education. Secondary Education students must also take 504 Guidance in their Senior year. All students in professional education must have an acceptable "teaching" major or minors in one of the other University departments.

Physical Education, Health, Recreation, and Athletics

Gymnastics is one of the many aspects of the Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics Department.

Dr. Lloyd W. Olds receives an award for noteworthy achievement from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Eastern Michigan University was the first state supported college or university in the United States to offer teacher training in physical education back in 1888. Later, the department of Physical Education was founded by W.P. Bowen in 1894. Since that date we have graduated approximately 2800 students who are now serving in public schools, colleges, and universities throughout the entire country. The official name of the department, Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics, was approved in 1961 by the State Board of Education.

At the present time the following curricula are offered: Major in Physical Education and Recreation, Minors in Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Modern Dance. Students majoring in this department are required to take without credit: men, 26 hours of activity and service work: women: 48. Much of the men's service work is taken in public schools, Boys' Club, Recreation departments throughout southeastern Michigan, as well as in campus classes. This gives valuable training on the job for prospective students in the field and brings them in touch with the problems that exist in their chosen field.

The department has catalogued, outlined, and printed a handbook of all academic and service classes of the department. The department is one of nine colleges on the approved list of the North Central Accreditation of Teacher Education.

The courses of study have been drawn up and approved for the offering of a graduate master's degree in H.P.E.R., which is hoped to be established within the coming school year. The department has recommended the re-establishment of the requirement in P.E. for general men students be instituted for the school year of 1963-1964 and it has been approved by the Faculty Council. The department stands ready to establish graduate and research work in the fields of H.P.E.R. whenever the increase in staff will permit the same.

Special Education and Occupational Therapy

The Department of Special Education and Occupational Therapy offers undergraduate curricula and graduate work in the areas of the acoustically handicapped, blind, partially sighted, mentally handicapped, physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed and speech handicapped. On completion of any of these curricula, the student is eligible for an elementary provisional certificate and may elect to teach in a special education program or a regular classroom.

The department, one of the oldest of its kind in the country, offers the student a unique opportunity in special education because located on the campus at Eastern is the Horace H. Rackham School of Special Education. Here, the student has an opportunity to gain practical as well as theoretical experience in all areas of special education. Although the department is now one of the largest of its kind, students still receive individual and personal attention with problems related to their college life and curriculum; this is accomplished through the assignment of an advisor from the Department of Special Education who works very closely in providing counselling and guidance with every major in the department. On completion of the program, the student finds that many job opportunities are available in the field, not only in Michigan but all over the country.

The curriculum of Occupational Therapy consists of four years of academic work on the campus, plus a minimum of nine months of hospital experience. On completion of the four years' work, the graduate is eligible for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Occupational Therapy. Upon completion of the hospital internship, the student is eligible to qualify by examination for the American Occupational Therapy Association. With permission, students may have a summer assignment between their junior and senior year, thus shortening the hospital affiliation period by two or three months.

Students may enter the program in Occupational Therapy on the freshman, transfer or graduate level. Applicants holding a Bachelor's degree must be on campus at least two semesters.

The curriculum of Occupational Therapy at Eastern Michigan University has been approved and accredited by the Council on Medical Education and meets all training requirements for professional registration in the American Occupational Therapy Association.

INSTRUCTIONAL DEPARTMENTS

Business Studies

Since business classes tend to be small, the students receive more individual attention.

The faculty members willingly help students interested in business.

A senior in Business Education does her student teaching at Roosevelt.

Many business students must spend hours improving their typing skills.

Expansion and growth have been the key to action in the Department of Business Studies during the 1962-1963 academic year. Majors in the Department of Business Studies now approximate 650 in the areas of Business Administration, Business Education and Secretarial Science, and Business Technical Programs. The enrollment in business classes has reached 1450 students.

Two new programs leading to the master's degree in Business Administration or Business Education have been approved by the Graduate Council and the University President. The master's degree in Business Administration is aimed primarily at the middle management area. Its content is broad in scope, having for its major objective the development of decision-making abilities.

Business Education's strong undergraduate program has been further strengthened on the master's level by the addition of professional courses in business education, as well as the inclusion of a basic core program in business administration. The core program is broad in scope and emphasizes the interrelationships of all functional areas of business.

Social and fraternal opportunities are afforded business students. Two fraternities — Psi Kappa Alpha, professional fraternity in business administration, and Pi Omega Pi, an honorary fraternity in business education — are an integral part of campus life. The department sponsors social and semi-professional activities throughout the year. These activities include picnics, receptions for students and parents, and dances, as well as, seminars and conferences. These activities are open to all business students.

Business graduates are given assistance by the University Placement Service in securing employment. Representatives from more than one hundred businesses and industries visit the campus annually to conduct employment interviews with persons graduating from the department.

Home Economics

Members of the Home Economics Club leave for a work shop in Chicago.

Home Economics is the field of knowledge and service primarily concerned with strengthening family life through education of the individual, improvement of services and goods, research to discover changing needs, and furthering conditions favorable to family living.

At the present time, the Home Economics Department at Eastern provides a four-year course leading to a degree of Bachelor of Science with a major in education and a two-year curriculum in general home economics. In addition to teaching, graduates also go into business and industry including food service and retailing, the Agricultural Extension Service, and mass media, such as television.

One section of Family Living is open for engaged and married couples only. All courses in the department are open as electives to any student in the university if prerequisites can be met.

A new curriculum for teachers is now provided. This includes a 30 semester hour major and a 20 hour minor. Five new courses were added to fulfill the needs of this program.

Industrial Education and Applied Arts

The changes in the name of the Department of Industrial Education and Applied Arts reflect the progress of this department and the impact of the Twentieth Century technology. Originally organized in 1901 as Manual Training, the name was changed to Industrial Arts in 1916 and the present name was adopted in 1956.

Along with the changes in name, there has been a constant revision of curriculum. A complete revision, the most thorough in many years, was put into effect this year.

The activities at R.O.T.C. Summer Camp are a highlight of the Advanced Course of the R.O.T.C. Program. During the six-week camp between the Junior and Senior year the cadets are afforded realistic opportunities to apply the knowledge gained in the classrooms at Eastern Michigan University and to demonstrate their leadership abilities.

The R.O.T.C. Program at E.M.U. offers a fully accredited course of instruction leading to a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve. A few outstanding cadets are commissioned in the Regular Army. Since establishment of the program, 144 E.M.U. cadets have won reserve commissions, and 37 have graduated with Regular Army commissions. Many of these young officers are still on active duty, serving in important assignments all over the world. Joining them soon will be another thirty new Second Lieutenants from the June 1963 graduating class.

RESIDENCE HALLS

A Rise in Responsibility

Brown Hall girls enjoy traditional Thanksgiving dinner; Lassie Slusher, Nancy Rutledge, Kathy Thomas, and Lynn Hill.

Brown Hall has been experimenting successfully with the honor system this past year. This system has been used at closing, for room check, and for selling potato chips.

The House Council passed the resolution to increase the number of Bess Hyde Scholarships. Mary Andison was awarded the Bess Hyde Scholarship last year, and this year the council awarded two scholarships instead of one. These scholarships were awarded to senior girls in the dorm.

Brown Hall's theme for the 1962 Homecoming was, "Where The Boys Are," which tied in nicely with the overall theme of Homecoming — "Songs of the Sixties."

The two hundred and thirty-nine women students of Goodison Hall enjoyed many social activities, including mixers with students from the University of Michigan.

For Homecoming the girls worked enthusiastically toward their dorm and float theme—"I'm Going To Wash That Man Right Out Of My Hair". A cider sip and an open house followed the victorious football game.

Once again various administrators and professors were invited to speak at "Fireside Chats." The dorm also held Dad's Day, Mother's Day, Little Sister's Weekend, Parent's Day and a Christmas Parent-Faculty Tea. Culminating the year's activities was the hall formal dance held in the spring.

Buell Hall

The men of Buell Hall have been leaders in the past and hope to continue their lead in the future. The dorm's first step in leadership in the past year was emphasized in its originality of its float and dorm decorations. Buell Hall won first place for float decorations. "Camelot" was the song title which inspired the theme for Buell Hall's homecoming.

Other activities in the past year included the traditional scholarship dinner and friendly dorm mixers. The residents of the dorm hope to enjoy continued success in their athletic activities and continued leadership in many of the social activities on campus.

Ralph Kurtzhals relaxes in comfortable surroundings.

The "Peppermint Lounge" wins the outside dorm decoration award for 1962 Homecoming.

Downing's theme for Homecoming was the Peppermint Twist. The girls worked hard to copy the Peppermint Twist Lounge, and the result; they took first place.

Downing Hall has a rather unique system of scholarships. Each fall, a fifty dollar scholarship is awarded to the president and vice-president of the hall. The money comes from interest on a scholarship fund. This year the dorm was fortunate enough to have enough from the interest to be able to give the secretary, treasurer and social chairman smaller scholarships also.

The girls have an annual Mother's weekend, Little Sister's Weekend and Father's Day. At each of these times special events take place in the hall to entertain the guests.

Goddard Hall

Goddard Hall started the year with get acquainted parties for all freshmen and transfers in Mrs. Hallowell's suite. All the girls worked hard on the float, "The Lion Sleeps Tonight", and were rightly proud of it.

The scholarship fund was increased by the returns of the bake sale after Thanksgiving. At Christmas the girls gave food and toys to a needy family in Ypsilanti. The Formal dance, held December 8 was a huge success. Mothers, fathers, sisters, and brothers were entertained at various times throughout the year. The Parent-Professor Patio Party was the climax of a wonderful year at Goddard.

The year's activities began at Jones with a Bermuda-pajama party for freshmen and transfer students. Pixie week, an annual affair, was very conducive toward getting new residents acquainted and a Halloween party brought a close to October's activities.

There was much festivity at Christmas time, as the girls held their traditional formal, "Fantasy in White," a Parent-Faculty Open House, and their annual Christmas party. Also, in the holiday spirit of giving, the girls in Jones bought and wrapped gifts for needy children, and participated in the Ruth Alden Dress Drive, which helps to provide dresses for the same children.

Activities for the girls' families, such as Dad's Day, Mom's Day, and Little Sister's Weekend, were very popular and enjoyed by all.

Munson Hall held several mixers with Brown Hall, along with mixed dining, and mixed studying as a co-educational experiment between the men and women's dorms.

The theme for the Homecoming float was the "Monster Mash," representative of a song from the sixties. After the game, parents and visitors were welcomed at an open house.

There were many Christmas events such as, a tree trimming party, a Christmas mixer, and an All-campus Christmas party at McKenny. Helping to organize many of the activities were the president, Gary Clark, and vice-president, Jim Ukele.

Tom Blue and Connie Clague were serenaded in front of King Hall.

King Hall, Eastern Michigan University's oldest women's dormitory, was opened in 1939. Activities for the fall included participation in Homecoming and Pixie Days. In November the King girls held a Dad's Day to acquaint their fathers with campus life.

At Christmas time the dorm held its annual party for children at Lincoln School. The girls brought old toys from home, repaired them, and distributed them to the children.

King held its Faculty-Parent Tea in the spring. Other activities were corridor dinners and a Little Sister's week-end.

Campus Grows-Ground Broken

Eastern Michigan University's President Eugene B. Elliott presided at the ground-breaking ceremonies Thursday, January 3, for a new $1,200,000 unit in the University's residence hall complex. The ceremony was held at 10:00 a.m.

Miss Eleanor Meston, 222 N. Summit, Ypsilanti, a retired faculty member of the University and friend of the late Margaret E. Wise for whom the building, third in the complex, is to be named, turned the first shovelful of earth at the groundbreaking.

Others present included representatives of the State Board of Education, Eastern Michigan University, the architectural and construction firms who will build the structure, and Ypsilanti friends of the late Miss Wise.

Margaret E. Wise was a faculty member at E.M.U. for 48 years prior to her retirement in 1939. She joined the E.M.U. faculty (then called State Normal School) in 1893. From then, until her appointment as Director of Placement in 1927, she trained more than 1600 teachers for first-grade work. Miss Wise died in Florida in 1957 at the age of 90.

Designed to house 322 single students, the new residence hall will be five stories high and will provide double-bed sitting rooms with built-in wardrobes, dressers, study desks, and bookshelves.

Ready for occupancy in the fall semester of 1964, the structure will also contain two corridor lounge sitting rooms on each floor. A public lounge, lobby, main desk, and house director's quarters will be on the ground floor with recreation rooms, laundry facilities, and meeting rooms on the second floor.

Freshmen Principal Conference

Freshmen from Pontiac Northern discuss their first semester at Eastern.

Eastern Michigan University held its Sixth Annual Principal-Freshman Conference on Tuesday, November 20.

The primary purpose of the conference was to provide an opportunity for high school principals and counselors to interview their former students who are presently enrolled at Eastern Michigan University. The personal adjustments, guidance and curriculum improvement resulting from these interviews will be of great potential benefit to the student, his former high school and the University.

The first conference was November 26, 1957, when 100 high schools were represented by principals and counselors. Participation has doubled over the past six years with over 200 schools participating on November 20.

Ralph F. Gilden, Dean of Admissions and Student Activities, has headed the Principal-Freshman Conference during the six years of its existence.

This second annual event was planned by Jeanne Pomazal, a sophomore, formerly of Escanaba now of Milwaukee and the office of student affairs at Eastern.

Practice

Each player knows his assignment and another of coach Trosko's "originals" is executed as Don Oboza leads the play for Pat Dignan.

Don Obozo starts down field to receive one of Bill MacGillivray's passes.

Many weeks before the student body returned to the University, the mighty Hurons practiced diligently, but little did the victory starved Hurons realize this would be their season to feast.

With a capacity crowd looking on Terry Hurley, after receiving a lateral from end Jim D'Arcy, he starts on a 60 yard touch-down run. Hurley, besides, being the number one scorer for Eastern, was the third highest scorer in Michigan with 52 points.

Here against the same team, Eastern Illinois, Hurley recovers a fumble as fellow teammates rush to his aid.

Pat Dignan pulls down a Tom Prieur pass for another E.M.U. first down in the left flat.

Basketball

The Hurons have surprised many of their opponents this year with their well rounded scoring and overall team play.

The defense improved steadily, spearheaded by Ed Gallup, the team hustler. The fine playing guards, Duane "Peanuts" Lamiman and Bill Abraham, in getting the ball to the big men, Russ Harvey and Charlie Turner brought some winning games to the Hurons.

The real strong point of the team, however, lied not only in the starting five, but also in the strong line of substitutes, Jim Selby, Gary Clark, and Todd Elliot.

Duane Lamiman goes in for a lay-up against Assumption. Coming in to aid on the play is Gary Clark, No. 13.

Jim Selby tries a jump shot. Moving in for the rebound is Gary Clark, No. 13.

Bil. Abraham, a junior from Capac tries a jump shot against Assumption. Moving in for the rebound is No. 14, Steve DeMar.

Duane "Peanuts" Laminan, showing great agility, adds two more to the Huron's score.

This year the Cinderman at E.M.U. were nothing less than astounding. They had depth in every event.

In the first meet of the year the Hurons shocked Toledo University by the score of 85-18. In this meet, seven equaled records.

Eastern this year had a powerhouse of freshmen. George Mason, Hildred Lewis, and Al Potratz were all former state champions. Talented George Mason, in the first meet of the season, broke the record in the 880 yard run and anchored the mile relay team to set another meet record. Hildred Lewis, a freshman from Memphis, Michigan, is expected to be the contender in the mile.

The freshmen, being good trackmen, were still dominated by the veterans. Andrew Terry flew over hurdles in the image of Hayes Jones, and Jim Nelson, Ron Wilson, and Larry Andrews in the distance races are looking forward to many victories.

Ron Wilson, captain

Cross Country

Eastern Michigan University's harriers were an improved version of the 1961 team as they won 3—lost 5 in the current campaign. In 1961 the Hurons were able to muster only 2 wins for the season.

Included in the victory column were wins over the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 26-29; the University of Toledo, 18-44; and Baldwin-Wallace College, 20-43.

Next year could be even better for the harriers as most of the team will be returning.

A combination of injuries and midseason drop outs ruined a promising season for Russ Bush's matmen as they ended the year with a 3-6 record.

Bush had expected one of E.M.U.'s best teams ever as he started off early practices with nine lettermen and a host of promising newcomers. However, as the season wore on, a total of nine men were forced to the sidelines.

Even so, the team did surprisingly well as they downed Wayne State, Case Institute, and Western Reserve.

Leading the way for the Hurons was senior Duke Relyea who battled his way to a 8-1 record, including an upset win over Central Michigan's Mick DeVoe, who had won 19 straight before facing the "Duker".

C. Strain, captain.

Gymnastics

Austin demonstrates his ability on the parallel bars.

Wagner illustrates "Gymnastics can be fun."

This was a big building year for the Eastern Michigan gymnastics team, as coach Marve Johnson had to work entirely with freshmen and sophomores.

Although the team had not won a match as of February 25th, the promise of better things to come seemed possible for future years because of the experience gained throughout the season.

This is only the third year that the Hurons have fielded a gymnastics team.

The cheerleaders went to Central on October 20 to see the game and they cheered for all of Eastern's home games in football and basketball.

Organization

Panhellenic Council is composed of two representatives from each social sorority on campus. Its purpose is to act as the self-governing body of all the sororities.

The main job of Panhellenic Council is the handling of formal and open rushing. Rush is begun with the "Panhell" Peek at Greek, and is concluded with the Panhellenic Sing.

Panhellenic Council joins with the Interfraternity Council in presenting several dances throughout the year, and also joins with them to sponsor Greek Weekend.

Xi Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority was established at Eastern Michigan University in 1949. Since then, the chapter has been active in both civic and social affairs. As part of their philanthropic work, the A.K.A.'s do volunteer work at Beyer Hospital and at the local Red Cross center. Once a year, a scholarship is awarded to a deserving high school student, and a Thanksgiving basket is given to a needy family in the local area.

An annual spring social activity of the Alpha Kappa Alphas is the semi-formal dance "A.K.A. Baile."

A O Π

Alpha Omicron Pi was originally founded at Barnard College. They came to Eastern when Beta Pi Gamma was initiated in January, 1962.

Their fall activities included a family picnic, sorority breakfasts every Saturday, and sorority volleyball. Homecoming was especially exciting for the A.O. Pi's. They took third place in the Chick Relays and built the best sorority float which portrayed the song, "Roses are Red."

Among the events between the sorority and their brothers, the men of Alpha Gamma Upsilon, were pledge entertainment, a Christmas party for needy children, and "Royal Interlude", a semi-formal dance held late last fall.

Alpha Sigma Tau

The purpose of Alpha Sigma Tau is to promote the ethical, cultural, and social developments of its members. The Alpha Chapter was founded at Eastern Michigan University in 1899, and in 1905 they became a national sorority when a second chapter, Beta, was founded at Central Michigan University.

The Alpha Sig's have been quite active this past year. In open rush last fall they pledged three girls. A Homecoming Cider Sip and a Founders' Day Luncheon were also held in the fall. December activities included decorating the Christmas tree in the library, caroling at Beyer Memorial Hospital, and participating in the all-campus Christmas Sing. In the spring they sponsored an orientation week dance, and concluded the year's events with their dinner dance, the Candlelight Ball.

Alpha Xi Delta

Eastern Michigan University's largest sorority, Alpha Xi Delta, was again enthusiastically involved in Philanthropy projects. They presented a party for teen-agers at Ypsilanti State Hospital, made favors for Mothers' Day at Beyer Memorial Hospital, and participated in the Muscular Distrophy drive in the fall.

They were active in campus functions. They took honors in the Greek Sing, were represented on the Homecoming court by Anne Parish, and joined with their brothers, the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, to present the Double Exposure Dance during the week of orientation in February.

The highlight of the Alpha Xi's social season was their annual dinner-dance. The dance was held in early December at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta was founded in 1913 by twenty-two Howard University undergraduates. The sorority is dedicated to a program of sharing membership skills and organization services in the public interest.

One of the major contributions D.S.T. has made to Eastern Michigan University has been the globe they presented to the Mark Jefferson Library in the spring of 1962. This year the members are excited over their National Golden Anniversary to be held this summer in New York City.

Activities for the past year included a joint meeting with the Inkster Alumni chapter, their sponsor, a pledge project to help a needy family in the Ypsilanti area, a meeting at which their national director attended, and a Founders' Day celebration in May.

The Gamma Sigma chapter of Delta Zeta, the largest sorority in the nation, experienced a very rewarding year. In May at their annual State Day celebration held in Lansing, they were named the outstanding Delta Zeta chapter in the state of Michigan, receiving for this the province award. Also in May they placed second in the Greek Sing.

At Eastern, the sorority became national in 1955. Its purpose is to promote everlasting friendship and growth in sisterhood. The D.Z.'s national philanthropy is to aid the deaf and hard of hearing, and the Eastern chapter has worked many hours for this project. Last Christmas they held a party for underprivileged children.

Last fall the Gamma Sig's celebrated their Founders' Day, October 24th, by winning the Chick Relays, and by having a Delta Zeta girl, Mary Fitzharris, chosen as the 1962 Homecoming Queen. In the spring they sponsor the Ugly Man contest. The early spring dinner-dance is one of their major highlights.

Nationally, Eastern's Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Kappa was one of the seven most improved chapters at their 1962 National Convention. They also received the Province Award for being the best chapter in Michigan. Here on Eastern's campus they received the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for the year of 1961-62. They were also honored by having a sister, Barb Davey, as the president of Panhellenic Council.

In April they were host to the other chapters in Michigan at their semi-annual State Day. Throughout the rest of the year, the Sig Kap's participated in all W.R.A. sponsored sports such as bowling, volleyball, and basketball, and last fall were runners-up in the annual T.K.E. Chick Relays.

Sigma Kappa is the oldest sorority group on campus, being founded as Pi Kappa Sigma in 1894. In the fall of 1959 the Pi Kap's merged with Sigma Kappa, and they are now the second largest sorority on campus.

Sigma Nu Phi

The girls of Sigma Nu Phi have as their purpose the promotion of a strong feeling of sisterhood and cooperation. It is the only local sorority on Eastern's campus, and the members have worked through the past 65 years to establish and maintain traditions of worth.

Activities of the Sigma Nu's include a winter rummage sale, a faculty tea, and the annual Sweetheart Ball. Proud of the close association with their brothers Kappa Phi Alpha, the Sigma Nu's work in conjunction with the Kappa's on many projects, including the prize-winning sorority float, "Baby Elephant Walk." Last fall Sigma Nu was honored to have a sister, Carolyn Jarvis, on the Homecoming court.

Always in contention for W.R.A. intramural honors, the Sigma Nu Phi girls were second in the sorority basketball standings, and among the leaders in both bowling and volleyball last fall.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority was founded on April 20, 1898, at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. Purple violets as the flower, royal purple and white as the color, and the jewel of pearl are part of the heritage and privilege of every member of the sorority.

Perhaps the best known of Tri-Sigma's social service projects is the Robbie Page Memorial Fund for polio research, in memory of little Robbie Page, only son of Mary Hastings Holloway Page, National President of Sigma Sigma Sigma. The Omicron Chapter of Tri-Sig here at Eastern shines shoes to raise money for this fund.

Another example of Tri-Sigma's projects is the John Randolph Library, which is situated in a rural school that is associated with the Farmville Teachers College. The Tri-Sigs support this by their contributions on Founder's Day.

Interfraternity Council is a body governing all social fraternities on campus. Its membership represents every fraternity here at Eastern. The Council handles the mandatory open house which every man rushing must attend. It also maintains the bid box where rushees pick up bids and return their choices. The group also sets up rules for pledging and for the number of bids that may be extended.

In cooperation with the Panhellenic Council, the IFC co-sponsors Greek Weekend in the spring.

Alpha Gamma Upsilon

Iota Chapter at Eastern Michigan University was founded on June 8, 1948. The men of Alpha Gamma Upsilon share many common interests and activities and are truly brothers. This fraternity offers college fellows a chance and a challenge to become responsible young men.

The Alpha Gam's are very proud of their Homecoming float this year. The theme of the float was "Yellow Bird," and it won honors as the best fraternity and best over-all float in the Homecoming parade.

Alpha Gamma Upsilon's big social event of the year is the "Royal Interlude," an annual semi-formal dance. They have, in the past year, made many improvements on their house, increased the number of their Brotherhood, and have been involved in many social activities.

Alpha Phi Alpha

The purpose of this fraternity is to extend the feeling of Brotherhood to all men who join the bond of Alpha Phi Alpha and to lift the hearts, minds, and souls of men to greater goals.

Since their founding on Eastern's campus in 1958, the Alpha Phi's have constantly been striving for scholastic eminence. This was achieved in the 1961-62 school year, when Alpha Phi Alpha was presented with the award for the fraternity with the highest level of academic scholarship.

Alpha Phi Alpha's theme for Homecoming was "Please, Mr. Custer." Their annual Black and Gold Ball formal dance was held in McKenny Hall in December.

Striving for open-mindedness, unity, and the promotion of good will, the Alpha Phi Alpha men have as their motto, "First of All — Servants of All! — We shall Transcend All."

Arm of Honor, founded as a local fraternity on Eastern's campus in 1895, has as its purpose the promotion of brotherhood and lifelong friendship.

Major activities for the Arms include the annual Ball of Honor, and a semi-formal dance held during the fall months. In the spring they sponsor an Alumni Banquet and a picnic where the actives invite friends to spend the day at Silver Lake. There is also an annual summer get-together of all past and present Arms.

The all-sports trophy is always a goal of the men of Arm of Honor, and this past year showed them again in strong contention for the honor.

Early this fall, the Delt Sig's had a car wash, and an Open House after the football game in September. In October, they participated fully in the Homecoming activities. Their nomination for Homecoming Queen, Carolyn Jarvis, was elected to the Queen's Court. Their President, Harley Hancock, presented the Queen's trophy at the football game halftime and Dave Lindemann, another member, was Chairman of the halftime activities.

Kappa Alpha Psi

In May, 1955, the Delta Nu Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi was founded on the Eastern campus. It became part of one of the largest national fraternities in existence, as Kappa Alpha Psi has 200 undergraduate chapters, and over 100 alumni chapters.

Members of the fraternity present food baskets to needy families at Thanksgiving and participate in some interfraternity sports. The main social affair of the year for the Kappa Alpha Psi's is their annual Sweetheart Ball in May. A tea usually precedes this event.

The fraternity is very proud of the athletic accomplishments of some of its members. Olympic track star Hayes Jones was a Kappa Alpha Psi at Eastern, and another brother Al Day is a professional football player.

Heading the list of social events for the Kappa Phi's is their Red Rose Ball in December. It is a semi-formal dance for members. The major social activity of the spring semester is the annual Spring Banquet.

Also among their many activities is a dance co-sponsored by their sisters, the girls of Sigma Nu Phi. The Kappa Phi's have participated in Greek activities and have always been one of the top contenders for all-sports honors.

Two of the big events of the year for the Theta Chi's are a dance for the active members and a Memorial Day picnic. By far the biggest social event of every year is the annual Theta Chi Cruise, a semi-formal dance that is held with a different geographical theme each year.

They entered the Homecoming activities by building a float for the parade, and at Christmas, they entered the Christmas Sing.

The highlight of the spring semester was their semi-formal dance, the Orchid Ball. This was the first dance of this type to be sponsored by the fraternity, and the brothers had an especially good time.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Sigma Tau Gamma was founded at Central Missouri State College in 1920. The Alpha Theta Chapter was established at Eastern Michigan University in 1948.

One of the first social events on the calendar every year is the alumni-active football game, followed by the Alumni Dinner. During the Christmas season the Sig Tau's, with the help of their sisters, the girls of Alpha Sigma Tau, put on a Christmas party for underprivileged children in the Ypsilanti area.

Once a year Sigma Tau Gamma and Alpha Sigma Tau sponsor a dance together. They are very active in both social activities and inter-fraternity sports. The main social event for the Sig Tau's is the White Rose Ball, a formal dance held in the spring.

During Homecoming week, the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon sponsor the Chick Relays. These relays are open to all sororities, and a trophy is awarded to the sorority receiving the greatest number of points in the many events.

In February, the TKEs hold their annual Founders' Day dinner dance, the Washingtonian. Each spring in cooperation with their sister sorority Alpha Xi Delta, the fraternity presents the all-campus Double Exposure Dance.

The TKEs are active participants in the annual Mad Man's Marathon, which they have won four times in the last six years.

Lambda Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon was founded on Eastern Michigan's campus in 1934. Since that date the Phi Sig's have been striving to advance the spirit of brotherhood by following the ideals of fraternalism and the traditions of Phi Sigma Epsilon.

In addition to a full social calendar, the Phi Sig's sponsor certain charitable activities such as the Christmas party for underprivileged children and a visit to Mayberry T. B. Sanitarium with their sister sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma.

The most well know activity sponsored on this campus by the Phi Sig's is the Phi Sig Slave Sale. At this sale, the members of the fraternity are auctioned off to the highest female bidder and they become their slaves for the next day.

Alpha Psi Omega is Eastern Michigan University's national honorary fraternity in the field of dramatics. It has as its major purpose the stimulation in dramatic activities. Students are elected to membership in recognition of outstanding service to the University through participation in dramatic presentations.

The members are active in all major dramatic productions on campus. They sponsor coffee hours after each production for all people who are interested in reviewing the presentation.

Their activities also include helping the E.M.U. Players with their Variety Show. At Christmas time, the Alpha Psi Omega members present skits at their Christmas party.

Kappa Delta Pi

Π

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education.

In 1922, the Pi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi was organized on Eastern Michigan's campus and was the first national honor society, fraternity or sorority.

At their regular monthly meetings, there is usually a speaker. Last fall, Dr. Everett Marshall spoke at their first meeting.

Kappa Delta Pi sponsored the Transfer Coffee Hour in Strong during orientation week, worked with Adahi for the Christmas party, sent delegates to Miami University in Ohio for a workshop, and was awarded third prize in the Presentation of Organizations.

Phi Delta Kappa

Phi Delta Kappa is a graduate professional fraternity for men in education. Eastern's Delta Gamma Chapter was originated in June, 1956. Their purpose is to promote free public education through research service and leadership.

Besides undergraduate men at the senior level, professional workers in the field are accepted into the membership. They have representatives to several cities in the surrounding area.

Activities include a Christmas Dinner Dance and a "Ladies' Night" Dinner meeting. A trip to Holland, Michigan to visit a Team-Teaching structured high school is very beneficial to the members of Phi Delta Kappa.

Their meetings consist of various speakers and films designed to inform the members of the education profession.

Alpha Phi Omega's Lambda Phi Chapter is continually fulfilling campus services. They distribute campus posters and direct the Homecoming parade. They also serve as ushers at the Christmas and Easter religious programs held on this campus.

The A.P.O.'s have established a scholarship program for promising, future Eastern Michigan University freshmen. The profits received from their Student Book Exchange are used for this purpose.

Other events include several parties and a potluck pledge banquet. During the Christmas season they hold a buffet supper. The last big activity of the year is their annual May canoe trip.

Omega Phi Alpha was organized on our campus in the Spring of 1958 by a group of girls who felt there was a need for such an organization. Developing leadership and friendship, and promoting service to the student body, faculty, and community are several of the purposes of this sorority.

The selling of mums for Homecoming began their season of events. A Hallowe'en party was sponsored on October 28th for the children of Ypsilanti, and was enjoyed by all. Planning parties at Ypsilanti State Hospital, making favors for Washtenaw County Hospital, and ushering at various campus events are examples of the many service projects accomplished by Omega Phi Alpha.

Pi Omega Pi

Pi Omega Pi is one of the business fraternities on Eastern Michigan University's campus. Their purpose is four-fold. It promotes scholarship, ideal of civic betterment, high ethical standards in business and professional life, and ideal of service. The fraternity was founded in 1949 by Julius M. Robinson.

The national business honorary holds an open meeting each semester in which two former members are invited back to speak to all business education members about the teaching profession. Their additional activities include participation in Future Teachers of America Day, publishing an annual newsletter sent to alumni, assisting with the Southeastern Business Teachers' Conference, and planning with faculty members the Spring Honors Banquet held for the business department. This honorary helps in the planning of the annual business department picnic and keeps the Welch bulletin board in display.

Psi Kappa Alpha

Psi Kappa Alpha's spirit of brotherhood pervades the classroom as well as the meetings. Its brothers remain friends long after graduation and return to visit meetings with professional experiences to share. Their purpose is to enable the members to better equip themselves for business careers by sponsoring speakers, field trips, and films on various aspects of business.

The Chemistry Club is a professional club for all students considering a career in or related to chemistry. Emeritus Professor B. W. Peet initiated the club in 1910. It is the oldest continuous student organization at Eastern Michigan University. The purpose is to find out what is being done in chemistry and to meet others who have similar interests.

The club sponsored tours of chemical plants and research organizations to acquaint the student with practices and job opportunities. Outside speakers discussed a variety of topics related to the field. An annual alumni banquet was held.

The purpose of the Biology Club is to learn of the historical and recent advancements in the field of biology and to promote friendship among its members. The first Natural Science Club, as it was then known, was established at the suggestion of Professor Sherzer in the fall of 1898; in the early 1920's the Farm and Garden Club was established by Professor Hover.

Their meetings are monthly and usually consist of lectures, films, and discussions. Field trips are also an activity of the club. In December they took a trip to Pt. Moulee Duck Preserve, and in March they took a canoe trip down the Ausable River.

This group also gives students the opportunity to exhibit their own work. Through the Guild, art students and other interested students are able to share experiences with one another and thus broaden their own artistic scope.

The Annual Art Exhibit was held May 23 and 24, at which all students were allowed to show and sell their work. Part of the proceeds were placed in the Quinn Typer Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Last year was their first year as an on-campus organization, and this year was their first year to participate in Eastern's Homecoming. In spite of this fact, they won first prize for the best club float in Eastern Michigan's Parade.

Their purpose is to secure the interchange of membership and advance the interests of the various student wives who are members.

The Dames give an annual Spring Fashion Show, in which the members participate, and is of particular interest to both married and unmarried women of this campus. This year's schedule also included food demonstrations, a candy sale, a Children's Fashion Show, and a Turkey Raffle.

Both objectives are accomplished by a combination of coffee hours at which the members and geography faculty have a chance to meet and exchange ideas informally, and outside lectures, films, and tours which are often open to the whole campus.

This year the club sponsored an airplane trip over the River Rouge industrial complex, a tour of the salt mines under the city of Detroit, and many other unusual activities. The club works closely with Gamma Theta Upsilon, national honorary geography fraternity.

Service projects to the campus include sponsorship of orientation programs, showing bi-weekly movies on campus, Christmas lights in front of the library, magazine subscriptions to our Health Center, and co-sponsorship of Latin American Day with New Education fellowship. Marching Band

The Eastern Michigan University Marching Band.

The E.M.U. band plays another Broadway show tune.

Every fall, the Eastern Michigan University Marching Band becomes an integral part of the excitement generated by the annual football season. With its high-stepping drum major and major-ettes leading it, the band presents both a pre-game and half-time show for all the home games and heads the annual Homecoming Parade.

In addition, every other year the band travels to Central Michigan University to participate in their Homecoming festivities. Many long hours of practice are spent on the drill field preparing for a show, but the applause of the crowd tells the band that they were hours well spent and greatly appreciated.

Drum Major and Majorettes

J. Jeannette (drum major), S. Shuring, S. Brown, M. Ockstadt (majorettes).

New drum majors and majorettes are chosen each fall. Those people doing the choosing are Mr. Osadchuk, the returning majorettes, and the band members. In their try-outs, they must show skill in the fundamentals of baton twirling and marching. They are also judged on general appearance.

These four people practice each time the band meets in addition to individual practicing and routine composing. All of the routines seen at the football games are created by the girls themselves. They plan their skits and ideas around the theme of the show and the style of the music.

Joe Jeanette spends many hours at practice.

The International University People to People has formed a chapter on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. It is an organization that combines the efforts of foreign students, American students, faculty, and interested community people. Through these combined efforts the People to People committee is attempting to provide a better orientation for the incoming foreign student, and a better understanding between the foreign student and the campus as a whole.

People to People is a "two way street" of American students helping foreign students in their understanding of the United States, and the foreign students helping American students in their understanding of foreign countries.

Pat Kane and Nancy Macduff look over information on the newly formed club.

Lynn M. Bartlett is a member and has been president of many professional organizations, Tri-State Conference on Pupil Personnel, Michigan State Child Accounting Association, The National Education Association, and the Michigan Education Association. He now serves as State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Cornelia A. Robinson is currently vice-president of the State Board of Education. She has served three two-year terms on the Kalamazoo City Commission, two two-year terms on the Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors (serving one year as chairman), and during the war years as chairman of three Red Cross services during their period of organization.

Since then we have met regularly on alternate Sunday evenings for two hours of Christian fellowship, fun, and a light supper. Our meetings this year were varied and interesting. We have discussed men of the Bible, the program of the inner city churches, foreign missions, and many other topics. We have also seen several films and we visited the inner city churches in Detroit. During spring vacation we served an inner city church in Columbus, Ohio. The year is always concluded by a steak-fry at Silver Lake Beach.

The Culmination of Campus Leadership

Student Court

H. Hancock, T. Blue R. Bayne (chief justice), D. Draper, R. Nunez (absent).

Elaine Gunsberg, secretary for the Student Court, recopies notes from one of the court's sessions.

The Student Court is the highest student judicial body on campus. It tries violations of university policy and submits recommendations to the administration for action and approval. This year, Vice-President Lawrence is the advisor and the court consists of five members, plus a clerk. These members are elected in the annual all-campus election.

The court has always been a leading student organization and its just, unbiased decisions make it one of the more valuable groups on this campus. Student government at Eastern has always been held in high esteem by our various students and the Student Court has set much of the precedent for the University's other student governing organizations.

Advisory Board

The purpose of A.W.S. is to regulate all matters pertaining to women students which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the University and the Student Council. They desire to cultivate a campus environment which will help women govern themselves throughout their college careers, with the hope that eventually this practice will increase their ability and desire to fulfill the role of educated and competent women in our democratic society.

Associated Women Students

A.W.S. encourages the development of new campus groups, but concentrates on creating greater integration among the women's organizations of this campus, constantly striving to create attitudes that will promote and maintain the highest standards of university life.

The purpose of Men's Union is to assist in the adjustment of students to the traditions, aims, and ideals of the campus. With the leadership of Dean Bryan, the Union works in co-operation with many organizations on campus to further democratic spirit at Eastern. It also hopes to encourage outstanding achievement in scholarship, stimulate character and school loyalty.

Men's Union sponsors many activities for the men of Eastern. Among these are the Class Games, in which freshmen battle sophomores, and the Yule Log Drag, which was held on December 1, 1962. For the first time, this year Men's Union sponsored an ice rink for the students of Eastern Michigan University.

The committee is composed of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors with 80 students serving during the 1962-63 school year.

Members of the committee frequently accompany University personnel on College Nights to Michigan high schools. They also assist at the annual Principal-Freshman Conference and Future Teachers Day as well as other special events. Kay Walimaa and Lenore Swan served as chairmen for the Fall and Spring semesters respectively, and Ralph Gilden, Dean of Admissions and Student Activities, and Donald Kleinsmith, Administrative Assistant, served as advisors.

Row 1: L. Hitchingham, D. Brooks, R. Herron, J. Jackson, J. Schropp; Row 2: S. Price, T. Dobbelstein, J. Copper, J. Henderson, D. Lipsey, M. Bjork.

The Student Advisory Committee to the College of Arts and Sciences was formed by Dean Albert W. Brown in May, 1961 for the purpose of making recommendations on how the college can be improved as well as a means of airing students' grievances. It is designed to bring communication and understanding between students and faculty.

The structure of S.A.C. is set up with one representative from each of the 11 departments in the College of Arts and Sciences represented. Adahi and Stoics are also represented since they are closely associated with the College.

Officers elected for 1962-63 are: Ralph Herron, chairman; Javon Jackson, vice chairman; Diane Brooks, secretary.

The All-University Social Committee has had a busy year planning social activities for Eastern students. Through the efforts of the committee, "big name" entertainment has appeared on campus, including the Four Freshmen.

The Committee tried to fill each weekend with some sort of social activity. The activities open to all students were highlighted by dances and the Christmas party held in McKenny Hall and movies at Strong Auditorium.

The major attraction planned and presented each year by the Social Committee is the J-Hop. This year the Warren Covington Orchestra played his accustomed style of music, making this J-Hop one of the best ever presented.

The Student Council is in its 15th year of organization, formed in 1948, and is the main representative group of all the students at Eastern. It is the students' voice in university affairs. The council is composed of one representative for each hundred students; each residence hall elects the number to which it is entitled and representatives for off-campus students make up the remaining membership.

Student Council is concerned with all aspects of student welfare. Every semester they publish a calendar which lists all the campus activities, and they also are in charge of Homecoming Queen elections in the fall and all campus elections in the spring. This year, the Council started a "People to People" program, and was host to a "Sister School Conference."

Natalie Manoogian, organizations editor, and her assistant, Ellen Straim.

Every senior that graduates from Eastern is entitled to a free Aurora, but the majority do not realize what is involved in creating the yearbook.

Each staff member is in charge of organizing and supervising the picture schedule for his own particular section. Along with organizing time schedules for each club and organization, they must also make sure they have a room reserved and the proper photographic facilities are available. Each page must be individually planned down to the amount of room necessary for copy, and then compared with the rest of the pages to co-ordinate the book.

The three photographers have worked hard to cover all the events, organizations, and informal shots, and the staff has worked diligently and overtime to make sure these shots and information they've received are combined in the best way possible to present the 1963 Aurora.

Sue Erickson, feature editor.

The Eastern Echo this year featured expanded coverage of campus activities through the use of a larger newspaper. The Echo printed more six page editions than ever before, presenting more news to the student body. A pictorial supplement was also initiated the second semester to give better coverage to feature news, and the ten page 1962 Homecoming edition was the largest Echo ever printed.

The paper sided with such issues as fair investigation of Eastern Michigan by the North Central Association survey team that studied the university; the exclusion from our campus of any speaker because of his political affiliations; and a greater voice for the student through student government.

The Board in Control of Student Publications was set up to advise the publications staffs on financial matters and editorial policies. The Board is composed of eight voting members, four faculty and four student. Three of the faculty members are named by the Faculty Council for three-year terms and the fourth, an ex-officio member, is named annually by the President of the University. The four student members are representatives from Student Council, two Juniors and two Seniors.

Although the board members are the only ones with the voting power, the editors of the various publications and their respective business managers are required to attend these meetings because of their close contact with the publications activities.

The ex-officio members truly enjoy the meetings.

Concepts

A. Downer (editor), B. Ramasocky (associate editor), L. Miller (art editor).

Concepts, established in 1955 and now in its eighth year of publication, is the literary and art magazine of Eastern Michigan University and is edited and managed by students of the University under the authority of the Publication Board. All contributions are made by the students.

Published once each semester, Concepts for '62 included poetry, essays, short stories, and art. The magazine is distributed free of cost to Eastern's students and faculty.

It is the purpose of the Intramural Branch of the Physical Education Department to provide the men of the student body with the opportunity to participate in organized athletic sports and in wholesome active recreation. It is hoped that the individual will develop an appreciation of the worthy use of leisure time and a wholesome attitude toward physical activity.

The Intramural Department looks forward to the completion of the new physical education building. The activities of the department will be expanded as soon as the new facilities are available. Various new sports, such as handball, will be added to the schedule and other standing sports, such as swimming, will be enlarged.

Senior women excelling in leadership, scholarship, and service are honored with membership in Adahi, a senior women's honorary society organized in 1957. The organization was fashioned after National Mortar Board, and new members are tapped in an annual tapping ceremony each spring. The 1962-63 group has 17 active members and 8 honorary members.

Endeavoring to uphold the "highest ideals" suggested by the Indian word, "Adahi," the members work on various projects throughout the year. As some of this year's projects, Adahi worked on a campus-wide tutoring system, a subject-combination demand study (to aid advisors), establishment of a preparation day preceding final exams, ushered at campus assemblies, made the programs for the all-campus Christmas party, addressed envelopes and sponsored a reception for the Spring Honors Convocation, and held a reception at Homecoming for returning Adahi alumni.

Barb Dotts displays materials about Adahi at the Presentation of Student Organizations.

The Stoic Society is the oldest continuing honorary society at Eastern, having been formed in January, 1909, by Mr. J. Stuart Lathers, head of the Department of Oratory. The group was created to discuss topics of mutual interest to honor students on this campus. In the spring of 1909, they sponsored a play by a group of traveling players. The proceeds from the play were used to create a scholarship fund that now has a capital of over $15,000, from which scholarships are presented to the officers of the club and a loan fund has been started.

This fall Stoics sponsored a picnic for its members and an open meeting, with guest speaker Dr. Edgar W. Waugh, discussing "Intellectual Freedom." During the winter, the club sponsored their annual White Elephant Sale, the proceeds from which go into the scholarship and loan funds. Much of the spring semester is filled with new member orientation, specifically; a reception, a banquet at which new members receive their pins, and a business meeting at which suggestions for their next annual program are made.

One of the Stoic members, Karen Hunwick, busily attacks her studies.
