Eastern Celebrates Homecoming 1968

"E.M.U. — The Electoral College" provided the theme for Eastern's 1968 Homecoming activities. The Weekend of November 1-3 was packed with activities, as students again put aside their books to participate in the many events.

Beginning with a concert Friday night by the Four Tops, the festivities got off to a fantastic start. Following the concert, a bonfire began in Roosevelt parking lot, led by Eastern's enthusiastic cheerleaders. Rousing spirit for the coming game, the bonfire also consumed in flame the green bows discarded by the freshman women.

Saturday's activities began early in the day, as outdoor decorations were judged at 9 a.m., and the parade began at 10 a.m. Moving through the Ypsilanti streets, the parade displayed the imaginative efforts of many organizations in building floats to follow the weekend's theme.

Saturday afternoon saw a record crowd fill Brigg's Field to witness the E.M.U. — Northeastern game. Not disappointing their many fans, the Hurons shut out their opponents, 41-0. The pleased crowd then poured from the field to attend the many open houses around the campus. The weekend's Homecoming activities were culminated with a formal dance in McKenny Union Ballroom, capping a perfect Homecoming weekend.

Homecoming Preparations Involve Students

Preparations for Homecoming, 1968, began long before November 1. The weekend itself was the result of pooling efforts that began many weeks before.

Nomination, campaigning, and preliminaries began in October for our homecoming queen. Sponsored by many organizations on campus, candidates each prepared a talent demonstration to be judged on, in addition to beauty and personality. The finale of this competition came as the finalists presented a program for the university, and the men voted for their favorite candidate. Pam Heard, elected Homecoming Queen, was honored at the November 2 Homecoming Game.

Homecoming preparations, however, included many more students than just the candidates for queen and their sponsors. Floats, entered by nearly every group on campus, were under construction weeks before the actual parade. Making flowers, stuffing chicken wire, and building foundations were being done early so that the only final steps were left for Friday and Saturday of Homecoming Weekend.

Friday Night's bonfire, signifying the commencement of Homecoming Weekend, brought the curtain down on the acts of preparation, and the climax began.

Finalists in the contest for Homecoming Queen were: June O'Neil, Sue Ulrich, Gail Mittendorf, Phyllis Yabui, Diane Wurster, Gloria Belden, Andrea Walker, Sue Conklin, Nora Surret, and Pam Heard.

Rousing spirit for the next day's game, cheerleaders display their enthusiasm at the bonfire.

Queen and Court Embody Homecoming Spirit

Competing for the title of Homecoming Queen or a place on her court, were women representing several organizations. By October 27, 1968, the field was down to ten finalists, each of whom was presented to the student body that Sunday night in Pease Auditorium.

Dick Skutt, President of the student body, served as Master of Ceremonies as the remaining candidates displayed their talent before a capacity crowd. The program began as Gloria Belden, using original paintings, gave a dramatic reading on loneliness.

The program continued through various acts, including a fashion show by Sue Cocklin; monologues by June O'Neill, Gail Mittendorf, and Nora Surret; modern jazz dancing by Pam Heard; singing by Sue Ulrich; a dance and song combination by Andrea Walker; a hula dance presented by Phyllis Yabui; and a violin solo by Diane Wurster. The program ended as each candidate spoke for a few minutes on a particular question.

The final choice for the 1968 Homecoming Queen was made by Eastern's men, by balloting. The new queen, Pam Heard; and her court, Gail Mittendorf, Sue Ulrich, Andrea Walker, and June O'Neill, were honored at the Coronation Ceremony November 30, 1968 by Homecoming Chairman, Bruce Dubin.

Parade Radiates Student Enthusiasm

The sunny, crisp morning of November 2, 1968, was a day of excitement for many people. It was the day of the 1968 Homecoming Parade, and was the Epiphany of many hours of effort for various groups.

Students living in dorms or members of sororities or fraternities felt a tingle of excitement as their floats passed down the street before them. Band members from all over the state shared in the spirit as they marched in the parade, stirring the crowds with their music. The Homecoming Court, as well as many organizations, had cars to transport them along the parade route. From the first exuberant notes sounded by the Marching Hurons to the end of the parade, the infectious spirit of Homecoming, '68 radiated.

Enthusiasm Is Homecoming Password

Saturday, November 2, 1968, was a day of activity and enthusiasm on Eastern's campus — Homecoming Day! With a never-ending chain of things to do, Eastern's students found the pace of the day exhilarating, but exhausting.

From the beginning of the Chick Relays Saturday morning until the final dance at the Ballroom Saturday night, Eastern's students were on the go. Expending energy in competition at the Relays, Eastern's sorority women started the day with a dash of spirit. Continuing through the parade and game, Eastern's enthusiasm was high, sparked by the Marching Hurons, the cheerleaders, and even a clown at the Homecoming Game.

As the day ended with the Homecoming Dance, couples seeking an enjoyable evening flooded the Ballroom with the murmur of conversation and the sparkle of laughter. Ending as it began, Homecoming Day, 1968, was a highlight of spirit for EMU.

Little Anthony and the Imperials Break Loose at Concert

Little Anthony and the Imperials go through their routine, pleasing the audience of students and guests.

It is the evening of October 4, 1968, at 8 P.M. in Bowen Field House. The rumble of many idle conversations is in the air, and a sense of anticipation is over all. Suddenly the lights dim, and a hush falls over the crowd. The concert is about to begin.

An announcer appears, and all eyes are drawn to the center of the field house as he introduces Little Anthony and the Imperials, sponsored by the U.A.B., and suddenly, they have begun, vibrating even the rafters with the power of their soul. With a program of varied styles, the evening proceeds, drawing the crowd to a stirring response as the concert ends.

Suddenly, the Imperials are gone, and the mood is shattered by the rustling of the crowd and the raising of the lights. The concert is over, but the experience, still fresh in the mind, will be etched on the memory forever.

The Four Tops “Reach Out”

Bowen Field House was filled to capacity and a feeling of electricity creating an atmosphere of “excitement” throughout the audience. This was the night The Four Tops came to Eastern’s campus. The Four Tops themselves, Duke, Lawrence, Levi, and Obie were cool and collected and conducted themselves like the “pros” they are.

Certain things are obvious, the Tops have a magnetism, they kept it with the talent and training built into their voices, and they really work with each other. The audience find themselves in a state of awe, they’ve been completely won over by these four men of such great talent.

These guys have as much soul as their songs do. You can feel the audience and their involvement in the show and the Four Tops, as Levi invites everyone to sing along . . . “Reach Out I’ll Be There.”

Some very talented musicians have been sponsored at EMU this year, and to start the hard-rock phase of these concerts, the men of Kappa Phi Alpha hosted a concert featuring performances by the Rotary Connection and the Iron Butterfly.

Saturday, December 7, the concert took place, with performances at both 7 and 10 p.m. Tickets, which had been on sale two and a half weeks before the program, were sold rapidly, and soon numbers of students were anticipating the beginning of the concert.

Commencing the performance was the Rotary Connection, first heard of through their "Trip 1" and "Trip 2" record releases. After 50 minutes of diversified sounds and styles, the Rotary Connection took their bows amid frenzied applause, and the Iron Butterfly appeared. They, too, performed for 50 minutes, amplifying their pleasing sounds that have brought them national fame, through the rafters of the field house. Both groups were backed by the Trans-Love's light shows.

Seeger Concert Hosts Variety of Sound

One of the biggest concert undertakings this year was undoubtedly the Bob Seeger Concert. Friday, March 1, marked the gathering at Bowen Field house of a variety of performers – Bob Seeger, Teegarden and VanWinkle, The Fruit of the Loom, and Charging Rhinoceros of Soul – in addition to a large crowd of eager spectators.

The concert, beginning with “The Original Charging Rhinoceros of Soul,” lasted for 8 – 12 pm. Featuring a style of a combination of sounds, this group was a unique beginning to the evening of entertainment. A light show accompanied “The Original Charging Rhinoceros of Soul” performance, and they were followed by Student Art Films. Following this, “The Fruit of the Loom” appeared, performing, among other things, “I’m a King Bee.” As spectators tired of the long concert, spirit was revived by the talent of “Teegarden and VanWinkle.” Using only a drum and organ, they filled the field house with music and humor, and were received with cheers and wild applause.

Ending the concert, the main attraction, Bob Seeger, appeared. Performing his national hits, Seeger brought the concert to a close amid cheers of enthusiastic fans.

Reflected and projected against the background by the lighting, singers created a mysterious effect.

As they commence the lengthy Bob Seger Concert, the "Charging Rhinoceros of Soup" present an unusual style that projects itself in spite of their many persisting difficulties with the sound equipment.

Gathering in the hallways of Pierce Administration Hall, protesting students discussed strategy, increasing their support from other students.

At the Union, students marched for amnesty for those arrested earlier.

Marching Students Stir Campus Thought

Early on the morning of Thursday, February 20, 1969, frustrated students at Eastern began a protest, demanding a meeting with President Sponberg. Armed with a list of eleven demands for increasing the involvement of black students in the total university program, students took over Pierce Hall in an attempt to be recognized in their protest.

As students chained the door of the building, they were confronted by police, and arrests were made. Leaving the administration building, students proceeded to President Sponberg's house, to find the porch lined with police, protecting the house. These confrontations sparked a controversy that remained in the minds of people on the campus long after the marchers and police both left. Promoting an awareness of attitudes and situations on our campus, the demonstrations of black students and white supporters brought the university community face to face with its policies and programs, and brought individuals to examine both sides of the controversy and carefully re-examine their attitudes.

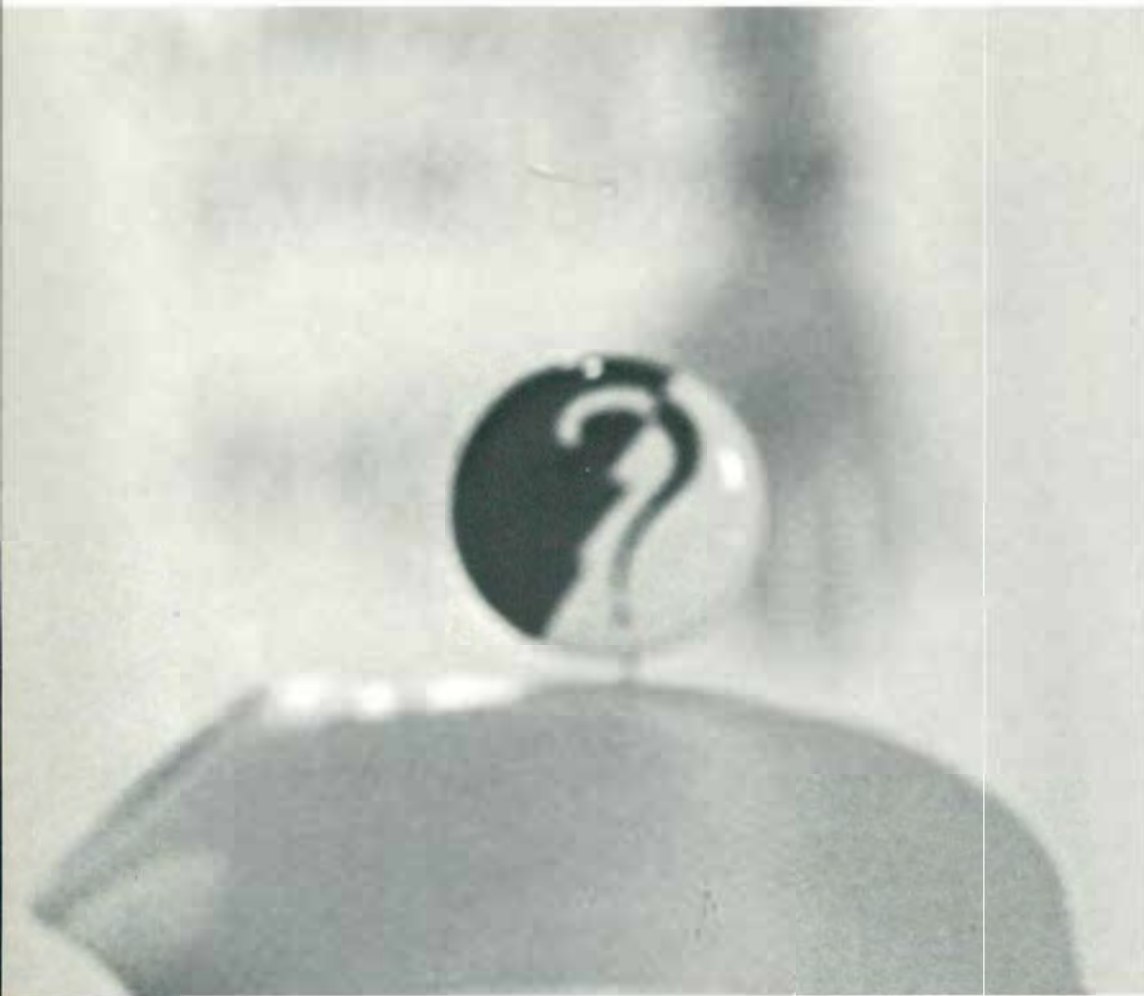

Chanting slogans as they marched around the circular walk at the President's house, frustrated students carried signs explaining their stands.

Forming a line between the marchers and the president's porch, police from the Michigan State force guard President Harold Sponberg's home.

Issues Confronted at First Racial Symposium

Symposium pins were worn by students throughout the symposium.

In what was undoubtedly the biggest undertaking Eastern has seen in quite a while, many groups on campus united to present a Racial Symposium. Lasting from Thursday evening, April 25, to Saturday, April 27, 1968, the Symposium was of fantastic scope and covered every aspect of the racial issue imaginable — both at EMU, and on larger levels.

Consisting of panels, speakers, discussions, films and even a fashion show, the Symposium continued straight through class hours on Friday. However, such was the tremendous interest and support of both students and professors that many classes were cancelled to allow students to attend. As different features were taking place all over the campus at various times, the most difficult decision then became which of the events to attend!

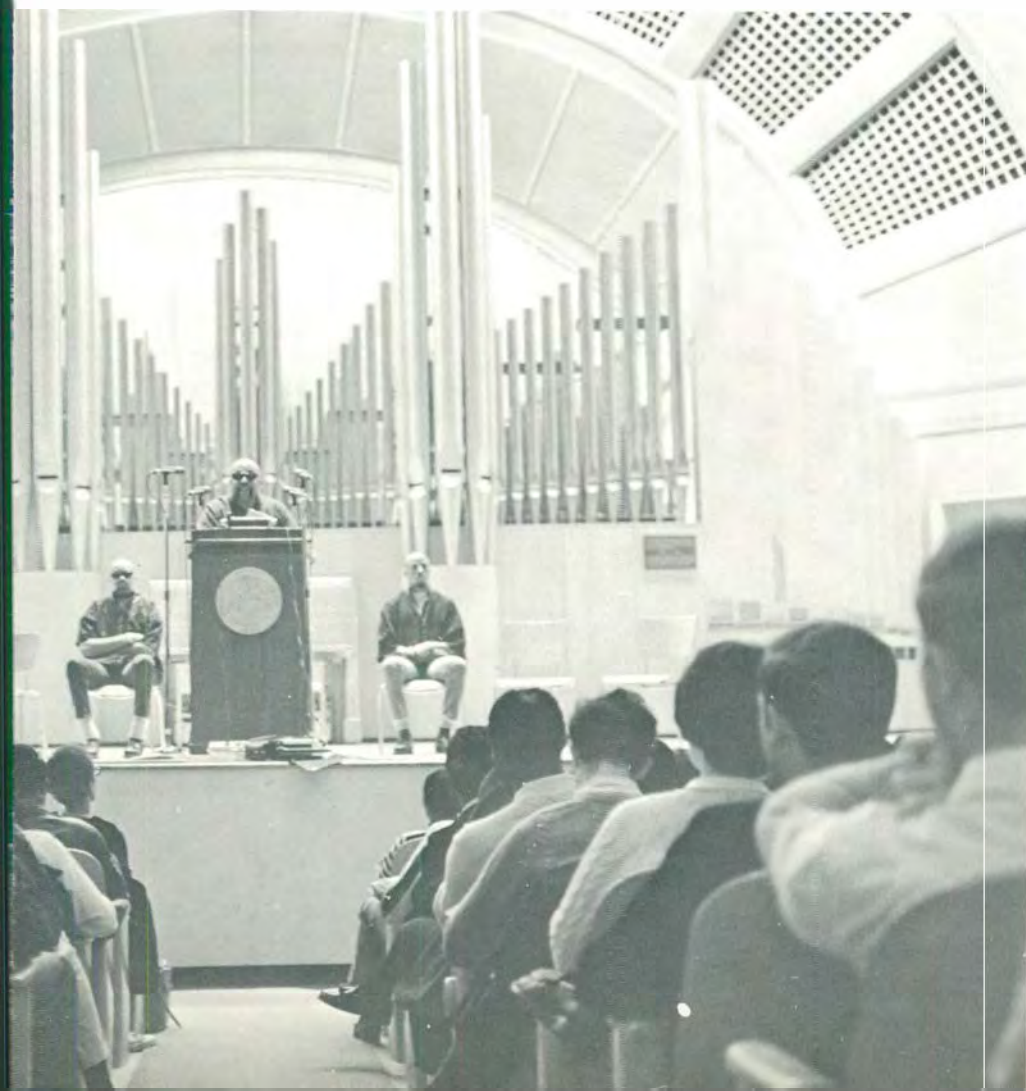

● One of many panel discussions was held at Holy Trinity Chapel.

To Increase Understanding Among Fellow Students . . .

On part, the overwhelming success of Eastern's Racial Symposium can be attributed to the variety and quality of speakers presented to the university. From various backgrounds and in various professions, the speakers each presented a unique viewpoint that contained food for thought no matter what one's personal opinions were.

Politicians present included Senator Hart, Congressman Conyers, and Communist Party leader Apethecker. Two speakers from Eastern's campus were President Harold Spondberg and Dr. Buchanan of the Speech and Dramatic Arts Department. Among other speakers were Karengz, and Rev. Cleage from Detroit.

With its wide range of topics and speakers, the Racial Symposium had real merit in its thought provoking confrontation of one of today's most pressing issues.

True Spirit of Christmas.

It is 11 p.m., Sunday, December 15, 1968, at Pease Auditorium. Inside, a hushed crowd waits in calm anticipation, as the Annual Festival of Lessons and Carols is about to begin.

The University Choir breaks the silence with a stirring prelude, and the organ sounds an introit. As one body, the audience rises, and the auditorium is filled to capacity with the sound of rising voices, strong in their unity, celebrating Christmas.

As the hymn ends and all are seated, students of all denominations bow together in a bidding prayer, conscious only of the all-encompassing spirit of Christmas. The prayer ends and heads slowly raise to survey the stage, where the first lesson is about to be read. This lesson centers in the Garden of Eden, and is taken from Genesis. Following the lesson, a musical number is presented by the University Choir.

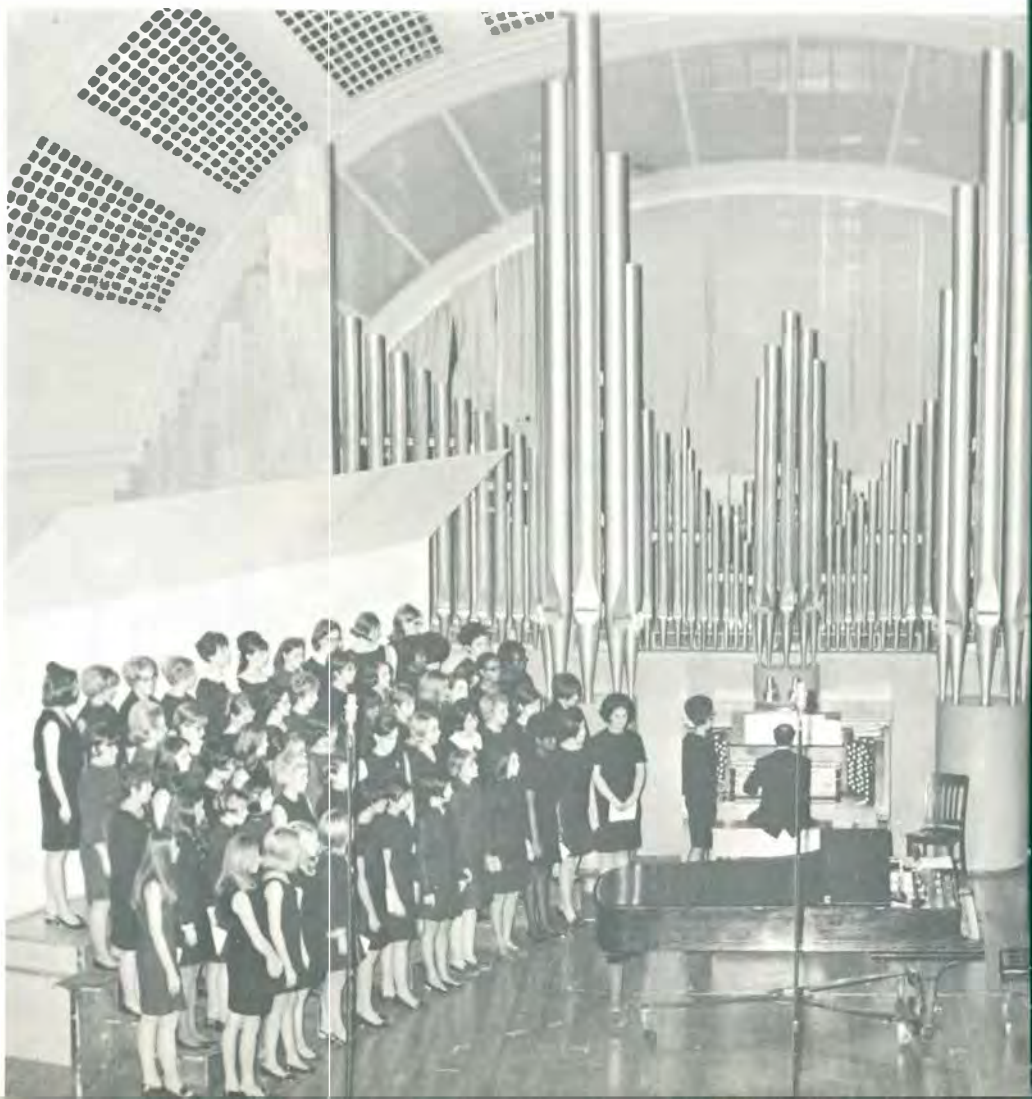

Thus the program progresses, lesson by lesson, through the birth of Christ, with each lesson followed by song. The style of the service is adapted from that of King's College Chapel, in Cambridge, England. It has been sponsored on campus for nine years by the Protestant and Catholic religious organizations.

Christmas spirit begins by decorating.

Joan Baez, Husband Speak To Students

Appearing at Eastern in a speaking capacity, in spite of her well-known name as a singer, Joan Baez and David Harris, her husband, met with students at McKenny Union Thursday, March 18, 1969. They held two sessions, one lasting from 1-3 p.m., in the ballroom, and the second immediately following the first in both the Alumni Lounge and the ballroom from 3-5 p.m.

On a three-day tour of the state, Baez and Harris have been emphasizing non-violence as a means for social change. They suggested that each American must analyze his life to see if he is perpetuating injustice in our society, or living to change peacefully existing unjust institutions.

The couple have been at the core of the foundation for peace movements for years. Establishing the Peace Liberation Commune and the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence, David Harris and Joan Baez have been speaking throughout the country on their beliefs in peace and non-violence.

Hong Kong Flu Hits— Sweeps Entire Campus

A few weeks before Christmas vacation, Eastern was hit by a flu epidemic of unmanagable proportions. As the Hong Kong flu spread across the state, Eastern was especially hard hit. Two weeks before vacation, students began filtering into the Health Center. By the weekend the trickle was a stream, and the Health Center was completely filled. Beds were set up in an extra room in the library for the overflow of students. While students faced a two to three hour wait to see the doctors, additional staff were called in from University Hospital in Ann Arbor to assist with the many cases. Any sick student who lived within a fifty mile radius was sent home. As the flu quickly spread, estimates were taken in the number of sick students in the dorm. When it became apparent that the epidemic was growing much too quickly to handle effectively here, President Sponberg announced that school would close a week early for Christmas.

86 Waiting patiently for a chance to see the doctor, many students found The Eastern Echo helpful in passing time.

Military Ball Honors Cadet Queen, Court

Eastern's Annual Military Ball was held this year on the evening of March 8, 1969, at the McKenny Union Ball Room. Decorated for the occasion, the Ball Room was the scene of dancing couples and the crowning of a new Cadet Queen that night.

Last year's queen, Naida Samson, was on hand to congratulate her successor, and was escorted by Cadet Colonel Grant Lorenz. The new queen, Susan Volkes, was given her crown and presented with roses. At her side was her court, consisting of Diane Parly, Nora Surret, Sue Foran, and Patty Surret. These women were finalists in the voting by the men in ROTC. Each was deserving of her court position.

All those who attended the Military Ball March 8, will find the memory of an evening of music and dance to be a personal one, and the women of the court will be reminded of the evening in their thoughts.

Marching Hurons: "Pride" of Peninsula"

Eastern's "Marching Hurons," known as the "Pride of the Peninsula," ranked their 44th year of entertainment this year. Featuring for the first time an all-male membership, the band performed many clever programs at football half-time ceremonies.

Much of the credit for the marching band's success must go to Director Thomas Tyra, who has worked with Eastern's bands for five years. Since 1964 Tyra has planned and arranged many of the Huron's formations and songs himself. New to the staff this year was Assistant Director Max Plank, who assumed a share of this responsibility.

Band members begin preparing for the season well before classes commence in September. Training consists of a three-day workshop before the semester starts, and daily rehearsals after school begins. The results of this time and effort are certainly visible in the precise and striking image the Marching Hurons leave in the minds of the spectators long after the game.

Concert Band: An Experience In Fine Music At Eastern

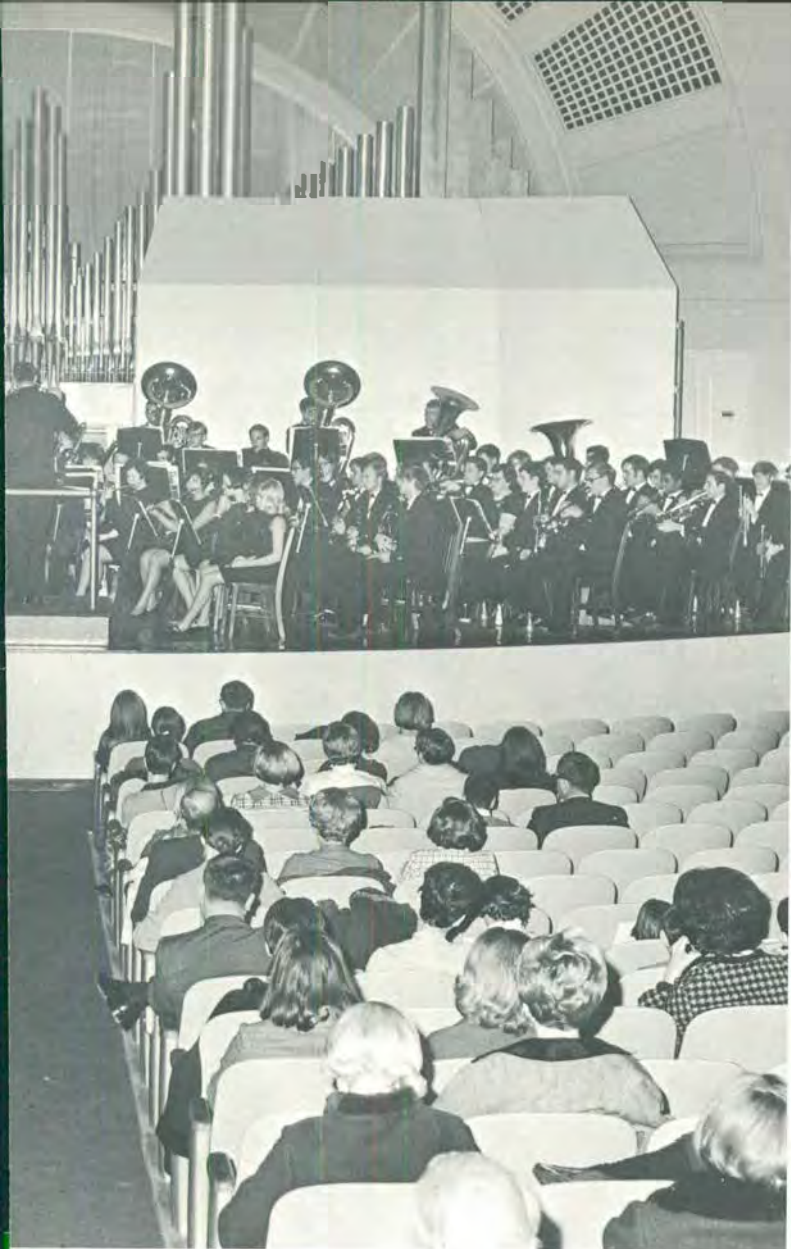

Clarinet players are engrossed in their scores.

Percussions provide that added touch.

A well given Performance at Pease Auditorium.

Not to be forgotten is the Concert Band, which is under new direction this year. Diligent efforts combine with superior musicianship in providing the audience with a performance of fine music.

Many factors contribute to the development of a good band, such as Eastern's. Students select Concert Band as a course in applied music and must audition for admission. Upon being accepted to the Concert Band, the musician finds the work just beginning. Daily sessions combined with hours of private practice are a necessity for the achievement of ultimate quality.

Although under new direction and with a large number of new members, this year's Concert Band has been able to maintain the high standards that have been established at Eastern in previous years. It has provided aspirant, young musicians with a chance to perform and has promoted the cultivation of a "taste for better music" among Eastern Michigan University faculty and students. The Concert Band along with the Marching and Symphonic Bands has offered entertainment and an outlet for self-expression with the diversified student interests in mind.

New Director, Max Plank, conducts.

Detroit Tigers

October 10, 1968, witnessed the wildest celebrations Eastern has seen in many years as the Detroit Tigers came from behind to snatch baseball's World Championship in the final World Series game. Trailing at one point in the series 3 games to 1, the Tigers fought until the final game, and pulled the Championship out with a 4-1 victory in the final series game.

Many classes were either cancelled or cut that Thursday afternoon as students united around televisions and radios, not to budge for a moment. As the final out was made shortly after 4 p.m., a jubilant shout echoed across the campus, and students emerged from no where to crowd the streets. Screaming, laughing, cramming in cars, students began an hours-long celebration that included horns, bell, mobs, decoration of dorms, and fantastic amounts of shaving cream and water. Quiet returned only as students vacated the campus to greet the Tigers at Metropolitan Airport — but the glow and spirit continued for many days.

Flashing the victory sign, joyful students crowd the streets.

Humphrey Wins In Mock Election

In a dramatization of the American political process, a mock campaign and election was held November 4, 1968. Lasting from 7-9 p.m. the campaign, sponsored by Mr. Hannm's American Government class, took place outside by the Union.

Students in the class represented Humphrey, Nixon, and Wallace in speeches, campaign materials, and pamphlets were collected from local headquarters for each candidate. Sporting many home-made posters, the energetic class represented the wide range of issues and stands that the public was voting on that very day.

Following the campaigning and speeches by members of the class, ballots were distributed and participants voted. The outcome, contrary to the results of the 1968 National Elections, gave the win to Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, bringing the activity to a close.

Students actively campaign for their favorite Republican candidate.

Adahi Honors Outstanding Senior Women of the Year

Dawning like an average day, March 25, 1968, bloomed into a day of honor for Eastern's outstanding women students. The occasion was the suspenseful Tapping Ceremony of Adahi.

The night before the ceremony, candles are left in each dorm lobby representing the number of women from that dorm to be inducted the following day. Only Senior women with high grade averages and outstanding service records are eligible – and not all of those eligible are inducted. Only the number of women to be honored is known until the names are actually announced at the Annual Tapping Ceremony.

Adahi officers for the 1968-69 school year are: Jean Bormann, president; Sally Drinkert, vice-president; Karen DuPont, secretary; and Sheila Dietz, treasurer.

Accepting congratulations upon being named to Adahi is Glenda Fears.

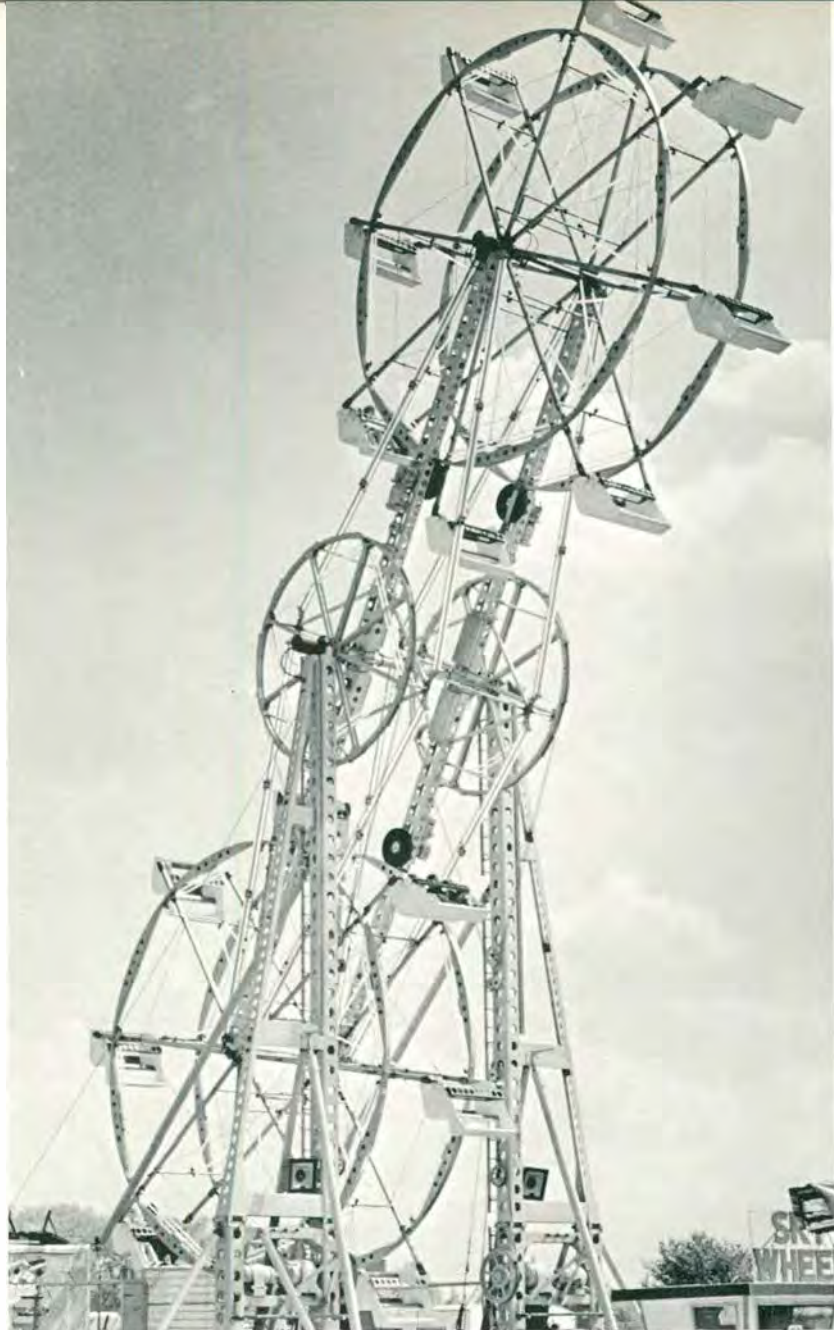

Strolling past the displays at North Campus, visitors preview college organizations.

Winning the competition for the best sorority display was Sigma Nu Phi.

Many rides, including a Sky Wheel, were offered for the public's enjoyment.

The Theta Chi Display won first prize for the fraternity division.

Festival Of Awards Spotlights Organizations

The Festival of Awards, May 17, 1968, was the product of co-operation and planning by practically every organization on campus. Displays, games, and rides were erected on North Campus as a visible result of the hard work done by each group.

Explaining the goals, function, or activities of each organization, many unique and creative displays were constructed, and then judged according to divisions: sororities, fraternities, dorms, etc. Winners for the sorority and fraternity divisions were Sigma Nu Phi and Theta Chi.

A carnival atmosphere drew many outsiders, and gave them a view of Eastern's organizations, as well as an enjoyable time. A sky wheel, a round up, and even helicopter rides contributed to the success of the Festival, and left lasting memories for those who participated.

Creative Students Produce "Collage"

Collage . . . agglomeration . . . composite . . . coffee house. A maze of music, abstract art, and mingling students that made Eastern's Newman Center coffee house a College of campus life.

All these may be definitions of "Collage", however anyone who experienced the Newman Coffee houses knows that a few words are not sufficient to describe the atmosphere of "Collage." Created entirely by students, "Collage" demonstrated the organizational and artistic abilities of many Eastern students.

Talented students from Eastern, Western, Wayne State, and University of Michigan combined to present a wide variety of entertainment for the two coffee houses held November 22 and January 17. Highlighted were the performances of Martin Simmons' jazz group, Fernando, and Tom Katroschik.

"Collage", a product of creative students, will long be remembered by the many who attended.

Field Day Highlights

ROTC Activities

Part of the new field day display included new equipment and vehicles.

Early in May, Eastern's ROTC held their last brigade activity of the year – ROTC Field Day. Held behind Bowen Field House, Field Day demonstrated to the public what the cadets had learned in leadership and leadership principles.

Besides many displays, including a static display of vehicles and equipment for public inspection, Field Day was highlighted by ceremonies. In a commissioning ceremony, graduates were commissioned into the Army, with a beginning rank of Second Lieutenant. Awards were also given to outstanding cadets.

Putting the finishing touches on a successful year, ROTC Field Day was a public display of the progress and growth of Eastern's Cadets.

"Let's do it again, boys!"

Eastern Theatre Has Outstanding Season.

The Eastern Michigan University Theater had an outstanding season this year, as a total of 5 plays were presented to capacity crowds. The players performed "The Miser," "The House of Bernarda Alba," "An Italian Straw Hat," and "The Royal Hunt of the Sun," while the Children's Theatre presented "Don Quixote of La Mancha."

All performances of the drama department depend on the cooperation of scores of people. Besides the actors themselves, students contribute hours of work in designing and creating scenery and costumes. Others handle the technical aspects of the performances, effects such as lighting, makeup and ticket sales. Behind these students work department professors and instructors contributing their own special talents to the success of each performance.

Thus many talents are combined for each presentation by Eastern's theater — many more than would meet the eye of the casual observer. However, it is impossible to conceive of a performance without the efforts of Eastern's many talented people.

As Linda Foster reveals that she is actually the thief, John Shudell and Ellen Hagemaster reflect both amazement and delight.

Back-Stage Work Insures Drama Success

Searching for that certain prop, Tom Atkins explores the prop room.

In a concentrated effort, students move a flat for "Italian Straw Hat."

Often unseen in the production of a play, but in a very real sense essential to its success is the work done both preceding a play and during the actual performance. This includes, besides the fantastic task of learning lines and directions for the actors, the work on costumes, sets, props, makeup, and lighting done by unrecognized crews of efficient students.

Tremendous jobs await interested volunteers long before tickets for a production go on sale. Flats must be designed and painted. Costumes must be created and fitted. Lighting must be planned and co-ordinated. Even such basic necessities as props must be listed and collected. Planning for all these facets of production are underway at the same time another group of students are busy memorizing lines and preparing to perform.

Back-stage work continues through the performance, when the planning of various crews is co-ordinated into a smooth operation, and even beyond the actual performance to tearing down sets and storing costumes so work can begin on the next production.

Careful measurement insure proper fit as actors find their costumes.

Laboratory Theater Prompts Self-Reflection

You enter the theater and are seated—in a comfortable, padded swivel chair. Promptly on time, the doors close and seal shut, and you are engulfed in total blackness. Players, glowing in the dark, move freely from platforms constructed in the audience. Somehow you become very involved. A deep meaning is trying to sneak through, but you're just not sure what it all is supposed to mean.

A crazy dream? a 1984 conjecture on the future of drama? or a reality—a frequent occurrence in our lives today. This is Eastern's laboratory theater, an experiment in theater techniques designed to relate to each individual in a personal way the messages of modern drama. Utilizing blackouts, fluorescent makeup, abstract pantomimes, and players positioned within the audience, lab theater tries to bring interaction with the audience, not the actor-spectator relationship often found in formal theater. The plays leave interpretations up to the individual, and provoke much thought, as several short plays are often presented in an evening.

The moment of creation is expressed through pantomime.

Though pantomime, each member of the lab theater cast becomes a part of a complex machine for making ironsters.

Broadcasting In Direct Contact

A rapidly growing and emerging section of the Speech and Dramatic Arts Department is Eastern's broadcasting program. In its way to becoming a major on its own, the broadcasting classes can be combined to total practically all the credits needed to graduate in the Speech and Drama Department.

Students interested in television, work on operating WSDA, Eastern's closed circuit television station. Among other things, these people tape the lectures later presented over television to classes in Sill Hall. This program is housed in Quirk Dramatic Arts Building, and is headed by Dr. Singer Buchanan.

The radio program has two divisions, OMC radio station, WHUR, broadcasts as an AM station. It has stations both in Quirk and at the Huron Hide-Away to broadcast from. Eastern's F.M. station, run separately from WHUR, also broadcasts from Quirk Dramatic Arts Building. These stations provide services during the school year in the form of broadcasting all athletic events, in addition to their regular programs. The radio productions are directed by Professor Swisher.

On the spot training for careers in television and radio production is included in the Speech Department.

Dynamic Personalities Appear at Eastern

Never content with the accomplishments of the past, Eastern's organizations have sponsored a wide variety of speakers this year, including some of the most outstanding men in the country. Leaders from a wide variety of fields – from political to religious and moral – confronted Eastern's students with new and provocative ideas on the goals of the future for both our country and the world.

In November, near the elections, Eastern was visited by political leaders Julian Bond and Pierre Salinger. Governor Romney and Malcolm Boyd also appeared the first semester. At the Drug Symposium in December, student organizations presented a host of nationally known speakers. The spring semester was not without its name speakers, either. Dave Harris and Joan Baez spoke to two groups of students on their pacifist beliefs.

Numerous speakers have visited Eastern for a few short hours of speaking – but they have left much in the growth of each of those who heard them.

Anticipation

Friday, September 20, 1968, near the end of New Student Days, McKenny Union opened its door for an evening of entertainment. Lasting from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. the Open House was successful in generating interest in the Union's many facilities.

In the snack bar and dining room, entertainers such as Ron Cadon performed, amusing audiences with their dialogue, and pleasing them with songs. Upstairs, in the ballroom, the Camel Drivers displayed their talent at many styles of songs, and left students jumping with their driving beat. Silent movies were also shown to entertain visitors. Recreation facilities at the Union were open to students free of charge. Many took advantage of this opportunity to relax and enjoy a game of pool or bowl.

Interested students became involved as the year's activities at the Union were kicked off by the Open House. Acquainting students with the many and various functions of McKenny Student Union, the program was informative and very entertaining.

Senator Griffin Speaks At Commencement

Last January a total of 886 degrees, 645 undergraduate and 241 graduate, were conferred at commencement ceremonies in Bowen Field House. This was 258 more than last year. The honorary degree of Doctor of Law was also given to Dr. Paul J. Misner, professor of Law at Western Michigan University. Misner, an alumnus of Eastern Michigan University, is a nationally known educator. He served for seven years as Director of Laboratory Schools at Eastern and for 30 years as Superintendent of Schools in Glencoe, Illinois.

U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin delivered the principal address at the 20th January Commencement. He also received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. A native of Detroit, Griffin graduated from Central Michigan University and then went on to receive his law degree from the University of Michigan Law School.

In the 1966 election, he was returned to the Senate for a full six year term with the largest plurality given a Republican Senatorial candidate in 20 years.

College of Education Serves Other Departments

The College of Education comprises the Department of Education, the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the Department of Special Education, the Lincoln Consolidated School, Occupational Therapy, and the Roosevelt School.

The College of Education provides instruction in course work for students preparing for teaching certificates. They also place and supervise pre-student and student teachers. Another important job this College does is to provide service courses for other colleges and departments of the University.

A student who is seeking a bachelor's degree and a teacher's certificate can select from twelve curricula the one which allows him the opportunity to develop competently in the teaching field of his choice.

For years, the Roosevelt Laboratory School has offered the opportunity for student teachers to better their teaching techniques. This is the last year this facility will be available, as the high school is being discontinued next year.

Special Education Aides Local Children

The Special Education Department at Eastern, known throughout the country for its top-notch program, is a combination of many unique factors. Excellent teachers, practical experience through a laboratory school, and clinics for speech and hearing, and counseling are part of the Special Education Department.

Students of special education at Eastern receive a balanced education. Theory, the content of classroom courses, provide the basics of understanding necessary for work with exceptional children. Students then learn from teaching situations in the Rackham School of Special Education. More than a hundred students find help here in programs to meet the needs of the deaf, hard of hearing, and physically or mentally handicapped, as well as the needs of those who are preparing to teach them.

Thus through Rackham School, Eastern not only prepares its students, but meets the needs of local children.

Professional Careers Thru College of Business

The College of Business offers programs of a professional nature for those persons who contemplate a career in business and public administration or as business teachers. The Dean of the college is Earl A. Roth.

These programs have been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. The college also is a member of the Assembly of American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, and The National Business and Education Association.

Students who plan to seek employment after two years of study may wish to enroll in one of the several areas of specialization in the Business Technology program.

The departments listed under the College of Business are Accounting, Finance, Business Education, General Business, Management and Marketing.

Fine Arts Promote Creative Abilities

Eastern's College of Arts and Sciences is composed of fourteen separate departments, two of which are music and art. These two branches of the college constitute the fine arts group of the general university requirement for every student.

The Art Department, ably headed by Kingsley Calkins, encompasses a wide variety of creative interests. A flexible department, it includes sculpture, jewelry, ceramics, and graphics in addition to basic and advanced courses in drawing and painting.

In the Music Department, performing groups play a distinctive role. In addition to department courses, students find expression through various instrumental and vocal groups. Under the direction of Howard Rarig, the Music Department offers training in both the performing and teaching of music.

Departments Develop Communication Art

Within the College of Arts and Sciences, three departments specifically concern themselves with the improvement of communication. These are the Departments of English and Foreign Languages and Literature, and the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art.

Modern Equipment and talented staff contribute greatly to the success of these departments. Language labs, required of every foreign language student, and learning to operate drama's lighting and counterweight systems gives students first hand experience. English courses in basic writing and literature give students the skills to effectively communicate. Department Heads Milton Foster, of the English Department; John Owens, of the Foreign Language Department; and John Sattler of the Speech and Drama Departments effectively coordinate departmental programs for maximum efficiency and effective learning of the various communication skills.

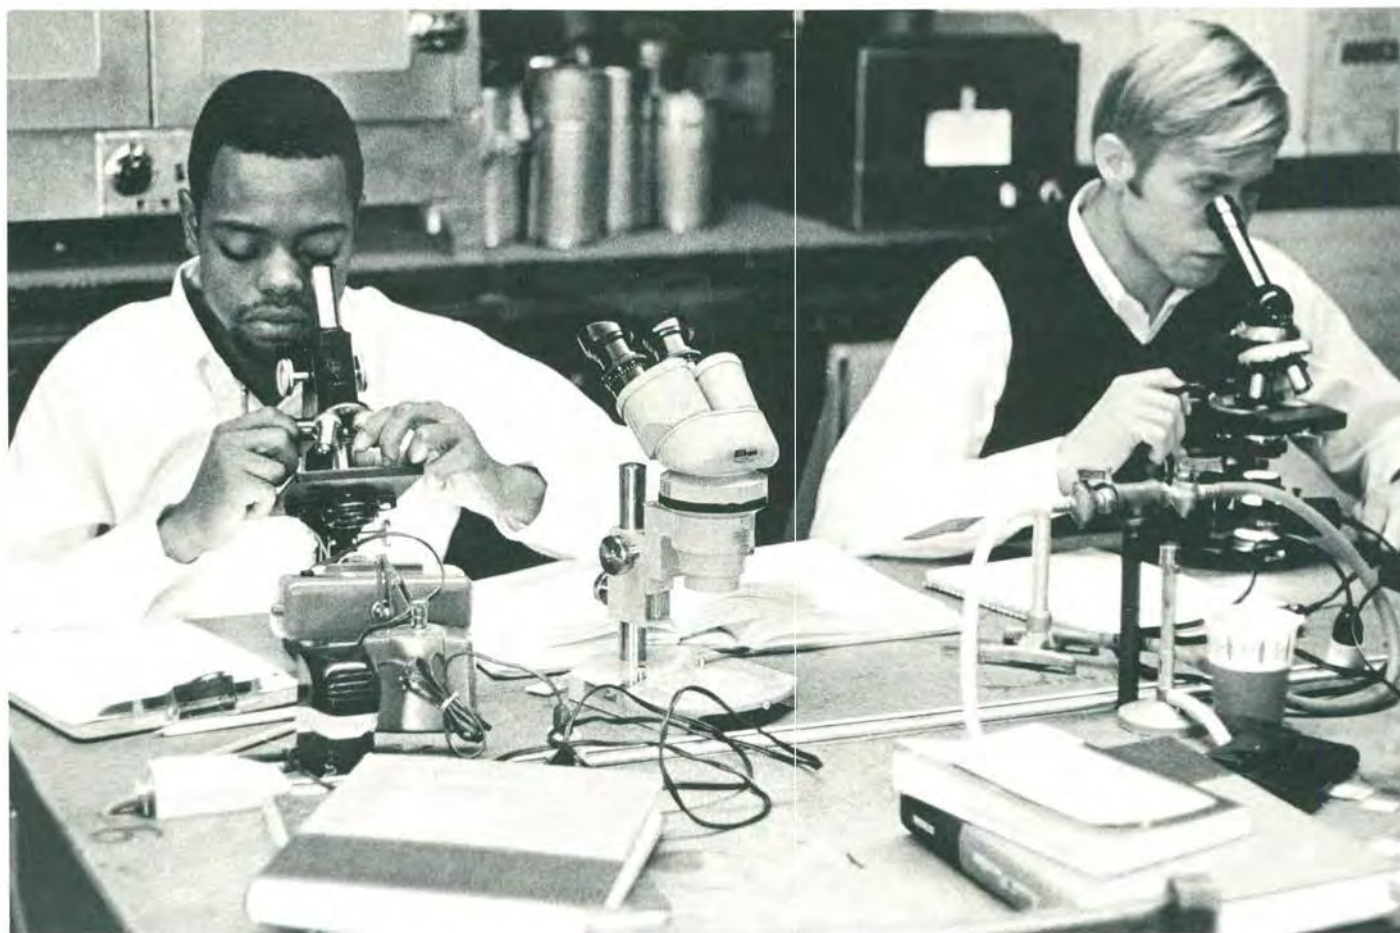

Capably co-ordinating the many departments of the College of Arts and Sciences is Dean Donald Drummond.

Sciences Encourage Exploration of Life

Five branches of science are offered at Eastern, and these departments operate within the College of Arts and Sciences. From the most basic courses to the most advanced, the science departments improve man's technical understanding of the world around him.

Of the various science courses available for study, those from four of the five departments make use of laboratories to offset classroom lectures. These departments are: Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Astronomy, and Geography and Geology. By giving the students a chance to see concrete examples of what would otherwise only be abstract principles, these labs increase one's workable knowledge of the world.

The remaining science department is Mathematics. Achieving the same understanding as the laboratory sciences through slightly different means, math courses utilize problematic assignments to add practical meaning to text and lecture material. Thus all Eastern's sciences increase understanding of the world.

Lost in an endless maze of glass tubing, flasks, and chemicals, Eastern students decipher the laws of chemistry through their own experimentation.

ROTC and Phys Ed Work Together

The ROTC program at Eastern offers a course of instruction leading to a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserves. Outstanding graduates may apply for commissions in the regular Army.

Students enrolled in this program receive academic credit for their work. Some of this credit may be applied toward their physical education requirements. A total of eighteen hours may be earned for satisfactory completion of the four year program.

Eastern is well known for its Physical Education Department which provides a fine recreation program regardless of a student's curriculum. For those majoring in health and physical education, active participation as well as theory enables students to pursue teaching, coaching, and other careers. The department also sponsors the Women's Recreation Association and conducts intercollegiate and intramural sports program.

Home Economics Offers World of Interests to E.M.U. Women

One of Eastern's most diversified departments, and certainly one which encompasses a world of interests, is the Home Economics Department. Over fifty unique careers, making use of special talents and abilities are available to the graduates of this department.

Eastern's Home Economics Department prepares its students for a variety of professions, including teaching, advising, and consulting in matters of food, economics, or family life. Exciting careers in fashion designing, interior decoration, or food management are also included in this department.

For those not planning on a home economics career, a Family Life Lecture Series, and other courses on family relations are offered to prepare students for their futures, whatever their profession. A minor is also available in Family Life Education.

Headed by Department Chairman Anita Fieldor, the Home Economics Department is dynamic and diversified.

Technical Skills Obtained Through Industrial Education

Under the leadership of Department Head Raymond LaBounty, the Department of Industrial Education has two main divisions and objectives. First, it prepares students for the certified teaching of industrial arts or vocational trades. Second, it leads to a B.S. Degree in Industrial Technology, preparing the student for a leading job in industry.

Consisting of two-year and four-year programs in both teaching and industry, the Department of Industrial Education makes use of the most up-to-date facilities available. Ten laboratories, equipped with new, efficient tools are utilized in many Industrial Education courses. These are located in Sill Hall, one of the more modern buildings on campus.

With these excellent facilities at their disposal to make Industrial Education courses more practical, the department is successful in training proficient Eastern students for jobs in teaching and industry.

International Students

What is an exchange program? At Eastern, it has come to mean a program of international education sponsored by the Office of International Studies carrying out effective programs with several countries, this office came about in response to the increased interest in foreign study throughout the nation.

Currently involved in an exchange program with Somalia, Eastern is working with the Somali National Teacher Education Center to develop a teacher education program there. Nine Eastern professors are currently in Somalia and twelve Somali students are studying at Eastern this year.

Also very strong is Eastern's exchange program with England. The English Exchange Committee, with co-chairmen Erma Muchenhirn and Robert Fisher, is sponsoring eleven students in England, and thirteen English students studying here.

Programs for the summer include exchanges with both England and Germany, under the direction of Erma Muchenhirn and Dr. Reinhardt Witthe. A new program, involving studies at the Monterey Technical Institute, will be offered through Dr. Nicholas Raphael.

Taking an active part in Eastern's social life, International students ride in a decorated car for the November Homecoming parade.

In his demanding position, Dean Glasgow still finds time to talk with many students and help many of them solve problems.

Alumni Association And Graduate School

The Alumni Association, working in close contact with the Graduate School, serves as a bond between the University and former students. The Office of Alumni Relations maintain communications in their publication of Alumnus. Hosting returning alumni, they are active in major events of the year including Homecoming and Alumni Day. The office informs graduates of campus events, keeping them as an integral part of EMU.

Under the direction of Dean Glasgow, the Graduate School provides a variety of Flexible programs. It offers five degrees, although its primary emphasis is on a curriculum that will produce a master teacher. Continuously growing, the Graduate School hopes to satisfy its students changing needs.

Accurate and up-to-date files, a necessity for both staff and student, are an integral part of Eastern's library.

New Library Open— Spacious Facilities

In the center of Eastern's campus, easily accessible to all students, is the new University Library. Open to replace the Mark Jefferson Library in the spring of 1969, it now houses over 210,000 volumes. The University Library operates on a divisional plan, with practically all the books on open stacks in four divisional sections.

Many special collections are included in Eastern's library. These include instructional materials, a map library, and a collection of U.S. documents.

Other new study aids can be found in this modern library. A well-equipped Audio-Visual Center contains recordings, film strips, films, and a Dial-Access Testing Room for tapes. Facilities also include group studies and typewriters for students' use.

From freshman orientation to finals, students find the library a valuable aid in pursuing both class and individual interests.

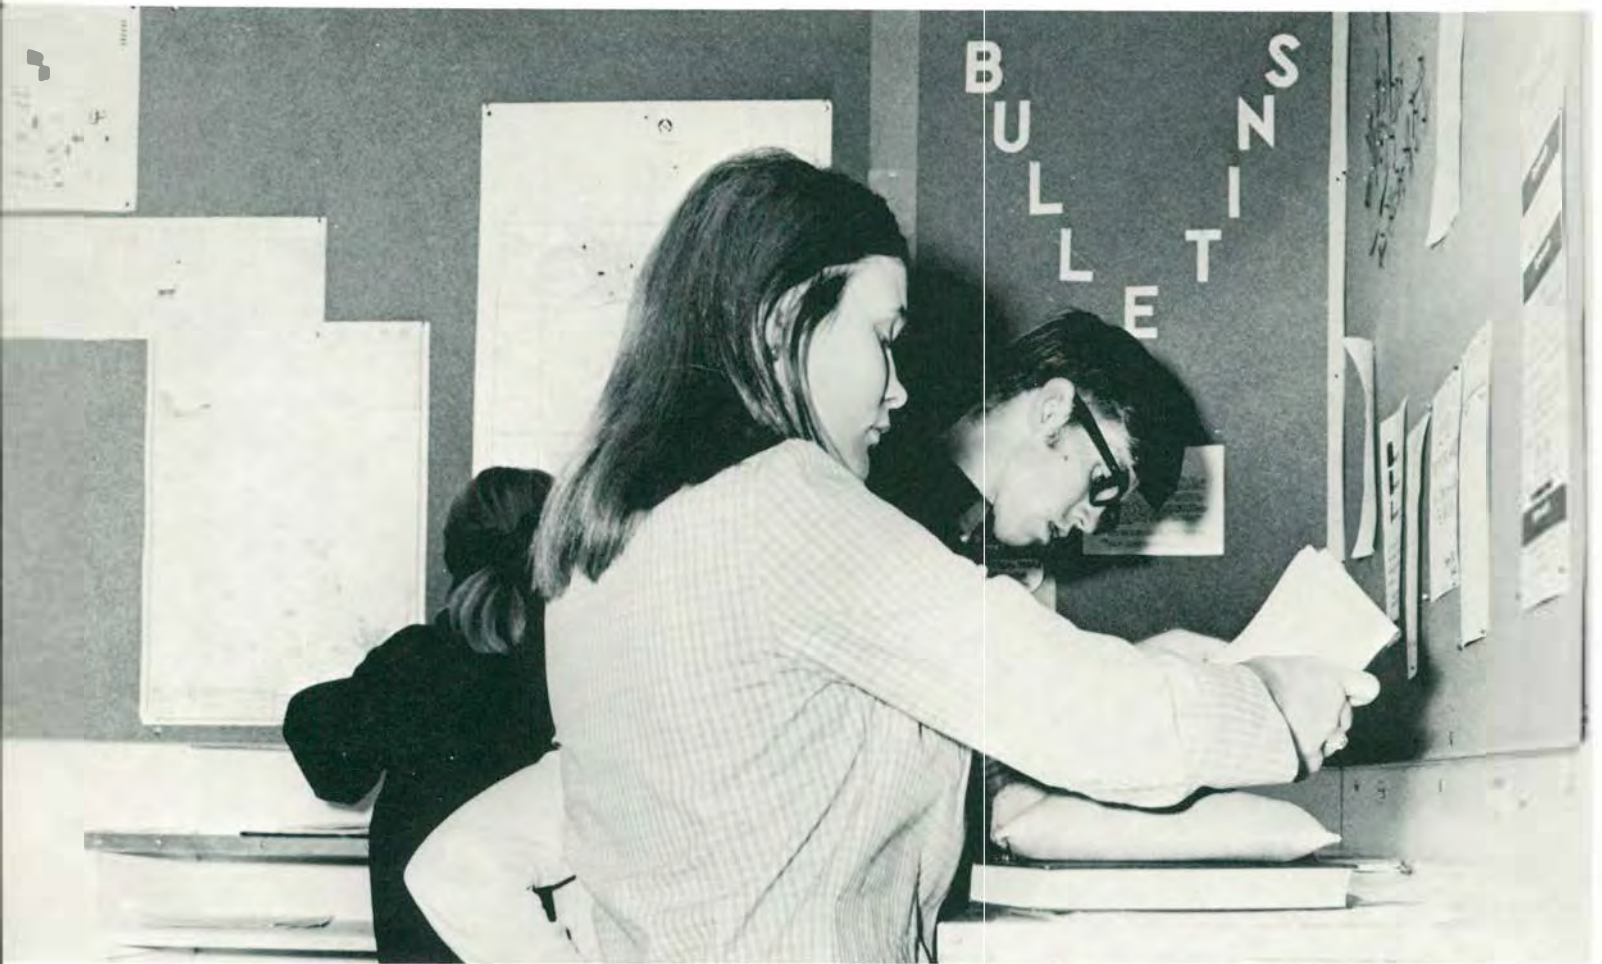

A quiet place for study, the library accommodates many students who require concentration for study.

Student Services Offer Assistance

In the midst of the mayhem that can be college life, it may be of some small comfort to realize that there are some places in the university struggling to create order. Working behind the scenes, these centers help students to function as fully as possible.

Maintaining the students' physical ability to function on the campus, the Health Center works for the prevention and curing of various ailments. Swamped by a flu epidemic this year, the Health Center has handled an increasing student population and maintained the general health of the campus.

Helping college students to be financially able to continue their educations, the Placement Center finds jobs for interested students. Besides taking applications the Placement center has information and facilities for interview and records. Handling the public relations end of the University, the Information Services coordinates the news and publications.

President Sponberg Works To Improve

Harold Sponberg received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Gustavus Adolphus College. Following his work there he was awarded his Master of Arts degree, with honors in Psychology and rhetoric at the University of Minnesota. In the years that followed Sponberg served in various academic and administrative capacities at Michigan State University. He was then awarded a Ph. D. in Education, majoring in History, Philosophy and Guidance.

President Sponberg believes that to grow in numbers isn't a particularly significant element of the University. The idea is to be significantly successful in growth in quality as well as in quantity. Sponberg believes Eastern has already laid the ground work for a multi-purpose University that reflects the needs and aspirations of the youth who come here.

President Sponberg has the conviction that Eastern should be excellent in all fields, including that of athletics as well as that of drama, debate, and music.

V.P.'s Give Strength

The various workings of the departments at EMU are kept in check by able Vice Presidents.

Overseeing the vast business and financial interest of the university is Vice-President Lewis Profit. The drawing up of a sound budget and the keeping of accurate account of debit and credit are among the major duties of this office.

duties of this office.

Dean Nelson, V.P. of Instruction is concerned with the maintainance of high professional standards within the various colleges. Updating the curriculum, employing new educational techniques and creating new innovations in degree opportunities are among his many duties.

The Department of Student Affairs is lead by ready, willing, and able, Vice-President Zumwinkle, who oversees the welfare of EMU students. His specific duties include the maintainance of health, housing, and food services. But, duties do not end here for the some one-hundred student organizations on campus are under his jurisdiction.

Deans, Regent Board Direct Campus Affairs

For every institution, there must be a group of talented, concerned people organizing and directing its activities. Eastern Michigan University, no exception to this rule, is fortunate to have some very highly qualified people administering its affairs.

Deans at Eastern, entrusted with the job of coordinating the various programs in a particular area, are appointed both in academic relations and in student affairs. Upon the resignation of Susan Hill, who served exceptionally well as Dean of Students for 30 years, a capable and familiar man to students, Edward Linta, became Dean of Students in February, adding his skill to that of our other qualified deans.

Coordinating the programs of the entire university, the Board of Regents at Eastern has a very complex and difficult task—a task they have managed exceptionally well. They have created a spirit of growth and education for Eastern's students.

Efficiency Behind EMU's Scenes

They are all the people we see every day and count on and take advantage of. The maintenance people, maids, butlers, police, bus drivers, physical plant worker, cooks, and all the other green-collared workers at Eastern. This corps of ready individuals make life a little more smooth and easy for the student body. They work behind the scenes, keeping the grounds, dorms, classrooms, and office buildings beautiful and well-supplied. They cook and serve our meals, deliver our mail, and guarantee our security. The bus drivers are on the job from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., four days a week and til 5 p.m. on Fridays. Campus police are on duty for our convenience 24 hours a day. It is through the help of people like these that the university runs so efficiently.

Coach Richard Moseley works on team defense.

Planning carefully for effective Huron strategy from both the office and the field is Dan Boisture, head coach.

Huron Leadership Sparks Spirit

Able and hard-working leadership, the key to the development of the highly successful Huron team, came from many people this season. Both the coaching staff and returning players provided the seasoning needed to create a well-rounded team.

Sporting an impressive record of coaching successes upon coming to Eastern Michigan in 1967, Dan Boisture had the difficult task of building a team in a few short weeks. With the help of a capable staff, Boisture this season developed a highly ranked team. Nick Caso, as defensive line coach and recruiting coordinator; Theodore Guthard, dean of the football coaching staff; and Richard Moseley, training the defensive backs round out the leadership of the Hurons.

Critically analyzing each play, junior Pete Yelorda, tailback, sizes up Southern Connecticut's defense.

Hurons Rated Eighth in Nation

Eastern's Hurons, stronger this year than ever before, were rated eighth in the nation among small colleges. This honor was justly deserved, as shown by our team's fine seasonal record and many improvements in important areas, in spite of a much more difficult schedule.

Of their scheduled games this season, eight were against teams never before faced by the Hurons. In 1966, Kentucky State topped Eastern, and in 1967, Northern Iowa took a game from the Hurons. All the other teams on schedule this season were new to Eastern's much improved 1968 team.

The Hurons were well qualified to handle this new and difficult 1968 schedule mainly due to improvements in many specific areas, as well as in overall performance. In passing, new strength was found in junior Arnold Fontes. In his 1967 season, Fontes completed 13 out of 19 passes, and totaled 167 yards and two touchdowns in just one game, and promised more for the future. End, Gary Matsche, cashing in on two years' experience on varsity, works well with Fontes, and thus the receiving end of the pass combination has found new strength.

New linebacking power came from Pete Kalogeras, who working with veterans Larry Wells, Glenn Crane, and Ivory Hood improved Eastern's defense. Other Hurons returning to add their strength were 1967's leading rusher, Tommie Walls, and Gary Grady, both veterans of two years. Beginning their third season together, these men handle the positions of the defensive backfield.

With new players contributing their skills, and strong veterans providing experience, the Hurons were every example of a team ranked eighth nationally.

Watching in shock is sophomore Tommie Walls.

Eastern Flattens Connecticut 40-0

The sunny afternoon of September 20 saw a crowd of 6,600 football fans turn out at Briggs Field. They were hoping to witness a game similar to the previous week's victory, when the Hurons upset Morningside of Iowa, 46-6.

The game started on the wrong foot, with a first period fumble and a bad kick. However, the Huron's strong defense, led by End Mike Garofolo and Tackle Bob Lints, held Southern Connecticut scoreless.

Half-time score stood at 20-0, and no further scoring was done in the third quarter. However, the Hurons broke loose again in the final fifteen minutes of play, scoring three more touchdowns to raise the final score to a 40-0 shutout.

Yelorda, Walls

The game of September 21, 1968, against Southern Connecticut, was dominated by the rushing power of the Hurons. Tailbacks Pete Yelorda and Tom Walls led Eastern's offensive with 95 and 84 yards rushed respectively. Quarterback Fontes and Tailback Dennis Hewitt also gained 30 yards apiece.

All the passing of the game was done by Fontes, and sophomore George Bailey kicked an average of 35.8 yards per kick in five kicks. Eastern was outdone by Southern Connecticut in yards passing, by only seven yards. The Hurons led in first downs by eight, 18 - 10, and by 174 yards rushing, 255 - 281. The Hurons 40-0 victory over Southern Connecticut was the sum of these efforts by the members of the team.

Hurons Top Tough Akron Opponents, 16-7

Boasting a top-rated team in the nation among small schools, Akron found the Hurons to be more competition than they had expected. Taking an early lead on a touchdown by Pete Yelorda, and a point kick and a field goal by Arnold Fontes, the Hurons held a 10-7 margin at the half.

The third and fourth quarters found Akron attempting a come-back, threatening to score several times. It was not until the final 2½ minutes of play that Eastern broke loose again to score. Akron, with a second down on the Huron five yard line, attempted a pass, which was intercepted by Defensive Half Jerry Warkentien. He then set a new Eastern record, running 98 yards to score Eastern's final touchdown.

Huron Harriers Third in Nation

When it comes to domination of it's competition, no other intercollegiate team at Eastern Michigan can match the enviable record of the Huron Harriers. The cross country team, coached by Bob Parks, won the NAIA National Championship in the fall of 1967 for a record, second straight time. This fall they were held in Oklahoma City, the Huron Harriers came in third place.

Leading the Hurons to victory was the performance of Dave Ellis. The sophomore distance ace, from Toronto Ontario. Others who contributed to the winning point total was Charlton Baldwin, 1968 Captain Ken Head, and David Campbell.

Coach Bob Parks, helped to lead his team to national placements.

Fight, Fight, Fight

The Eastern Michigan Hurons have proved they are able to cope with the tough, demanding schedules of 1968-69. The Hurons were weakened by the loss of two of their best defensive ballplayers, captain Harold Simons and Roy McNeely. The serious question was whether the young talent could come along swiftly enough to fill this gap. They succeeded because they worked as a team.

All Huron plans were built around two returning regulars last season, Captain Harvey Marlatt and center Kennedy McIntosh. Both are solid collegiate ball players. Al Jagutis moved in to take over the guard post vacated by Simons. Providing backing insurance for Jagutis are guards Hershel Lewis, Larry Walker, and Phil Riggio.

Coach Dutcher, who is a stickler on strong defensive play, put a well disciplined ball club on the floor. The Hurons showed they had the ability to vary the attack from controlled play to fast break.

Coach Dutcher Leads Eastern's Cagers

Basketball at Eastern is a sky-rocketing sport. Increased student interest, stronger teams, and more difficult opponents are the outward signs of this progress. The inner spark for all this, however, comes from the head coach, whose attitude determines that of the players. In the case of Eastern, Head Coach James Dutcher has provided the spark to drastically improve the Hurons' standing during the last few years.

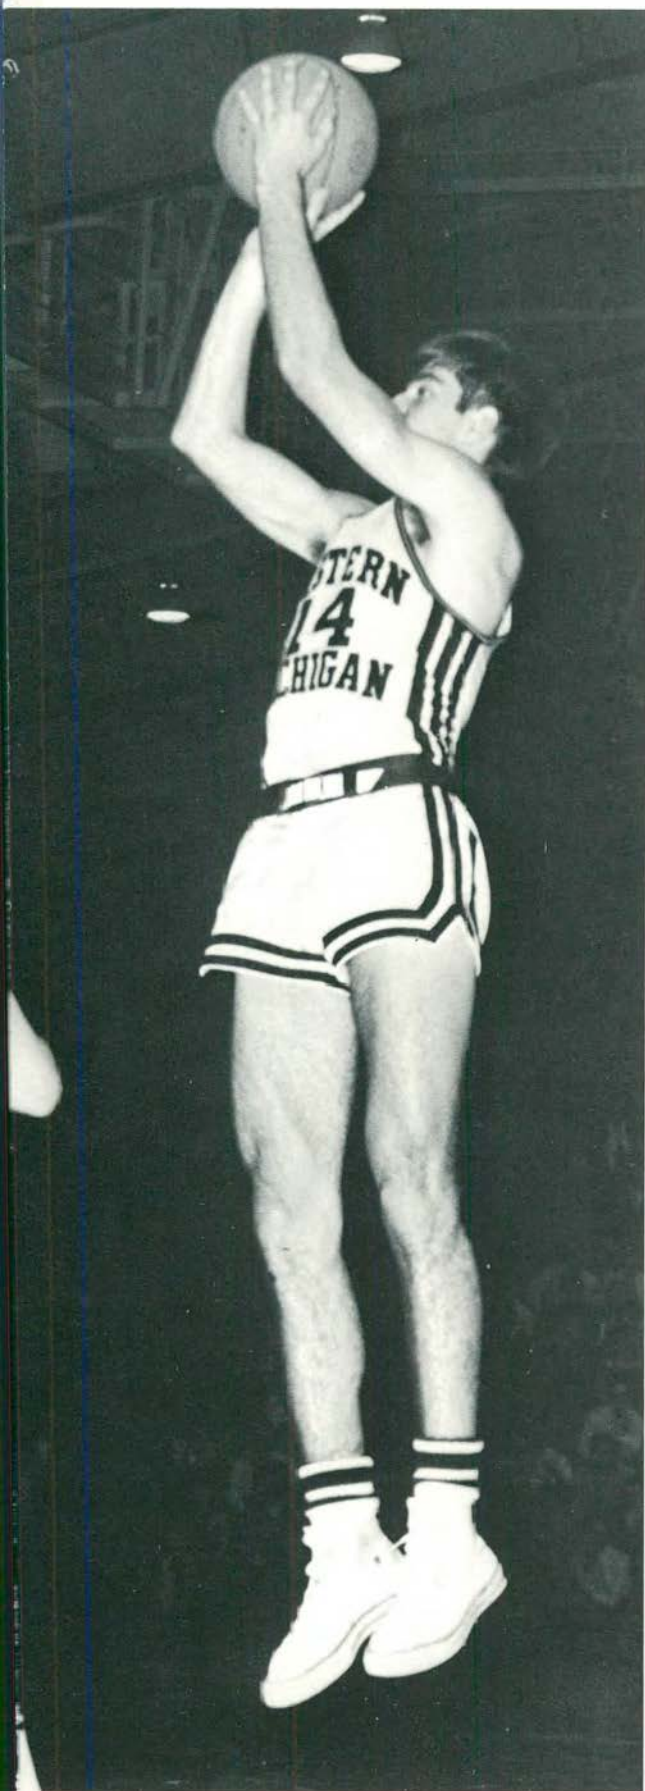

Beginning in 1966, Dutcher has led the Hurons to progressively stronger teams. Playing tougher schools each year, the Hurons have expanded and improved to hold their own against their competition.

Hurons Score Highest Against Hillsdale

Scoring an all-time high in their game against Hillsdale, Eastern's Hurons won a 126-90 victory, topping their previous high of 117. The scoring, led by Earl Higgins, proved to be both exciting and fast-moving. On several occasions, Higgins, aided by Ken McIntosh, made many surprise moves, completely baffling the Hillsdale team. Al Jagutis, with his great speed, also aided the Hurons in their record-breaking 126 points. With the end close at hand, Eastern is sure to be in contention for the championship of the NAIA this spring.

ROTC Sponsors

EMU Rifle Club

Sponsored by the ROTC, Eastern's rifle team has some capable leadership in its coach, co-captains, and high scorer. Coach for the team is ROTC Sergeant Mulcahy. Assisting him in his position of leadership are co-captains Terry Mills and David Franklin. However, the most outstanding marksman on the team is in none of these positions — he is high scorer Jim Ellison, with an average of 260 out of a possible 300. With talent and leadership distributed, Eastern's team is strong.

Last year, Eastern's rifle team finished the season second in the league, boasting a 6-1 win-lost record. Several tournaments have been scheduled for this year. An invitational tournament scheduled for March 15 will be attended at the University of Illinois. Facing such opponents as Central, Western, U of M, and MSU, the outlook for the rifle team is high.

Dave Ellis Chosen Athlete Of The Year

This year Eastern has initiated a trophy which will be given to the most all around athlete of the year. The "Athlete of the Year Award", as it is titled goes to the person showing high athletic ability, fine sportsmanship, participation in extracurricular activities, and high scholastic ability.

This years recipient of the trophy is Dave Ellis. Dave, one of the finest athletes to appear on Eastern's campus, has fulfilled all the requirements necessary for a good athlete. To mention but a few of Dave's records; he now holds the top spot in anything over one mile on the Huron team, this past year he participated for Canada in the Olympics held in Mexico, he finished second in the NAIA championships, he holds an All-American standing in both NAIA Track and Cross Country and is now a current NAIA Indoor Track Two Mile Champion. Besides holding such a high position in the sports of Cross Country and Track, Dave is now wielding an academic average of 3.5. Dave is truly the athlete of the year.

Swimmers Defend NAIA Championship

Swimming this season to defend their NAIA championship title, Eastern's tankers had tremendous potential. Strength came from several team members in the areas of diving and swimming. Divers returning to repeat their successes of previous seasons were Kieth Gill, a national titlist, and John Jackson, an All-American.

In the aquatic realm, Doug Webster returned to defend his NAIA national records and repeat his outstanding performances of previous years. Supported by other all-American veterans, and injected with new blood, both Webster and the Hurons had the ingredients for another championship season.

Competition, however, was much tougher this year than last. Such schools as Northern Illinois, Ohio University, Eastern Kentucky, Cincinnati, Denver, and the Air Force proved to be gruelling competition, preventing the Hurons from repeating their spectacular performance and repeating their championship.

Coaches Tankers

Heading the Huron swimmers is Coach Mike Jones, who in a very short time at Eastern has developed a high-scoring team. In his very first season with the Hurons last year, Jones piloted the tankers to a team swimming title in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, in addition to producing several AllAmerican swimmers in various events.

After receiving his degree from Eastern in 1955, Coach Jones began as a teacher and coach at a near-by city. He remained there for eleven years, spending six of those eleven as head coach. In 1966, however, Jones returned to Eastern for graduate study, where he earned two degrees and served as a graduate assistant.

Now in his second year as coach of the Green and White swimmers, Jones is faced with an enormous task. He must, in some way, match the feat of his rookie year as coach, when he piloted a talented crew to a National title. To help him with this goal, Jones will have the assistance of Chuck Lott, former coach and now a graduate student in Physical Education at Eastern.

Between races, swimmers take a "breather" and relax for a while.

Gymnastics Squad Faces Tough Season

The Huron tumblers, Eastern's gymnastics team, may be stronger this year than it has ever been before. Forced to rely on many team members for strength, the Hurons have the advantage of many people contributing skills. With the departure of 1967-8 captain, Jim Arnold, many other talented tumblers perfected their performances to replace his strength.

Under the leadership of Coach Marvin Johnson, many men developed their skills. Captain Tim Reilly, besides his successes in the Side and Long Horse events, scored on the rings. The return of Bob Kainz this season, in addition to Tom Wasyliniak, Sam Muffett, and Joe Sawtell should round out the team's talent. All-Americans Chuck Harvey and Tim Fitzharris contributed their already-proven skill to a strong team.

Huron Wrestlers Look To Future

As the 1968-69 wrestling season began, Eastern was confronted with an unusual situation. With only three returning lettermen, Head Coach Russ Bush had the tremendous job of training a practically new team.

Coach Bush, however, was well qualified to meet this challenge. In his eleven years of coaching at Eastern, Bush raised wrestling to a full-time sport and has scheduled top competition.

Returning to become the main strength of the wrestling team were seniors Charles Ash and Bill Viverette, and sophomore Tom Bluhm. Tom Jackson and Carl Myles, football players, added their force to the heavier weights. With Kenshire Matsunami and Ikuei Yamamoto adding their agility to the lower weights, the Huron wrestlers have a core team for future years.

Baseball Leadership Braces Team

An integral part of any team is its leadership, which can come from both staff and team members. Essential to a team's success, leadership forms the foundation on which new talent can develop and build.

Leadership at Eastern, particularly in baseball, is especially strong. A graduate of Eastern and a football and baseball star in his own right, baseball Coach Oestrike is known as a builder of winning teams. Scheduling as many and as difficult opponents as he can, Coach Oestrike still produces winners.

Student leadership comes mainly from co-captains Jay Schwalm and John Clay. Schwalm leads the nation in saved games and Clay is a powerful centerfielder.

Talented Newcomers' Spirit Adds Dash To Baseball Squad

Protecting his base, an Eastern player tags out a straining opponent.

Young blood seems to be a trademark of all Huron teams this year, and baseball is no exception. Of a 48-man roster for the 1968 season, only nine are returning regulars, and two of the nine, Griffin and Krumm, are pitchers. Many new faces are on hand, with a storehouse of talent, ready and eager to contribute to the Huron team not only this year, but into the future. The baseball team, as with many others, is growing stronger each year, and shows no sign of lagging in the future.

In addition to new players, the baseball team has a beautiful new stadium to play their games in. Located on the West Campus, this construction is made to hold 2300 spectators in the comfort of a grandstand sheltered from sun and rain.

Coach Parks Has Winning Season Huron Thinclads NAIA Champs

The Eastern Michigan Track Team has, once again put together a winning season. They have run and placed well in many big meets throughout the country and for a short time held the World Indoor record for the shuttle hurdle relay. Later the same foursome of Al Davis, Bob Lynn, Bill Tipton, and Jerry Cerulla, pushed the L.A. Striders to a new record.

The 1969 Indoor track team won an overwhelming victory in the NAIA nationals and have broken many old track and field records.

The 1969 Hurons were without the services of such stalwarts as Don Baker, Bill Barrett, Jerry Cerulla, Curt Gardenour, Ralph Stephenson, and Jim Wicker, who were lost through graduation. The future Hurons can look forward to many fine seasons with the return of many outstanding men such as Chris Abbuhl, Patrick Bynoe, David Ellis, Cliff Larkins, Robert Lynn, Eric Nesbitt, who was voted Most Valuable Player in the NAIA, Keith Swanston, Bill Tipton and Eugene Thomas.

Captain Head and Teammates Among Nations' Finest

The Huron Thinclads got off to a running start, in the indoor season, by winning the NAIA nationals early in the season. They continued this fine winning streak against such competitors as Ball State, Ferris State, Hillsdale College, Western Ontario, and many others. They provided a great deal of competition against such schools as University of Michigan, Michigan State, and Western Michigan University.

Highlighting the season were Ken Head, who, for the first time in about sixty years, was captain of both Cross Country and Track. Bill Tipton and Bob Lynn provided a great deal of excitement with their constant close competition. Distanceman Eric Nesbitt was voted the Most Valuable Player in the NAIA and Dave Ellis brought international attention to Eastern by competing in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

Freshman, Dave Galloway leads the pack in the mile run as Ken Head, Chris Abbuhl, and Terry First follow close behind.

Senior star, Homer Hinchliff clears the high jump bar on his way to another victory.

Outdoor Season Proves Successful

Eastern's 1968 Outdoor track had a very successful season. They competed against many of the nation's finest in their season's opener, the Kentucky Relays. They also were stiff competitors in the University of Michigan Relays, Ohio State Relays, Tennessee Relays, and the famous Drake Relays.

A total of ten new records were set during the course of the season, four of them were in relays. Coach Parks and five young trackmen flew to the National NAIA Championships and almost came away with the title. They finished third, only five points out of first.

It is quite evident, that with the fantastic amount of young talent on our team, we can expect to have similar successful seasons for years to come.

Eastern Scores High In Bowling

Although it is not a part of Eastern's regular sports roster, the bowling team certainly deserves attention. Roy Connally, the manager of Eastern's bowling alley, is now sponsoring this team sport. Eastern joins with such schools as Michigan State, Central Michigan, Ferris, and Western Michigan, to form the local league. Bruce Whicker, the captain of the team, holds an average of 197. The team as a whole sports a 191 average. The team is very optimistic about placing high in the league at the end of the season. With six games remaining, Eastern is now in second place.

Golfers Score 12-2-1 Place In Tourneys

Boasting a 12-2-1 record, Eastern's golf team chalked up some high honors. In a district meet sponsored by the National Association for Inter-collegiate Athletics, Eastern ranked third. They also placed fourth in the Alma Invitational Tournament.

Leading scorer for the team, Donald Gosztyle, finished the season with an average score of 79.2 per game. Another team leader was captain Jim Filipiak.

Training the team for its meets was Coach J. Richard Adams. Scheduling tournaments with Kent State, Ohio University, Toledo, Cincinnati, and Indiana State, he more than adequately prepared them for their stiff schedule of skillful competition.

One of Eastern's future prospects is Jim St. Germaine. Jim, who is considered one of the best amateur golfers in the state, was a runner up in the Michigan Amateur competition and is current Meadowbrook champ. A finalist in the North-South Amateur finals, Jim's presence will be a strong addition to the team.

Tennis Team Places Second in NAIA

Although not all Eastern's students may realize it, the Huron tennis team is one of the best. Capturing a second-place title in the district NAIA Meets, the tennis team finished the season with an overall record of four wins and five losses.

Playing such schools as Kent State, Bowling Green, Dayton, Toledo, Hope, and Kalamazoo, the Hurons met some very fierce competition. Preparing the team, striving for team balance, Coach Russ Bush put together a team of quality. Leading the players was the team captain Bob Staple, who, with the effort of his teammates, made the Huron team victorious.

Men's Intramural Program Stresses Complete Physical Fitness

Last year Eastern's Intramural program boasted five divisions of sports. This year however, this number has grown to fifteen. Thus Eastern has added ten new sports to Intramural activities. The entire program is divided into three divisions, independents, fraternities, and dorms. Each group plays against teams of equal standings. The dorms play the dorms and the fraternities play the fraternities. Individuals from nearby communities are invited to participate in programs aimed at a complete physical fitness program. Mr. England, head of the men's Intramural program, provides such sports as Touch Football, Cross Country, Wrestling, Volleyball, Golf, Basketball, Bowling, Table Tennis, and Horse Shoes. The faculty is also invited to participate in the program. Gyms are left open in the evenings to allow both students and faculty to participate in such activities.

Women Participate in Varied Sports

Women's sports at Eastern include a wide variety of activities. Everyone from the most unskilled beginner to the most proficient athlete is encompassed somewhere in the vast program.

Intramurals are the most basic programs, set up in teams of interested volunteers. Skill is no factor in who may participate, as long as there is interest. Intramurals are arranged for a variety of sports, including field hockey, volleyball, and many others.

Women students with previous experience and a higher degree of skill often prefer to go out for varsity sports, which involves hours of grueling practice to perfect skills and get into condition. These outstanding teams then compete with women of other colleges.

Women's Intramural Sports Promote Interest In Recreational Activities

Sponsored by Women's Recreation Association (WRA), intramural sports are arranged throughout the year for women who may be interested in using Eastern's physical education facilities in the evenings. Teams are organized in such sports as volleyball, basketball, and softball. No outstanding talent is necessary-those from the earliest beginner to the seasoned athlete may find a place in the physical education program. Seeking to provide a break in the study routine, intramurals have prompted an interest in recreational activities among Eastern's women.

AWS Evaluates Dorm Policies

The Associated Women Students, better known as AWS, is a service organization designed to meet the social as well as cultural needs of all women students at Eastern. The role of the coed on campus has been increased and more distinctly defined through the efforts of this organization.

AWS undertook and has been actively involved in keeping the rules for womens dorms up-to-date. The Women's Evaluation Committee, in particular, has been working on new policies for women students.

A change in the restrictions of Freshman hours and revision of the guest policy in the dorms are among the rules under evaluation.

Aside from overseeing women's activities, AWS has taken the initiative to sponsor a Women's week in November, a fashion show, a gourmet food display, and womens recreational activities. A Christmas shopping trip to Downtown Detroit was also undertaken this year.

Buell Sponsors Spring Weekend

The initiation of Fall Rock-A-Thons and Tel-A-Thons and the carrying-on of their famed spring weekend has added to the spirit at Buell Hall.

In early October, a Rock-A-Thon was established in front of Buell Hall. Bringing the comforts of dorm life to the rockers, a television set was brought out. The success of this rocking lead the guys to talking and a Tel-A-Thon was initiated with Jones Hall. Only partial success was attained due to the Bell Telephone Companies intrusion.

In late April, residents were involved in an All-Hall Weekend of Activities. Soft-ball and broom ball games, a tug of war, egg throws, and a car smash were highlighted with a steak roast on Buell's lawn. A Miss Buell Hall reigned over the events.

House System Works "best" for Best

Best Hall's House System has promoted group work within the individual halls and has added vitality to the dorm as a whole.

New speakers for the lounge's stereo created a relaxed atmosphere. Pop and chips now available at the desk on weekdays and submarine sandwiches on Sundays are great midnight snacks.

Co-ed Residents For Walton-Putnam

WaltonPutnam is one of the two co-educational residence halls now open at Eastern Michigan University. The common lounge, dining room, and recreational facilities provide a more natural living atmosphere for residents. Even hall government is on two different levels. The separate councils meet together to discuss common problems. The social scene is definitely more lively in Walton-Putnam than that of the other dorms on campus here at Eastern.

Waiting for the mail is still a favorite pass-time of dorm residents.

The lounge provides a place for group gatherings and games.

Dues Unnecessary For A Good Time

Kappa Beta Sigma, "Beavers" is a non-Greek social organization functioning similar to sorority. Initiated in 1966, the Beavers are now found on the campuses of Northern, State, and Eastern. The sisters have no dues, feeling that money is not necessary for a good time. However, rushing is necessary for membership and meetings are held every Monday night.

"Sure happy it's Thursday Parties" have replaced T.G.'s for the sisters of Kappa Beta Sigma. The Beavers have also participated in painting the Greek Rock in yellow and brown, their groups colors. For Easter break, the girls sponsored a trip to the Bahamas. Each year the girls have seasonal parties, the biggest of which takes place at Christmas time in Goddard's Recreational Room.

Ted's Soda Fountain is a common meeting place for the sisters of Kappa Beta Sigma.

E M U Cheerleaders

At a basketball game . . . A football game . . . Whatever the athletic event, who has not seen the cheerleaders there, adding their enthusiasm to the spirit of the event? Seven girls, full of energy and enthusiasm, have accepted the challenge of hours of practice perfecting stunts, aching muscles the beginning of each year, and active participation in the athletic life of our school. These are the women who, at each athletic event, rouse team spirit through the cheers and formations they have created. Captain of the cheerleaders, Sally Drinkert, exhibits all the enthusiasm and talent that each woman on Eastern's squad possesses. From Gaylord Michigan, Sally has been a cheerleader three of her four years at Eastern. Two of those three years she has been the captain of the squad, leading the cheerleaders in their spirit and enthusiasm for the athletic events of our school. Each one of the women exhibits a great degree of talent developed in practices that begin long before the season starts.

UAB Brings Soul To Campus

The University Activity Board furnishes a big part of the entertainment at Eastern. They enlisted celebrities for the union openhouse, providing diversity from soul, to folk, to dixie-land bands. The student body has shown its approval of UAB choices by bringing sell-out audiences to the Four Tops, Temptations, and Little Anthony and the Imperials concerts.

Aside from providing all-university entertainment, the Activity Board sponsors a film series and a speaker program. This year the speakers were Edward P. Morgan, Pierre Salinger, Bill Sands, and Andy Warhol.

The nine member Board is responsible for approving and co-ordinating all activities at Eastern Michigan University. John Douglas is the President of UAB this year.

Echo Doubles in Size, Increases Circulation

This year's Echo has changed greatly since last year. It has doubled in size and circulation, and has become one of the largest student run, profit-making organizations. The Echo is financed through advertising and university funds, and supports a staff of over fifty students. With this large staff, they are capable of report—virtually every university event on and off campus.

The Echo, headed by Dennis Lampron, editor-in-chief, is constantly growing and improving in quality. Other editors are: Margo Doble and Arnie Rubin, co-news editors, Joel Benson, sports editor, and Rob Musial and Dave Graham, feature editors. Bill Damman took over the position of business manager after the former manager, John Gildersleeve graduated in January. With many members of this fine staff returning next year, prospects for an excellent newspaper look good.

Aurora Captures Campus Events

Chewed pica rulers, stained coffee mugs, and crinkled dummy sheets can be found the morning after the night before any Aurora deadline.

This year's staff is a dedicated group of individuals who devote their Tuesday and Thursday nights to capture everyone's exciting moments of college days.

With great vitality the business staff has worked to sell more books than ever before. Their promotional efforts can be attributed to the canvassing of apartments and dorms. A permanent station in the McKenny Union was also set up for the convenience of commuting students.

The editing staff filled an exceptional number of pages this year with pictures ranging from New Student Days to Commencement. Making their deadlines led to frazzled brains and sleepy-eyed editors. During the year one could often see the lights of the publications building glowing beyond the mid-night hour.

The Aurora staff members, Tom Gallagher, Pat Renner, Corinne Fidgeon, Lari Combs, Jay Gates, and Bob Moore discover there are still twenty pages left to make the deadline.

Panhell Brings Unity To Greek System

The Panhellenic Council is an assembly of all sorority women. Its purposes are to promote inter-sorority cooperation, coordination of common interests and activities, and to work with the administration. The Council is composed of two sisters from each of the eleven sororities. One of the jobs of the Panhellenic Council is to set and maintain rules concerning rush, pledging and initiation. It also takes an active role in arranging and carrying out the details of "Greek Week" for all of the sororities.

As each girl accepts membership in a sorority, she becomes a member of the total Panhellenic system.

This year Panhell is lead by their outstanding officers: Deanna Kent, Louise Kennedy, Diane Dossett, Jan Ramsdell, Nan McCabe, the girls find much encouragement, understanding and productivity in their advisor Conrad McRoberts.

Dephers Aid Cystic Fibrosis

The sisters of Delta Phi Epsilon, in their first year at E.M.U., have contributed a great deal of time and effort, as well as money to aid the fight against Cystic Fibrosis. They were rewarded at their national convention for contributing more to their philanthropy than any other chapter. They have initiated what they hope will become annual "Eat Days", to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis.

They are involved in rush in hopes of building a larger membership. They also took part in "Chic Relays" at homecoming and have held several T.G.'s with other Chapters and Eastern Fraternities.

Delta Chi Joins Ranks In IFC

Delta Chi officers officiate over a meeting.

Colonized in the Spring of 1968, the Delta Chis are the newest members of IFC in their first presentation at The Festival of Awards.

Being only "second best", the brothers kept striving. They have actively participated in Homecoming and Intermural football. They have sponsored T.G.'s parties, and spring and summer formals. Through the big brothers of Delta Chi, young citizens of Ypsilanti were able to see Little Anthony and the Imperials.

Participation has not been limited to the fraternity as a body. Individual members of Delta Chi have taken an active part in Campus Service Corp., Choir, Forensics, and other activities on Eastern's campus.

Delta Sigma Phi Takes Third For Float

A versatile fraternity, Delta Sigma Phi has participated – and excelled – in many various activities this year. Services have been given through work at Ypsi State Hospital and sponsoring a Christmas party for Campus Service Corps children. In sports, Delta Sigma Phi took honors in inter-fraternity volleyball and golf. They also boast an All-American football player, Gary Grady, in their midst. Campus and social events have also been highly successful for this fraternity. They took a trophy for their Homecoming float, and sponsored their Sailor's Ball and May Coronation formal dances.

Officers presiding over the Delt Sig's this year were: President, Jim Marinoski; Vice-President, Bill Stockwell. Keeping books and records for their brothers were Charlie Weaver, treasurer; and Jim Goldasich, secretary. These officers served until the beginning of the spring semester, 1969, and skillfully led their fraternity to many outstanding achievements.

Participating in the Homecoming Parade, Delta Sigma Phi won the third place prize with their float, "Gung Ho."

Delta Sigma Theta Starts Teen Lift

The Delta Teen Lift is a culture-mobile tour sponsored annually by the sorority. It provides an opportunity for disadvantaged teenagers to visit educational, business, and cultural centers in America.

The Deltas have also contributed scholarships to women in Uganda and India, and the construction of a new maternity wing named after the sorority in Africa. They have showers for the women in the hospital and then send them the gifts. A few years ago they adopted a little girl in Vpsilanti and they still take care of her needs.

Delta Sigma Theta have started a Martin Luther King Scholarship fund which they have a bucket drive each fall. The girls sponsored a Halloween party for Whitmore Lake Boys Training Camp this fall. The Late President John F. Kennedy congratulated Delta Sigma Theta on its "service to the country."

The sisters of Delta Sigma Theta display their talents at the Greek Sing.

Eastern's DZ's Best In Michigan

The DZ's have lived up to their position as largest sorority by taking an active role in student government, and have had committee members for Homecoming Festival of Awards, and Greek Week. During Greek Week, they participated in relay races and placed second in the bicycle race. The Homecoming trophy, a sister on the Homecoming court, a sister tapped for Adahi, and 3rd place in the Greek Sing, are among the recognized accomplishments of the DZ's. Active in intermurals, they took a 1st in swimming. Included in their philanthropy are a clothing drive for the Navaho Indians, movies for both community Chest and for the deaf and hard of hearing, and an annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children. Since their chapter was founded in 1955, Eastern's DZ's have been named the best DZ chapter in Michigan.

The yellow brick road was taken by the DZ's as they performed a skit from the Wizard of Oz.

Zetas Win Award

Among the most active Greeks on the campus are the Zetas. Avid participators, these women find themselves scoring high in their undertakings.

The greatest honor earned by the Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority was the first place achievement award given to them at the Zetas' national convention. The prize consisted of a beautiful silver bowl full of roses. In addition, the Zetas also have again been awarded the Scholarship Plaque.

Active in campus activities, Zeta Tau Alphas have participated in intersorority sports on campus. Homecoming found the Zeta Taus in particularly high spirits. They sold bumper stickers, participated in chick relays, and pulled out a third place title for their float—a donkey whose hind legs kicked.

Sporting new outfits this year, the Zetas entered with added enthusiasm into spring rush and Greek Week. Zeta Tau Alphas entered all Greek activities with spirit, enjoying times when all Greeks unite for a common cause.

Theta Chi's Work For Individualism

When you're a Theta Chi, the emphasis is on individuality. Many campus leaders such as Dave Mac Carrell, Vice-President of Student Body, Gary Avery, Treasurer of Student Body and Business Manager of the Aurora and Charlie Ash who is captain of wrestling, are all members of this fraternity.

The Theta Chi's also participated in service projects of benefit to the University and community. Every year they sponsor a blood drive, each year being more successful than the last. They also had a toy drive at Christmas for a local orphanage. At Easter it's baskets for the Children at Ann Arbor Hospital. They also find time to take the children from Rackham bowling.

They also took quite a few honors this year — First in fraternity division, Festival of Awards, First place in Greek Sing and their candidate Andrea Walker was a finalist for Homecoming.

Kappa Alpha Psi—"Hosts With The Most"

The brothers of Kappa Alpha Psi have united this year, through an active involvement in diversified areas. They have been "gungho" participants and sponsors of Greek, campus, and community activities.

"The Hosts with the Most", the Kappa's held a Homecoming and Thanksgiving Dance. Their Sweetheart Court was honored with a tea and in March, a Kappa Weekend of Activities was planned. Twenty of the brothers represented them at their National Convention in Baltimore, Maryland.

The fraternity took part in intramural football, basketball, and bowling. They participated in an all-greek show for Muscular Dystrophy and hosted a tea for all sororities. Student demonstrators were bonded out of jail with the help of the Kappa's.

Working with the Ypsilanti P.T.A. the brothers have sponsored parties for Perry Elementary and Eastern Junior High. They had a Christmas party for two hundred children in Ypsilanti, and took many of them to campus football and basketball games.

Alpha Epsilon Phi

The newest sorority on Eastern's campus, full of enthusiasm and making a really strong start, is Alpha Epsilon Phi. Devoting the fall semester to achieving sorority status, they became active February 24, 1969, in time to participate in spring rush. Eager to strengthen their membership, these newest members of Panhellenic Council took in a large pledge class during spring rush, 1969.

Besides their activities in becoming an active sorority, Alpha Epsilon Phi was involved in many events this year. Working to raise money for the Heart Fund, these women earned $250 through their selling projects. Sponsoring car washes to earn extra money, the Alpha Epsilon Phis also found time to participate in Homecoming activities in November. One of their "fun events" this year was a bundle party.

Through energy and spirit, the women of Alpha Epsilon Phi have begun something new at Eastern.

Sammy's Help To Promote Homecoming

The brothers of Sigma Alpha Mu have the reputation of always lending a helping hand when one is needed. For the second year in a row the Sammy's have won the President Sponberg Award at Eastern's Festival of Awards. This honor is given to the organization with the best over-all display.

When it comes to promoting all campus activities, the brothers put their all into making campus activities the greatest. They proved their spirit this year by winning the award for doing the most to promote the 1968 Homecoming festivities.

Sammy's sponsored a very entertaining baseball game in the spring, when the brothers competed with a team of Playboy Bunnies. The game proved to be very successful and entertaining to the spectators, as well as the participants.

Many social activities are enjoyed by the brothers each year. Some of the most successful and enjoyable are their tobogganing parties at Irish Hills, a formal dance at St. Regis, and dances for New Student Days.

For the short time Sigma Alpha Mu has been on campus they have proven their enthusiasm toward any project or activity here at Eastern.

This is the display that took first place for the Sammy's at the Festival of Awards.

Sigma Kappa Sorority

In a word, Sigma Kappas are active! They hold outstanding records in service projects, money-making projects, and honors. To raise money in order to finance their other projects, Sigma Kappas sold tootsie roll pops, carmel apples, and cookbooks.

Sponsoring many service projects, the women of Sigma Kappa have helped many people, locally and abroad. They adopted and support Boda Ratahiah, in India. Assisting with Rackham's physically handicapped, Sigma Kappas took the children bowling. The Theta Chi's found assistance for their Red Cross Blood Drive in these women, as well. For their Maine Seacoast Mission, the girls spent hours creating Christmas gifts. They have also planned to sponsor an Easter party for the patients of Ypsilanti Convalescent Home.

Many honors have befallen the Sigma Kappas as well. They were awarded a scholarship trophy May 20, 1968. In Homecoming activities this year, the Sigma Kappas really rated. Boasting two of their sisters on the court, Sue Ulrich and Andrea Walker, they also won second place for their float.

Sigma Nu's Win Chick Relays

When walking through McKenny Union during New Student Days everyone is certain to pass the information booth which was first begun by the sisters of Sigma Nu Phi. The sisters take time out to help all of the new students as well as old in any way that they can.

Campus Service Corps has also found a lot of help from the Sigma Nus; this year they presented ASC with a check for books and records for many underprivileged children.

Sigma Nus also donate money to Rackham every semester for the purchase of hearing aids.

To help bring an inter-reaction to the different Greek sororities, Sigma Nu Phi began a Breakfast chain.

This year at Homecoming, the sisters of Sigma Nu Phi were proud and honored to have a sister, June O'Neil on the 1968 Homecoming Court.

Nancy Gross receives first place trophy for Chick Relay during Homecoming week.

Sigma Pi Shines At Greek Week

Known for their athletic abilities, the Sig Pi's won both the chariot and canoe races during Greek Week. They also came in third in the tug of war at the Ox Roast. Because of these honors they received the over-all trophy for Greek Week. For the second year in a row the Sig Pi fraternity has won the sportsmanship trophy.

Each year they sponsor a Halloween Party for the children at Rackham. The big social event of the year is their Orchid Ball held in the spring.

Every year Sig Pi's go all out in competing with the other fraternities in interfraternity sports. Besides intramurals many of the Sig Pi brothers participate on Easterns outstanding track team.

This year at Homecoming, the Brothers of Sigma Pi were very proud and honored to have Sue Ulrich, their candidate and sweetheart as part of EMU's Homecoming Court.

Tri Sigs Win Greek Week Trophy

One of the many activities sponsored by the sisters of Sigma Sigma Sigma is their popular "Robbie Page Shoe Shine Sale." Besides this campus activity, Tri Sigs also won the "best overall sorority" during the Winter Carnival and have won the Greek Week Trophy four years in a row.

The Rand Nursery has had the opportunity to have the sisters of Tri Sigma help the children at the school with mental therapy.

Eighteen Tri Sigs participated in the Model United Nations which certainly was an asset to the program in 1969.

The Tri Sigma's are proud to have Deanna Kent, president of Panhellenic as one of their sisters, and are working hard to create a unification among Greeks on our campus.

Sig Taus Present Trophy to Tau Epsilon Phi

Sig Taus sell cushions for the United Fund.

Adding to the Homecoming festivities, the Sig Taus sold seat cushions. They donated a portion of the profit to the United Fund. The general business manager and all chairmanships for Homecoming were held by the Sig Taus. They were also responsible in getting all of the fraternities on the field to make an arch for the football team on Homecoming. Before Homecoming they sponsored a snake dance and bonfire for the cheerleaders.

The Sig Taus originated the trophy that is given to the fraternity with the highest scholastic average. This year the Joe Warsinski Memorial Trophy went to the TEPs.

Every year Sig Taus give a Christmas party for underprivileged children through Campus Service Corps; they also work at Ypsilanti State Hospital.

TKE's Buy New Fraternity House Near Campus

The Brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon proudly display their Homecoming float, drawn by their double-faced Ford Coupe.

The Delta Pi Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was founded on Eastern's campus in 1955. The TKE's sponsor the annual Homecoming Chick Relays and also host the all-campus Playboy Party every February. This year has been successful in that, not only did they buy a new fraternity house, but they also won the Highest Scholarship Improvement Award from the National Organization. The TKE's uphold their sportsmanship in all intramural fraternity sports. They attended the Province Leadership Conference at Western Michigan University. The TKE annual dinner dance, the Washingtonian, dating back to the time of the Washington toastmasters, is held in February.

Homecoming "First" For Tau Epsilon Phi

Emphasizing a rounded personality, Tau Epsilon Phi has planned their activities around four main areas: service, social, intellectual and athletic goals. Their contributions in service have been great, helping to rebuild the Junior Achievement center of Ypsilanti, and collecting $400.00 for UNICEF at Halloween. In the social light they have sponsored many projects, including an all-campus football T.G., T.G.'s with sororities, and hall parties. Tau Epsilon Phi spirit soared at Homecoming, as they won three first place prizes—for their house directions, and float in both fraternity and over-all divisions.

Tau Epsilon Phi has won the I.F.C. scholarship trophy, upholding their intellectual goal. They have, in addition, excelled athletically. Supporting their brother Mike Yankee in his successful bid for "Most Popular Football Player", scoring higher than ever in the All-Sports Race, and taking first place in the Turkey Shoot shows the skill and diversity of the men of Tau Epsilon Phi.

Campaigning for their most popular football player, Mike Yankee, men of Tau Epsilon Phi brought banners to the football field.

Phi Sigs, First In House Inspection

Eastern's Lambda Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon was established on this campus in 1934. This year the Phi Sigs introduced the first annual Athletic Award, which was won by Dave Ellis.

The brothers sponsor a Christmas Party for underprivileged children each year and their pledges help out at Ypsilanti State Hospital. Honors this year include first place in the Interfraternity Council House Inspection, a winning Homecoming Queen Candidate, Pam Heard, and first place in the Eastern Beer Drinking Contest for the third year in a row.

For the benefit of incoming students, the Phi Sigs hosted a mixer during New Student Days and later co-sponsored a dance with Delta Sigma Theta. Throughout the year the Phi Sigs with their weekly T.G.'s offer diversion from daily class routine.

Phi Sig committee welcomes rushees to the house with assuring friendliness.

Challenging the Brothers of Phi Sigma Epsilon, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa awaits a rebound and hopes for a fraternity victory.

Phi Sigma Kappa Competes For Honors

Phi Sigma Kappa, one of EMU's newest fraternities, received their national charter on May 25, 1968. Since this time, they have been active participants in campus and civic activities and have won various awards.

Great supporters of campus activities, the members of Phi Sigma Kappa have taken part in all intramural sports. They have worked on "Dial Tone" for the Eastern Echo and several of the brothers are members of the Hospitality Committee. Work at Ypsilanti State Hospital and an all Greek Muscular Distrophy Drive has also kept them busy.

In the past year, the fraternity has taken first and second places in the Greek Scholastic competition and their national conference has awarded them a scholarship library. Individual members of the fraternity have been accepted to the honorary Greek Fraternity and the Honorary Educational Fraternity on campus.

In this short time, the Brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa have added to the Spirit of EMU through their energetic involvement.
